New Health Minister Would Build Up Towns.

RUSSELL T. KELLEY.

Decentralization of Ontario industry was urged by Ontario's new minister of health, Hon. Russell T. Kelley, at the annual convention of the Ontario Federation of Agriculture in Toronto, on Thursday, January 10th. Mr. Kelley is the head of a Hamilton advertising agency, secretary of the Wentworth county Federation of Agriculture and has been particularly active in Red Cross blood donor work during the war.

Questioning the wisdom of the efforts on Ontario's big cities to make themselves still bigger, Mr. Kelley said that "we would be better off if we were building up the small towns."

He said that he would propose to the Ontario government that men be sent into Ontario's towns to survey their facilities in shipping, housing, education and labour, and to make this information available to industry. Taking Ontario's industrial population closer to the farms, through building up the towns, Mr. Kelley said, would reduce farm products distribution costs and increase cash returns to farmers.

Ration Coupon Due Dates.

Coupons now valid are meat M1 to M20; butter 116 to 137; sugar 46 to 69; preserves, 33 to 57 and P1 to P25.

Sugar Shortage Spurs Beet Mechanization.

As a result of experimental findings of the research departments of sugar companies and implement manufacturers in Canada and the United States, efficient sugar-beet combines are now appearing in Canadian beet fields. Two types of these revolutionary machines have been tried and from Ontario and Alberta particularly, come reports of successful demonstrations.

Since the beginning of the industry, sugar-beet culture and beet harvesting have depended on skilled field labor. But during the war, this proved to be a disadvantage when beet workers were allowed to drift into the cities, mostly on war work. Efforts to reduce the man-hours required to grow and deliver a ton of beets to the factory were extensive before the war but were accelerated as a result of wartime labor circumstances. As one newspaper puts it, "In a few years we will look back on the days of hand harvesting beets much the same as we now think of the times of hand cutting and threshing grain."

One type of these machines first tops, then lifts the beets out of the ground and drops the roots in one windrow and the tops and crowns in another. A separate machine, the loader follows along the windrows, picks up the roots, shakes off the adhering earth and puts the beets into a wagon or truck. Another type of harvester digs the beets, passes them through revolving knives and elevates them into trucks. This machine, designed to complete the harvesting in one operation, is also doing good work.

The loader, used alone as a supplement to hand harvesting beets, can pour beets into the truck at the rate of one ton a minute and this phase alone is recognized as mechanization of one-third of the harvesting job. Following successful operation this fall, implement companies are planning to fill many orders for loaders for next year's crop.

According to reports, beet harvesters have been so successful in California that three-quarters of this year's crop will be handled mechanically. Progress has not been so rapid in Canada but despite the handicaps of difficult soil types and small fields, growers are enthusiastic about the labor-saving machines. Many plan to increase their acreage for 1946 and purchase the new equipment.

The new segmented seed which produces a single plant instead of a cluster, has relieved much of the tedious work of hand thinning. This seed is rapidly replacing the old type but intensive research continues in an effort to further reduce hand labor. Pelleted seed, precision planters, and mechanical thinners may provide the answer.

A delegation of four British agricultural scientists visited Ontario fields a week ago and were impressed with the operations of the latest in sugar-beet machinery. England is well advanced in sugar-beet research but visitors expect to take back new methods that may be applied to their industry.

Sharing and Having.

After recounting how standards of living have advanced since primitive times, the Monthly Letter of The Royal Bank of Canada for January tells how impossible it would be to return to the subsistence economy of early Canada and how imperative it is to keep advancing.

"This continent is regarded from Europe and Asia as the home of a luxurious mode of life," the article continues. "Science has flourished here, and it has been applied to practical purposes on a scale never before known."

"Problems have arisen with the advances. Supposing that the advent of the machine as a substitute for hand work makes it possible for one man to produce the necessities for four men, then there are only three courses which may be followed: all four men may continue producing, but working only a quarter as many hours; the displaced three may turn to new work, producing new and better goods; or the three may do nothing. All of these have been tried since the steam engine ushered in the new system. The first may mean higher prices and lower incomes; the third, even if it were practicable, would be demoralizing for those with nothing to do. Out of the second there comes progress and a higher standard of living for all four."

"Even the humblest improvement cannot be achieved by such simple devices as those inaugurated by the dictatorships, like ordering employees to pay higher wages without increasing prices, or by forcibly withdrawing money, bonds and goods from one section and handing them to another. Those who attempt to plan and manage improvements must know how changes will affect all the economy."

"In describing and measuring standards of living, family income is more significant than individual income. In this the bank article, being a standard of living is a family matter, including as it does the kind of things customarily enjoyed by families in that class. Some will be looked upon as necessities. Others as comforts, and still others as luxuries. The standard will rise as there is improvement in the quality of necessities, or increase in the quantity of comforts and luxuries which add to the contentment of the family, and insofar as the family succeeds in realizing its attempted standard of living, it is happy, but when it tries to reach a standard beyond its capabilities, life for members of the family becomes increasingly unstable."

"Most people think of the standard of living as being based solely upon income, but there is need to differentiate between the amount received in wages, salary from other sources, and real income, which is the sum of the things a family can buy with its money. This is conditioned by fluctuations in prices and in the supply of goods available. "It is interesting to look back over the course of wage income. The wage index in certain main groups has risen from 35.1 in 1901 to 107 in 1920, then fell to 85.1 in 1933, and by 1944 it had risen to a new high record in these 44 years, 137.5. No figures are available for manufacturing industries at the turn of the century, but in 1911 the index stood at 45.0, and in 1944 it was 141.1."

"Unfortunately, the cost of living index cannot be given for 1900, but there is a significant enough comparison between 1913 and 1945. Whereas in this period the general average wage rate index has increased 99.4 points, the cost of living index, covering the basic needs of a family, has risen only 40 points."

"To enable families to keep track of the trends in prices and to budget their incomes, most countries have set up cost of living indexes. Canada's index is a measure of the month-to-month change in the cost of living of the average wage-earner's household. It attempts to record a fixed standard of living, and does not take account of higher expenses due to better living or wider spending."

"Effects of the war on standards of living have been varied. Most persons whose livelihood is derived from salaries have suffered a decline in their real income. To a degree this is also true of wage earners, but on the other hand thousands of wage earners have been receiving incomes which have advanced faster and farther than the cost of living. The tremendous expenditures by the government for war goods went for wages and materials, thus pouring into the hands of consumers an amount which far exceeded the additional demands of income tax and victory bonds."

"In practically all the basic needs of life, control has been exercised by the government. Every other country has experienced the same wartime pressures, and has adopted similar control measures to meet them. Everyone recalls the close of the first world war, when prices rose with dramatic suddenness until the cost of living index reached 150, compared with today's 119.7 and 1939's 101.5. The price controls which have kept down the cost of living 30 points below the preceding war's experience will be relaxed gradually, as hitherto scarce goods come into the market to absorb surplus cash. If discretion were not observed, soaring prices could not be avoided in the struggle to obtain commodities, and workers having little money income to provide more than the necessities of life would suffer."

"If Canada is to progress, as she has progressed in the past half century, opportunity needs to be made for private investment in productive enterprises, and such investments should be encouraged. New political and fiscal devices are not needed, but education would be beneficial if it made clear to the people that investment of savings in commodity-producing enterprises would provide interest on the investment, more jobs to give workers more cash income with which to buy all kinds of goods, and the opportunity for every family to raise its standard of living. Since 1900 Canadian manufacturers have increased the gross value of their products by 1,712 per cent, provided work for 900,000 more persons, with the payment of 1,651 per cent more in salaries and wages."

Fuller success, however, can be attained only through international economic co-operation and peace. The economic policy of aggressor nations, so well revealed in recent years, was designed to provide industrial backing for military forces. Those countries strove first of all for self-containment, and to that end they schooled their people in doing without even moderate comforts and in reducing their consumption of even the necessities of life. Democratic countries, on the other hand, judge success by the living standards of the people. The economic system which provides the most to eat and wear, the best housing, and the greatest opportunity for comfort, is the most excellent from the democratic viewpoint. To achieve this, it is necessary, particularly for a country like Canada, with great natural resources, small population, and ample manufacturing facilities, to buy and sell in the widest possible area. Foreign trade is desirable, because it encourages production on a large scale, specialization in lines of goods likely to be stable, lower costs, and increased real income. Closed national economies shut out resources abundant in one country from another where they are scarce, reducing the standard of living in both. Many nations of goodwill and good sense are trying to remove the political and economic obstacles to freedom of world trade, an objective to which all the people should give energetic support."

General Dwight Eisenhower and Air Marshal Robert Leckie, C.B., D.S.O., D.S.C., D.F.C., are shown above enjoying the Commander-in-Chief's genial comment in a visit to the Chief of the Air Staff, at Royal Canadian Air Force Headquarters in Ottawa. "There's one thing about it," said General Eisenhower, "we both part our hair the same way." Air Marshal Leckie presented General Eisenhower with an R.C.A.F. ensign in recognition of the gallant Canadian squadrons which had served under him in North Africa and Europe, as well as an Air Force photograph of the newly-named "Mount Eisenhower" in the Canadian Rockies. Women's Work in Red Cross Peacetime Plan.

The Women's War Work Committee of Ontario will continue as at present until next May in order to complete commitments made to Great Britain and Allied countries, and the layette program for the C.U.A.R.F. Branch workrooms will be asked to complete all quotas ready for shipping to Divisional headquarters by April 11th. Following the policy adopted by National Executive, the Ontario Division gave approval to the recommendation of the National Women's War Work Committee that a chairman of Women's Work Committee should be appointed in the Division and in all branches. The war part of women's work will be through by April, but many branches will have a peacetime local needs. It was suggested that such work committees might now set up: Army and Air Force and DVA Hospitals; for such departments of Red Cross as Outpost Hospitals; disaster relief; and assistance to the wives of Canadian servicemen.

Beauty Routine for the Nursery Set

By BETTY BARCLAY

Beauty care should begin in the nursery. No matter how busy you are, it's important to make the daily bath a part of the regular routine, whether your brood includes a baby, a toddler, a kindergarten, or all three.

When your young hopeful has been carefully tubbed, he should be wrapped in a big bath towel and patted until he is thoroughly dry.

To Protect Tender Young Skin

To protect tender young skin against the drying action of wind and sun, it's effective daily beauty technique to give an all-over rub down after the bath with baby lotion. Developed by a famous maker of special baby products, this new lotion is a fragrant, pure white, emulsified product containing lanolin, with an antiseptic agent added for extra protection. It is intended for all-purpose use and for cleansing and lubricating baby's skin. An oil in water emulsion of highly refined mineral oil, baby lotion provides a discontinuous film which gives full protection against chapping and chafing and permits baby's skin to function normally. Its antiseptic ingredient reduces the danger of skin infections by inhibiting the growth of surface bacteria.

You'll find a good flat surface is the best area for dressing and undressing baby. As you'll always want to keep one hand on him, it's important to place within easy reach, before you start the bath, a pile of folded diapers and a tray holding cotton swabs, baby lotion, baby powder and a jar of sterile water. Keep two towels and two wash cloths close at hand and identify the one you use exclusively for baby's face.

After Bath Rub-Down After you've dried the baby thoroughly in his big towel, moisten your fingers with baby lotion and rub gently all over his body. Be sure you don't neglect the tiny folds in the neck, armpits and under the knees, and between the fingers and toes. Careful observation of this routine will reward Mother with a beauty bonus for her hands too. Use cotton to apply lotion to baby's diaper area with a watchful eye on folds and creases.

Use Baby Lotion Be sure to apply baby lotion after each diaper change to protect baby against chafes and rashes. And remember, before each trip out of doors, that neck as well as cheeks, chin and hands, should receive a gentle application of baby lotion as protection against the weather.

Anything that water or oil will remove can be removed efficiently with baby lotion. There's no danger of stains, and the lotion is guaranteed not to turn rancid.

Dr. H. A. Bowie Retires from Vets' Allowance Board.

Dr. H. A. Bowie, Commissioner of the War Veterans' Allowance Board, is retiring on superannuation as from January 1st, 1946.

Dr. Bowie is a graduate of Queen's University, and gold medalist in medicine, and after twenty years in active practice he was appointed chief medical adviser of the Federal Appeal Board of Canada. Later he was appointed Commissioner to that Board. When the Federal Appeal Board was abolished in 1930, Dr. Bowie was transferred by the Civil Service Commission to be chief medical officer of the War Veterans' Allowance Board and after some years of service in that position was appointed Commissioner of the Board.

On his retiring the Minister of the Department, the Honourable Ian MacKenzie, and the Deputy Minister, Walter S. Woods, both expressed great appreciation of Dr. Bowie's services.

The above item was from the Ottawa paper. Dr. Bowie is well known in Essex and district, having practised here for over twenty years. He married an Essex girl, Miss Edna Richardson, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Richardson. Dr. Murray Bowie, who also practised in town prior to enlisting in this war, is a son. We understand Murray has received a government medical appointment so will not re-open his practice in Essex.

Congregational Meeting.

Some 250 members of the United Church, met in congregational meeting at 6.45 p.m. Wednesday under quite unusual circumstances. The men assumed the responsibility of preparing a full course dinner. Twenty-five men manned the kitchen, under the supervision of J. W. Elsley and C. Totten, while a like number of men acted as waiters, headed by S. L. Kennedy.

The business of the evening consisted of hearing reports from the various organizations; of the adaptation of several resolutions, and the elections of elders and stewards. Rev. R. H. Parr was elected to the chair and E. Richardson was appointed secretary.

Following the bountiful repast, Earl Reeb conducted a lively sing-song, with Miss Allen at the piano, and Bill Naylor at the lantern.

The reports revealed that 1945 proved to be a very busy year. A new heating plant had been installed, the boiler room was enlarged, the Sunday school room had been repaired, and a new asbestos slate roof was added.

Financially, the year was most successful. Envelope contributions increased by $100, loose collections by $200 and donations by over $200. Moreover, missions took a decided jump. The Missionary and Maintenance increased by $175, reaching to $1,500. The W. M. S. gave another $270 and the Wilson-Russell Auxiliary $362. The Sunday school raised a total of $720. The Women's Association had a notable year, raising in excess of $1,600, while the Young People raised $200, giving $110 to missions. The total receipts from all departments totalled $18,000, or $1,550 in excess of the previous year.

The proceeds, including the results of the elections, will be found in the annual report which will be issued in the near future.

New Local High School District Board.

The personnel of the newly formed Essex High School District Board will be: Representatives appointed by the Maidstone Township Council, Harold Findlay; by Gosfield North Council, Ed. Collins; by Colchester North Council, ex-Reeve Harold Neice; by Town of Essex Council, Wm. Andrew; by Essex Public School Board, Rev. J. H. Whealen; by Essex Separate School Board, J. J. Ashton; by Sandwich South Council, John Shue; by Rochester Council, Thomas Wharf; by Essex County Council, Dan McEneaney; by Maidstone Council, making a board of nine members.

Maidstone Council also appointed J. Gabe McPharlin, as their representative on No. 4 High School District Board, while County Council appointed Nick Ruggaber, as County representative on the same Board. Dr. Collacutt was appointed by Sandwich South to represent them on the Windsor District Board. Rochester appointed Sylvio Pinsonneault to No. 4 School District.

Hostine-Sanford Nuptials.

In Leamington United Church, decorated with chrysanthemums for the occasion, the Rev. Sidney Davidson officiated at the wedding of Miss Margaret Irene Sanford, elder daughter of Mrs. Oley Sanford and the late Mr. Sanford, and Murray Wilson Hostine, recently returned from overseas, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hostine, of Essex.

Given in marriage by her grandfather, Harry Sanford, of Kingsville, the bride was lovely in a floor-length gown of white satin styled with a fitted bodice and a sweetheart neckline, with tiny buttons down the back to the neckline. Her fingertip veil was held in place with a halo of orange blossoms, and she carried white roses. Her only ornament was three-strand pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Reford Sanford, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron-of-honour, in a gown of pink net over organza, with a shoulder-length veil, and carried a colonial bouquet of pink and white carnations. Miss Margaret Keyes, of Kingsville, as bridesmaid, wore blue net over satin and a shoulder length veil, and carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations.

Reford Sanford, brother of the bride, was the best man and the ushers were Morley Hostine and Ray Sanford. Murray Kennedy, of Essex, sang "Because," and during the signing of the register "Love You Truly." A dinner for 35 guests was held at the Auto Stop Inn. The table was centred with a three-tiered wedding cake, flanked by burning tapers. Later a reception was held at the bride's home.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Sanford chose a black crepe dress trimmed with fringe. The bridegroom's mother chose a flowered jersey, and each wore a corsage of white baby mums and pink carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Hostine left on a short honeymoon to Niagara Falls, the bride travelling in a blue crepe dress with a blue coat and black accessories, with a corsage of white roses. On their return they will reside in Leamington.

Starting Early Vegetable Plants.

Tomato growers who want to make their business profitable must cut their cost of production right from the start. It is not uncommon to find growers whose cost of growing plants is more than one cent a piece while others may have just as good and often better plants at half cost, says C. S. Ste. Marie, Dominion Experimental Station, L'Assomption, Que. Among the many factors that make up the cost of growing plants, labor is one of the most important and with efficient management it can be cut materially. A grower who takes from twelve to sixteen weeks to grow his seedlings has much higher costs than the one who takes only eight or ten weeks. There is ample evidence to prove that the grower who takes only eight weeks not only reduces his costs materially, but also gets a better plant.

Too many growers start their plants too early. This means several transplants which are costly. Transplants should be rooted to a minimum, so as to reduce costs in connection with labor, fuel, extra manure and other overhead expenses. Transplanting in itself is not beneficial to seedlings as it often takes one to two weeks for seedlings to recover from each transplanting. It is best to make only one transplanting and set the plant farther apart. The extra space required would cost less under conditions than the extra transplanting and better plants would be obtained.

Another good reason for not starting plants too early is that most growers set their plants in the field with the planter. Planting operations are often slowed up by using plants which are too late. The time required to set these large plants to recover is much longer than for younger, shorter, sturdier well rooted plants.

The arrangement of working surfaces, benches, herbicide, seedling flats, dirt pile, and so on are all individual problems for each grower to work out for his particular situation. The grower or grower can approach modern factory assembly line methods, the more nearly is the approach made, the better. Growers speed up operations by doing away with a lot of hard work and in many cases, women or girls could advantageously replace men to do the cost and often contribute to better seedlings.

Plant Protection.

Historical records show that in 1857 an Act for the Preservation of Apple Trees in the Parish of Montreal was passed by Quebec. This was the forerunner of the many objective Acts which have since been enacted in the Dominion for the protection of plant growth from introduced insect pests and new plant diseases.

"The Greatest Moral Force."

Lord Roschester: "If I were to form the highest ideal for my country, it should be a nation of which the manhood was exclusively composed of those who have been or were Boy Scouts and were trained on the Boy Scout theory. Such a nation would be the honour of mankind. It would be the greatest moral force the world has ever known."

National Dairy Council of Canada.

The dairy industry of Canada is still a heavily subsidized and highly controlled industry and if Government policy of cheap dairy products is to continue the public should be made aware of the facts, W. Frank Jones stated in his presidential address to the National Dairy Council's annual meeting here recently. He felt that the great majority of consumers believed they were paying the full cost of dairy products they consumed. He did not believe the public should be allowed to continue thinking that what they paid represented true value to farmers or to dairymen. Cheap dairy products, a measure instituted to keep the cost of living down during wartime, had cost Canada about $200,000,000 in the intervening years, states Mr. Jones.

The Government today is paying subsidies amounting to three and a half cents per quart of milk, eight cents per pound of butter and a considerable portion of the cost of cheese and concentrated milk products.

"Should these subsidies be dropped suddenly it is going to come as an awful shock to the great majority of housewives when they are told they must add three or four dollars a month to their food budgets," he stated.

Mr. Jones stressed that the National Dairy Council had at no time gone on record either for or against payment by the Government of subsidies on milk and milk products. Yet the industry programme had done great good, had resulted in milk production reaching an all-time high, provided for greatly increased consumption of dairy products in Canada and met the all overseas obligations.

He recalled that in 1918 when the Dairy Council was formed, milk production in Canada was but 1.5 billion pounds. In 1945 it was nearer 18 billion pounds, still not enough for all needs. Canadians were scarce and drinking more milk than ever before, possibly more than the people of any country in the world.

"As to the future of export markets, one fact emerges from a rather obscure picture. It is the simple fact that the world needs and wants food. In normal times we must export surplus," stated Mr. Jones. He believed that Canadians were becoming increasingly aware of the great food value of milk and that there would be even greater emphasis on it.

He reported greater unity within the industry in Canada than ever before, more cordial relations and greater co-operation between dairy farmers and the men who distributed and manufactured their milk.

GEMS FOR YOUR Scrap Book

War will never yield but to the principles of universal justice and love, and these have no sure root but in the religion of Jesus Christ—William Ellery Channing.

No matter what we have undergone and suffered, we must try to forgive those who injured us and remember only the lesson gained thereby—Madame Chiang Kai-Shek.

Members for a Good Cause.

By Joseph Lister Rutledge. There are still almost 300,000 young Canadians in uniform. Before them is perhaps their toughest battle. They have to leave behind them a uniform that, however much they may have groused about it, still was something solid and relatively permanent. Something, at least, that represented a certain type of security.

They have to unlearn much which they have learned at great cost. They must become individuals again, where for a matter of five or six years they have been part of a unit. There are tens of thousands of these returning youths who went from school direct to the tough job of war. They learned its lessons, that are not the lessons of peace, and now they are returning wondering what the future holds for them, and how many of the promises that were made to them in the days of war enthusiasm have a tangible value now that peace has come.

It is probably the most vital obligation that has ever faced us as citizens, to see that these promises are made good. As everyone knows, the Department of Veterans' Affairs is charged with the handling of these vast and varied problems and of finding a way to restore the returning service man and woman to useful civilian occupations. But, perhaps better than anyone else, the Department officials realize that it is not a complete task, nor one that they can accomplish unaided. It is a three-fold job, in which the co-operation of the man, the best services of the Department, and the good will of all citizens is an essential part. Let any one of the three fail and the job will be only partially done.

The Department realizes, too, that Army routine has not been conducive to the free interchange of ideas. They know that even an average citizen is at a disadvantage when facing an official, a returned man in the same situation may feel himself already half beaten. Where the official wants him to explain his problems, suggests what he wants, and even to air grievances, actual or supposed, all too often they find him suspicious and uncommunicative.

It is this attitude, that is only too natural, that has led the Department to seek the co-operation of Citizen Committees. Wherever this has been tried, it has worked minor miracles. Not because of the superhuman wisdom of the committees, but because these young people who are confused and troubled and sometimes suspicious have sensed the friendliness involved and have responded to it in kind so that the official forces could operate effectively.

There is something, too, in the wisdom of many minds and the contacts that many minds provide. A booklet prepared by the Department of Veterans' Affairs suggests some of the ways that Citizen Committees can operate in welcoming, providing legal aid where necessary, arranging housing, providing publicity to help in supplying training and jobs, and in placing handicapped men. There is a distinguished group, too, to discuss personal problems and explain the provisions made for the protection of the returned men. But the most important thing is that he does not feel that because a country has returned to relatively normal ways, he and his problems have been forgotten. This is a fine work. It is a way of paying some part of a debt, is a way of preventing a whole generation becoming citizens with a grudge.—Liberty Magazine.

15,000 Woodworkers are Still Needed in Canada.

The Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, Minister of Labour, in a statement issued this week, said that 15,000 additional workers are still needed for jobs in the Canadian woods.

Advance reports on this season's operations indicate that production of logs for lumber and for pulp is over that of last year, but, the Minister pointed out, in view of the large domestic and overseas requirements, there is need for as large an output as possible.

"Due to the shortness of the remaining season," Mr. Mitchell said, "it is important that all camps be filled as soon as possible. Although experienced workers are most in demand there are opportunities for the physically fit men who have suitable clothing. There is still time before spring for a man to make a good stake," the Labour Minister concluded.

Mr. Mitchell pointed out that some transportation assistance will be given in some areas as an encouragement to men to accept woods work. Mr. Mitchell stated that while the requirements for woodsmen are great in Quebec, there are considerable vacancies in Ontario, New Brunswick and Alberta. The demand is lighter in British Columbia and the other Prairie Provinces, he added.

"We feel confident," Mr. Mitchell said, "that this year will see one of the highest timber cuts in history. I feel sure, now that the holiday season is over, many men are ready to commence work in the woods. I would urge them, in their own and in the national interest, to go immediately and to take with them any of their friends who are interested. We must remember that Canada's need for lumber and pulp products is greater now than ever before, and we must make every effort to see that these demands are met."

Now It's Vitamins. A friend of mine, a regular reader of this column, suggested that, for the past four weeks, I was making too much of this question of properly feeding cattle and pigs. He said (I hope he was only kidding) that it sounded as though raising a few pigs was more difficult than raising a few youngsters. Well, I have done my share of both and there is no question in my mind as to the relative problems. The talks on proteins and minerals was too much for him so I shudder to think what he will say when he reads this week's article — it's about the necessary vitamins.

Strongly stressing minerals, proteins and vitamins does not mean that feeding animals is particularly difficult because, most farmers supply their stock with proper rations without even being conscious of the make-up of some foods. However, it is useful to have the "know how" to make corrections in rations when need arises. For instance, a young pig with stiffened hind legs likely has rickets. Rickets come from a lack of calcium, phosphorus or vitamin D. The answer — make sure five per cent of the animal's feed consists of good quality clover or alfalfa hay. For brood sows it should be ten per cent.

Shows the Way.

One feature of the agricultural research conducted by the Experimental Farms Service is that, through the widespread ramifications of Experimental Farm work, it is possible to direct the scientific resources of many agencies — Government Departments, The National Research Council, Provincial Institutions, and Universities — to the solution of agricultural problems.

Another "First" to its Credit.

The new civic playground at Cowansville, Que., described as Canada's first "living memorial" to those who died on foreign battlefronts during the war, has another "first" to its credit. It is the first playground finished in a playground color scheme sponsored by The Canadian Paint Varnish and Lacquer Association.

When the recreation spot was opened recently, dedicated "to those who died that children may play," it featured a green and yellow color motif supplied by the Association and put into effect by Bruck Silk Mills who donated the playground equipment.

The green in the color scheme was chosen for its restfulness to children's eyes, while the orange-yellow supplies the quick-visibility contrast which marks danger points so that playground accidents may be kept to a minimum. The yellow was chosen for this purpose because it is deemed the most highly visible of all colors.

The color scheme of the Cowansville playground is fundamentally similar to the wide-spread practice in industrial plants of "highlighting" moving parts of machines to prevent eye-strain to cut down on accidents. The contrast in colors is so striking that the eyes — even the eyes of little children — are automatically drawn to the danger points which are to be avoided.

The swings, for instance, predominantly green in color, with green uprights and overheads. The seats, however, are finished in yellow for it is the flying seat of a swing which is most likely to strike a child and cause an accident. In its bright yellow coating, however, the seat is highly visible to the child so that he unconsciously is aided in keeping out of its way when he is on the ground.

The same idea has been carried out throughout the playground. The edges of the teeter-totters, for instance, are done in yellow so that a youngster is less likely to walk into them without noticing them until he is hit. The swing-rings are yellow at the rings, because the rings at the end of their long chains have been shown to be the parts most likely to strike an unobservant child.

The slides, deemed safe once a child is on the way down the slide, are done in green, the steps leading to the top are in yellow so that little feet are less likely to stumble because little eyes had failed to notice the next step. Surrounding moving parts such as swings, too, are sturdy guard-rails of yellow, supported by green posts. Sand-boxes, without danger points, are painted green throughout, while refuse cans are finished in an attractive deep blue so that children may be taught early to keep their playground clean and tidy.

A thorough soaking in creosote is recommended to protect the ends of fence posts below the surface against rotting and insect damage. The soaking should be followed by one or two coats of asphalt paint, extended to six or eight inches above the ground line. Remainder of the post can be painted in any color for further protection.

Stiffened Legs.

The extreme case of leg stiffening, often called "Posterior paralysis," may prevent the animal from getting to his feet. There is another ailment sometimes confused with this paralysis. It is the inability to control the legs as a result of degeneration of the nervous system. It is clearly a case of being unable to control the legs rather than being unable to move them, cause is likely a lack of vitamin A, not D. To accurately determine whether the lack is vitamin A or D it is well to know that restlessness, spasms and impairment of vision all indicate a shortage of vitamin A. This deficiency will cause pigs to suddenly develop pneumonia and die, even after making good gains for a period. Without sufficient vitamin A, brood sows are unable to produce a litter of pigs.

These vitamin deficiencies are usually caused by feeding grain (other than yellow corn), concentrates, milk, buttermilk, whey, meat scraps and tallow without letting the pigs out for enough pasturing. The answer to this problem — pasture in the summer and plenty of legume hay in the winter. If yellow corn and legume hay are fed in winter there will be no need for cod liver oil extracts to be added to the ration.

New Ways of Winning Elections.

By R. J. Deachman.

New Zealand has a Socialist Government. Some, looking at it from a far distance, describe conditions there as the acme of perfection. The people of New Zealand know this is not true. No purely constituency supported the government at the last election. There was a reason, the farmers were dissatisfied, Mr. Mulholland, president of the Farmers' Union stated, in no uncertain terms, at the annual meeting of the organization, that agriculture was getting a mean deal.

How does the present New Zealand Government propose to solve this problem? It offers a political, not an economic solution. In every democratic country there are more voters in urban than in rural constituencies. The Member of Parliament, in an urban area, can cover his constituency in a few minutes. In New Zealand the constituency of Central Otago has an area of 8,000 square miles. The Socialist Government now proposes to abolish the country quota thus intensifying the difficulty.

It is also proposed to make the distribution on the basis of those twenty-one years old or over. The reason for this is that there are fewer young people relatively in urban than in rural areas and the effect of this will be the reduction still further of the number of rural seats. By these manoeuvres Socialism expects to gain four or five seats in the next election.

People desire fair play. Changes of this kind, made for political ends, are not likely to get sweeping approval in any British Dominion.

Scholars multiply — so must schools

A SCHOOL is itself a problem in mathematics. When a new settlement grows up or an old one expands, someone has to do some figuring. The money has to be found for that little new school-house or that added wing to a high school crowded to the corridors.

The municipal bonds which finance the building of schools, hospitals, water-works, hydro plants, and other community projects which contribute to our national health and enlightenment, are financed to a large extent from Life Insurance funds.

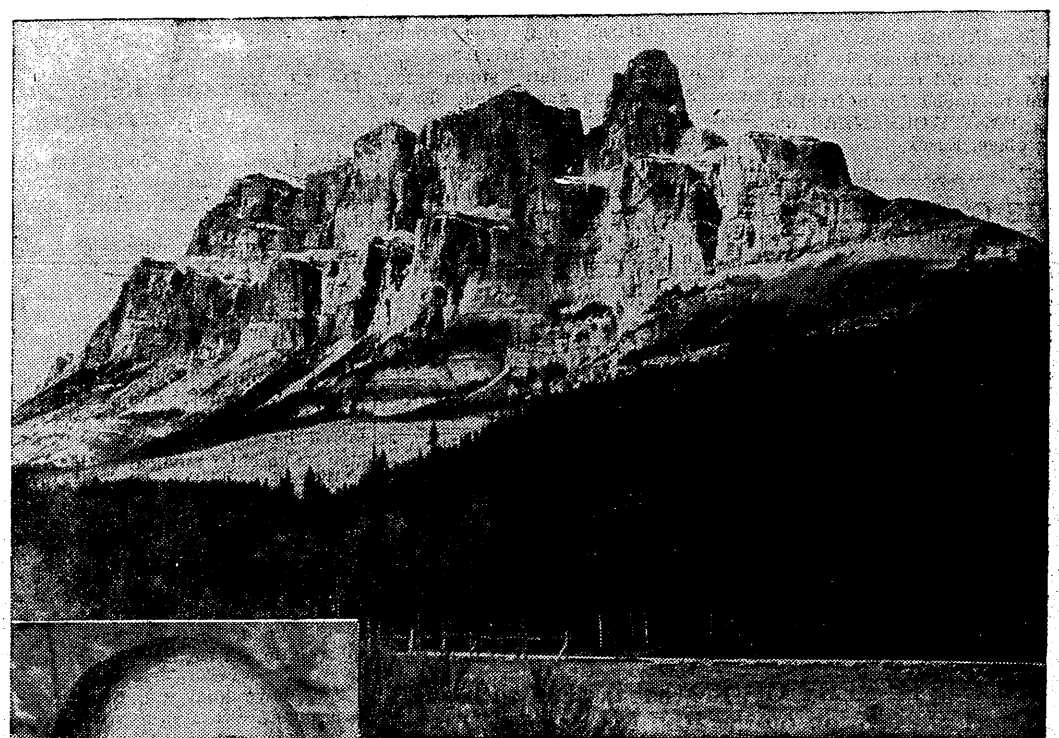

Dollars you have paid in as Life Insurance premiums may already have returned to your community. Everywhere you turn this great co-operative fund is being employed in socially useful enterprises.

Of every dollar invested out of Life Insurance funds, a substantial portion goes into the solid, progressive development of Canadian communities. NAMED FOR "IKE": Mount Eisenhower is the new name given this peak in the Canadian Rockies, between Banff and Lake Louise in Alberta, to honor General of the Army, Dwight D. Eisenhower, formerly supreme commander of the Allied Armies in Europe and now chief of staff of the United States Army. The announcement changing the name from Castle Mountain was made by Prime Minister Mackenzie King at a Canadian Club luncheon in Ottawa where the famous American soldier was guest speaker. Resemblance to a giant medieval keep gave the first name to the eight-mile long mountain which towers 9,380 feet above sea level. Formations easily identify as turrets, bastions and battlements rise over 4,000 feet from the valley floor. Back in the eighties there was a short-lived mining camp at the base of the mountain while during the First Great War a large internment camp was there.

BEHIND THE HEADLINES.

By Dean Wilson.

There may be still some discussion outside of Ottawa about the fact that Canada did not get a non-permanent seat on the United Nations Organization Security Council, but inside of Ottawa it is minimized considerably so that the role played by this country in the newly formed family of nations is deemed of the greatest possible importance and in proper harmony with the economic as well as other powers of this growing country. Indeed, observers on Parliament Hill stress that Canada's dramatic role on the Economic and Social Council as well as in the control or development of atomic energy indicates in no uncertain terms that this nation has received official recognition within the United Nations Organization of its great influence and powers on the international scene in certain directions, especially when it is borne in mind that the atomic bomb, social security, economic stability, etc., are widely and openly acclaimed as factors which will affect the peace, prosperity and happiness of this world for many years to come. In short, a proper and intelligent knowledge of the reactions in Ottawa to the events at the United Nations general assembly reveals in plain, everyday language that Canada's role in this international drama has been great but it will be even greater in future, this being based on a proper perspective of world movements and this nation's ability to keep pace with them.

While the public demand for faster and faster demobilization as well as repatriation of Canada's armed forces can be readily appreciated, these demands being even more strongly urged in other countries than in Canada, yet it is pointed out in well informed circles in this nation's capital that, at the same time as this is being accomplished by the authorities as quickly as humanly possible, still it is logical that it should be carried out with strategic and timely plans. It is shown that all facts indicate in the latest official report in the middle of December, 1945, that a total of approximately 349,937 men and women had been discharged from Canada's armed forces of all three services since May 1st, 1945, including about 54,615 from the navy, 186,265 from the army, and 109,067 from the air force. At the same time, it is hinted that the services might have to be kept in much better position of being prepared for any eventualities, at least for a time or until the conditions in the world have become much more settled, so that a combined permanent force may be created of about 50,000, consisting of 20,000 for the army, 10,000 for the navy, and between 15,000 and 20,000 for the air force, with about 150,000 reserves. Of course, conditions change in any postwar period and plans or patterns for such undertakings may change accordingly. However, there is no doubt at the moment in well-informed circles in Ottawa that the mistakes in this respect made after World War I will not be repeated now after World War II, though complaints may be heard from "arm-chair generals" and others in this country. It is most significant, it is suggested in some circles, that there is a sound appreciation of these needs now to a far better extent than after the last war, particularly by those who have realized the possibilities of "atomic war." Then again, it is anticipated that enlistments in the permanent forces will be coming forth more readily later when more information about it will be available, though there is apparent satisfaction with the progress made in this respect up-to-date.

It must be reported that news out of the economic committee as well as the coordinating committee of the Dominion-Provincial Conference, though these committees have held various meetings and long deliberations on different occasions in Ottawa, was quite limited in scope and quantity because these deliberations and gatherings were held in this capital "in camera." It had been felt that more and better results could be attained by these gatherings on the basis of such a policy since it is not unlikely that "in camera" meetings would be beneficial in handling such delicate and most important matters of Dominion-Provincial relations. However, these tactics did not allow anything but limited news to come out of these gatherings for some time. This must be understood by the general public in order that reports of these deliberations and gatherings at times may not be deemed to be lacking in news since "in camera" meetings produce, as a rule, little or no news.

Perhaps, the best comment heard in Ottawa is that "sooner or later" these Dominion Provincial Conferences must succeed before long since Canada is entering the most critical period of world's history with "too many uncertainties" and circumstances may eventually force greater national unity since no weak nation within can be strong in a world force where the essence of strength is still much in evidence as a standard.

It is learned in Ottawa that the test in law of the Orders-in-Council affecting the deportation of Japanese from this country, this being before the Supreme Court of Canada, was initiated by an Order-in-Council passed by the Cabinet after strong representations for such a move by the Government had been made to the Administration.

Following a report reaching this Capital that civil servants in Britain would get increases in salaries under certain conditions, there is considerable interest in Ottawa about the likely action which may come in this direction here since it has been known for some time that serious dissatisfaction prevails in civil service circles in Canada about the rate of pay in certain categories of such official workers, especially in the lower grades, so that adjustments may be demanded for a betterment, with certain technical and professional workers for the Government having already received some beneficial changes and others anticipated. Then again, in another report circulating in Ottawa, it is claimed that better rates of pay, allowances and pensions may be considered for Canada's armed services, with one Minister stating that the Government was planning to raise the rates of such pay in order that these men in the permanent armed forces would be receiving the same remuneration as they might have obtained in private industry.

A meeting has taken place in this capital of regional officers of the Veterans' Land Act from across this nation and discussions indicated that the purpose of the important gathering was to consider policy and formulate plans so that better service might be rendered to the veterans interested in full-time farming, small holdings or commercial fishing, together with other objectives, such as deliberations on building plans for 1946, the allotment already obtained, construction techniques and purchase of farm machinery as well as equipment.

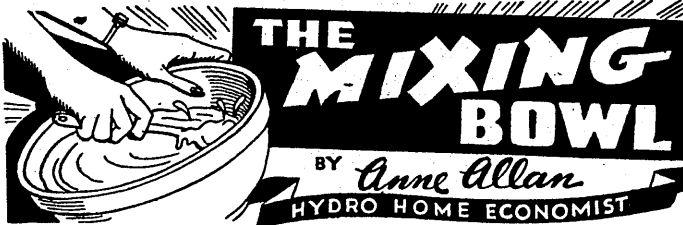

Canada's hard-working Ambassador to the United States, Hon. L. B. Pearson, who has been mentioned again and again for some prominent post in the United Nations Organization, has paid a routine visit to Ottawa for the first time since September, 1945. There will be more and more doctors and dentists available shortly in Canada. At least, over 1,400 medical officers and about 375 dental officers have been released gradually from the armed services since the end of the war in Europe. This has been revealed in Ottawa where it has also been disclosed that about 1,200 nurses have been discharged in this latest report. Judging by the number of wartime workers in this nation's capital, there has been no great rush in closing some of these departments and this is causing much irritation in some circles in Ottawa. When the former Commander-in-Chief of the Allied Armies in Europe and now Chief of Staff of the United States Army, General Dwight D. Eisenhower, paid an official visit to this capital, there was much gossip about his likely discussions on defence matters with Canadian authorities but it must be reported here that his calls on Air Marshal Robert Leckie, Rear-Admiral George C. Jones, and Lt.-Gen. Charles Foulkes, Chief of Staff of the three Canadian defence forces, the R.C.A.F., Navy and Army respectively, were quite brief, though he did have opportunities for long discussions with Prime Minister Mackenzie King, Army-Navy Minister Douglas Abbott and General A. G. L. McNaughton, chairman of the Permanent Joint Defence Board of Canada and United States. Incidentally, it has been made known that 26,000 Canadians joined the United States armed forces and 12,000 Americans joined the Canadian forces during World War II. The next meeting of the Board of Governors of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation had been arranged for Vancouver for not other reason than to allow them to get more acquainted with conditions in other sections of this country and for no other reason. This has been stated in Ottawa where such meetings are usually held and it answers the question which has been heard concerning this change. The sister-in-law of General Crerar and the mother of two members of Canada's armed forces, Lt.-Col. Isabel Cronyn, has retired from the position of Deputy Director of the CWAC, the Canadian Women's Army Corps, after four years of service. An official statement in Ottawa has shown that Canada's population has risen about 613,000 since the last census in 1941. The National Research Council in this capital has reported new uses for wheat have been found in a whole range of chemical products whose combined value is far in excess of wheat, including a wheat starch replacing constarch, anti-freeze solutions, food flavours, wheat syrup, etc.

Memorial in "Pub" Praised by Vicar.

A memorial to customers killed during the war was unveiled last night in the bar of a public house in this Staffordshire town. Rev. N. Keen, vicar of the parish, who was present, said that too many people thought the "pub" and the church were hostile institutions. Actually the church had much to learn about good-heartedness from the public house.

Our whole social life is in essence but a long, slow striving for the victory of justice over force.—John Galsworthy.

Hello, Homemakers! Homemakers are on the alert these days. They are watching for ideas to save time, money and energy in their housekeeping. The letters we receive are indicative of this economy awareness in the minds of homemakers all over the province. The requests for soup are timely. The directions for making soup are more important than the ingredients. Left-over vegetables go into a vegetable soup, but the flavour is improved by the addition of a grated raw vegetable — if only one onion. The bones from the striped chicken or cooked rib roast make a small amount of good broth, but a meat cube dissolved in the liquor makes it more tasty. The cheap shank bone makes a delicious strong stock to which you may add pot barley or noodles and vegetables. A cream soup should be well cooked but care must be taken not to scorch it.

PHILADELPHIA PEPPERPOT.
4 slices bacon
1 onion
2 green peppers (optional)
1½ qts. soup stock
¾ lb. honeycomb tripe
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup milk
1 bay leaf
1 sprig thyme
1 cup diced potatoes
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour.

Dice bacon and cook it in a heavy kettle until it is golden brown. Add the onion and green pepper finely chopped and cooked gently for five minutes. Add the soup stock and the tripe which has been thoroughly washed and shredded. White stock made with veal or chicken is best for pepperpot, but stock from beef or a combination of meats may be used. Add seasonings, bring to the boiling point, add potatoes, and simmer for an hour. Blend the butter and flour and thicken the soup with it. Just before serving add milk.

MINESTROME SOUP.
1½ cups dried peas or beans
3 medium or 3½ cups diced carrots
2 cups diced potatoes
½ cup diced celery stalks and leaves
2 tablespoons olive or salad oil
¼ small white cabbage (shredded)
¼ minced onion
1 clove garlic (minced)
2 teaspoons salt
4 quarts boiling water
grated cheese and chopped parsley

Soak the peas in water to cover for 3 hours. Drain and rinse in cold water. Parboil peas for 15 minutes. Add 4 quarts water and diced potatoes, carrots, onion and garlic. Cook 15 minutes. Add celery, cabbage and salad oil. Continue simmering another 15 minutes. Sprinkle cheese and parsley.

By the end of 1945, the larger portion of the Netherlands area flooded by the rupture of dams by bombing will be mostly drained. Already 2,023 acres have been dried.

ley in, and serve when cheese softens.

ONION SOUP.
2 cups sliced onions
½ cup water
3 tablespoons fat
1 tablespoon flour
1 teaspoon salt
dash of pepper and paprika
4 cups soup stock or 2 meat cubes dissolved in 4 cups hot water thin toast grated cheese

Slice the onions thinly and simmer in the water till tender. Drain and save what water there is for the stock. Heat the fat in a saucepan; add the onions and saute till they are tender and golden brown. Add the flour and seasonings; stir and cook gently for 3 minutes. Add the soup stock or the dissolved meat cubes and let simmer for half an hour. Pour into an oven-proof bowl; add the toast and sprinkle it with the grated cheese. Place in a hot oven (150 degrees) till the cheese melts and runs. Serve hot.

SPLIT-PEA SAVORY.
2 cups green split peas
1 medium onion
2½ tablespoons flour
6 cups milk
salt and pepper

Cook the peas and chopped onion in boiling salted water in a covered pan over low heat until tender, but not mushy. Use just enough water so that there will be very little liquid remaining when the peas are tender. (If the split peas are not quick cooking, soak overnight). Mix the flour to a paste with a little of the milk and add the remaining milk gradually. Add to the peas and cook, stirring constantly until thickened. Season with salt and pepper. Six servings.

THE QUESTION BOX.
Mrs. J. T. asks: How can we use honey which has crystallized and become strong?

Answer: place the pail of honey in hot water and let it soften slowly. It may be used as usual unless it has become rancid. Honey should be stored in a dark, dry place.

Miss N. B. asks: Why do cakes occasionally fall after taken from the oven?

Answer: If your recipe has been previously successful, check on the baking time. A chocolate cake requires 50 to 55 minutes.

Mrs. W. K. says: Your recipe for bread was most successful. It was the first time I had ever made bread. Would it be all right if I added whole wheat flour instead of using all white flour?

Answer: Yes, brown or whole wheat bread can be made by using half white and half fine whole wheat flour and the same quantities of all other ingredients. Coarse whole grains require more fat and one-half cup less flour.

PEOPLE ARE ASKING?

Q—I would like some information regarding prices charged by boarding and rooming houses.

1. Can a boarding house cut off one meal a week without making a reduction in board bill?
2. Can a rooming house and boarding house charge tenants different prices for the same class of rooms on the same floor?
3. Can a boarding house raise the price per week without permission from the Wartime Prices and Trade Board?

Answer:
1. The boarding housekeeper cannot reduce the number of meals without making an application to reduce the rate.
2. The answer to this question is somewhat more difficult. July 1st, 1943, is the basic date and the rate charged per person on that date cannot be increased without the boarding or rooming housekeeper making an application to this Board for authority to do so. However, it is possible that the rate varied on the same floor on July 1st, 1943.
3. The answer to this question is "No." If there is a fixed rate per person then it cannot be increased without authority from the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

Q. Is there any ceiling price on fish? I paid 65 cents a pound for boned white fish and the price for pickered was 80 cents a pound. Also told me if a retail store is allowed to put as much water in oysters as it wishes. Some years ago we were able to buy oysters marked "solid meat," mostly in small cans, but now we have to buy so much water to get a few oysters.

A.—There is no ceiling price on white fish and pickered for the primary producer. There is a set mark-up allowed wholesale and retail dealers. The only way we could check to determine if your dealer is selling above the proper maximum price would be to determine the price he paid for fish. We would advise you to consult your nearest office of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board giving them the name of your dealer so that the proper check could be made. There is nothing in our prices orders regarding the amount of water shall be sold with oysters.

Q—I have a house in very bad condition. I want to move it to another site, and make some improvements. May I give the present tenants a notice to vacate?

A.—If the improved structure will accommodate more persons than it is accommodating at the present time, you may give a notice to vacate. However, you first must make an application to the rentals appraiser in your area, giving details of the plans you propose to follow as well as other information. He will then, if your application shows the renovated building will house more persons, give you permission to issue a notice to vacate.

By the end of 1945, the larger portion of the Netherlands area flooded by the rupture of dams by bombing will be mostly drained. Already 2,023 acres have been dried.

A Poetical Pilgrimage.

By Lewis Milligan.

Poets are generally supposed to live in the realm of imagination remote from the mundane affairs of everyday life, and it must be admitted that many of our greatest poets have spent much of their time in that ethereal region. Homer, Virgil, Dante and Shakespeare, although they based their narratives upon historic characters and events, wove a magic spell around them which spiritualized material and commonplace things and clothed mortals with immortality.

We know little or nothing of the personal life of Homer, but he evidently had a wide experience of military and governmental affairs. Virgil was a man of property, which he lost during a civil war, and spent the rest of his days farming, when he wrote several books on the art of husbandry and the blessings of country life.

Dante was a soldier and a politician, as well as a scholar. At the age of 35 he was chief magistrate of Florence. In some civic strife he was expelled from the city, his property was confiscated, and the remainder of his life was spent in bitter exile.

Shakespeare was the son of a tanner in the small town of Stratford. He could have had little more than an elementary education, for he was married at the age of 18 to a farmer's daughter eight years older than himself, by whom he had a family. In his early twenties he left Stratford and went to London, where he did some menial jobs at the Globe Theatre, became an actor, wrote plays and eventually was a shareholder in several theatres.

It will thus be seen that each of these poets had to wrestle with the hard realities of life. Had they not known human life in its various aspects they would never have been able to write about it as they did, for their imagination and gift of expression he saw "the airy navies grappling in the central blue."

They learned by experience what they gave to the world in poetry. Milton, who was perhaps the most ethereal of modern poets, did not live in the Paradise of Man, the Federal a cloistered life, but passed through and took an active part in one of the greatest political upheavals in the history of England.

He engaged in thego has been partially realized, and political and religious controversies are looking hopefully for its fulfilment in the United Nations Organization. He served as secretary to Oliver Cromwell under the Commonwealth of a Golden Age, usually in the re-He started to write Paradise Lost at a time when the age of fifty, and that great work which they have been weaving the net of creative imagination was inspired by the vision of that which is to come.

not only by religious zeal, but was stimulated and enriched by the turbulent experiences through which he had passed.

Wordsworth is known as a placid, philosophical poet who lived the greater part of his life in seclusion amid the hills and lakes of Cumberland. But he never could have written Tintern Abbey and the Excursion if he had not as a young man travelled in France at the time of the Revolution. He was smitten with the Republican fever, which, however, very soon spent itself upon the rise of Napoleon. His friend, Coleridge, the mystical poet, was also for a time an enthusiastic political rebel and had planned to migrate with Southey and other literary friends to the American colonies, there to establish a utopian colony somewhat along communistic lines. The scheme was abandoned in disgust at the result of the French Revolution, and he remained at home to write The Ancient Mariner and talk metaphysics.

Byron, Keats, Shelley and Burns all lived brief and troubled lives. They were born into different social spheres. Byron was a son of the nobility, Keats was the son of a livery-stable keeper, Shelley's father was a landed proprietor, and Burns was a son of the soil.

Tennyson was born in a vicarage and he lived for the most part a shielded and ideal poetical life. But he came into a great literary and philosophical inheritance and profited by the experiences of the poets who went before him. He took an intense interest in the social, scientific, and religious movements of the Victorian era and exerted a far-reaching influence on the thought of his day. He was a calm seer and a prophet of things to come. He foresaw the two great aspects they would never have been able to write about it as they did, for their imagination and gift of expression he saw "the airy navies grappling in the central blue."

"Till the war-drum throbb'd no longer, and the battle flags were furled, the poet's vision of a hundred years' tory of England. He engaged in thego has been partially realized, and political and religious controversies are looking hopefully for its fulfilment in the United Nations Organization.

Sunday services, January 20th, at Ruscomb and Woodslee, were much enjoyed by all. The speaker was Rev. Stanley Johnston. At Woodslee, in connection with the morning service, Mr. Johnston installed the officers of the Y. P. U. and at the evening services Mr. Johnston gave the illustrated slide pictures on Chinese rural life. This was enjoyed by those who attended, but the numbers were few.

Ruscomb United W. A. "Welcome Home Banquet."

A great "Welcome Home" banquet was put on by the United Church W. A. in Ruscomb church on Tuesday evening, with more than 120 sitting down to enjoy the good things provided.

It was unique in that it was given not only for the returned men but for all the boys who had been in the service in Canada as well as overseas, and all were present but two, who did not get back from London in time to enjoy this supper with their buddies. Tom Johnston is ill in London hospital and Bill Garetson was not released in time. We hope both will soon get their discharge papers and return to their work at home.

The program consisted of a sing-song, led by the minister, who was chairman for the evening; three young boys from Ruthven gave two banjo numbers. The main item was an address by Rev. Parr, of Essex, who stressed the need for patience on the part of the returned men and the combined efforts of all to make this land, which we all love, the best in the world.

On behalf of the Ruscomb church Mr. Sceviour presented the boys with Bibles and parchments with suitable "Welcome Home" message. The following men received gifts: Overseas, Harry Benoit, Charles Hampton, Conrad Olsen, Calvert Robinson, N. Maillo, Alphonse Maillo, Chas. Dunn, William Moore, L. Mulhail, C. Derbyshire, H. Northage, A. Elliott, D. Johnston, Wm. Johnston, Harold Brown, Gordon Morris, Sgt. Major Hampton fittingly replied for all. Mrs. C. A. Yorke was pianist for the evening. The program closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

Ruscomb Holds Annual Congregational Meeting.

Ruscomb held its annual congregational meeting, with a goodly number in attendance. The meeting opened with hymn and prayer, led by the minister, Rev. J. N. Sceviour. Mrs. Earl Sedmore was elected to act as secretary for the evening. In the absence of C. A. Yorke, treasurer, Rev. Sceviour reported that all obligations have been met, leaving in the Steward's account a balance of more than $40, with which to begin 1946.

George Brown reported for the trustees, reporting that more than $1,200 had been raised for the building fund and the Trust fund of the church. The amount raised for the building fund was sufficient to complete the work and thus the trustees were able to have their church re-opened in April of 1945 free of debt. Mrs. E. Simon reported for the W. A., showing that $750 had been raised for all purposes through the year after assisting the Trustees and buying kitchen equipment, a balance of $198 was left on hand for 1946.

The Sunday school report, given by Mrs. T. Bates, showed a good year, with a substantial balance on hand.

The Missionary report showed that more money had been raised than in 1945.

On the whole, Ruscomb had one of the best reports of its history, showing that for all local purposes more than $2,800 had been raised.

Rev. Sceviour, who was chairman for the evening, reported for the Session and reviewed the work of the year, asking that the challenge of the Moderator be accepted, that this year be a great year in evangelistic effort.

The meeting voiced its appreciation of the volunteer workers, and also to Rev. and Mrs. Sceviour.

C. A. Yorke was elected to continue on as Steward Treasurer; Geo. Brown as trustee treasurer. Stewards re-elected for a three-year term were Edwin Simon and Tom Bates; Mrs. Yorke as organist.

The Essex Basketball team, sponsored by Maedel Beverages, defeated Westminster United 41-29, at the High school gym, last Friday night, before a capacity crowd. This win moves the local boys into second place in the Windsor O.B.A. league, which is composed of seven teams.

The forward line of Ted Tuite, Doug Scalfie and Ken Meyers was outstanding, while Bob Tuite played a sensational game at guard. Murray Butts, Ivan Ennis, Jack Stewart and Paul Ennis also played a very sound game.

Essex previously had defeated Amherstburg 30-27, while losing only to Hiram Walkers, in Windsor.

This Friday the Essex lads play Teen Town Club, of Windsor, at the High School gym.

Essex team is in a very fast league and deserves the support of the town. It is your team.

Essex Gospel Tabernacle.

Special services will be conducted at the Essex Gospel Tabernacle by Evangelist J. Verda Ludlam, of Winnipeg. Miss Ludlam recently held meetings in the City of Woodstock, and the following article appeared in their local paper: "Two or three weeks ago an ad. appeared in the Saturday church or evangelist would appear in Calvary Church on Light street the following week. I attended two or three of these services and in my humble opinion those who did not, missed a treat. For Miss Ludlam, the evangelist, was eloquent, earnest, sincere and apparently a source of spiritual inspiration to many. She is blessed with good looks, an appealing personality and is an accomplished pianist and songstress. This young woman is of the Pentecostal denomination, I judge, and apparently has done much Christian good in her travels throughout America; knows her Bible well, knows human nature, and appears singularly touched or gifted in various ways. One thing I noticed was that at occasional forceful moments when her preaching reaches heights in torrents of denunciation or pleading, she has the ability to descend to calmness in a perhaps descriptive, flow of words with ease and grace and all without loss of dignity." Miss Ludlam will be with us for two weeks, Sunday 11 a.m. and 7.30 p.m.; Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, at 8 p.m. Her ministry has been a blessing to many. In these days of "World Unrest" we need to turn to God. For our and congregation extend this welcome to you.

Moved by Mr. Stephenson, seconded by Mr. Dewhurst, that the statement be approved by the required officials and the Highway Department be petitioned for the statutory grant on that amount.—Car.

Whether to continue the present method of road maintenance or to purchase a power grader was given a lengthy discussion, and the Clerk was directed to write the different road machinery firms for prices and chances of delivery if a power outfit was purchased.

On motion of Mr. Tully and Mr. Goodburn, Ed. Collins was appointed member of the Board for the Essex High School area, from Gosfield North.

Mr. E. Beaman submitted a statement of arrears due for ration board licenses.

Court of Revision on Drainage Bylaw No. 275, for repair of Centre Branch drain. All members were duly sworn and court convened. The Clerk reported appeals from Nelson Clark, Delmer Hess, A. Cascadden, J. Kantor, R. Ramsay, M. J. Malott; Nelson Clark assessed for 65 acres and only has 50. On motion, reduced to 59 acres, and assessment according to $36.85; Delmer Hess, 25 acres; J. Kantor, 25 acres; A. Cascadden, 25 acres; all part of lot 267. Each assessed the same amount as other 50 acre lots in the same area, namely $31.25.

On motion these three lots were reduced one-half, so that the assessments are now $15.62 each. R. Ramsay's assessment was confirmed and the assessment of the n e ¼ lot 7, Con. 7, now owned by N. Beets Valuable Ontario Crop Since 1902.

Beet-sugar factories have operated in Ontario for forty-three continuous years, considerably longer than any other province. While only one of the four original factories still remains, the sugar-beet industry has been a recognized boon to agriculture. The beet-growing areas always made valuable use of this crop, but especially during the lean years of the 30's when sugar-beet contracts rescued scores of mortgages.

In 1902, the encouragement offered by a provincial bounty of one-half cent a pound resulted in construction of sugar factories in Wallaceburg, Dresden, Warton and Berlin (now Kitchener). Despite this five-year bounty, the Dresden and Warton plants soon failed and Berlin was purchased from the bondholders by the Dominion Sugar Company in 1909. This mill eventually closed in 1920 and left only Wallaceburg of the originals and a new plant at Chatham, built by the same company in 1916.

The Chatham and Wallaceburg mills are still producing sugar although one or other of them has been closed for the last four years. During this unfortunate period, production dropped from 98 million pounds to as low as 19 million. The plants have a daily slicing capacity of 3,000 tons respectively and are the two largest in Canada. Either one can process more beets than the four pioneer factories combined.

In 1930 the Dominion Sugar Company joined forces with the Canada Sugar Refining Company, owners of the "Redpath" refinery at Montreal, Dominion Canada. The name of the new organization was changed to Canada and Dominion Sugar Company, Limited, with head office in Chatham.

The 63 day campaign at Chatham this fall produced 44 million pounds of sugar. This will be doubled next year if the Ontario goal of 35,000 acres is attained as recommended by the Agricultural Conference.

The peace of Love is published, and the sword of the Spirit is drawn; nor will it be sheathed till Truth shall reign triumphant over all the earth.—Mary Baker Eddy.

Beet Growers Get Nearly $500,000.

44 Million Pounds of Sugar from 1945 Crop.

Sugar beet growers of the district will receive nearly $500,000 additional payment on their 1945 sugar beet crop in the next day or two. According to officials of the Canada and Dominion Sugar Company, cheques covering the sugar test bonus went into the mails this morning. This brings the total amount paid to date for the recent beet crop to nearly $2,000,000.

Payments to growers for their 1945 sugar beets are being made on the basis of $5.75 net return for sugar and with an average test of 17.27% sugar in the beets. On this basis the average for the entire crop figures out at $11.76 per ton for factory delivery and $11.01 per ton for delivery at outside points. With a yield per acre over the whole district of 9.3 tons per acre the average crop return for factory delivered beets was $109.37 per acre and for beets delivered at outside points $102.39. Forty-four million pounds of sugar were produced.

Sugar beet growers are paid on the basis of the average net return received by the Company for the sugar, dried beet pulp and molasses produced from the crop. The Sugar Company still has much sugar and molasses to sell but it is not expected that the final price will vary appreciably from the current figures.

Hope Idle Plant to Run.

The Dominion-Provincial Conference held last month in Ottawa called for a 35,000-acre quota on the Ontario sugar beet crop for 1946 and 90,000 acres for all the country. The latter figure is 30,000 acres above the 1945 goal, while the Ontario figure is almost exactly double the 1945 harvest.

The Dominion Conference has thus set its sights high but it is expected that the additional assistance granted by the sugar administration of 60¢ per 100 pounds of sugar plus some subsidy from the Ontario legislature will stimulate contracting in Ontario so as to make the 35,000-acre goal a reality. In that case it would be possible to operate both of the large Ontario sugar factories in 1946 and, if the sugar output is doubled, Ontario will then be doing her share in helping relieve the sugar shortage.

Ration Coupon Due Dates.

Coupons now valid are sugar 46 to 69, butter 116 to 138, preserves 33 to 57 and P to P25, meat 1 to 21.

All preserves coupons and P coupons ration coupons retain their usual value until January 31st, when they expire.

Weights of Special Beef is Changed.

The supply situation of beef having slightly increased over the past few months, the Wartime Prices and Trade Board has announced that the lowest weight for a carcass graded as special quality has been decreased to 300 pounds. Formerly it had been set at 375 pounds.

In order to qualify for the ceiling price on special quality of beef carcasses must be at least 300 pounds cold dressed weight at processor's plant. It must qualify as choice or red brand beef under the grading, branding and selling requirements of the Livestock and Livestock Products Act and must be headed with the red brand according to the same act.

Commercial quality beef must have a good proportion of lean meat to the bone, the prime home must show capri, ears or buttons as far back as the fourth rib to the front, exterior fat may be heavy to moderate and not extend along the loins and ribs from middle of shoulders to pin bone, color of fat may vary from white to light yellow.

Meat Matters.

Are you trying to budget your meat coupons to allow a roast for a special occasion? Have guests upon your door? Don't forget the coupons for the week's meat.

It is good practice always to use light colors when painting a room where the lighting is not good. A room inclined to be glaring with sunlight can be made more livable by the use of somewhat darker paint colors.

Foods for the Family.

Many a homemaker, who has a reputation as a good cook considers the planning of meals a major problem. Then if the necessary foods are not on the market, changing plans to meet the emergency presents another difficulty. She is always pleased when she gets any idea which helps with her menus.

A little bulletin just issued by the Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, is packed full of helpful suggestions for buying, saving and serving food. Your free copy is ready for you. Write today for it.

Here are some of the hints. The others are just as helpful.

Planning Better Meals.

Aim to serve satisfying, well-balanced meals, using Canada's Food Rules as a guide.

Plan meals for at least two or three days in advance. A week is even better. Think in terms of the food groups rather than of individual foods, so that if some are not available you can substitute others from the same group.

Avoid monotony in your meals by varying the ways you cook and eat food. Follow up-to-date cooking techniques for good taste and variety in cooking method. Seasoning and variety of meat is an appetizing touch.

Plan meals which can be prepared with the help of a substitute. These foods usually take two meal times for preparation.

Contrast Needed.

Vary colors in your food. Contrast the colors of the meats, fruits, vegetables, and other foods. For example, do not serve beef, carrots, and potatoes together. Textured foods, such as meat, fish, and eggs, often means the difference between a monotonous and a varied meal. Serve hot, cold food, cold food, hot food, cold food, cold food. Contrast in the meal by alternating meats, such as beef, lamb, pork, chicken, turkey, fish, and shellfish. Cold dishes with a hot one or by serving hot dishes in a cool or cold container.

Plan menus so that meat or other food left from one meal may be attractive.

A DAY THEY'LL TREASURE!

Ontario's ski trails mean fun for hundreds of friendly visitors from the States every year. We want them to enjoy themselves . . . so they'll keep on coming! Let's do all we can to make their visit a real pleasure!

WHAT CAN I DO? The answer is plenty! Here are some of the things anyone can do. These practical suggestions come from a well-known Ontario hotelman:

1. Know the places of interest and beauty spots in your district and tell people all about them.
2. When you write your friends in the States tell them about the places they would really enjoy visiting.
3. Try to make any visitor glad he came to Canada.
4. Take the time to give any requested information fully and graciously.
5. In business dealings, remember Canada's reputation for courtesy and fairness depends on you.
6. To sum it up, follow the "Golden Rule."

IT'S EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS . . . it's good business!

Worth its weight in gold! The Province of Ontario profits to almost the same extent from tourist business as it does from the gold mining industry. It is up to each of us to see that it goes on growing.

This diagram shows how everyone benefits from the Ontario tourist income. Every dollar is shared this way . . . 1. Hotels; 2. Stores; 3. Restaurants; 4. Taxes, etc.; 5. Amusements; 6. Garages.

It works both ways! They treat us royally when we visit them . . . we can't do less than return the compliment. Remember that it costs money to take a holiday . . . so let's see they get a good return for every penny they spend.

"Let's make them want to come back!"

MAIDSTONE CROSS

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Orville Bellaire (Rita McGuire) on the arrival of a baby girl (Judith Ann) at Hotel Dieu Hospital, Windsor, on January 25th.

Many from here attended the funeral of the late Mrs. Cyril Price (nee Helen McCann) second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McCann, of Windsor, and former residents of here. Deceased was only 46 years of age and had been ill many months, and leaves to mourn her passing her husband, three children; her parents, and three brothers. Rev. Fr. Leonard McCann, C.S.B., of St. Basil's Seminary, Toronto, who was with his sister when she passed away; John and Frank, of Windsor; Rita, R.N., and Mrs. Mitchell of Windsor, and Mary (Mrs. W. J. Grace) of Rossland, N.D. The funeral was largely attended, at Assumption Church, on Thursday morning last, where her brother, Rev. Fr. Leonard, C.S.B., sang Grand High Requiem Mass with her cousins, Rev. Fr. Clarence Dorsey as Deacon, and Rev. Fr. Leo Dorsey as sub-deacon, of Adrian, Mich., and Detroit. Burial was in Heavenly Rest cemetery.

Mrs. A. C. McMillin, of Detroit, spent Saturday with her father, I. Halford, and the Johnnie Walkers, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Halford and daughters, of Detroit, spent Sunday with them.

Sincere sympathy to the late Edward Allen's wife and family in the loss of a loving husband and father, who passed away at the home of his daughter Florence, Mrs. Charles Washbrook, of Rossland, N.D. The funeral was held from Anderson's Funeral Home to All Saints' Church, with Rev. Jos. Tully and Rev. Chas. Brown officiating. Burial was in Greenlawn cemetery.

The party welcoming home 63 Service Men and Women of Sandwich South, by the Red Cross, on Wednesday evening, was well attended, and the S. & R. Club entertained delightfully with their well-performed minstrel show. Rev. Jos. Tully opened the program with a few well-chosen words of welcome. Our Reeve, Jos. G. Hennin gave an address of welcome and advice to the boys, and then Ray D. Ure, after welcoming them home, said another party for the remaining sixty or so men yet to come home, and some who have already arrived, but too late to get the pins ready with each one's insignia on some. The evening's entertainment also included a sing-song by the audience, led by the popular singer, Nelson Stuttleworth. When God Save the King was sung all departed for home after an enjoyable evening.

The many friends of George Walker are hoping for a speedy recovery from his recent operation, at Grace Hospital, Windsor. George is in the Vet's ward.

Farm Home Burned.

The farm home of Clarence Colenutt, on the Malden Road, about 2 miles west of Essex, was completely destroyed by fire early Monday evening.

The fire started in the attic, from a defective chimney. Neighbours soon gathered and, with the aid of Essex firemen, who responded to a call for help, all contents in the home were saved.

The house, a large frame building, had just recently been re-shingled and the outside had been re-sided with the artificial brick siding. The loss, while heavy to the Colenutt family, is covered by insurance.

Fletcher Ruston Passes.

Fletcher Ruston, a lifelong resident of Rochester Township, passed away at Metropolitan Hospital, Windsor, on Monday, to where he had been removed by ambulance on Friday, after having been seized with a cerebral hemorrhage a few days previous. Deceased had not been in good health for some years. He was born May 9th, 1875, a son of the late John Ruston and Sarah Jane Leak, and had farmed all his life.

Surviving are a sister, Miss Grace Ruston, and a brother William, at home.

Funeral services will be held at the home at 2 p.m., to South Woodslee United Church, at 2.30 today (Thursday), with burial in Jarrett cemetery. Rev. J. N. Sceviour will be in charge.

Young People's Notes.

On Monday night the Essex United Y. P. U. observed National Night. The scope and work of youth movements throughout the United Church of Canada was discussed, and a better picture of the inside story of our organization was thus obtained. Marjorie McLean, Leadership Training convener, was in charge of the meeting. At the close of the service a party was held at the parsonage, honouring two of our members who are to be hitched on Valentine's Day.

Plans are shaping up fast for our annual Crokinole Party, to be held on Monday, February 11th. Tickets are now on sale, so get yours early. A good time is promised to all. Lunch will be served. FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 1, 1946.

The Automotive Transport Association of Ontario.

"It is in the public interest that freight rates by motor transport should be regulated to eliminate unjust discrimination and other unfair practices," declared H. E. Adams, of Chatham, president of the Automotive Transport Association of Ontario, at a conference held here this week of delegates representing The Canadian Manufacturers' Association, The Canadian Industrial Traffic League, The Toronto Board of Trade, The Hamilton Chamber of Commerce and The Automotive Transport Association of Ontario.

"Present provincial legislation in Ontario provides for control of motor transport services, and protection of the public interest," added Mr. Adams. "However, the shipping public and motor transport carriers are greatly concerned over the lack of regulation of motor transport freight rates. The time is now ripe for remedial action. It is a problem which has been begging a solution for many years."

Mr. Adams referred to the Commercial Vehicle Act which provides that the Lieutenant Governor in Council, upon the recommendation of the Minister of Highways may make regulations "respecting publication, filing and posting of tariffs of tolls and the payment of tolls."

"The lack of freight rate regulation leads to unjust discriminatory practices," charged Mr. Adams. "For example, a Toronto manufacturer shipping to, say Barrie should not pay a higher or a lower rate than his competitor in Toronto who ships to the same point."

Mr. Adams pointed out that the transportation of freight by motor truck reaches every type of business, and its facilities extend to all parts of the province. "This is a vital part of the service. Clearly it is the duty of the Government to intervene for the protection of the man who pays the freight, viz, the shipper or the consignee, and in the final analysis the public."

"There is a predominant — one could almost say unanimous — desire by the shipping public and the carriers alike for regulation of freight rates," by motor transport in the province of Ontario," continued Mr. Adams. "The concern of the shipping public is manifest. Such well known and recognized representative bodies as The Canadian Manufacturers' Association, The Canadian Industrial Traffic League, The Toronto Board of Trade, The Hamilton Chamber of Commerce and others have indicated their support, and have participated in representations to the authorities."

Mr. Adams suggested that in the first instance the regulations should provide for a standard freight classification which would be generally used by all motor carriers. Rates should be available to all shippers alike and should not unjustly discriminate against any class or type of freight or localities. Motor carriers should be required to file their tariffs with a regulatory body which should have the authority to approve or disapprove and determine whether rates are fair or unfair, reasonable or unreasonable, unjustly discriminatory or not.

"The regulation of motor transport freight rates is being successfully carried out by the legislative authorities in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, British Columbia and in the United States," concluded Mr. Adams. "Action on this subject is long overdue in Ontario. The public interest demands it."

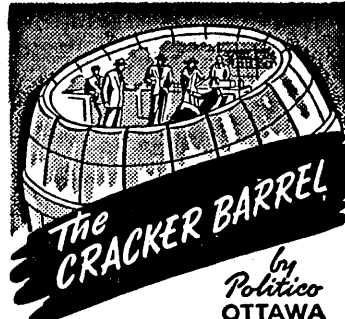

Tractor Work Cost.

According to the Engineering Section of the Dominion Experimental Farms Service, the total cost of operation of a farm tractor (depreciation, interest, housing, repairs, repair labour, oil and fuel) depends primarily on, and varies with, the annual use of the machine. For example, a 15 horsepower tractor which operates 100 hours per year costs about $16.00 per day, while the cost is about $7.00 per day when the same tractor is operated 1,000 hours per year.

Potato Meeting to be Held in Toronto.

In planning this year's program for the annual Potato Meeting of the Ontario Crop Improvement Association, the committee has planned to deal with a wide variety of practical subjects of interest to potato growers. The meeting will be held in the Crystal Ballroom, King Edward Hotel, Toronto, on Monday, February 11th, beginning at 9.30 a.m., and continuing until late evening. Subjects for discussion will include seed control, DDT, soil management and land use, spraying, dusting, storage and merchandising. Several growers are listed on the program, including G. R. Gowan, Brantford, whose 1945 crop was estimated at more than 25,000 bushels, and also John Vanderhorst, Fort Frances, a Rainy River district farmer, who reports more than $1,000 per acre from his potato crop this past season. Time is being allowed for discussion.

E. K. Hampton, of Hamilton, will be the guest speaker at the Fourth Annual Potato Luncheon, and entertainment will be provided. A seed display will be featured as a service for growers who have seed for sale. This will be an excellent opportunity for those who require seed to arrange for supplies.

Now that January 1946 is almost history, one of the chief topics of conversation in the Capital is the Second Session of Canada's Twentieth Parliament. When will it open?

Five Cabinet Ministers are at present overseas, and since the Budget cannot be prepared without consultation with them, their return is obviously part of the preparation picture. If one knew how long it would take Minister Hasky to consult with them after they return, an approximate opening date for Parliament might be ventured.

But this is not the only preparation necessary for the opening of the Session. There are a number of important matters pending. When will the Peace Conference be held, what are to be the final details of the Anglo-Canadian Loan Agreement, what will be the trade picture during the next year? And the questions are even more numerous than that.

Preparing for a Parliamentary Session is an inexact and highly technical affair. The Government is fully aware that Parliament is the final and highest expression of democracy, and believes the best decisions can be reached only when adequate preparation precedes the presentation of Government policies on the floor of Commons.

Political Temperatures. There are many expectations here that the Session, likely to open early in March, will be lively. The speech from the throne will be the first real postwar statement of Government policy, and many lines of development will be given expression in it. Both Conservatives and CCFers are anxious to learn that the Government will announce policies which will frustrate their respective political thunderings.

There is some basis to this fear, since public opinion continues to move in the direction of sympathy with Liberal policies, and active support of them. This is clearly indicated by the findings of a periodical survey which recently recorded the continued shifting in voting sentiment in favour of the Government.

In April of 1946, 36 percent of the electorate was willing to elect a Liberal in each riding. When the election actually came on June 11th, this percentage had grown to 41.

By last November the increase had reached 44 per cent, and during the past two months it has gone up another 1 per cent.

Today, 45 per cent of the voters would like to see a Liberal in their respective federal ridings, which would mean a clean sweep of the country in every riding having more than two candidates.

Since most ridings are contested by several candidates, this would produce a Liberal victory far greater than the greatest political victory of this country, when 178 Liberal candidates reached Parliament in 1940.

This revelation worries the CCF and alarms the Conservatives. In April 1946, the CCF would have received 20 per cent of the total votes, which today has dropped to 16 per cent. The Tory drop is from 29 per cent in April 1945 to 24 percent today.

More Benefits to Vets.

The other day the Ottawa Journal, frequently quite critical of the Government's policies and their application, took a "disgruntled veteran" to task for complaining he had no job, no money, nothing but promises.

The "Journal" printed the letter which it had received, and the veteran was astonished at the amount of help which immediately was forthcoming. He quickly learned that the man discharged from the Canadian Armed Forces most definitely was not thrown upon his own resources to sink or swim. As the "Journal" indicated, "there is an elaborate organization ready and anxious to assist him — and the regulations make many forms of assistance available."

The Department of Veterans' Affairs has set up a system of counsellors throughout the country, and no veteran should have any difficulty in locating them. Indeed, his nearest newspaper office is most likely to have the answer fastest. The Department stands ready "to make a complete investigation of any complaint and if the Department is at fault will only be too anxious to correct any condition complained of."

To give even one more service to the discharged members of Canada's fine democratic army, the Government has evolved an arrangement between the Veterans' and Labour Departments to give veterans out-of-work benefits, paid through the offices of the Unemployment Insurance Commission after February 1st.

By planting the benefits, the veteran does not need to spend his gratuities for living expenses which he is seeking a job.

The benefits amounting to $50 a month for a single man, with additional allowances for children. If a veteran has not found work within 39 days after discharge, the benefits are drawn.

More Than Duty.

"For extraordinary heroism beyond the call of duty" ... the citation read. What selfish devotion these words reveal. They speak of unstinted giving which reflects the divine.

Should we do more than is normally required of us in the line of duty? Having done our work well, is that not enough? Christ Jesus taught his followers to go "the second mile." Said he (Matthew 5:41), "Whoever shall compel thee to go a mile, go with him twain."

Man in God's likeness is wholly spiritual. He is the expression of divine Mind. God, as Christian Science reveals, Health, intelligence, ability, strength are his in abundant measure. Man's perfection is established in infinite spirit, and as spiritual understanding perceives it is evidenced in human experience. Good cannot be concealed, or impaired, much less destroyed. Jesus said (Mark 4:22), "There is nothing hid, which shall not be manifested." The spiritual understanding of man as he truly is, enables us to demonstrate man's perfection as Love's reflection here and now.

To turn from the finite limitations of mortal man to the infinite capacity of spiritual man, God's reflection is to turn from weakness to strength from famine to refreshment. Man's life, reflecting the divine, is immortal and cannot be expended, depleted, or in any way limited.

One's strength is in proportion to his fearlessness and has no relation to age or physique. Health, strength and courage are spiritual qualities, forever manifested by Mind's idea, man. Greater endurance is attained in direct proportion to our increased spiritual understanding. Proportionally, as we recognize God as the source of our strength, health, ability, do we consciously possess and express them.

"What ever it is our duty to do, you can do without harm to yourself," we read in Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, by Mary Baker Eddy (p. 385). No weariness or exhaustion should follow the performing of an extra task, helping to shoulder another's burden, and it will not if the task is lovingly done. It cannot overthrow Love's law. Doing good brings its own reward, and no penalties with it.—Christian Science Monitor.

Bedbugs are Also Poultry Pests.

Usually considered only as a pest to man, the common bedbug and several other allied species are also troublesome to poultry. Only at night when a blood meal is required, the bugs search out their victims, and at other times secrete themselves in cracks and crevices. Small, elongated white eggs are deposited in these hiding places, up to 200 eggs being laid by each female. The young bugs produced from these eggs are similar in appearance to the adults but are pale in colour, their only food, like that of the adults, being blood. They can live, however, for several months without a meal. The life-cycle from egg to adult may be completed within six weeks but is often much more prolonged.

One of the simplest and most satisfactory control measures for infested chicken houses is to spray all cracks and crevices in woodwork and roosts with creosote oil or crude petroleum. If complete eradication is not effected by this treatment, it should be repeated after about ten days.

Tax Collector Talks Back. Coffee-bar gossip took a cheerful turn in Capital last week when Canada's tax collector McCann announced that refundable portions of 1942 income and excess profits taxes will be paid before March 31st, 1946, with the refundable portion of the 1943 taxes a year later, and the 6 month portion of the 1944 tax still a year after that or in 1950.

This refund is going to put a lot of not-too-small golden eggs in the hands of persons who will be able to make lovely omelettes. Many people will be building houses and this money will greatly assist the financing thereof; or the new automobiles supply will increase; or perhaps even the new television sets will be among the first purchases — you name yours. And the spreading of this money means the spreading of employment.

Invite Co-operation of Farmers with Plant Breeders.

One of the problems confronting the plant breeder is to find out the actual worth of a new farm condition. Each variety has shown promise in small test plots at an Experimental Farm.

The practice of testing new promising varieties under different soil and climate conditions to determine their adaptability is widely accepted, but to carry on such tests successfully requires the co-operation of interested farmers, says R. A. Derriek, Cereal Division Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa.

One type of test which has been used for many years is commonly referred to as the "drill row" test. In these tests the varieties are grown in small plots, three to five rows each, one row in length. The plot of each variety is usually replicated a number of times in the test. The work of seedling and harvesting these small plots is done by hand so as to obtain as much reliability in the results as possible.

While such tests are used at the Experimental Farms and Agricultural Colleges every year, they are often put in at selected points out in the country. This type of test has proved valuable in indicating the relative merits of newly developed varieties when the supply of seed is limited.

Another type of test which lends itself to the evaluation of varieties, particularly on the basis of field observations is known as the "drill width" test. In this test the farmer sows the seed and undertakes to appraise the performance of the varieties being tested. His judgment in regard to the worth of a new variety under his conditions is considered of special importance.

In the drill width test, seed of from three to five varieties is supplied from the Experimental Farm. The seed of each variety is sown with the ordinary seed drill in a strip across the field (one drill width) preferably in the same field in which the main farm crop is being grown. In seeding these strips, the drill has to be cleaned

Insects Cannot Attack This Furniture.

A new type of furniture for export to eastern and tropical countries which is unaffected by climatic conditions or attack by insects, has been developed in the United Kingdom. Some thousands of the chairs and tables have been produced and are already in use, with the S.E.A.C. forces. The framework of the chairs and tables are prefabricated from steel tubes, while the seats and table tops are made from heat and insect-resistant plastics, which can be provided in a range of colours to meet the overseas customers' tastes. Following research the seats have been moulded to give comfort equivalent to that of a sprung leather canvas chair.

Essex Town Council.

Monday, January 21st. Council met in special session, as per adjournment, with Mayor J. C. Linton, Reeve Irwin and Councillors Chase, Shaw, Lee, Pulleyblank, Francotte and Brushett present. William Skinner and Arthur Bowden addressed Council re levying taxes on the Legion property. They asked that school and local improvement taxes only be levied on the property.

Quite a discussion followed on a petition memorial for our boys who didn't return from World War II. All members of Council were in favour of granting the Legion their request, but when Councillor Pulleyblank explained authority of Town Council, a copy of which he had given Mr. Geddes, Town Solicitor, it was decided to leave matter in the hands of Mr. Geddes, and if town can pass a bylaw for a period of ten years fixing tax rate chargeable against the Legion property, at school rates and local improvement only, then the solicitor have some reason to present at a regular Council meeting.

E. Richardson, town assessor, reported he had made his assessment on business in town. On motion of Messrs. Francotte and Shaw, Messrs. A. E. Benson, L. W. Allison and J. R. Linton were again appointed members of Court of Revision and Court of Revision met on Friday, February 1st, to hear and act on appeals.

During the evening a couple of young men, members of the Windsor Motorcycle Club, addressed Council re use of the race track at the Fairgrounds. This matter was left in the hands of Mr. Pulleyblank, chairman of the Property Committee, to get in touch with the men who train their harness horses on the track, and report their ideas on request to Council next Monday. The two young men stated they would return next Monday evening.

The members went over the 1945 budget and the actual receipts and expenditures for last year, and struck some tentative figures for 1946. The Clerk and Treasurer advised that a mill this year will raise approximately $1,320 as against only $1,222 in 1945.

As Council had no estimates from the newly-formed High School District Board or the Public or Separate School Boards in town, the figures set for this year and rate, which they thought would be possible, was only set tentatively.

A lengthy discussion took place on police matters in town, whether it would be advisable and if town could afford both a day police and a night man.

Council adjourned.

Place Orders Now for Package Bees.

Those intending to import package bees this coming spring should place their orders at once in order to avoid late or even non-deliveries when the active season opens, says C. B. Good-Graham, Dominion Apiarist. The demand for honey to replace heavily rationed sugar is still high, increasing the demand for bees. Many of the breeders are already warning their prospective customers that late orders may go unfilled. The ten per cent War Exchange Tax on imported bees has been removed, but that there is now no duty on them and this has eliminated the danger of delay in deliveries due to neglect in prepaying this tax. It is too early yet to state definitely whether or not the subsidy on package bees will be continued to 1946 importations. In any case, those who killed their bees in fall and plan to replace them with packages in the spring should not wait until a definite announcement is made before ordering.

The sugar situation is still critical and the supplies available for spring feeding of bees are severely limited. No sugar is available for spring feeding except in the provinces of Saskatchewan and Alberta, where five lbs. will be allowed per colony for established beekeepers only. Those keeping bees for the first time this spring cannot secure any. Servicemen who can establish the fact that they were bona fide beekeepers at the time of enlistment will receive consideration. For full details on the matter of allocations of sugar and for permits to purchase it, the beekeeper should write to the Provincial Apiarist of the province in which he resides. Package bees should not be ordered unless the beekeeper has the necessary food and equipment on hand to feed and care for the bees when they arrive.

Leamington to Get Home Mail Delivery.

The report on the result of a survey Leamington with regard to a house-mail delivery was received by A. Moore, postmaster at Leamington.

Mr. Moore stated the post office officials found the streets well marked and most of the houses suitably numbered. The service will be put into operation as soon as possible. In regard to installing receptacles for mail, the officials suggest having them placed in the front door so that the mail drops into the house. Tin boxes and other such devices were not satisfactory, they stated.

Annual Meeting of Horticulturists.

The importance of developments in the international trade field and their bearing upon the future of producers of Canadian fruits and vegetables will be stressed in the program for the twenty-fourth annual meeting of the Canadian Horticultural Council, to be held in Ottawa, February 4th to 6th, inclusive.

In addition to the resolutions referred to the Council by the Provincial and Dominion member associations, problems, concerning price ceilings, subsidies, income tax and floor prices will be reviewed. Following the meeting, a committee of the Council is to meet in Ottawa with a committee from the United States Horticultural Council. President J. Wilfred Boulter, Charlottetown, P.E.I., will preside and Council members and delegates from every Province will attend.

Farm Engineering.

Increasing mechanism of agriculture is creating an extensive field for the investigation, testing, and demonstration of farm implements and machines. Engineering, farm building, construction, research, adaptation of existing equipment to special uses, labour-saving devices, and a wide range of maintenance and repair problems are subjects of Experimental Farms investigation and research. At the Central Farm, Ottawa, and at the Swift Current Experimental Station, Sask., engineering staffs and facilities are being assembled for increased work in agricultural engineering. The Engineering Sections there have been doing outstanding work.

Recommended Corn Hybrids for Ontario.

Hybrid corn tests were conducted throughout Ontario in 1945 under the direction of the Ontario Corn Committee. The purpose of these tests is to recommend and license those hybrids which show special merit. A few weeks ago the Ontario Corn Committee met to study the information received from the tests and to make their recommendations. Dr. G. F. H. Buckley, Dominion Experimental Station, Harrow, Ont.

The seasonal conditions throughout the year were most unfavourable for corn. Excessive rainfall and low temperatures delayed planting in some cases and where planting was done at the normal time germination and growth were slow. The cool wet fall retarded ripening and much corn was harvested with a moisture content too high. These poor conditions were not limited to Ontario but were similar throughout a large part of the United States' corn belt. Thus the results from the tests were not those that would be expected under normal conditions. As the majority of the hybrids were tested in 1945 for the first time, the Corn Committee felt that the results of the tests did not give a true picture of the behaviour of the hybrid under more normal conditions. The opinion was that only those hybrid which had been tested for two or more years and had shown real merit over that period should be considered. On this basis three new hybrids were added to the recommended list.

Canbred No. 150 and Canbred No. 250 were placed in the "Very Early" group while Pinks G 550 W was added to the medium group. Canbred 150 is extremely early and matures slightly earlier than Canada 210. The other, Canbred 250 has a maturity rating between Canada 240 and Canada 275.

Pinks G 550 W is a white hybrid which will meet the need for a white sort later than Iowa 3215. It is a better earlier in maturing than Canada 666.

Ontario Holstein Men Help Raise Money for Project.

Working through its various branches throughout the Province, the Hotel Association of Ontario is taking an active part in the raising of funds for the proposed $500,000 national training and recreation centre in Toronto for war amputation cases.

In this new building, the "amp" will be able to indulge in games and sports without embarrassment. He will follow exercise routine to help check or counteract the unseen results of amputation. There will be provision for physical relaxation; for alleviation of his discomforts; for the care of his body and of his amputated stump.

Hotelmen, who have never refused to throw their weight behind a worthy cause, are rallying to the "amps" assistance. They have organized subscription drives in their respective communities and given generously from their own pockets. Expenses for the campaign they are bearing themselves. In St. Catharines the hotelmen are raising $5,000; another $5,000 as least is forthcoming from Belleville district. One of the smaller hotel zones, the Lakehead Hotelkeepers' Association recently presented its cheque for $1,750 to officials of the amputation Society. From the far north to Windsor, Ontario, hotelmen are wholeheartedly raising funds for the boys who lost arms and legs in our service.

"If you visited the present 'Amps' Clubrooms as we did," declared Dalton J. Caswell, president of the Hotel Association of Ontario, "you would understand immediately why this new building is so urgently needed. The present old, run-down house is not suitable for 'normal' men — decidedly inadequate for those who have to manage without one or more of their limbs."

Train Meals by Slot Machine.

Automatic buffet cars, believed to be the first of their kind in the world, are to be installed on trains operated by the Great Western Railway of the United Kingdom. The cars will enable passengers to purchase snacks, smokes and drinks at any time on the journey by putting sixpence (about ten cents) or one shilling into the slot of one of the many hundreds of snack compartments. Stand up counters will be fitted in front of the big observation windows on each side of the cars for the convenience of passengers who prefer to take their refreshment there. The new setup will be brought into service as soon as food conditions in the United Kingdom permit. The automatic buffet system will probably be used on short distance journeys, long distance trains being provided with full restaurant facilities.

Healthy Brood Sows.

Who said sows never make the news headlines? That one from the Kitchener district didn't have her name or picture in the papers but certainly made interesting reading — she had a litter of 27 piglets just before Christmas. It was unfortunate that only 14 of them survived although that is still a profitable number. Thinking of the 12 that died, I decided to mention a few things that will be a help to you in raising healthy brood sows.

A sow should be neither too fat nor too thin. A fat sow cannot provide the necessary nourishment to her piglets and may have trouble in farrowing. A thin sow may fail to conceive or may have trouble in farrowing. It is quite common for fat sows to fail to farrow at all, or to farrow too early.

Should Gain 80 Pounds. A mature sow, in the best of health, at the beginning of the farrowing season, should gain 75 to 85 pounds by farrowing time in the spring. The bulk of this gain should occur in the last 4 or 6 weeks of the gestation period, while the unborn litter is making its greatest growth. For the first 10 or 12 weeks, mature sows should be on plenty of lean hay with 15 to 20 ounces of concentrate daily for each pound of body weight. During the last 4 to 6 weeks, the concentrate should be increased to 20 or 21 ounces. In addition, a good feed of roots, such as turnips, and a good feed of green feed, such as alfalfa, should be given.

When a sow is farrowing, she should be on a diet of 20 to 21 ounces of concentrate daily, and a good feed of roots, such as turnips, and a good feed of green feed, such as alfalfa, should be given.

Healthy Brood Sows.

Who said sows never make the news headlines? That one from the Kitchener district didn't have her name or picture in the papers but certainly made interesting reading — she had a litter of 27 piglets just before Christmas. It was unfortunate that only 14 of them survived although that is still a profitable number. Thinking of the 12 that died, I decided to mention a few things that will be a help to you in raising healthy brood sows.

A sow should be neither too fat nor too thin. A fat sow cannot provide the necessary nourishment to her piglets and may have trouble in farrowing. A thin sow may fail to conceive or may have trouble in farrowing. It is quite common for fat sows to fail to farrow at all, or to farrow too early.

Should Gain 80 Pounds. A mature sow, in the best of health, at the beginning of the farrowing season, should gain 75 to 85 pounds by farrowing time in the spring. The bulk of this gain should occur in the last 4 or 6 weeks of the gestation period, while the unborn litter is making its greatest growth. For the first 10 or 12 weeks, mature sows should be on plenty of lean hay with 15 to 20 ounces of concentrate daily for each pound of body weight. During the last 4 to 6 weeks, the concentrate should be increased to 20 or 21 ounces. In addition, a good feed of roots, such as turnips, and a good feed of green feed, such as alfalfa, should be given.

When a sow is farrowing, she should be on a diet of 20 to 21 ounces of concentrate daily, and a good feed of roots, such as turnips, and a good feed of green feed, such as alfalfa, should be given.

Here are the factors to look into when you begin to consider ways and means of increasing the egg production of your flock:

1. The inherited productive ability of your flock.
2. Good pullets resulting from good brooding and rearing conditions.
3. Proper housing.
4. Disease control.
5. Good management.
6. Balanced feeding.

Of all these factors feeding has the most direct effect on egg production.

Here is what one of the thousands of SHUR-GAIN feeders has to say about SHUR-GAIN:

R. R. 2, Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.

DEAR SIR:

I feel I owe it to you to say what I think of SHUR-GAIN feeds. I have fed nothing but SHUR-GAIN mash to my hens since the day they were hatched and the results have been remarkable.

At the present time they are laying 80%, which is unusual at this time of year.

I am certainly sold on SHUR-GAIN and will feed nothing else as long as I can buy it.

Yours very truly,

HENRY E. GOLD.

Thank Canada.

Everywhere in the south of England in this post-war austerity some one comparing this season with a year ago will say, "At least nothing is dropping on us."

Who stopped the V bombs and the rockets? Who cleaned up the nests of these projectiles in France, Holland and Belgium and gave us respite at last, even before the war was won? It was the Canadians (with our own countrymen) who did it — at great sacrifice. Never should it be forgotten. Here forever is a bond — a new bond if one were needed — between Canada and London.

Bless the name of the Canadians who came so far to do so much.

Mrs. A. R. McBrien Mourned.

Mrs. Flora Catherine McBrien, wife of A. R. McBrien, well-known harness maker, of town, passed away at the family home, Brien avenue, on Friday last, following a lengthy illness.

Deceased, who was 73 years of age, was a daughter of the late Robert Miller and Mary Ann Cluff, and moved to Essex 26 years ago. She had always been an active member of St. Paul's Anglican Church.

Surviving, besides her husband, are a daughter Olive (Mrs. E. McBrien) of Essex; four sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth McBrien and Mrs. Mary Ann Harvey, of Clinton; Mrs. Robert Miller, of Stratford, and Mrs. Mabel Andrews, of Alix, Alta; also a brother, William Miller, of Detroit.

A short funeral service was held at the J. A. Hicks & Son Funeral Home at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, thence to St. Paul's Anglican Church at 2:30. Burial was in Greenhill Cemetery, Kingsville.

Mrs. Edna Jenkins Passes.

Mrs. Edna Jenkins, aged 72, of 1042 Pierre avenue, Windsor, widow of the late Samuel Jenkins, passed away in Grace Hospital, Windsor, on Sunday, following a short illness.

Deceased, whose maiden name was Hillier, was born in South Woodlee, and after living in that district for some years, moved to Essex, from where the family moved into Windsor 30 years ago. When the family resided in town they lived in a house at the corner of Russell and Centre streets, since torn down.

Funeral services were held on Wednesday, with interment in North Ridge cemetery.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. David Potter, of Cottam, and Miss Elma, at home; three sons, Melville, at home; Ivan, of Windsor, and Arnum, of Cincinnati, Ohio; two brothers, Isaac Hillier, of Windsor, and Peter Hillier, of North Ridge; also three sisters, Mrs. Jane Taylor, Mrs. Cornelius Blanchard and Mrs. Lucy Mae Downey, all of Windsor. Her late husband passed away in 1943.

Old Resident Passes.

Howard Armstrong, 80 years old, a lifelong resident of Essex County, passed away on Friday after a lengthy illness.

Deceased was born in Mersea township, but had farmed on the Malden Road, Rochester Township, the past 30 years.

Funeral services were held from his late home, in charge of Rev. J. N. Scévour, with burial in Albion cemetery.

Surviving are his widow, the former Sarah Jane Cotter, five sons, Thomas of Mersea Township; Charles, Adolphus, Edwin and Lawrence, all of Rochester Township, and three daughters, Mrs. Elmer Griffin, Mrs. Carlyle Fenner, both of Rochester Township, and Miss Eliza Armstrong, at home; also a brother Melvin, of Leamington, and two sisters, Mrs. H. L. Hutchinson, of Windsor, and Mrs. W. C. Dainty, of Leamington.

Langlois-Deehan Nuptials.

A wedding of interest took place recently in St. Mary's R. C. Church, Maldstone, when Rev. Fr. Gleeson united in marriage Miss Vera Marie Deehan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Deehan, of Maldstone, and William Albert Langlois, of Windsor, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Langlois, of Leamington, at a double ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charming in a white floor-length chiffon gown, featuring a square neckline, a pleated bodice and a full skirt, and sleeves to the wrists. Her three-quarter veil was held by an orchid clip on each side. She carried a lily and wore a double strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

Misses Rosemary and Betty Langlois, as bridesmaids, wore identical chiffon gowns of soft pink and pale blue, with square necklines, gathered bodice and full skirts and full sleeves, with bands at the wrists. They wore shoulder-length matching veils held by a heart-shaped hair. They carried a mixed bouquet of carnations. Stanley Deehan, brother of the bride, and Sylvestre McGuire Jr., acted as groomsmen. Jack Nelson and Ted Deehan were ushers.

A group of friends sang "Oh What Could My Jesus Do More," "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother" and "Oh Lord I am not Worthy." The music was played by the bride's sister, Miss Odella Deehan.

The bride's mother chose a blue crepe dress and matching hat and wore a corsage of red roses. Mrs. Langlois wore a black and gold ensemble and also had red roses for a corsage.

Dinner was served to the immediate families, at the bride's parents' home in Maldstone, and was followed later by a buffet supper and reception in the evening.

Later, Mr. and Mrs. Langlois left for a short honeymoon trip to Eastern points, the bride travelling in a tailored navy blue suit and wore tushia accessories. She wore a gray tweed coat. Upon their return they will live in Windsor.

Ernie Henderson Passes.

Ernest Albert Henderson, aged 53, who held an executive office position with the Bell Telephone Co. of Canada, and who has lived with his family, for some years, on the Two-odde farm, on the Colchester-Maldstone Townline, just west of the Essex town limits, passed away in Hotel Dieu Hospital, Windsor, early Tuesday morning, after an illness of several months. He was a member of the Essex Rotary Club.

Services were held from the S. L. Kennedy Funeral Chapel this (Thursday) afternoon, in charge of Rev. R. H. Parr, with interment in Evergreen Cemetery, Leamington.

Surviving, besides his widow, Sadie, and his father, Wm. B. Henderson, of Essex, are four sons, Gerald, William, Robert and Ernest Jr., all of Essex.

Harry A. Barber Dies.

Harry, who was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Barber, highly respected citizens of Essex for many years after the turn of the century, was born in the State of Rhode Island. He owned and operated a store for a few years in Harrow, but about 40 years ago moved to Detroit, where he went into the wholesale candy business; he later was in the motor chemicals business and of late years was president of the Motor Age Products Co.

Surviving besides his widow, Corinne M., is a brother Leonard E. (Chub) Barber, of Detroit, for years a business man and resident of Essex.

Sugar Beet Prices Set a New Peak.

Dominion and Provincial Help Boosts Beet Values.

Sugar beet growers in Southwestern Ontario are assured of the highest prices for their 1946 crop since 1920. Announcement has now been made of the settlement arrived at during the negotiations between the Ontario Sugar Beet Growers' Marketing Board and Canada and Dominion Sugar Company Limited. The subsidy granted by the Ontario Government, which is set at a maximum of $12,500, will be paid to growers on the basis of 58c per ton flat rate. The subsidy thus covers approximately 194 thousand tons of beets. On all tonnage delivered above this figure the Sugar Company undertakes to pay growers an amount equal to the subsidy, namely 58c per ton.

Ontario sugar-beet growers also share in the sugar price increase authorized by the sugar Administration for 1946 of 60c per one hundred pounds. Translated into terms of sugar beets, according to the Ontario contract, this amounts to $1.50 per ton on a 16c beet, $1.62 on a 17c beet and so on. On the basis of the sugar content in the 1945 crop the Dominion price boost amounts to about $1.55. Hence, if the 1946 sugar content should exactly equal that of last year, growers should receive a total of 88c per ton more than last year's price. These calculations as explained by the Growers' Association are all based on the current prices for sugar, dried pulp and molasses. Since Control by the Sugar Administration is expected to last well into 1947 there is unlikely to be any change in these prices.

Highest Since 1920.

The 1946 prices for sugar beets in Ontario are the highest in effect since 1920.

The current boost in sugar beet prices is designed to produce a large increase in acreage in 1946. The Dominion-Provincial Agricultural Conference set a goal of 35,000 acres for the Ontario sugar beet crop of this year. This amount is almost exactly double the crop harvested in 1945 and, if realized, should produce close to 100 million pounds of granulated sugar.

Now that the prices for sugar beets have been settled, beet growers as well as the general farming community of Southwestern Ontario, are all looking to Ottawa for definite and practicable working plans for the 1946 farm labour supply, the announcement says. The farmers are not only anxious to have the German prisoners-of-war retained for the spring work but are also desirous of bringing in skilled farm help from Belgium and the Netherlands.

A number of meetings of farmers' organizations are scheduled to be held in the near future and plans will be laid for widespread action on the labour front.

Father and Son Banquet.

It is a big night that is being planned for the fathers and sons, at the United Church, on Tuesday, February 26th, at 6:30 p.m.

This annual affair was somewhat slighted during the war because of the absence of so many of our young men, and rationing, but now, since many have returned, no efforts are being spared to make this year's banquet an affair that no father or son can afford to miss. Every arrangement is being made for an evening of fun and fellowship that the men and boys will long remember.

Dr. Albert J. Lindsey, of Immanuel Presbyterian Church, will be the guest speaker, his subject being "Father — Son." The Father and Son church service, on Sunday, February 24th, will be conducted by Rev. John Hunter, of Detroit, formerly of Essex.

Fathers are urged to make a date with your boy for both of these services. There are several boys who need a foster-father for the banquet. Anyone who will be responsible for such a boy, kindly inquire.

When you get right down to the root of the meaning of the word "succeed," you will find that it simply means to follow through.—F. W. Nicholson.

Essex Town Council.

Monday, January 28th.
Council met in regular session in the Council Chamber, with Mayor Linton, Reeve Irwin and Councillors Chase, Shaw, Lee, Francotte, Pallett, Blank and Brushett present.

Minutes were read, and on motion adopted.

Murray Kennedy asked Council's permission to operate a taxi in town. He understood the yearly license fee would be $5. He also realized that before he could operate a taxi he would have to have the car fully covered by insurance.

Mr. Goddes, Town Solicitor, advised that a council a few years ago, at the request of Don Wilson, had passed a bylaw to taxi service and while not sure, he thought same had been approved by the Department of Highways.

On motion of Messrs. Francotte and Shaw, the request was granted.

L. W. Allison addressed Council re Street Liability Insurance. He stated he was quoting Council two different premiums, one of $175.45, in a Tariff Company, and a premium of $400 in a non-tariff company.

Both these companies were real strong financially, so Council could choose. He had quoted the non-tariff in figure as he understood a competitive bid would be in from the same company he represents.

The Clerk then opened a tender from Fred Keane, at a premium of $350 in the same non-tariff company, as Mr. Allison had quoted. Mr. Keane also spoke a few words on his own behalf.

The matter was laid over till later in the meeting.

Fred Eldridge, local garbage collector, addressed Council re salary, stating he could possibly do it for less than $120 per month as it took him six and a half hours a week to pick up the garbage and he had to pay his helper for an hour. He also advised Council something had to be done about levelling the town dumps as at present there is no road into it.

Mr. Francotte stated that he was only waiting for weather to straighten around before he put a bulldozer on the dump again, last year it had been off.

Mr. Skinner addressed Council in regard to Legion request to taxes on the property.

Mr. Goddes advised Council that according to statute, the town may pass a bylaw exempting property owned by a Veterans' Club exemption from taxes, except for school purposes and local improvements, for a period not to be more than five years. Mr. Goddes stated if Council was in accordance with respect it must be done by bylaw.

After much discussion as to length of time to be exempted in future, it was moved by Messrs. Francotte and Pallett that Council should be requested to draw up a bylaw granting the Veterans' Club exemption of taxes for a period of five years and also in future to be a period of ten years and also present same to Council at next regular meeting.

Mr. Skinner, before leaving, read about rental of Earl Greydon, building. The key to the building is being left at his house and while he doesn't mind it is the town he didn't think if Graham Potts still leased the building that he and his family should be bothered with the key.

Council at this time was interrupted by a phone call requesting town truck to check a call to country fire about two miles out of town. Mr. Chase and Mr. Francotte of the Fire and Light Committee, granted their permission, but also advised Mr. Francotte, at the Water Works, that in future town truck was not to leave town.

Mr. Goddes advised Council that he had looked into date of qualifying of the newly-elected Council, and that any date after January 1st can be set by bylaw, however the date must be no later than the second Monday in January.

After a short discussion, it was moved by Messrs. Francotte and Brushett, that Council be requested to draw up the necessary bylaw fixing the first Monday in the New Year, and if this day happens to be New Year's Day, then the day immediately following, as date for election Council to be sworn in.

The insurance matter was brought up, and on motion of Messrs. Francotte and Pallett, given to Mr. Allison at a premium of $175.45 in the Tariff Company.

J. M. Shaw reported that Mr. Thornton had spoken to him re his proposal of building a new home on the lot just south of the old J. A. Rees residence. He intended filling this lot in with earth and thus sidewalk along front would have to be raised considerably.

Mr. Lee reported that Fred Burt had spoken to him, not as a Councilor, but as a citizen, re raising of sidewalk in front of his property next to High School. They were planning on grading their lawn in front and when they did so the sidewalk would be much lower than their property and the highway, and in case of a heavy rain or wet weather he was afraid the walk would be completely flooded.

Both of these items were laid over till such time as it would be necessary to do the work spoken of.

Mr. Lee reported that Rev. Parr had spoken to him about need of a street

Essex Public Utilities Comm.

Tuesday, January 29th.

The Essex Public Utilities Commission met in the Town Treasurer's office, at 8 p.m., with Mayor J. C. Linton and Commissioners Johnston and Hines present.

Mr. Hines subscribed to his oath of office.

On motion, Mr. Linton was elected chairman of the Commission, with Mr. Johnston named chairman of the Hydro division and Mr. Hines in charge of the Water Works Division. Angus Haggins addressed Commission, asking the reason why he cannot get Hydro to his new home on the corner of Blake street and Bell avenue. His home is all wired but he cannot finish the inside until Hydro is started on. He had a rod for it on July 12th last year and Mr. McGill had put him off ever since. He could wait for water until spring.

Mr. Johnston and Mr. McGill stated that as these streets had never really been opened there was no way of knowing the street and lot line.

It was decided to act in touch with C. B. Allison, C.E. and have him make a survey of this section of the town.

Mr. McGill promised to run a line to Mr. Haggins' house as soon as the survey was completed.

The Hydro superintendent also reported receiving a letter from the chairman of the Board of Transport Commissioners of Canada, requesting the moving of a couple of high voltage Hydro poles, one on the south east corner of the M. C. R. at Talbot street crossing in town. These poles interfere with the travelling public getting a clear view of the light signals at the crossing. Left with the Hydro superintendent.

On motion, the following accounts were passed:

Water Works—Bell Telephone Co., phone, $4.43; Union Gas Co., accounts, $23.70; Don Wilson, truck, $35.75; Neptune Motors motor, $63.11; Essex Electric, accounts, $75.74; American W. W. An Unusual Scout.

One Gerald Patrick of North Bay, Ont., was a King's Scout, but he differs from the average run of King's Scouts, he is totally blind. The former King's Scout is now a third year student at Dalhousie University.

The request of Mr. Eldridge of a raise in salary was left with the chairman of the Board of Works to make a survey of time taken and report to Council at next regular meeting.

Mayor Linton reported that he and Mr. Irwin had gone to Windsor on Thursday of last week and had a talk with Mr. Petoskey, manager of this division of the Greyhound Lines, re need of a bus station in Essex. Mr. Petoskey seemed quite in accord with the need of a station in town and advised them he would come down to Essex within a few days and look the situation over.

Mr. Linton again brought up recommendation of a stop light at Talbot intersection with Center street and Gordon avenue.

This matter was left with Mr. Linton to find out cost of erecting and operating.

On motion of Messrs. Francotte and Irwin, the following accounts were passed: H. Harrison, balance salary, $136.45; F. Hello, Homemakers! Milk puddings have been a great favourite with the men in the armed forces. To one who has always maintained that pie is man's idea of the perfect dessert, such information is interesting and encouraging. No wonder men in the services lost weight. They have been served puddings, but which also supplied plenty of nutrients necessary to keep them fit. Convalescent hospitals are maintaining a high reputation for nutritious meals because they include puddings containing plenty of milk.

If men have enjoyed milk puddings in army camps and convalescent hospitals, ten chances to one they will appreciate such desserts made mom's way even more.

RICE AND APPLE PUDDING.
Cook 1 cupful washed rice in quart of milk, using the double boiler. When tender, add 1/2 teaspoonful of salt and 1 tablespoon of butter. Grease a baking dish and into it spread alternate layers of rice and hot applesauce. Bake in a moderate oven 350 degrees F. about 20 minutes and serve warm with cream and sugar. Other fruits may be used in place of the apples if desired. Prunes, apricots, peaches and other kinds of dried or fresh fruit will give very good results.

ORANGE SPONGE PUDDING.
1/2 cup sugar
4 tablespoons flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
pinch of nutmeg
2 tablespoons melted shortening
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1/2 cup orange juice grated rind of one orange 2 eggs (separated)
1 cup milk
Mix sugar, flour, salt and nutmeg. Stir in shortening, fruit juices, rind and egg yolks; beat thoroughly. Blend in milk; fold in stiffly whipped egg whites. Pour into greased custard cups or individual baking dishes and set in pan of hot water. Bake in an electric oven, 350 degrees F., for 20 minutes or until delicately browned.

TAKE A TIP.
Stale slices, dry crusts and other left-overs in the bread box can be used to make scores of delicious dishes — yet often go into the garbage instead. Studies show that bread is the most wasted food in our kitchens. French toast and cheese toast are hearty enough for main dishes. French toast is made by dipping slices in a mixture of egg beaten with 2 tablespoons milk and browning on both sides in a little fat in the frying pan. For cheese toast, lay slices of cheese salted and peppered, between slices of unbuttered bread. Brown the sandwiches on both sides in fat, cooking slowly until the cheese melts.

Crusts and bone-dry pieces can make up the supply of bread crumbs that every good cook likes to have on hand. Dry the bread in a slow oven, then roll it to crumbs or put through food grinder. (Tie a paper bag over the outlet of chopper to prevent crumbs from spilling.) Keep crumbs covered and protected from dust and moisture.

Aside from the familiar uses of crumbs in coating foods for frying, topping dishes for baking and stuffing vegetables or meat, there are bread crumb specialties such as crumb pastry for cream pies, crumb cake, crumb cookies and crumb bread pudding.

fed, it should be supplied fairly liberally and the grain ration restricted accordingly. Grain may consist of oats, barley, corn and wheat of equal parts, and the best time to feed it is early in the evening.

About the end of February or early in March or about three weeks before the females are wanted to lay, a vet mash should be fed twice daily and the grain feeding as before. This change in feeding practice should commence just as soon as the weather starts to get mild and laying will commence in about three weeks time.

Geese should be mated one male to two or three females, and this should be done preferably in January. A bulletin on "Goose Raising" explaining the method of selecting breeding birds and how they should be handled can be obtained by writing to Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Goose eggs should be hatched either by the goose or by barnyard hens as they do not hatch well in modern incubators. Goslings are easily raised and require very little attention, and a gosling, once hatched and properly started is usually another goose in the fall. The farm is the natural habitat of the goose; in fact, no other surroundings can make goose raising for market a paying proposition.

During the winter months, when there is snow on the ground and the supply of fresh green feed is not available, the geese should be supplied with a handful of mixed grain each day and as much well cured alfalfa or clover hay as they will consume. If the hay is cut green and well cured, they will eat both the leaves and the stalks. They prefer the leaves, and an attempt should be made to provide them with as much of this as they require. They will eat the leaves of lettuce, cabbage, potato peelings, turnips, carrots or almost any green vegetable. When this green feed is Farm Mechanization.

Mechanical improvement and the use of rubber tires have greatly increased the utility of tractors, making them suitable for a broad range of work in farm operations. The introduction of smaller sized tractors has made possible greater mechanization of the smaller farms, and the development of equipment which can be mounted on the tractor has made the tractor suitable for row crop production.

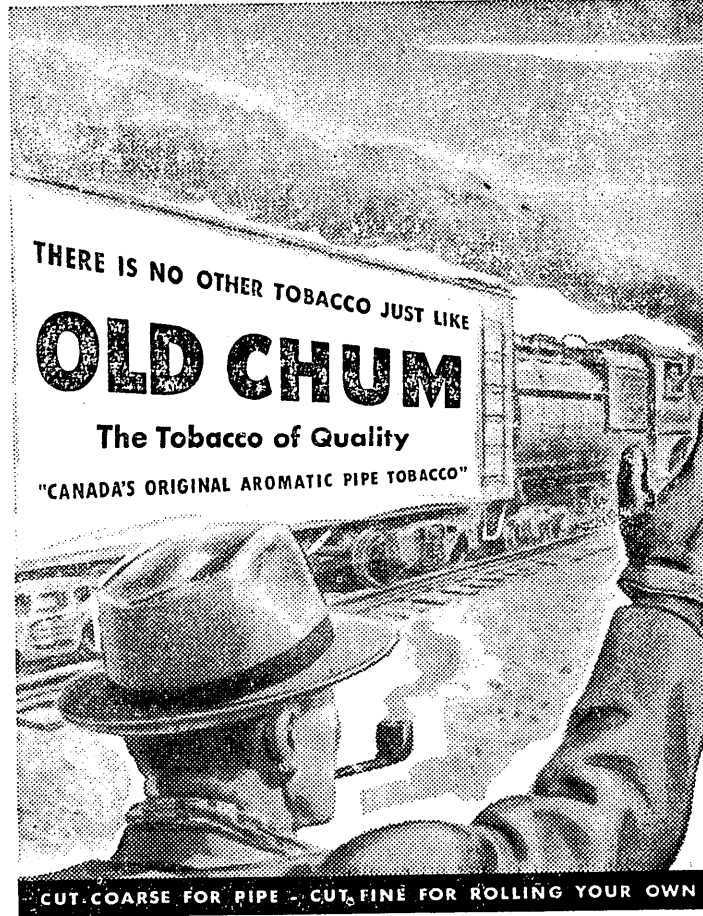

People Are Asking?

Q.—Every time I make a small purchase of meat my butcher asks me for tokens instead of coupons. Why should he be so insistent on getting tokens?

A.—Meat tokens should be kept in circulation so that the supply will be adequate and it will not be necessary to issue more. If your butcher does not obtain tokens from his customers he must spend time going to the bank to secure more tokens. Also if he does not obtain tokens from his customers he might be in the position of not being able to give change to those who present coupons.

Q.—When do orange preserves and yellow "P" coupons expire?
A.—They expire January 31st.

True happiness is to no spot confined. If you preserve a firm and constant mind.
'Tis here, 'tis everywhere.

OUT OF THE WILDERNESS...

Out of the wilderness of rock and pine and muskeg, great new Canadian cities have grown. Out of the courage and foresight of the men of the Mining Industry a vast new store of wealth has been opened up for Canada.

From the hit-or-miss methods of the early prospectors mining has developed into an exact and intricate science... A major Canadian industry that pays more than $100,000,000 yearly to its thousands of employees.

It has grown great because men of enterprise were willing to stake their all on their faith in the future.

For that is the pattern of Canada's Way of Life... A pattern that will be repeated as long as men of vision have the freedom to make their dreams come true.

★ The Imperial Bank of Canada pays tribute to the courage and initiative of the men of the Canadian Mining Industry, and is proud to have been able to play a part in the development of Canada's natural resources.

By Dean Wilson.

While various aftermaths are expected out of the Dominion-Provincial Conference, plans for the peacetime reorganization of Canada's armed services, efforts to bring back to the country servicemen overseas, and otherwise change from a wartime to a peacetime nation, yet activities in Ottawa at this time indicate that delicate issues are accumulating quite early in the course of this process of change so that Parliament may be called as soon as conditions will warrant particularly since one story heard on Parliament Hill suggests that it is possible that Prime Minister Mackenzie King as well as a number of ministers may decide to attend the meeting of the peace conference at the time fixed by the United Nations Organization and this may occur during the second session of the 20th Canadian Parliament. In other words, judging by developments in this capital lately as well as the accumulation of delicate points, the work of the next Canadian session will not be an easy task and it may provide a heavy job for the leaders, even involving the possibility of an adjournment on account of the reason already mentioned, though this is by no means certain at this time.

It is evident in Ottawa that the housing situation in this country is approaching a crisis and there is a strong public opinion in favour of far more effective action on the part of the authorities in order to solve this serious problem which is endangering the health, happiness and even lives of hundreds of thousands of persons, with this being especially true in the case of veterans who feel that they had risked their lives and deserved a better treatment in this respect upon their return home. "Conditions under which many veterans and their families are living is nothing short of deplorable," said in part one prominent Canadian in a report in Ottawa. "Despite all the hullabaloo regarding veterans' houses built in recent years the first house has yet to be completed in Ottawa," said in part another prominent Canadian in Ottawa. "If we can spend money for the atomic bomb and other implements of war, for the destruction of people, money can be found to buy property and build houses for veterans and other homeless persons," declared a former member of Parliament in Ottawa. These and other expressions have stressed the seriousness of the housing situation. In fact, three executives of the National Conference of Student Veterans have come to Ottawa to represent a brief on housing and to demand that the Government institute immediately a low-cost national housing project. To meet the emergency requirements, it is asked what available government buildings throughout the country be taken over for veteran accommodation and that ceilings be made effective on room rentals and board prices.

A report in this Capital shows that the right of the Canadian Parliament to discontinue the practice of taking appeals to the Privy Council in London may be argued before long before the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council, probably in the summer sitting of this Judicial Committee in 1946. This case is based on a desire of the Canadian Government to determine whether it can or cannot abolish such appeals to the Privy Council in London so that the Supreme Court in Ottawa would become the highest Court of Justice in this country. About six years ago, the Government of Canada had asked the Supreme Court in Ottawa for a ruling on this and the Supreme Court had decided that Canada's Parliament could abolish such appeals in London. However, some of the Canadian Provinces contested it and the appeal was taken to the Privy Council overseas. Ever since the case has been postponed, but now it appears that it will not be long before it will be argued, with Canada's Minister of Justice, Hon. Louis St. Laurent, having already stated that the Federal Government "is anxious to have the case put on the list at the earliest possible moment."

Meanwhile, this move is interpreted in some circles as indicating yet another sign of the process of Canada's entry into full nationhood since the abolishment of highest court of justice of the land.

Behind the efforts of the Dominion-Provincial Conference's leaders, it is hinted in semi-official circles in Ottawa, to find solutions of their mutual problems in the coming period of peace, there is the background of unprecedented prosperity for the provinces throughout the war so that wise leaders in these provinces want to be fully prepared for all eventualities when money will not be flowing freely into their treasuries. It is stressed that in the four years 1930-1943 of the war period alone provincial net ordinary and capital revenues rose by almost $105,000,000 to a record-breaking height of $366,822,000 and during both 1942 as well as 1943 the revenue of every province exceeded the total of its ordinary and capital expenditure and provincial overall surpluses for these two years alone aggregated over $100,000,000. Indeed, these overall surpluses were only partly the result of considerably increased revenue since capital expenditures have been greatly cut and high employment caused a decrease of over $30,000,000 in direct relief, this latter, being more than enough to offset substantial increases in expenditures for education, welfare, and agriculture.

In other words, the betterment in provincial finances during the war found the gross direct liabilities decrease by $104,723,000 between 1940 and 1943 alone at a time that cash and investments increased by $70,308,000, with the remark that about 78 per cent of the revenue increase between the start of the war and 1943 occurred in 1940 and 1941 when the "boom" in economics was at its virtual height. Then came the Dominion-Provincial Taxation Agreement, Act of 1942 and later the Dominion guarantee of provincial profits from the sale of alcoholic beverages to stabilize much of the provincial revenues at these higher levels, these being the subjects so much in dispute in the Dominion-Provincial Conferences lately.

These facts must be borne in mind in order to get a proper perspective of the right or wrong of arguments for or against any side in the Dominion-Provincial Conferences since stark reality dictates caution on the part of the provinces to accept or to reject proposals because the economic future of each province cannot be based on judgments of their financial positions during the last few years, these having been nothing short of "boom" years, perhaps, and money may not flow as readily later.

Behind the decision to disband the RCAF's Division from the permanent forces is the story that this decision was reached after several hundred Women's Division personnel had been interviewed, with the result that it was discovered that the women considered their work had been done and they wished to return home at the earliest date possible. This has been disclosed in Ottawa by the Chief of the Air Staff, Robert Leckie, who revealed that lengthy discussions on this subject had been protracted to this decision to withdraw the Women's Division from RCAF's permanent ranks.

In face of complaints that the regulations discriminated against Protestant clergy and favoured Roman Catholic priests on income tax, it is pointed out in Ottawa that Revenue Minister McCallum had said in the last session of Parliament that clergymen of all denominations in Canada were treated with "on exactly the same basis" in the application of income tax laws. . . . Brig. Geoffrey Walsh and a party of advance Canadian Army group have started northward in preparation to take over control of the Alaska Highway from United States Forces on April 1st. . . . "Women have shown clearly what they were able to do in controlling prices. When I look at the price controls of the United States I am amazed and I believe that the women of Canada are responsible for the manner in which they have worked here," said Mrs. Edgar D. Hardy, president of the National Council of Women, in an address in this capital. . . . It is indicated in Ottawa that General McNaughton's visit as Canada's "Special Ambassador" at the inauguration of the newly-elected president of Brazil, Gen. Eurico Gaspar Dutra, was accompanied by similar representatives from other countries in a similar capacity from the United States and Sir James Somerville from the United Kingdom, with the significant comment that Gen. McNaughton and Hon. F. H. LaGuardia are co-chairmen of the Canada-United States defence Board and Sir James Somerville is Admiral of the British Fleet. . . . A brief has been submitted to Premier King in Ottawa by the Agricultural Institute of Canada, an organization of professional men in agriculture, urging the expansion of government-sponsored research in Canada and expressing great concern over the loss to this country of trained personnel on account of the relatively lower salaries paid professional workers in agriculture. . . . The establishment on the land of about 15,500 veterans will include 6,500 veterans as full-time farm workers on improved lands, about 3,000 on Provincial Crown Lands, and 6,000 under the small holdings provisions of the Veterans' Land Act.

People Are Asking?

Q.—My grocer insists upon me giving him one coupon for three tins of canned baby fruit. Each tin contains five ounces. Shouldn't I get more than three tins for a preserving coupon?

A.—The value of a preserve coupon is 20 ounces of canned fruit. Therefore, you should get four tins for a coupon. You would get 40 fluid ounces for a sugar coupon.

Q.—Why is unsweetened canned fruit rationed?

A.—Unsweetered canned fruit is rationed because it is in short supply and because efforts must be made to see that persons requiring this type of food, because of health reasons get their just share.

Q.—When will ration book six be issued?

A.—There are sufficient coupons left in Ration book five to last to the end of the year. Therefore, no decision has yet been made regarding ration book six.

Markets for Canada.

Return last week of Trade and Commerce Minister Mackinnon to his Ottawa office, after a three weeks' visit to the United Kingdom, focused interest in the capital on Canada's position in world markets.

During the past two years the Government has been actively promoting Canada's trade potentials. Even during the closing months of the war, steps were being taken to expand Canada's trade commission service, to provide early postwar markets for Canadian raw materials and foodstuffs, and to step up the speed of the machinery which would facilitate the export of Canadian finished products to world markets.

So active has the Government been in these respects, that there has never been any market criticism of its world trading plans.

In addition to these plans are already beginning to bear fruit, Canada's wheat market is assured for the next two years at least by the demands of the United Kingdom, France, and other European countries, due to Canada's decision to sell all her wheat at $1.55 a bushel.

This decision has been received with great gratitude by Britain's grain trade leaders, that the Government assured its policy will pay dividends to Canada in the future.

In addition to this specific movement of a Canadian foodstuff abroad, the Minister of Trade and Commerce reports that there will be an early extension of Canada's trade organizations overseas, particularly in such countries as Belgium and the Netherlands, which are interested in trade with this country.

A Doctrinaire Speaks.

A few days ago Andrew Brewin, Toronto barrister and mouthpiece for the CCF Party, let go a few remarks at a CCF meeting in Ottawa which should stand as a warning of what the CCF intends to try and do if it ever gains power on Canada's Parliament Hill.

According to Mr. Brewin, a CCF version of the brainstraining technique would be set up, called a National Planning Board, which would control investments and divert them into "best" channels. Mr. Brewin was hopelessly inadequate in his definition of "best."

It is obvious that this type of forced investment would result in the drying up of investment by persons who have lived within their means and wish to spend some of today's earnings tomorrow, by saving their money and hiring it out to persons wishing to promote a commercial enterprise which will pay reasonable dividends to the investor.

Mr. Brewin made no bones about programmes of what he called "socialization of demand" and "socialization of production." Without supporting evidence, he named many industries which he described as monopolistic. But how industries, which have business organizations within them that compete against each other for the consumer's dollar, can be called monopolistic was not explained.

In discussing the difficulties which the CCF would have to surmount in its program of socialization, Mr. Brewin calmly indicated that there were always ways and means of getting around legal rights and compensation rights, and that Parliament could be short-circuited at the will of the CCF Party.

Mr. Brewin was almost brazen about the plans of the CCF Party to govern by decree, regardless of whether or not a national emergency existed.

While the "converted" regarded Mr. Brewin as a messiah, his speech aroused unexpected antagonism.

Military Reorganization.

The energy with which the Government has attacked its problem of postwar reorganization of Canada's military command quickly produced a set-up which is being received with general approval.

This was announced last week when Defence Minister Abbott described the establishment of five military commands to facilitate the training of field force units in peacetime, and their operational employment in war time. The present eleven military districts will be retained for administrative routine.

In effect, the readjustment of the five larger commands, each with a senior officer, streamlines Canada's army organization.

Besides this new organizational arrangement, the Government has created a Research and Development Branch of the Department of National Defence, which will pursue scientific cooperation between the Armed Forces and industry. A brilliant young Canadian scientist has been appointed Director General of the new Department, which will be charged with the prompt military application of new scientific and engineering knowledge to defence planning and organization.

Feeding Calves.

It has been known for a long time that giving the calf the best possible start demands two things — feeding nothing but whole milk for the first two or three weeks and being particularly careful not to over feed. Regarding the feeding plans to be used later, there is no substitute for whole milk during the first few weeks. For at least the first week, the milk is not fit for human use anyway. The reason for this is the colostrum it contains which is the necessary ingredient in the milk that starts the proper digestive functions of the suckling. Five or six pounds of milk each day given in two or three feedings, is enough for average-sized calves and no more than eight for a large one. High-producing dairy breeds often require the milkman a day and their calves should be fed right after each one, with the milk kept between 60 and 70 degrees Fahrenheit.

Increase Feed Slowly.

As the calves get older and larger, the quality of milk can be slowly increased by following the rule of one pound of milk for every ten pounds of live weight. At this stage, infection and scours often appear which are merely symptoms of over feeding. The answer is simple — reduce the feed slightly, keeping the calf just on the hungry side. Some experimental stations recommend adding one pint of lime water to each feeding of Jersey or Guernsey milk is being used. This is apparently to prevent the formation of hard curd which causes indigestion.

Feeding for Growth.

When rapid growth is desired regardless of the cost of feeding, the fastest way is to give whole milk exclusively for six months. After this the higher cost, this method hardly seems practicable in view of the serious butter shortage. We have had one butter ration card and another is forecast for the near future. Some might better follow the normal feeding rate of changing to skim milk after three or four weeks and in that way conserve the butterfat for our own consumption.

Milk Substitutes.

Whole and buttermilk are excellent milk substitutes if properly fed. There are solutions of dried skimmed milk and buttermilk and some solid buttermilk are also good, but sometimes they are positive for the average farmer. Another method is to reduce the milk to the absolute minimum after one or nine weeks and feed a "half" ration of milk, either in the dry or wet form. We'll stop in talk about this and other feeding methods next week.

Infinite Protection.

The first two words of the Lord's Prayer are arresting — "Our Father." What a wealth of protection, unity, selflessness, and all-embracing universal love they represent. Christ Jesus taught the altness and unity of God. Because God, Spirit, is All, anything unlike God, or good, can have no real existence. Nothing can be real that expresses something contrary to God. God's goodness is never-failing. The comfort of His presence is ever-available to those who seek Him. Because our Heavenly Father is omnipresent, heaven must be everywhere. Heaven means, in part, an awareness of present harmony; and as we pray, acknowledge that God is everywhere, that He is the only power or presence we find discord and harmony is established.

Mary Baker Eddy, the Founder of Christian Science, writes in "No and Yes" (p. 30): "God's law is in three words, 'I am All'; and this perfect law is ever present to rebuke any claim of another law. God pities our weakness with the love of a Father for His child — not by becoming human and knowing sin, or naught, but by moving our knowledge of what is not." As we honestly try to realize that God is All, our fear of what God did not create will abate, till finally any effects from causeless fear will fade from our experience.

Affirming that God is universal, ever-available good, and that as His children we reflect that goodness, we become more conscious of the security of His presence, the comfort of His love, and the joy that comes of doing His will. Godlike thoughts entertained help us to become more aware of our unity with God, hence more conscious of our immunity from evil and danger. — Christian Science Monitor.

Help Many Kiddies.

Boy Scout Christmas toyshops across Canada provided toys for thousands of needy kiddies during the Christmas season. Among the larger shops were those at Sherbrooke, Que., which supplied 600 children; Regina, 800, and Saskatoon, 1,000.

ment Branch, however, will do more than integrate civilian industrial inventions with military needs. It will be able to initiate its own projects, and when any of these can be developed for civilian industry, they will be made available in that capacity.

Subsidy Successes.

Recent conferences of agricultural experts have revealed some of the Government's wartime subsidy arrangements on behalf of farm products. They have been effective and beneficial to both producer and consumer.

For example, subsidies on dairy products have put more than $200,000,000 into farmers' pockets since they were started as a wartime control. And while these particular subsidies have been invaluable to farmers, they have also saved housewives between $3 and $4 a month on food budgets.

It was revealed to the National Dairy Council of Canada at its annual meeting that as a result of dairy subsidies, milk production has reached an all time high while domestic consumption of dairy products, in terms of milk equivalent, is also greater than ever before. While this has been going on, all major export commitments have been filled.

Wants Cleaner Streets in Essex.

The following is taken from the Windsor Daily Star last week edition. Sir: The article entitled "Burning of Toll Gates Freed Essex Roads," by Neil F. Morrison, Ph.D., appearing in the issue of January 12th, was not only interesting but also enlightening, and clearly shows what improvements have been accomplished in order to provide good roads for our present day use, but at the same time distinctly shows that the town of Essex has not made any attempt to improve the condition existing as far back as 1880. The article reads as follows:

"After driving 10 or 15 miles they had to pay 10 cents for the privilege of driving over the few remaining roads of Essex mud." "Horses might be seen on Talbot street in Essex splashing mud over the sidewalks. The editor of the Essex newspaper called the main thoroughfare 'Cameron's Creek' after Alexander Cameron, reputed owner of the stretch of road and toll gate associated therewith. The editor went on to explain that the 'Creek' was useless, as it was too dirty for bathing and not deep enough for navigation."

Whilst today "horses" have been replaced by autos, trucks and buses, and tollgates have disappeared, nevertheless the mud still plashes just as much as it ever did on Talbot street in Essex, and is without doubt the dirtiest main thoroughfare in Ontario. It is unfortunate that another old custom mentioned in the same article, that of having an engineer from Toronto inspect and condemn such terrible conditions cannot be invoked even at this age. The thousands of visitors using this section of Highway No. 3 must get a very poor impression of a town that could with a little civic pride be just as clean and inviting as other towns in the province. I wonder how many hundreds of dollars are lost annually by the merchants of Essex because of this apparent indifference to the unnecessary and unwanted dirty condition of its main street. This could and should be the first display of cleanliness leading to their business properties, not only to tourists, but also to the home folks, or do they think that the rest of the world still lived in back ages? We have heard a lot about postwar projects being undertaken in many communities. Essex certainly could have one of its own, and not expensive for the ratepayers.

Work Progressing on New Breeds of Poultry.

Work of the Poultry Division, Dominion Experimental Farms Service, on the creation of new breeds of poultry to meet specific requirements is progressing favourably. The work centres round two objectives — the creation of a so-called "Large White" breed possessing white feathers for ease in breeding to a uniform or standard feather; white flesh so that the bird may obtain milk-fed grading, so far as the colour of the skin is concerned; fast feathering for ease in plucking and to speed the moult; and white eggs for uniformity for marketing. No existing breed possesses all of the above combination and it would appear that there is a definite place for such a breed in commercial meat and egg production. The second objective is the creation of a white feathered, white fleshed, broad breasted breed to be used mainly for meat purposes. Progress in the two breeds is reported to be entirely satisfactory.

Court of Revision.

The Court of Revision of the Town of Essex, viz., Dr. A. E. Benson, J. R.

Linton and L. W. Allison, met in the Council Chamber, on Friday evening,

February 1st, to hear appeals on business assessment for the Town for 1946.

The Clerk reported only two appeals, one from Charles Maedel, who was present, and the other from Dr.

Linton, who vacated the chair, when his appeal was considered.

Mr. Maedel stated he was appealing the business assessment on the garage on Talbot street, as he only used the building for storing his trucks and had not any gasoline since 1942. He had not been assessed on business since that year.

After much discussion on motion of Mr. Allison and Linton, the Clerk was directed to delete same from the roll.

Dr. Benson stated, in supporting his appeal, that the assessor had excessively assessed him on the whole top of his building, whereas he only had a half of the space.

His assessment was reduced from $825 to $497.

An assessment of $75 against the operator, Hydro Electric Power Commission for local Rural Office was taken off roll when the head office advised the assessor that, according to the Ontario Power Commission Act, Hydro was not assessable on building, but on values only.

High School Notes.

In Leamington, on Friday night,

both Essex senior teams were defeated.

The girls started the game with an aggressive attack and were able to hold the opposing team at bay until about half time, when Leamington took the score at 10 all. Then Essex was unable to keep up with the increasing tempo and minus one of their champs, Leamington force ahead.

After three quarters time both teams were exhausted and the pace slack-ed considerably. The final score was Leamington 26, Essex 16.

The stars of the game were Pauline Orron, of Leamington, with 12 points, and Betty MacDonald with 11 points.

Our senior boys were defeated 21 to 16. Betty Little of our team led in a good start, rising from among those in front, then to drop the ball in the basket. Then Essex forced Leamington to build the score up to 17 to 22 and it seemed that they might be able to hold down their opponents, who had defeated them in their last game, but the Leamington team began to make its comeback. They tied the score and went ahead with four baskets in rapid order, till time was called. At half time the score was 27 to 18 in favour of Leamington.

After the half the Essex team's defence fell apart and the furious

Leamington attack, so that at three-quarters time Leamington was ahead

41 to 23. Then Essex began to settle down and it was only with difficulty that Leamington reached their objective to score 50 points.

The Essex line-up was: Ross 10, Ki-gar 6, Leboeuf 6, Paschin 2, Dresser

1, Wagner 1, MacGirr, Roath and Tu-lie.

Leamington scorers were Irwin 17,

Jackson 10, Metcalfe 6, Wiltshire 8,

Gow 4, Gulliver 4 and Huffman 2.

Comber; Mr. and Mrs. John Cooper,
Mr. and Mrs. Bert Byles, Mr. and Mrs.
Art Grassey, all of Windsor, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. Dutot on Sunday, February 2nd, in celebration of the return of their son William, who has just returned from overseas.

Hockey Notes.

The Cottam Aces won two more games the past week, defeating Roseland, with whom they were tied for the lead, by a score of 6 to 5, in 5 minutes of overtime, and Essex, who have yet to win a game, by the score of 8
to 1.

Their record was again marred, however, when they were held to a tie by Leamington, the score being 2 all.
M. Vance was the star of both the Roseland and Leamington games, scoring four goals, and earning an assist on the winning goal, scored by J. Mower, against Roseland, and the tying goal against Leamington.

League standing: Cottam, 20 points;
Roseland 15, Anderton 12, Leamington
6, Essex 0.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Thomas Oliver Huber, who passed away 17 years ago, February 9th, 1929.

Just a tribute of love and remembrance.

To a father, one of the best,
The joy that he missed on life's highway.

May he find in God's Garden of rest.
—Lovingly remembered and sadly missed by his wife and family.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear father, Silas Reeb, who passed away one year ago, February 7th, 1945.

Though the tears in our eyes do not glisten,

And our faces do not always look sad,
There is never a night nor a morning,
That we do not think of you dear dad.

He had a nature you could not help loving.

And a heart as good as gold.

And to those who knew or loved him
his memory will never grow old.

—Fondly remembered by his daughter Gertrude, son-in-law Harry, and grandsons.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Silas W. Reeb, who passed away one year ago, February 7th, 1945.

The blow was great, the shock severe,
We little thought the end was near.

He only those who have lost can tell
The pain of parting without farewell.

A beautiful memory, dearer than gold,
Of a husband whose worth can never be told.

Alone and unseen he stands at our side
And whispers “Don't grieve, dear, death cannot divide.”

—Sadly remembered by his loving wife and family.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Gordon Colenutt, who passed away three years ago, February 7th, 1943.

Sweet little flower of heavenly rest,
He was too fair to bloom on earth.

The fairest lilies are first to fall,
The sweetest the first to fade.

The fondest, dearest, best of all,
At peaceful rest is laid.

—Sadly missed by mother, dad, grandpa, sisters and brothers.

Items on the agenda for this meeting are four in number:
(a) To draw up a new uniform plan for the supply of information to replace the plan drawn up by the committee at its first session on 27-29 June, 1938;
(b) To consider certain difficulties that may arise in the application of the Public Works (National Planning) Recommendation, 1937;

(d) To study the organization of an exchange of information on the technical problems involved in the preparation and carrying out of development programs.

Artificial Heat and Laying Hens.

Four years' work of the poultry Division, Dominion Experimental Farms Service, with housing of laying hens has shown that the use of artificial heat gave no increase in egg production over that obtained in a moderately insulated house under the severe conditions prevailing in the Ottawa Valley. Additional insulation over and above that provided by a four-inch dead air space in the back and end walls and a straw loft ceiling also brought no increase in production. About 5 lbs. of feed per bird per year was the maximum feed saving achieved through heating the pens. It is apparent, states the Division, that laying hens will produce well under a very wide range of temperatures and conditions of humidity.

Breakage of Eggs Loss to Farmers.

Breakage is the greatest single cause of loss in marketing eggs in Canada. Greater shell strength is needed. It is not a matter only of the loss on the cracked or broken eggs themselves but the loss in value of other eggs and packing material through smearing. There is also the unknown loss at point of production, in the nests, and in gathering, and in handling on the farm, and in the consumers' homes, according to a survey made by the Dominion Department of Agriculture.

It is not a question of whether egg shells are weaker now than before the war, but just a plain statement of fact that present egg shells are not sufficiently strong to withstand the hazards of transportation. Trains are heavier, jolts are more severe, and handling less careful. Something has to be done now to improve shell strength. Selection, breeding, feeding can all be brought to bear. It is something in which all phases of the industry can take part. Eggs with thin porous shells should not be used for setting.

At the recent Dominion-Provincial Agricultural Conference held in Ottawa, the Department of Agriculture issued a call for increased production of farm produce, notably in tobacco, barley, hucking corn, soybeans and in molasses crops. A limiting factor in production is the supply of fertilizer. A shortage can be easily avoided, however, according to manufacturers, if farmers and growers generally will order their supplies early and accept immediate delivery. This will assist manufacturers in producing a maximum amount, which is limited only by storage facilities. Farmers will have no difficulty if they store the bagged fertilizer in a dry building, elevated from the floor on boards or planking, to avoid contact with moisture, and stacked in piles not more than five or six feet high. The Ottawa conference urged tobacco growers to increase their 1946 acreage over last year, the bag weight of which cut into dwindling reserve stocks. Curing bins of a large fertilizer manufacturer are shown at right. When these bins are full, the manufacturer must hold production until deliveries to farmers have given him enough space to store further supplies.

Former Scout Shows How.

A former Winnipeg Scout, serving with the Canadian Forces in Italy, had the unique experience of teaching experienced mountain climbers a trick he learned as a Scout. The Scout, now a Major, was mountain climbing with a number of university professors near Padua. When it was necessary to rope the members of the party together on a steep climb, the Canadian Scout mystified the Italian professors by tying a bowline around himself with one hand, a trick commonly known to Boy Scouts. He had to demonstrate his method to the party and to each subsequent party he joined in.

More Poultry Profits For 1946

Here are the factors to look into when you begin to consider ways and means of increasing the egg production of your flock:

1. The inherited productive ability of your flock.
2. Good pullets resulting from good brooding and rearing conditions.
3. Proper housing.
4. Disease control.
5. Good management.
6. Balanced feeding.

Of all these factors feeding has the most direct effect on egg production.

Here is what one of the thousands of SHUR-GAIN feeders has to say about SHUR-GAIN:

R. R. 2, Sault Ste. Marie, Ont.

DEAR SIR:

I feel I owe it to you to say what I think of SHUR-GAIN feeds. I have fed nothing but SHUR-GAIN mash to my hens since the day they were hatched and the results have been remarkable.

At the present time they are laying 80%, which is unusual at this time of year.

I am certainly sold on SHUR-GAIN and will feed nothing else as long as I can buy it.

Yours very truly,

Celebrate 55th Wedding Anniversary.

A very pleasant family re-union was held on Sunday, February 10th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Seguin, of Essex, the occasion being the 55th wedding anniversary of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Seguin, of 920 Gladstone avenue, Windsor, which was on February 9th.

A delicious chicken supper was served and the dining table was centred with a beautiful cake, flanked by burning white tapers.

Mr. and Mrs. Seguin received many congratulations and best wishes.

Among those present for the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Seguin and daughter Rita, Mr. and Mrs. Rolly Hammer and daughter Theresa, of Woodilee; Alphonse Seguin and son Russell, of Tecumseh; Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Seguin, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Seguin, Miss Marie Seguin, Alex Desjardins, and Miss Yvonne Roy, all of Windsor, and Mrs. Theresa Hammer, of Essex.

A very enjoyable evening was spent playing cards and singing.

The teachers of Essex County will hold four group meetings during the week of February 18th, when Dr. C. E. Stothers, B.A., D. Paed., Director of Auxiliary Training and Special Education for the Province of Ontario, will speak on "Diagnostic and Remedial Reading."

Group 7 will meet at the Essex Public School, Monday, at 8 p.m.; Groups 4, 5 and 6 at Selkirk school, Leamington, on Tuesday; Groups 2 and 3, at Harrow school on Wednesday, and Groups 1, 8 and 9 at Roseland, on Thursday.

Dr. Stothers has a wide experience in this important branch of our program of studies. Teachers are invited to bring their problems in teaching, reading and writing.

Fathers and Sons.

Invitations are going out to the fathers, sons and friends of United Church congregations to the 26th annual Father and Son Banquet and reception to the returned men of the congregation, to be held at 6:30 p.m. on Tuesday, February 26th. A chicken dinner will be served by the Woman's Association, and Rev. Albert J. Lindsey, of Immanuel Presbyterian Church, Detroit, will be the guest speaker, his subject being "Father-Son."

Sunday, February 24th, will be Father and Son Service Day. The minister will teach the Sunday school lesson to fathers and sons only, after the morning service, and the ladies and their sons will attend divine service in a body at 7:30, conducted by Rev. John Hunter, of Detroit, formerly of Essex. Fathers should take their sons at once for all of these outstanding events.

Farough-Thompson Wedding.

At a candlelight ceremony, in St. Chrysostom's church, Wollaston, Mass., Miss Joyce Dewhurst Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Donald Thompson, of Wollaston, became the bride of Russell L. Farough, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Farough, of Maidstone, at 4:30 p.m. Saturday afternoon, February 2nd. Rev. Thomas Bridges, rector, officiated at the ceremony, and the wedding music was played by Alexander King, church organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose an air force blue suit with brown accessories and a corsage of white carnations and white freesias. She was attended by Miss Jessie Grant, of Wollaston, a Simmon's College classmate, who wore a Nelson suit with black accessories and a corsage of pinocchio roses and pale yellow freesias.

Larry Pitts, of Weymouth, Mass., cousin of the bride, was best man, and the ushers were Harold Caulfield and Frank Grant, both of Wollaston.

The bride's mother, Mrs. Thompson, was dressed in powder blue and wore a blue flowered hat and corsage of pink roses, while Mrs. Fred Welch, Mrs. Thompson's sister, of St. Catharines, Ont., for the wedding, wore a fuchsia afternoon dress and black accessories with a corsage of gardenias. A reception for 100 guests was held at the parish house.

After a wedding trip to Grotton, Mass., the young couple returned to Wollaston before starting for Maidstone, where they will make their home.

The bride is a graduate of Quincy high school and Simmon's College, and before her marriage was associate editor of the Back Bay Ledger.

Mr. Farough enlisted in the R. C. N. V. R. in 1942. He served overseas during the European invasion and received his discharge last September.

Oddfellows of Essex County witnessed a spectacular exemplification of the First Degree of Oddfellowship, on Saturday night last, at the local Town Hall, by the Metropolitan Degree Team, of Windsor, with its cast of sixty members. The degree was both colorful and impressive in every detail and reflected great credit to the captain, Elmer Rose, who will be made a Knight of Chivalry in the near future.

Members present were from Ridgetown, Glencoe and all parts of Essex County.

These candidates will receive their Second Degree from a local team this Thursday, and the Third Degree from a Ridgetown team on February 21st.

The Metropolitan Degree team has accepted an invitation to visit Baltimore, the cradle of Oddfellowship, this coming autumn.

Deceased was born in Maidstone Township, on the 10th of December, 1857, and is survived by four children, Mrs. Ruth Champagne, New York City; Sydney Penprase, of Windsor; Alfred Penprase, of Guelph, and Ida (Mrs. Rasmus Danielson), with whom she made her home, Elmstead.

Funeral services were held on Wednesday, from the Hicks & Son Funeral Home, Essex, with burial in Greenlawn Memorial Park.

A Big Business.

Few people in Essex and surrounding district realize that there is a business in town having a turnover of practically a million dollars a year, however it is true. The management of Essex Farmers Ltd., in their annual report, presented to shareholders at the annual meeting recently, showed a total of sales in the operating account of $953,212.21 for 1945.

This co-operative business, just slightly over twenty years old, has paid a $10 per share dividend on a $25 par stock for some years now, and are building up a fine surplus besides a great deal of credit for which is due J. R. Linton, manager and his capable staff. This year they branched out by purchasing the grain and feed business of Naylor Feed Mills, in town.

In checking over this fine statement, one finds they have liquid assets, cash in the bank, Dominion of Canada Bonds, accounts receivable, and inventories totaling $211,838.75, as against liabilities of only $68,508.02, while their current surplus account shows at $185,867.54.

In the operating portion of the report a gross trading profit of $122,084.03 is shown, with a net profit of $49,838.20, or $43.34 per share on the 1,150 shares outstanding.

Basketball News.

Essex Veterans won one and lost one during the past week, thus maintaining their hold on fourth place in the O.B.A. Their record now stands at 4 won and 4 lost.

On Thursday evening they defeated Westminster United, at Windsor, 31 to 23. Ted Tuttle was high scorer with 10 points. The line-up: Ted Tuttle 10, B. Tuttle 7, Myers 6, Roberts 4, Scaife 2, Stewart, 1 Ennis.

Westminster — Back 8, Kelly 5, Moore 6, Gallen 1, Rose 3.

On Friday last Essex was beaten 61 to 39, at Essex High School, by the Kozak Bedell's, many of whom once played for Windsor Alumni and Windsor Fords who, a few years ago, were Canadian Seniors champions. The game was much closer than the score indicates. The line-up:

Windsor — Farmer 12, Bauer 4, Weese 12, Dawson 11, Fields 6, Lowry 2, Gray 14.

Essex — T. Tuttle 19, Myers 9, B. Tuttle 3, Scaife 3, I. Ennis 3, Butts, P. Ennis.

Scorer — J. Stewart. Timer — Ash-ton. Referee — Pendleberry, of Windsor.

Next Friday, February 15th, Essex will play the Hiram Walker team at the high school gym.

North Essex League Meets.

A second meeting of men interested in reviving the old North Essex Baseball League was held in the Aberdeen Hotel, on Sunday afternoon, when the following officers were elected: President, Charles Doadwell, of Kingsville; vice-president, Mike McCloskey, Maidstone; secretary, Carson Jessop, Oldcutler; treasurer, Lee Shanyvelt, Klondyke; commissioner, Chas. Macdel.

An eight-team league is being proposed, made up as follows: Essex, Maidstone, Leamington, Kingsville, Harrow, Tilbury, Amherstburg and Tecumseh.

In this writer's opinion, this looks a little top-heavy unless they play twice a week, a twilight game and a Sunday game, otherwise each team will have only a home and home game during the whole season, and this is not enough, more especially if one, two or three of the teams prove to be weaker than the rest of the league.

High School Notes.

Essex seniors hopped over to Kingsville last Tuesday, on the Yellow Rabbit Lines, and defeated their hosts in both games.

The Essex girls got the first few baskets, were ahead one point at the quarter, and at half time the score was 12 to 9 in their favour. The play was so fast that the first half seemed more like a quarter. Kingsville started the third quarter much stronger than Essex and nearly tied the score. In the last quarter spectators were amused when the referee had to call four jumps in a row. The final score was Essex 22, Kingsville 19.

Stars of the contest were B. Runstedler, of Kingsville, with 10 points; Betty MacDougall and Cora Morris, of Essex, 7 points each. Several juniors are playing on the senior team, and although this is their first year they have proved indispensable.

Opening action of the boys' game assured the spectators of a rugged battle to the finish. This was borne out by the score at quarter time, 7 all. In the second quarter checking was close and numerous fouls were called. Essex, after trailing for a while, slipped ahead just before half time. During the third quarter Essex kept up a constant attack and gained a margin of six points. In the last quarter Essex retained its lead, and the final score was Essex 31, Kingsville 23.

There were no single stars, everyone on the Essex team played an outstanding game. The line-up:

Essex — Ross 14, Kigar 6, Paschin 6, Tuttle 3, Dresser 2, Leboeuf, Raymond.

If you haven't seen a good basketball game lately, come up to the school on Friday night, when Kingsville plays the return game. If you want a seat come early. The game starts at 7:30. Admission 25c.

BEHIND THE HEADLINES.

With the announcement that Canada's Parliament will open on Thursday, March 14th, it is evident in Ottawa that the Federal Government is extremely busy preparing for this next session which is just around the proverbial corner and which session will likely see some exciting developments, judging by the gossip heard in usually reliable quarters here in this capital.

It is pointed out that, though the first session of the new 20th Parliament had continued for approximately four weeks, yet it had been adjourned shortly prior to the Christmas holiday season without completing much of its tasks. The first session had apparently concentrated much time and effort in dealing with problems of an international nature in which Canada as a nation amongst the nations had taken its proper place in plans to establish world peace and security, accepting, after debate, its proper place in plans to establish world peace and security, accepting, after debate, its place in international spheres, including the United Nations Charter; the international monetary agreements to stabilize currency; and creating a national bank out of the Bretton Woods conference; civil aviation agreements resulting from the Chicago Conference; the food and agricultural agreement on the world scene as established at the Hot Springs Conference. In short, there was much emphasis at the first session of the 20th Parliament on international affairs.

While this next session may see considerable comment in Parliament on international affairs since many issues have accumulated bearing on such world affairs, yet speculation in Ottawa hints that more concentration will be given to purely domestic affairs, with this hint backstage in this capital having been suggested by sources which usually have forecast with remarkable accuracy in the past.

It is suggested that this next session will witness the probable complete accomplishment of choosing a distinct Canadian flag. It may be marked by consideration of plans for the beautification of Ottawa as Canada's capital in the form of a memorial to commemorate the service and sacrifice of Canadians in World War II. It may reveal more details about arrangements for establishing Canada's three armed forces in the coming peacetime area as a sort of permanent defence force for this nation. It may bring forth more detailed examination of plans for the care, rehabilitation and re-establishment of war veterans in tune with their charter. It would be very surprising if questions will not be asked, and possibly cause considerable dispute, why the Dominion-Provincial Conference has not disclosed more information for the people who will have to pay the bill sooner or later, regardless what decisions are eventually reached by the economic committee or co-ordinating committee of this conference. It is known the examination of external trade and the restoration of sound world economy will provoke much discussion in this next session since trade and employment march together hand in hand, with the latter problem causing much concern in some quarters in face of heavy publicity by spokesmen of the King Cabinet that "full employment" is coming this summer of 1946 or promises along the same line. Still men and women are worried about their own economies in this transition period from war to peace and they are not easily satisfied by promises only international relief and rehabilitation will come up again as a subject, after restrictions, always unpopular after war, are bound to enter debates in Parliament, and this will provide fuel for some heavy fires in heated arguments as complaints increase, fortunately prevailing to a lesser degree today than some months previously.

These are some of the things which will have to be answered by the Government. But these are not the only ones. From coast to coast in Canada, in other nations, labor unrest is brewing. Furious disapproval of the lack of speed in solving housing shortages across the nation is sweeping like a prairie wildfire, with hints having been given already that this will be raised in no uncertain manner in Parliament, though the Government claims, it is suggested in well-informed quarters in Ottawa, to be ready with a suitable answer or solution, depending upon the supply of materials and the availability of labor increases. At the first session of the 20th Parliament, there was a new Speaker, Gaspard Fauteux; there was a new member of the Official Opposition, Hon. J. Bracken; there were many new members and new Cabinet Ministers; there were many formal international agreements requiring approval. However, now in this next session starting March 14th, the opposition forces will definitely strengthen by the experience gained and the business of agenda will be moving along more smoothly providing news of tremendous interest for all Canadians as domestic affairs again move into the light.

Since the nine provincial premiers and the Prime Minister of Canada, after their meeting, had held their conference in Ottawa and departed for their homes, it has been followed by speculations of all sorts, though in actuality this may be attributed more to what has not been disclosed than what has been officially revealed. What is known is that most of these leaders do favour regular, periodic meetings of these leaders, that the economic committee of experts of this conference has accomplished a most satisfactory job, that there has been no excess of publicity on the doings of these negotiations, and that no delicate discussions between the central and Provincial authorities. With proposals and counter-proposals in rather rapid succession, the tactics adopted may turn out to be wise, and, judging by reactions, there is little doubt that these meetings may prove most beneficial in the end for all concerned, especially the man most involved, the ordinary Canadian taxpayer who is most interested in close co-operation to reduce the overhead.

Conversations and reports along Parliament Hill seem to stress the fact that the recent action of the Government in rendering more "flexible" the fabric of the anti-inflation programme in Ottawa, is "only the beginning," with other similar moves being on the way as conditions will warrant, though returning to control of certain things is not ruled out if circumstances should warrant. In other words, it is hinted in the best informed quarters that this is a test, in a way, and time alone can tell what may come out of it in the end. Nevertheless, already some interesting sidelights have already appeared. First, it is peculiar that the chairman of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, Donald Gordon, should have been reported as "anxious" to resign just on the eve of these announcements of de-control of over 300 non-essential items as well as changes in the wage control system. Second, the timing of the announcements appears to have come at a time when the nine provincial premiers were in this capital and changes gave back "normal jurisdiction" on minimum wage rates, hours and vacations with pay to the provinces. Third, no sudden rise in prices is anticipated since experts here hold that production is reasonably good supply in a major suspension has taken place and any abuse will bring forth immediately a reimposition of price control.

A large scale movement of war brides to Canada, together with dependents or Canadian Servicemen, is now, and even a casual study of the ships used for this purpose is most impressive, with the latest official report showing that between 25,000 and 30,000 war brides and dependents may be involved. Personal chief of staff to the President of the United States, Admiral William D. Leahy, paid a visit to Ottawa where he remained for several days. The first Greek Ambassador to Canada, Hon. S. Sakellariopoulos, has arrived in this capital and he stated that the people of Greece will never forget Canada's generosity in the days when his people were in dire need. Our people have a fervent, I may even say romantic affection for Canada, a country which did so much to help us survive, he said in Ottawa. There are so many frequent changes in the personnel at the Canadian Army's Headquarters, that it is most difficult to keep up with them. This brings forth the report that the newly named vice-chief of the Canadian Army General Staff here, Major-General Daniel C. Spry, D.S.O., and his family have had a strenuous time in their efforts to locate a place to live in this much over-crowded capital, with the Major-General, his wife and two children having been compelled to live in a local hotel while searching for a home. Indeed, here are so overcrowded that hotels here are reported as refusing about 300 requests each week for rooms. When Rt. Hon. Malcolm MacDonald, presently United Kingdom High Commissioner in Canada, takes over his new post as vice-regal representative in Malaya, his sister will not likely accompany him there since it is said that she plans to remain in Britain for a time, at least. She has been his official hostess here during his term of office. Miss Barbara Ann Scott, a native of Ottawa, is the North American Ladies' Figure Skating champion, and she has declared here that she will not accept any kind of contract that would interfere in her chances to represent this country in the next Olympic games on the international sports scene, these being scheduled for 1948. More shortening is promised for Canadian housewives as a result of the new strain of sunflower seed which was developed over four years from a single promising head of sunflower, with this expected to provide a million dollar crop for Prairie farmers. The new nylon stockings, appearing on store counters across Canada, will be sold at low, or lower, than the 1941 prices, if these can be obtained. A Royal Commission is recommended to study the whole question of copyrights as applicable to the perform right by the chairman of the copyright appeal board in Ottawa, Mr. Justice Thomson. (Reproduction prohibited, 1946, Federal features Syndicate).

Again the nations have come together to establish the rule of law. This time it must succeed and I believe that this time Field Marshall Smuts could say with greater hope, "Civilization has once more struck her tent and a great caravan of humanity is on the march."

Sugar Prices.

While sugar prices in the United States will be increased one-half cent per pound to meet the cost of imported raw sugar there is no intention of authorizing any increase in the price of sugar in Canada, according to an announcement by S. R. Noble, Prices and Trade Board. The increased cost to Canada for raw sugar will be absorbed out of the Sugar Stabilization Fund built up over the past number of years.

Lower insurance and ocean freight in 1946 may partially offset the increased raw sugar costs so that the net loss on raw sugar at present will be about 30 cents per hundred pounds. Increases in returns to Canadian sugar costs so that the net loss on raw sugar at present will be about 30 cents per hundred pounds. Increases in returns to Canadian sugar growers will be granted without increasing the price of sugar to consumers. Increased assistance on best sugar will amount to 60 cents per hundred pounds the entire amount going to growers, to increase the returns on sugar beets by about $1.50 per ton.

Ontario Will Again Pay Beet Subsidy.

Through their minister of agriculture, Col. T. L. Kennedy, the Ontario Government has announced they will pay a $12,500 subsidy to the beet growers of the province. This is the fourth successive year of Ontario subsidies, designed to increase sugar production. During this period, it has been authoritatively stated that, without this assistance, there would not have been a single pound of sugar produced. In 1943, the subsidy was paid on the basis of 55c per ton; in 1944 and 1945 it was $1.55. For the past two years, the maximum paid by the government was $225,000 which provided for about 145,000 tons of beets. Payment of the $1.55 subsidy for any tonnage above this figure was undertaken by the Sugar Company and last year this guarantee to the growers cost the processor about $36,000.

Provincial authorities have given no direction concerning the distribution of the $12,500 to the growers, so the company has proposed a payment of 50c per ton. This subsidy will pay for 225,000 tons on this basis and the processor will again pay an amount per ton equal to the subsidy on all tonnage in excess of this figure. Thus, if a $300,000-ton crop for the province is obtained, a contribution of $37,500 on the part of the Sugar Company would be called for. Acceptance of this plan rests with the Growers' Association.

While this provincial support is only one-half the 1945 maximum grant, it will afford attractive increases in sugar-beet prices when combined with the 60c to be paid to the growers by the Sugar Administration for every 100 pounds of sugar. Beets delivered to Ontario factories in 1945, which was an average year in respect to sugar content, were worth $11.76 to the grower. This year, possibly $12.36 will be paid for one ton of beets of the same quality. Should they contain as much sugar as in 1944, the price would then soar to $13.28. This would be an all-time high for Canadian sugar-beet prices and a tangible incentive for increased acreage.

In the United States, growers are assured $13.50 for average-quality beets, but unlike Canada, the federal government has assumed most of the responsibility for this high price. In fact, they are paying subsidies and support payments totalling more than $6.50 per ton. In setting acreage goals for all crops in the United States, the Secretary of Agriculture placed sugar beets at the top of the list and asked for an increase of 31 per cent. This boost exceeds that expected in any other U. S. crop and is considered attainable because of the resolute support of the federal government.

Clover Sod and Wheat.

Ploughing under green sweet clover crops for a period of years at Brandon Experimental Farm, Manitoba, has not resulted in any worthwhile increase in the yields of wheat. However, it has been definitely established that higher yields of wheat can be obtained when sweet clover sod is ploughed immediately after the removal of the first hay crop than when bromo or western rye grass sod is ploughed. The difference in the yield may be the result of the clover adding nitrogen to the soil.

Canadian Legion to Hold Convention.

Veterans of both great wars will rally in the first peace-time convention of the Canadian Legion since 1918, when delegates from all over Canada and parts of the United States will discuss problems of national importance at the biennial convention to be held at the Chateau Frontenac, Quebec City, May 19th to May 23rd.

Delegates coming from some 2,000 branches and representing more than 250,000 members will gather at the Palais Montcalm for the official opening at 8.30 p.m. Sunday, May 19th. The following morning they will get down to business at the Chateau Frontenac.

The convention will, without doubt, be the largest representative one in the history of the Legion, and with the influx of new blood promises to be one of the liveliest. To date every effort is being made by the older members to encourage and train the new veterans to take over executive positions, and many new additions are expected.

Further details will be made available in the near future.

To Advise Municipalities on Suggested Change-Over.

Within the next two weeks, the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario will issue a preliminary report to the Ontario Municipal Electric Association in connection with the proposed change-over from 25 to 60 cycle frequency in the Niagara division of the Southern Ontario system.

In making this announcement, Hydro Commissioner W. Ross Strle, who is president of the O.M.E.A., stated that Commission engineers were still occupied with the task of making an extensive study of both the economic and technical problems involved in such a change-over.

Emphasizing the magnitude of the proposed undertaking, Mr. Strle said that a very large area was involved and that 75 per cent of the consumers of the entire Southern Ontario system would be affected.

"It is quite possible," he said, "that at least one and perhaps more preliminary meetings will be held with the 25-cycle municipalities before all the questions raised by the report can be satisfactorily answered and all the required information given. It is the intention to the O.M.E.A. and the Commission to see that all the municipalities involved have the time in which to give careful consideration to this report."

"This question of cycle conversion," continued Mr. Strle, "is so big and its effect is widespread and it should receive the closest study. This may mean taking a little longer to come to a decision but it will be time well spent."

It is probable that the question of cycle conversion will be discussed at special meetings called for that purpose rather than at the annual convention of the Ontario Municipal Electric Association which will be held on March 5th and 6th.

Child Killed.

Irene, 9-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Czop, of the Puce Road, Maidstone Township, was instantly killed, about 5 o'clock Thursday evening of last week. The child, on her way home from school, had got out of the car in which she was riding, at the Puce Road, corner of No. 58 Highway, and evidently not seeing a school bus coming from Woodlee, ran right in front of it.

Surviving, besides her parents, are two sisters, Helen and Stella. Funeral services, in charge of Rev. Fr. E. G. Doe, were held Saturday morning and burial was in St. John's cemetery, Woodlee.

Mrs. Elizabeth Cousins Dies.

Martha Elizabeth Cousins, widow of the late William Cousins, passed away, suddenly, at her home on Cameron avenue, Essex, on Thursday of last week. She had been in her usual health, had worked all day and laid down on the sofa for a rest, when she quietly passed away.

Deceased, while not born in Essex had lived practically all her life in town. She was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Keown. Forty one years ago she was severely injured when the buggy, of which she was an occupant, was hit by a P. M. train at the west side crossing in the Town of Kingsville, and she had been a partial cripple since.

Surviving are three brothers, Albert Keown, of Windsor; Thomas Keown, of Blenheim, and William Keown, of Leamington.

Funeral services were held from the Hicks & Son Funeral Home, Essex, on Sunday, with burial in Greenhill cemetery, Kingsville.

Miss Elizabeth Townsend Dies

Miss Elizabeth Townsend, a resident of Essex and district the past 74 years, passed away early Wednesday morning at the home of Mrs. Tair, Alice street, with whom she had made her home since the death of her sister Emma (Mrs. William Chatterton). She had suffered a stroke a couple of weeks ago.

The Townsend family lived in Essex for some years, then moved onto the Johnny McCreery farm on Talbot street, and later moved back into Essex, living in the property now owned by Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lee.

Deceased was born in England, on July 13th, 1867, coming to Essex as a child of 5 years.

Surviving are a brother Joseph, of Ellendale, N.D., and a half-sister, living in England.

Funeral services are to be held from the Hicks & Son Funeral Home, on Friday, at 2 p.m., with interment in Cottam Cemetery.

McKenzie-Harrow Nuptials.

At Essex United Church, a wedding of interest took place, on Thursday last, at 7 p.m., when the Rev. R. H. Parr united in marriage Miss Ruth Lillian Harrow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hunter Harrow, and William Donald McKenzie, son of Mr. and Mrs. William McKenzie.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a white gown with a lace bodice, featuring a sweetheart neckline and long pointed sleeves, and a long and pointed double net over silk. Her finger-ring veil was caught in a net halo, and she carried red roses.

Miss Phyllis Harrow, sister of the bride, as maid-of-honour, wore a pink dress with silk jersey bodice, and a skirt of net over silk. Her flowers were pink roses and carnations, and her hairdress was a garland of matching flowers.

The bridesmaid, Marjorie Harrow, another sister, was costumed like the maid-of-honour, but in blue. The groom was assisted by his brother, Clifford McKenzie. The ushers were F/O David Harrow and F/O Graham Armstrong.

Miss Marjorie Allen, of Kingsville, played the wedding music and Miss Jean McIlwain sang "O Promise Me" and "Because."

After the ceremony, a reception for sixty-five guests was held in the church parlors. Mrs. Harrow wore a wine crepe dress with black accessories, while the bridegroom's mother was gowned in mauve crepe. Their corsages were of roses.

The bride's table was centred with a three-tiered wedding cake, with tall white tapers and bowls of pink and white flowers around it.

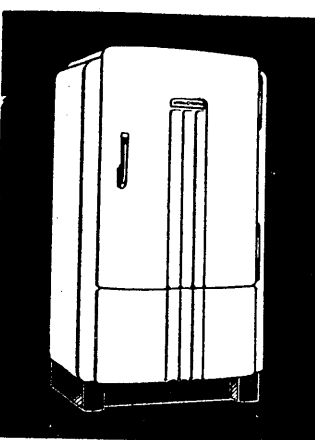

Mr. and Mrs. McKenzie left on a motor trip to Toronto and Owen Sound the bride travelling in an aqua gabardine suit with black accessories, and wearing a corsage of pink carnations.

The bride and groom were the recipients of many beautiful gifts. Prior to her marriage the bride-to-be guest guest-of-honour at a shower given by Misses Marion and Jean McIlwain for twenty-five of her friends.

Mrs. Clifford McKenzie was hostess to a number of friends and neighbours who showered the happy couple with gifts and best wishes.

Presentations were made on behalf of the choir and the Young People's Society of the United Church.

After March 1st Mr. and Mrs. McKenzie will take up residence on the John Gunn farm, which the groom recently purchased.

Dies Suddenly.

William James Grant, 77 years old, passed away suddenly, on Wednesday morning, from a heart attack. He had shovelled snow off the walk in front of his home on Cameron avenue, in town, and suffered the attack on returning to the house. Death was almost instantly.

Deceased farmed all his life until moving into Essex some years ago. He and Mrs. Grant then moved to Kingsville, where they resided for a few years, coming back to Essex a couple of years ago.

Surviving are his widow Eva; a son James, well-known Hybrid Corn grower, and agent for Gosfield North; Everett, of Toronto; Eula (Mrs. L. F. Funk) of Detroit; Elevea (Mrs. G. R. Thompson), of Windsor; also three sisters, Mrs. James Sweet, of Kingsville; Mrs. Mary Robinson, of Rochester, N.Y.; and Mrs. John Burns, of Cottam, and three brothers, Delbert, of Kingsville; Clifford, of California, and Colin, also of the U.S.A.

Resting at the Hicks & Son Funeral Home, where services will be held on Saturday, February 23rd, at 2 p.m., with burial in Evergreen Memorial Park, Leamington.

Fathers and Sons.

Two gala days are in store for the fathers and sons of the Essex United Church, over the week-end. On Sunday morning Rev. R. H. Parr will speak on the subject "Stand Up." During the Sunday School session the minister desires to teach the men and boys only. The girls and mothers will assemble in their regular classes.

At 7.15 p.m. the fathers and sons will assemble in the Sunday school room, from which they will proceed to the church auditorium, where the service will be conducted by Rev. John Hunter, assisted by a ladies' choir.

All this is preparatory to the climax on Tuesday, when present and former boys and men of the congregation will celebrate the 26th anniversary of the Father and Son movement in Essex and greet the returned men who volunteered for war service. A chicken dinner will be served. The guest speaker will be Detroit's talented minister, Dr. Albert J. Lindsay, of Immanuel Presbyterian Church.

BROOKER

The Sum Total of Their Crimes.

By Joseph Lister Rutledge.
The Nurnberg trials, if they have done nothing else, have written a new page of international law and of personal and international morality. They have established in the world's mind a new concept of responsibility, by bringing to the bar more than the immediate authors of treachery and baseness. They added to these defendants all the people who made it possible for degraded and cruel men to climb to positions of authority from which treachery and cruelty could be authorized.

The cornered rats of Nurnberg were quick to turn on their leader, to urge that personal responsibility ended when orders were received. It is well for the peace of the world that this assumed justification wash relentlessly denied them.

Here is the case as laid down by Sir Hartly Shawcross, British Attorney General prosecuting Goring and his ugly companions:
"It may be said that many of the documents which have been referred to were in Hitler's name, and that the orders were Hitler's orders, that these men were mere instruments of Hitler's will. But they were the instruments without which Hitler's will could not be carried out."

"They are the men whose support built Hitler up into the position of power we occupied. . . . They are the men whose co-operation and support made the Nazi government of Germany possible."

The sum total of the crimes of these men, then, is the total of the acts resulting from the forces that knowingly they set in motion, or that cravenly they failed to resist. This is an old morality newly imposed in international affairs. It has wide implications. For if this precept is true in international relations, it cannot be less true in national relations or in our everyday associations. But that is a harder thing to accept because it comes closer home. We are ready to accept this thinking as applied to the shabby crew at Nurnberg, but we are still quick to wash our hands of the blame for what happens nearer home. But in these recurring judgments we are writing off the comfort- ing delusions that we are not personally responsible for the results of forces that we have helped to set in motion or that we have supinely neglected to retard.

But there cannot be one law for the Germans and another for ourselves. When we visit on them responsibility for acts for which they were only morally responsible, we certainly cannot be less stern in dealing with ourselves, even where the issues are less dramatically challenging.

The import of this is obvious. It takes from us the comforting delusion that we can wash our hands of our responsibilities, as Pilate vainly tried to do twenty centuries ago. It wipes out any theory of delegated responsibility and makes that responsibility constant and comprehensive. It means that persons or parties that would turn racial strain against racial strain, or class against class, or religious view against religious view must accept the responsibility and be judged on whatever may result from their bigotry or prejudice, even though the results may travel far beyond their present thinking or intent.

It is a hard doctrine, but can there be any other when we make the case that we are making at Nurnberg?—Liberty Magazine.

Subsidies on Bees Cancelled.

The subsidies of 50 cents per pound paid during 1944 and 1945 will not be paid on 1946 importations of packaged bees, according to an announcement by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board. To offset the resulting increased cost of production a revision will be made in the ceiling price of the 1946 honey crop. The exact amount of this increase has not yet been determined.

While the number of beekeepers in Canada increased in 1945 to 43,800 there was a decrease of 12 per cent in the total honey crop for the year, due to the adverse spring and early summer weather. Of the total of 30,632,000 pounds, 9,095,000 pounds were produced in Ontario.

The first Scout meeting held in Tokyo since the conclusion of hostilities was staged by Rover Scouts of the crew of H.M.S. Indefatigable.

Ration Coupon Due Dates.

Coupons now valid are sugar 16 to 70 and S1, butter 116 to 139 and R1 and R2, meat 1 to 25.

Sugar coupons are good for the purchase of one pound of sugar or 24 fluid ounces of canned fruit or four pounds of cut comb honey or extracted honey or maple syrup or 48 ounces of maple syrup or two pounds of honey butter or two quarts of molasses or 30 fluid ounces of blended table syrup or cane syrup or corn syrup.

"The Earth Melted."

One who was contending with a painful physical condition was obliged to take a train trip on a cold winter's day. A heavy snowstorm had just ceased, and the warm sun shining on the outside of the car window quickly melted away every vestige of snow leaving the window pane bright and clean. "Oh," thought the sufferer, "Why, the warmth of God's dear love can instantly dissolve this hardened physical condition which has so long for me seemed to be an unsolved enigma." With this awareness of God's love, this reaching out to God in faith and hope, the pain disappeared and the desired healing and release came. Obstructions melt and material conditions are resolved harmoniously as the light of divine love pours into human consciousness. The Bible says (Isaiah 10:1) "Behold the Lord rideth upon a swift cloud, and shall come into Egypt: . . . and the heart of Egypt shall melt in the midst of it." darkened, fearful, proud, obstructive thoughts yield as men learn to know the omnipresence of God and His love. Obstructions may loom large until it is seen that they are false concepts built up by the human mind. When the allness of God is realized, mental barriers fall, and the way is made plain. "He uttered his voice, the earth melted" (Psalms 46:6).

In "Miscellaneous Writings" by Mary Baker Eddy, we read (p. 325), "Whatever obstructs the way — causing to stumble, fall, or faint, those mortals who are striving to enter the path — divine love will remove; and up lift the fallen and strengthen the weak." Though the obstruction appears in the form of a physical difficulty, a chronic or an acute disease, there is no delay in the operation of mind's incisive and powerful action. With fear, ignorance, and sin removed, disease disappears. In the same volume we read (p. 173), "If Mind, God, is all-power and all-presence, man is not met by another power and presence, that — obstructing his intelligence — pains, fetters, and befrolic him."—Christian Science Monitor.

We are clearing up deferred orders for telephones as quickly as it can be done.

Over 50,000 telephones have been added since V-E Day — the increase in the last four months of 1945 was greater than in the preceding 12 months.

Our programme for 1946 — for buildings, switchboards, wire and cable, subscribers' equipment, long distance and rural service — will cost upwards of 30 millions.

Today more than a million Bell telephones are in operation — but it's still not enough. Our main job is overtaking deferred orders for service. That means not telephones alone, but buildings, switchboards, wire and cable. We are moving full speed ahead.

Who Wants To Go Back To Candles?

The ladies sometimes like the dim, flattering light of candles. But most people, even if they could get far greater illumination from candles at far less cost, would prefer electric light.

Considerations of health, comfort, convenience, cleanliness and safety, have become more important to the modern way of life than the factor of cost.

Nevertheless, it costs money to survey new power sites, harness waterfalls, and build transmission lines, so that when you flick a switch or set a thermostat you can be sure of light and heat at your fingertips. Quite possibly a part of your own Life Insurance premium has been invested in the public utilities which render these services.

Government supervision of all such investments safeguards the money laid away by more than four million thrifty policyholders, united for their common security in the great co-operative business of Life Insurance.

This portion of every dollar invested out of Life Insurance funds helps to finance thousands of building and transportation projects, public utilities, industries, etc., which create employment throughout the country. The remainder is in municipal bonds, farm and town mortgages, etc. In addition, $500,000 is paid out in direct benefits every working day to policyholders or their loved ones.

Auction Sales Under Ceiling.

If any article is under price ceiling regulation it still remains under restriction when sold by auction, according to statement issued by W. Harold McPhillips, prices and supply representative for Western Ontario. "It has come to my attention that there is some misunderstanding regarding goods sold at auction," Mr. McPhillips states. "If an article is under a price ceiling its sale by auction does not remove it from Board regulations. It may not be sold locally at a price higher than the ceiling. The regulations also provide that whenever any specific named used goods for which there is a maximum price is fixed are sold by auction, they must be sold separately."

While some used goods are exempt from price regulations, many others are included. Among these are used cars and trucks, bicycles, sewing machines and other industrial, electric washing machines, stoves, ranges and other cooking or heating appliances, household furniture, radios, musical instruments.

Ceiling prices on live poultry must also be maintained at auction, and ration regulations must be followed in selling rationed foods.

In making announcement regarding the auction sales, Mr. McPhillips said complete information regarding price ceilings and how much it needs to be on at auction sales.

People Are Asking?

Q.—I have a workshop at home and in my spare time make various kinds of novelties. I would like to sell these to retail stores. Do I need a license or any other permission?
A.—Yes, you need a license. Apply to the representative of the W. P. T. B. in the district where you reside. You may also be required to have prices fixed. The pricing officer of the Board at London will also give you complete information if you send him details of the goods you will manufacture.

Q.—Where does Canada purchase its food?
A.—Under Combined Food Board regulations, Canada and the United Kingdom share equitably the quantity of sugar bought for joint account by the Ministry of Food from the Dominion Republics. The balance of sugar is purchased on the open market by the Combined Food Board.

Q.—Is it possible for Canada to buy more sugar?
A.—No. Neither Canada nor the United Kingdom can buy more sugar than is allocated by the Combined Food Board, equitably among the dominant countries. Each country which imports sugar presents a quota showing how much sugar it needs and how much it needs to import on at auction sales.

Q.—The restaurant where I have been eating since the outbreak of the war has stopped serving butter with the noonday meal? Is it allowed to do so?
A.—Restaurants are quota users. They may use their supplies as they see fit. Your restaurant has evidently stopped serving butter because the quota was recently cut to maintain consumer rations while national supplies are low.

Q.—How can I be sure that I can raise the price of an article which I have been producing?
A.—A special committee has been set up in Ottawa to interpret the new order suspending price ceilings on certain goods. Please send your problem to your nearest W.P.T.B. office or the London Regional office, and it will be given early attention.

TENDERS WANTED.

TOWNSHIP COLCHESTER NORTH.

Tenders will be received by the township clerk at 10 a.m. on MONDAY, MARCH 4th, 1946.

For the cleaning of the Township Hall, to be done inside and outside, according to specifications, which may be obtained at the Clerk's office, on request. Part to be supplied by the Township. Lowest tender not necessarily accepted.

C. A. REELEY, Clerk.

The 12 acres this Middlesex County farmer planted in soybeans brought him in $780.00—which more than paid his winter's feed bill for 27 head of cattle. Shortage of labor at harvest time was no problem either—for he got it in his sons with a combine. That's why he plans to put a quarter of his acreage into soybeans every year from now on.

The $2,500,000.00 outlay which Victory Mills made for a new plant and their aim of buying more than 3,000,000 bushels a year gives Ontario farmers reason to be certain of a steady market for soybeans, year after year.

15 SOUND REASONS FOR GROWING SOYBEANS!

1. Soybeans are a Hardy crop—resistant to drought, light frosts and heavy rains during growing season.
2. They're a PROFITABLE cash crop.
3. There's a READY MARKET for all you can grow.
4. Soybeans need a MINIMUM OF LABOR—can be harvested with a combine whenever weather is suitable.
5. A real SOIL-BUILDER, improving soil tilth and adding some nitrogen—soybeans fit into any "crop rotation" planning.

Father Officiates at Rights.

With the groom's father officiating,
a marriage of interest was solemnized quietly at Central United Church, Windsor, when Miss Shirley Newton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Newton, of Randolph street, Windsor, formerly of Essex, became the bride of Darwin Kersey, of Windsor, son of Rev. and Mrs. George Kersey, of Hespeler, also formerly of Essex.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a tailored suit of pearl gray, garlanded with a collage of orchids. Her sister, Mrs. Jas.
Marrow, who was her only attendant, wore a green gabardine suit with a black sailor and yellow roses. Mr.
Morrow was best man.

A reception at the Lakewood Golf Club, where the bride's table was controlled with the wedding cake topped by a miniature bride and groom, flanked by bouquets of daffodils and burning white tapers, followed. Mrs. Newton wore for her daughter's wedding a gown of fuchsia crepe with black hat and pink roses, and Mrs. Kersey was in sky blue crepe with a matching hat and wore pink roses also.

Mr. and Mrs. Kersey left later for a motor trip in the States. On their return they will reside in Windsor.

Young-Sanderson Nuptials.

Of wide interest to Essex residents was the marriage, on February 16th, in the chapel of Bishop Strachan School, Toronto, of Dr. Mary Isobel Sanderson, of Toronto, daughter of Mrs. Hermon H. Sanderson, of Boston Boulevard, Detroit, and the late Dr. Sanderson, to Thomas Franklin
Young, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. F.
Young, of Pine street, Windsor.

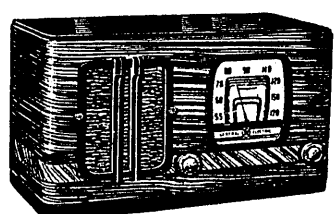

In the absence of her elder brother,
Lt. Joseph Sanderson, who is serving in Oakland, Calif., with the medical corps of the U. S. Navy, her younger brother, Harvey Boyd Sanderson, just returned from overseas service, gave the bride in marriage. She was smart in a street-length frock of mushroom gray, fashioned with a draped skirt, and wore a black straw hat trimmed with ostrich tips, and a corsage of red roses.

Miss Margaret Withers was her only attendant, and Frank Secord was best man.

Mr. and Mrs. Young left later on a wedding trip, during which they will visit Windsor. For travelling the bride echoed a grey herringbone suit, with a short brown box coat and a brown hat. They will live in Toronto.
The groom was born in Essex and is a grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs.
William Lee.

William Grant Laid to Rest.

Funeral services for the late Wm.
Grant, who passed away suddenly on Wednesday last week, were held on Saturday, in charge of Rev. J. H.
Whealen, of St. Paul's Anglican Church, Essex, assisted by Rev. Mr.
Davies, of Kingsville.

Interment was in Evergreen Memorial Park, Leamington, the pallbearers being Albert Bede, Harry Wigle, E.
Shipp, Henry Mannington, of Essex, and Mr. Batchelor and Wm. Gardner, of Kingsville.

Fathers and Sons.

All records of attendance at Father and Son Observance in Essex were broken both at the Church service on Sunday evening and at the banquet on Tuesday. Rev. John Hunter, of Deroit, exchanged pulpits with Rev. R.
H. Parr on Sunday and gave the Dads and their Lads a challenging address on King David and his Son Absalom.
Excellent music was provided by a ladies' choir. The large attendance of men predicted a large crowd for Tuesday. The record attendance up to 1942 was 257. Consequently 30 extra places were arranged. When that record was surpassed by 77 it is needless to state that the seating capacity was taxed to the limit, as was the food supply. No such crowd was ever anticipated.

The banquet was complimentary to some forty returned men, who were accorded an enthusiastic reception.
Following the excellent dinner, the president, Bill Naylor, introduced the chairman, R. H. Parr, whose program of outstanding merit was initiated by a hearty sing-song, conducted by Earl Reish, with the accompanist of the evening, Miss Marjorie Allen, at the piano.

Charlie Flood represented the sons present with his reading "My Daddy."
Most favourable comment followed the solos by Frank Tallent and the tramp-et duets of Frank Hahn and Bill Taylor, of Windsor.

A very fitting introduction of the guest speaker, Dr. Albert Lindsey, of Immanuel Presbyterian Church, Detroit, was given by Don Murray, a member of Dr. Lindsey's church. The Detroit minister based his forceful address on the parable of the prodigal son. The responsibilities of the father were physical, mental, moral and spiritual, while those of the sons were submission, co-operation and performance of any and all tasks up to their capacity.

The thanks of the audience was well taken care of by Alvin Loucks and Murray Findlay, to the artists, the ladies and the speaker of the evening.

Baseball Meeting.

A meeting will be held Sunday, March 3rd, at the Aberdeen Hotel, to organize a junior baseball league.
Anyone wishing to enter a team is requested to be present.

O'Connor-Johnston Nuptials.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Michael's R. C. Church, Al-dershot, on January 12th, when Lola Marie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. J.
Johnson, of Regina, became the bride of Cpl. Daniel W. O'Connor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry O'Connor, of Essex, with Rev. Fr. Minvielle officiating.

The bride was given in marriage by Col. Dadds, and wore a gown of white satin with veil of white tulle. She carried a bouquet of orchids and white lilies. The bridesmaids, Stella Osey-chuk, also a member of the C.W.A.C., wore a gown of queen's blue sheer and carried a bouquet of pink tulips and roses. Attending the groom was Sgt. Angus Villeneuve. The ushers were Lt. B. E. Bewer and Lt. W. Mc-Cartney. Bandmaster W. Murphy and his military band accompanied their male soloist, who sang "Bless This House" and "Ave Maria."

A reception was held in the "Lounge" at the CWAC Depot, for 100 guests. The table was laid with a lace cloth centred by a tiered wedding cake.

Guests were entertained with music by the CWAC pipe band. The happy couple left for a short honeymoon at Chiddingfold, Surrey.

Vincent-Stauffer Wedding.

The Baptist Church parsonage, Leamington, at 2.30 p.m. on Saturday, February 16th, was the scene of a lovely wedding, when Rev. R. D. J.
Tyler united in marriage Donald Ivan
Vincent, only son of Mr. and Mrs. F.
Vincent, of Colchester North, and Miss Dorothy Margaret Stauffer, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
Joseph Stauffer, of Leamington.

The bride chose white jersey, tailored with a sweetheart neckline, a finger-tip veil, with white roses, and she carried red carnations. Mrs. Glen Bondy, as bridesmaid, was dressed in white sheer, wore a pink veil and carried pink carnations. The groom was assisted by his cousin, A. Vincent.

Following the ceremony a reception for thirty guests was held at the home of the groom's parents, when the young couple received many lovely gifts. On returning from their honey-

The Deadly Parallel of the News.

By Joseph Lister Rutledge.

Two startling statements were recently featured in the day's news. One item was a resume of an address by Colonel Stafford Warren, medical director of the atomic-bomb project, at a special meeting of the American Cancer Society. He said that the problem of cancer is no more impossible of solution than was the atomic bomb, and that "if the public would provide $10,000,000 a year for cancer research for the next two decades the disease might be controlled as typhoid and diphtheria are now."

Against that, a statement from the Bank of International Settlement that the second Great War, up to last summer, was estimated to have cost the treasures of the world a grim total of 680 billion dollars. This, of course, represents only the direct cost. It does not include the vastly greater sums represented by the capitalized value of human lives lost, the property destroyed, neutrals losses, for other than military expenditures, or the huge outgo of UNRRA and other measures of war relief.

There is a deadly parallel: A few millions needed to best one of the world's great scourges, to give continuing life and health to millions of the world's people, billions devoted to destroying life, blasting hopes, and betraying happiness. We have not the money for the one. We have countless resources for the other.

Or to bring it nearer home. Statistics have figured that in Canada sickness alone represents an annual cost of $300,000,000. Half of this cost is sheer waste, for half of it is readily preventable with protections we can easily provide. But it takes a little money, so we tell ourselves that we cannot afford the protection.

But during the past five years Canada has spent ten billion dollars for war, and we will go on spending for the results of that war for long generations to come.

Of course it is easy to argue that we didn't want war, that it was forced upon us, that we fought it in self-defense. And that is true. It is easy to argue that we are eager to establish a world where men and women may be free from the spectres of poverty and want and death. That is true also, though in a somewhat confused and haphazard sense.

We say this, because we must realize that wars spring from wants. The want for space in which to live. The want for a certain equality of opportunity. The want for a freedom from poverty and for continuing security in life and in fortune.

But in all these things health plays a not inconspicuous part. The crowded conditions have always been the breeding grounds of the great plagues that have broadcast through the world. Their people know it and want room to live in health and happiness. We do not have to be told that poverty and vice and violence run hand in hand with sickness and want. And where these flourish, there is bred the suspicion from which insecurity springs. We know these things but we fail to heed them.

So we continue to fight it out, still believing that war, that has never yet solved a problem, will solve our problems this time; and forgetting that much of the danger of war might be spared us if we could see the end of some of the scourges that make for poverty and insecurity that are the horsemen of war.

So the deadly parallel of the news poses this question: How long will we scamp the millions for curing the world's ills, while we squander billions for its destruction? — Liberty Magazine.

Should Raise More Sheep. The Dominion Bureau of Agriculture recently stated, "There are about 5 per cent fewer sheep in the world than just before the war, and 5 per cent less than in the wartime peak year of 1912. In keeping with this decline, there was a reduction of 2.5 per cent in the number of Canadian sheep as at June 1st, 1945, from 3,725,550 in 1944 to 3,621,800 in 1945." It is good to note that our decline was less than the rest of the world, but — why any decline at all? The advantages of raising sheep are too numerous to neglect. On farms where sources, a flock of sheep can be profitable just for the food they eat that would normally be wasted. Weeds take every advantage of our fertile soil in this part of Ontario but they could be held in check by sheep clearing up the lanes, stubble fields and fence rows. Unlike other stock, they graze their food so thoroughly that most of the weed seeds are destroyed.

Little Extra Work. Sheep require just as much attention, possibly more than other classes of stock at breeding, lambing and weaning seasons, but they fit in well with other farm work. They need little attention during the busy summer months and their lambing time is usually over before the rush of spring work. They are economical because of their low initial cost and also the inexpensive buildings and equipment they require. Another factor is their rapid increase under proper management. Wool and market lambs provide two sources of income each year, and quickly, for lambs may be marketed just 9 months after the ewes are bred.

Pigs return more gain in weight for their feed but lambs can still show better gains than fattening calves compared to feed required. Lambs actually make as large daily gains in weight as yearlings or even older sheep, even though they consume considerably less feed.

Should be 40 Ewes. A flock of at least 40 ewes will reduce the expense per head for shelter, equipment, labour and cost of keeping a good ram. With proper facilities of course, the flock can be much larger, but if a farm is too heavily stocked with sheep, the difficulties from stomach worms and other parasites are greatly increased.

Feed Sheep Roughage.

Sheep should be fed plenty of roughage — they like it and are able to make good use of it. They do well on pasture during the growing season and plenty of well-cured hay and other forage in the winter. Sufficient alfalfa and clover fed during the winter will provide adequate protein for breeding ewes until one month as well as calcium and vitamins A and D. Good roughage is satisfactory before lambing but after that they need additional nutrients to provide for the rapid growth of the unborn lamb. For this month, a small amount of grain or other concentrates should be fed and later, during the nursing period the amount needs to be increased.

Fattening Lambs.

The same combination of roughage and grain or concentrates is used to fatten lambs rapidly. They will usually come to the proper degree of fatness before getting too large if liberal quantities of grain and roughage are used. They gain more weight in proportion than cattle and therefore require more total digestible nutrients that is, compared to their relative weights. Many expensive proteins have failed to produce better gains than straight feeding of clover, alfalfa and grains such as corn. If the gains are even greater with the more expensive proteins, the cost per pound is usually higher. However, if the hay is a mixed legume and grass or a combination of legume hay and non-legume roughage, a protein supplement is needed to balance the ration.

Wool Needs Protein.

Wool fibres are composed of protein, so sheep getting little or no legume hay should be given generous amounts of protein-rich supplements. Corn gluten feed alone is not good enough in this case and should be replaced by better protein feeds such as linseed meal or soybean meal. For sheep feeding, animal proteins such as tankage are no better than plant proteins.

Prayer of the Trees.

By Marvin Bauer.

Sometimes people wonder why prayers are not answered promptly or the reply is different from their expectations, although we have the assurance our prayers are heard by the angels and carried by them to God. The following story is symbolic:

Three large trees stood in a dense forest. One day they prayed, asking for what they desired to be converted into when felled.

The first prayed to be a beautiful palace where kings and queens dwelt and visitors would come and gaze with awe.

The second, to be a large ship, sail the seven seas and encircle the globe.

The third wanted to stay in the forest, grow into the tallest tree there and always point a high finger to God.

One day the woodsman came and chopped down the first tree and in the place of a palace, it was made into a common stable, but a virgin and her husband found shelter there and that night there was born the fairest babe in all creation and ever since men and angels have been singing "Glory to God in the Highest."

Thirty years passed, the second tree was felled and made into a small ship, launched on the sea of Galilee. A tall young man stood on the deck of that ship and with a heart-warming smile told the multitude "I came that you might have life and enjoy it more abundantly."

Soon the third tree was chopped down, the limbs were made into a cross and beastly men goaded on by devilish spirits, plucked his shoulders down and nailed that young man to the cross — the lowliest personality that ever walked the earth — but ever since, that cross has been pointing to the road to Paradise, the road which is now open to all and the final station on that highway is God. People who have the influx of the Holy Spirit, knowing what has been done for them have an ardent love for their Saviour. The heart that has once met Jesus will never love another.

"WHAT A GAME!"

SAY OUR FRIENDS FROM THE U.S.

Hundreds every year come to Ontario to cheer their favourites. We can't always give them "blue-line seats," but let's be sure—in all our dealings with them—they get the best we have to offer. In short, let's see they have a swell time!

WHAT CAN I DO?

The answer is plenty! In the next column are some of the things anyone can do. The suggestions come from a well-known Ontario hotelman:

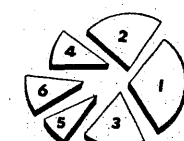

1. Know the places of interest and beauty spots in your district and tell people all about them.
2. When you write your friends in the States tell them about the places they would enjoy visiting.
3. Try to make any visitor glad he came.
4. Take time to give requested information fully and graciously.
5. In business dealings, remember Canada's reputation for courtesy and fairness depends on you.
6. To sum it up, follow the "Golden Rule."

IT'S EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS . . . it's good business!

Worth his weight in gold! The Province of Ontario profits to almost the same extent from the tourist business as it does from the gold mining industry. It is up to each one of us to see that it goes on growing.

This diagram, based on figures supplied by the Hotel Association, shows how everyone benefits from the Ontario tourist income. Every tourist dollar is shared this way . . . 1. Hotels; 2. Retail stores; 3. Restaurants; 4. Taxes, etc.; 5. Amusements; 6. Garages.

It works both ways! They treat us royally when we visit them . . . we can't do less than return the compliment. Remember that it costs money to take a holiday . . . so let's see they get a good return for every penny they spend.

"Let's make them want to come back!"

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Francis A. Laramie, who passed away ten years ago, February 26th, 1936.

Though the tears in our eyes do not glisten,
And our faces do not always look sad,
There is never a night nor a morning
That we do not think of you, dear dad,
That had a nature you could not help loving.

And a heart as good as gold,
And to those who knew and loved him
His memory will never grow old.

—In cherished memories by his sons and daughters.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my dear father, Fred Belcher, who passed away one year ago, March 5th, 1945.

He suffered patiently and long.
His hopes were bright, his faith was strong.
The peace of Jesus filled his breast,
And in His arms he sank to rest.

—Ever remembered by his daughter Olla.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of my dear husband, Hugh Steed, who passed away four years ago, March 6th, 1942.

Don't ask us if we miss him,
For this is such a vacant place,
Often we think we hear his footsteps,
Or see his smiling face.

For he left us heartbroken,
But they little know the sorrow
Friends may think the wound is healed,
That is in our hearts concealed.

Essex Presbyterial.

The 20th annual meeting of Essex Presbyterial W. M. S. of the United Church was held in Westminster Church, Windsor, on Wednesday, February 13th, with an attendance of over two hundred.

Rev. A. E. M. Thompson, acting minister of the church, welcomed the delegates in an address, which he urged his hearers to never tire of the missionary work, for it has in it the enriching of the spiritual life.

The theme of the convention, "Forward in the Crusade for Christ and His Kingdom," was the outstanding thought running throughout the three sessions.

During the afternoon the following officers for 1946 were installed: President, Miss Lily Laramie, of Malden; Hon.
president, Miss Helen Bartlett; past president, Mrs. A. F. McGill; president, Mrs. J. C. Pennington; 1st vice,
Mrs. Edward Arner; 2nd vice, Mrs. J.
T. Flemming; 3rd vice, Mrs. Roy All-son; 4th vice, Mrs. Duncan McNabb; corresponding secretary, Mrs. C. D.
Parquharson; treasurer, Mrs. L. F.
Purdy; secretary Christian Stewardship, Mrs. M. J. Malott; secretary of Mission Circles, Mrs. J. H. McQuat; secretary affiliated C.G.I.T. groups, Miss Elizabeth Swan; secretary Mission Bands, Mrs. J. G. Turnbull; Associate Members' secretary, Mrs. R. S.
McBride; supply secretary, Mrs. R. S.
McBride; Community Friendship secretary, Mrs. H. R. Fordham; literature secretary, Mrs. Russell Raymont; Missionary Temperance Monthly and Joint Friendship secretary, Miss Glady Cox.

Delegates elected to the Branch convention in May were, Mrs. Mary Malott, Mrs. Arthur Dodson, Mrs.
Mary Perry, and the alternates, Mrs.
E. Richardson, Mrs. G. McGladray and Mrs. E. Karry.

The nominating committee named was Mrs. Wm. Yule, Mrs. Irwin Johnston, Mrs. J. A. Kennedy, Mrs. J. E.
Daubney and Mrs. Wm. Merrifield, with two members of executive to be appointed later. The finance committee appointed was Mrs. W. L. McGuire, Mrs. J. S. Folster and Mrs. T. J. Salmoni.

At the noon hour short addresses were given by the workers at All Peoples' Mission, Miss H. Adsett and Miss M. Staples. Also messages were read from Miss E. McKenzie, missionary to Africa, and Mrs. H. Childs, branch president. The many reports given showed, in most cases, substantial increases, the allocation for the Presbyterial for 1946 being set at $11, 300.

Miss Ida McKenzie, Field Secretary, who was special speaker for the day, thrilled her audience, giving glimpses of the work all across Canada, and recounted many of her experiences as she visited the mission stations from coast to coast. Her subject, "We Enter a New Era," was developed (1) from a community standpoint; Peace must start in our own community. The crusade for Christ and His Kingdom is attempting to stir us up to our responsibility. The sins of our world are world-wide but they have their roots in the community. (2) In the national scene: As a result of war many puzzling problems have arisen.
Miss McKenzie made a touching plea for the minority groups in Canada who need to have the opportunity of making their contribution to Canadian life. Then, too, the church needs to face the international scene, one writ-ter of note has well said "It is dangerous to live in a world which has become a neighbourhood but not a brotherhood."

Card of Thanks—Mrs. Wm. Grant, for her children and the family of her late husband, wishes to express their most sincere thanks and gratitude for the many kindnesses and expressions of sympathy shown them in their recent sad bereavement in the loss of a loving husband, father and brother.
Special thanks to Rev. Mr. Whealen,
Rev. Mr. Davies, Mrs. H. Manningsham, and the choir of St. Paul's Church, for their services at the funeral and to those who loaned cars or sent floral tributes.

Card of Thanks—George E. Stowe wishes to express sincere thanks and appreciation to relatives, friends, neighbours and fellow workmen of the surrounding community for the many acts of kindness during my losses of property caused by the recent tornado winds. Special thanks to Puce church, to the pastor who visited me, to the teachers and pupils of S. S. No. 9, to Mrs. Daniel McKee, and to all who sent cards, flowers, and remembered me in any way while I was confined to the hospital recuperating from the amputation of my left hand.
These many acts of kindness will long be remembered both by myself and family.

The first meeting of the International Bureau of the Boy Scouts was held in London, recently, when H. R. H.
Prince Gustaf, of Sweden, Honorary President of the International Committee presided. The members of the Bureau were entertained at Buckingham Palace by His Majesty the King.

Hello, Homemakers! It has been my great pleasure to speak at the Ontario Agricultural Societies' Convention this week. I was well received and had a very enjoyable time.
The members of the convention are formulating new detailed plans for the coming year. They are creating an interest in "teenagers to pride themselves in exhibiting prize products at county fairs. Prize products, whether they are in your garden, on your table or at the exhibition, are a credit to your community. It's not the biggest pumpkin that's best, nor the largest pie that's perfect, but even colour, standard shape and good quality win the Blue Ribbon.

Winning exhibitors are awarded tangible prizes. In the home we can win awards, too — the good health of our family and the "golden" words of praise from our guests. Therefore, exhibit on your table a custard that is not curdled, a cake that is not soggy, biscuits that are not burnt, by always working for a prize.

One of the essentials is to know your range and observe the correct temperatures. If the oven has a worn indicator you may be able to purchase an oven-test thermometer that should be kept on the rack while baking.

Oven Temperature 425 Degrees F.

1. Tea biscuits, scones.
2. Baked fruit rolls (tea biscuit dough), Dutch apple cake, coffee cake.
3. Oven steamed vegetables, scalloped tomatoes — in high shelf.
4. Baked potatoes (medium size, 50 minutes) — high shelf.

Oven Temperature 400 Degrees F.

1. Muffins, refrigerator rolls.
2. Fruit cobbblers.
3. Sausage, meat balls in sauce.
4. Oven steamed vegetables, scalloped tomatoes, pepper squash (covered part time).
5. Baked potatoes (medium-size 1 hour).

Oven Temperature 350 Degrees F.

1. Plain cakes, cornbread, gingerbread, inside down cakes, apple betty,

Synthetic Rubber to be Used for Some Time.

A large percentage of synthetic rubber will continue to be used for some time, although increasing supplies of natural rubber are expected during 1946, it was announced this week by A. G. Partridge, president of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company of Canada, Limited, at the annual meeting of the Company shareholders.

The available natural rubber stock is still far short of requirements, he declared, but enough synthetic rubber is produced in Canada to supply all demands.

For the fiscal year ending December 31st, 1945, the company showed a net profit of $1,355,559, as compared with a net profit of $1,352,800 for the year 1944. Net earnings for the year were equivalent to $1.50 a share on the 257,200 shares of common stock outstanding as compared with $1.11 a share in 1944.

During the year, net expenditures for additions to buildings and equipment amounted to $1,041,623. Working capital at December 31st, 1945, amounted to $9,526,558 — slightly greater than working capital at the close of 1944.

Unanimously re-elected to the Board of Directors were P. W. Litchfield, chairman; A. G. Partridge, C. H. Carlshe, R. C. Birkinshaw, P. A. Thomson,
P. E. H. Leroy, and E. J. Thomas.

An open letter to all Ontario Citizens

THE CANADIAN RED CROSS SOCIETY
ONTARIO DIVISION

The six years of war the Canadian Red Cross Society has been through, and the part it has played in the war effort, are things that will be remembered for many years to come. Those who have served in the armed forces, those who have served in the home front, those who have served in the hospitals, those who have served in the Red Cross, all have a part to play in the peace effort. The Canadian Red Cross Society is the only organization that can bring comfort and help to our people in the most needed way.

We ask you, through your membership, to keep your Red Cross strong in peace as in war, for the continuing benefit of our Canadian people.

Where your membership helped to save lives in war — it can save lives in peace. Through the proposed new Blood Transfusion Service, through the proposed new Blood Isolated Frontiers, it can bring help to our people in the most needed way. It can bring health, happiness and comfort to our people in the most needed way. It can bring health, happiness and comfort to our people in the most needed way.

There will be no campaign for funds in 1946 — but there is a vital need for a large and varied membership so that we may be able to do for our own people in peace what we were privileged to do for them in war. With your help this can be done. Join the Red Cross for 1946 — Minimum membership fee is one dollar. Your local Red Cross Branch will provide further details.

terior Paints Not Good for Inside.

When a white paint is needed for inside a house, it is poor economy to try to make an exterior paint do the job. The exterior paint usually is specially prepared to bleach under the action of the sun and thus remain white doors; when used inside the building it will tend to turn yellow. In similar fashion, attempts to "spin out" a white paint by adding extra linseed oil will turn it yellow in time.
On the other hand, no interior paint can be expected to stand up well on exterior job as its composition is entirely different, and it will break down under weathering conditions. To make best use of the care skill which goes into the manufacture of good paint, be sure to get type of paint fitted for the job wish to do.

Manure as Fuel.

One of the drawbacks in farming in India is that the village farmers do not put cattle manure on the land but use it for fuel for cooking their food. A scheme has been suggested for the establishment of woodlots which would supply local needs, but at present the villagers cannot give up the practice of drying the manure and using it for fuel to cook their meals because it is a rule woodfuel in the villages is not available. It is suggested as soon as woodlots are established and wood cutting begins that cattle manure must be returned to the land for the benefit of the crops.

Those who are found blessing God under all their losses, shall find God blessing them after all their losses.—

The Profits for Pyrrhic Victory

By Joseph Lister Rutledge.

It has gone beyond debating that Labor has achieved a new place in our economic life. There is no longer any question as to whether the worker is to secure a larger share of the returns from production. The question now is whether Labor, with its increased power to secure its own advantage, is ready to make its forward moves gradually and with understanding; whether it will be ready to concede that the old adage spoke truth when it urged: "It is excellent to have a giant's strength; but it is tyrannous to use it like a giant."

It is not difficult to understand that there are factors that may color the thinking of the average worker. There are recollections of days when Labor was not too fairly treated and changed conditions cannot quite remove the sore spots of the past. There is, too, an undesirable opportunism in the thinking of Labor and its leaders.

There is also a tendency to regard the high wages of wartime, that were based on wartime demand for war materials that had no cost ceiling except necessity, not merely as something to be protected, but as a basic stepping stone toward still further advances. There is the influence of the fact that though V-E Day is almost a year in the past, there is still a clam-oring labor market to confuse thinking with the assumption that it must always be so, or that now is the moment to set a standard of wages because such advantageous conditions cannot continue.

But obviously the result of such mistaken thinking can lead only to disaster. The ability to stop production, however potent it may be as a weapon, cannot make an impossible wage scale possible, or wave a magic wand to assure that what might be possible in some relatively small unit of industry must be possible in all.

There is one defense that force cannot dispute. It cannot make a sustainable law to compel capital to stay in industry at a cost to itself.
And that is true, whether the capital is provided by individuals or is assured by government operation. For governmental loss-making inevitably must be recouped from the resources of the public, and that means not only the taxation of capital but of the increased wages of the worker.

Labor cannot create industry, neither can management, nor capital. It is only the partnership of the three that makes our industrial structure possible. And when it comes to dealing with a partner, justice and sound thinking are more potent weapons than the blackjack of pride.

In this battle of labor titans against industrial titans — a battle that has put two million men out of work, that at this writing is costing the workers of this continent nearly ten million dollars daily in lost wages, and that threatens to return us to the days of major losses — who is the

It might be well for the man with the pay envelope to ask himself that question, for it is his fortune that is most at stake. The labor leaders will survive, so will the capitalists, but what of the average worker? If he can honestly convince himself that a 30-per-cent increase or a 22-per-cent increase is necessary and justified and to his lasting advantage, then his only course is to go forward and accept the odds. If he thinks that the concessions made are of unimportant or unreasonable, it may be well for him to confer with himself over what he stands to gain by a last-ditch fight, and what he stands to lose.—Liberty Magazine.

Contracting Beet Acreage at Fast Pace.

Almost Half of Goal Already Signed.
Fear of Labor Shortage Held.

Contracting for sugar beet acreage in Ontario has been going on for just two weeks and contracts representing over 17,000 acres have been written.
Last year at this date, not one acre of beets had been signed. This pace indicates that the Agricultural Conference goal of 35,000 acres may be achieved, that is, achieved on paper.

Fieldmen of the Sugar Company report no difficulty in finding growers to sign now for sufficient acreage to operate both Ontario factories but fear a similarly early start will not be possible at planting time. Sugar beet growers are attracted by the high prices, fieldmen report, and desire a contract to grow beets. However, some may refrain from planting this acreage until the necessary skilled labor is in sight, for the rest of the growing season. Thus, the current rush for contracts is no accurate indication that a crop of 35,000 acres will get an early start this spring.

Fortunately, there is an interval of a few weeks for the expected favourable labor developments before farmers start final preparations of their seed beds. The fields for beets have been chosen tentatively, and contracts have been signed, so planting operations await only encouraging word of skilled labor to care for the crop through the season. These few weeks of grace will determine whether the beet crop will get a desirable start this spring or be planted at the last minute with eleventh-hour appearance of sufficient labour.

Hon. J. G. Gardiner, Minister of Agriculture, recently returned from England, publicly acknowledged the urgency and gave assurance that his de-partmentment will concentrate on the farm labor question. The Minister of Labor, Hon. Humphrey Mitchell, has expressed his confidence that labor would be found for all crops. Sugar, being the most serious of food shortages, can expect due interest and support in this respect.

The increased anxiety over prospects of labor shortage, worse than that of last year, was caused by press announcements that all prisoners of war were soon to be sent to England.
While only a few prisoners have left Canada so far, there is no definite assurance that the main body will be retained for the spring crop work. Without them the farmers, including beet growers, will have no pool of farm labor to call upon as emergencies arise in their various crops. A governmental policy, favouring the immigration of selected specialized agricultural workers from Europe, would afford encouragement for the early planting of 35,000 acres of sugar beets, the acreage that can be reached in Ontario this year.

Success in life depends upon persistent effort upon the improvement of moments more than upon any other one thing.—Mary Baker Eddy.

Why Not Margarine?

With butter supplies inadequate, why continue the ban on oleomargarine, asks The Financial Post editorially. It states:

"During the war when imports of oleo raw materials from the Pacific were cut off there would have been little gain in resuming manufacture, but the situation has changed in the last six months. Ample raw materials should soon be available again. There seems no reason at all why Canadian consumers should be further deprived of a healthful food product that is available in almost every other country, including the United States and Great Britain.

"The ban, which was applied against the manufacture and sale of oleomargarine shortly after the end of the First Great War, is much more than an ordinary protective measure. It gives the butter producers of this country an absolute monopoly, and monopolies are hard to justify under any circumstances.

"Had butter producers kept the domestic market fully supplied at reasonable prices there might have been less reason for criticism but the domestic market has not been fully supplied and our relatively small exports to Britain are not a factor in this situation.

"Good Canadian butter, in contrast to that of poor quality, has nothing to fear from competition with margarine. When available and when they can afford it the average housewife will take good butter every time. But the present ban on margarine prevents millions of housewives from getting a product to supplement their inadequate butter ration and it is direct encouragement to the growth of inefficiency and low quality production in the dairy industry."

SUGAR BEET GROWERS INCREASE ACREAGE

Early reports on sugar beet contracts already signed by farmers show a good increase per farm over last year.

If this increase keeps up, many more million pounds of sugar will be produced in Ontario this season. That's good news.

WHY THIS INCREASE?

1. There's a world-shortage of sugar.
2. There's a good cash market for every sugar beet harvested—and with a floor price too.
3. The price for sugar beets is the highest in 26 years.
4. It's peace time now—former beet workers who were employed in war plants are showing interest in sugar beets again—definite improvement in farm labor is indicated.

SOUTH WOODSLEE

Clayton Smith and Daniel Dewhurst visited over the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. D. Montgomery and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Montgomery.

Maidstone-Rochester Red Cross.

The regular meeting of the Maidstone and Rochester Red Cross was held on Tuesday, with only a very few ladies present. A quilt was started, but will have to be finished at the next meeting. A shipment of articles was sent to the headquarters. Our next meeting, in two weeks, March 19th, will be our last. Will the ladies kindly bring or send to the workrooms all knitting, sewing or other work they have been doing; also send in all emergency supply kits. We want to send in everything at this meeting. Plan to attend this meeting, on March 19th. Hostess for the day was Mrs. Thomas Plant.

United Church Notes.

Sunday services at the usual hours, Ruscomb and Woodslee. This being the first Sunday in Lent, all our people and especially the entire membership, is urged to attend services during these special weeks. Let us seek to renew the things of the spirit and worship. It is forever true that attendance at the regular service Sunday after Sunday will constitute a great opportunity for evangelism. Better attendance at the Sunday school—better attendance at the church services should be the aim of one and all from now until Easter.

Sunday school teachers are asked to be present at both Sunday school and worship service each Sunday and to make an effort to bring all classes up to full strength. Let your pupils see that the Sunday church worship has a place in your program as well as Sunday school. Come and bring your class with you.

Subject for Sunday at Woodslee, "Clearing the Channels." Come and bring a friend.

Ray, 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Benoit, underwent an appendix operation in Grace Hospital, Windsor, on Tuesday.

Woodslee baseball meeting Sunday evening, March 10th, at 8 p.m., in the parish hall, North Woodslee. Everyone welcome.

Bruce Wintemute Says Thanks.

I wish at this time to take this opportunity to thank the Woodslee and Ruscomb Patriotic Association for the lovely pen and pencil they presented to me. I can truthfully say there was no place in Canada where they did more for the service men than this Association. I am talking from my own experience, having had 5½ years in the Royal Canadian Navy, and I want to congratulate the members of this association for their fine work. Thanking you one and all. Truthfully yours, Bruce E. Wintemute, Belle River, R. R. 1.

The end of each day promises a better morning.—Brodeur.

FRIDAY, MARCH 8, 1946.

By Dean Wilson.

With urgent appeals of a desperate need for more and more food being brought to the very doorstep of the Canadian Cabinet in Ottawa by representatives of foreign governments as well as official spokesmen of the Canadian Government, it is quite apparent, in simple, everyday language, that one of the most serious and most pressing problems facing the Federal Government at this time is to solve this without introducing any drastic measures within Canada itself since this country must answer these urgent appeals quickly because the extent of the actual degrees of this greatest food crisis of modern times is not, perhaps, known to a great many people of this country. This is no exaggeration and it is only possible to realize its full impact or shock by conversations with officials and others "on the spot" in this nation's capital.

Millions and millions of men, women and children are confronted with a slow process of hunger and eventual illness or death on account of the scarcity of ordinary essentials of food. It is not a case of feeding the masses of occupied countries but of providing such bare necessities of life to the people of friendly nations, including our own Motherland. In fact, Britain's position would not be so bad, it is hinted in Ottawa, if she retained the food already shipped there and to be sent. However, Britain has already sent one and a quarter million tons of food to Europe and she has been playing her proper part in helping her less fortunate neighbours on the continent where devastation as well as dislocation caused by the war have created a most serious situation, this being aggravated by repeated droughts or adverse weather conditions, by a world-wide shortage of fertilizers, and by the worst possible shortages of cereals, wheat, deficits, and rice shortages in various sections of the world. Indeed, reports have been reaching Ottawa lately of strong complaints in Britain against the Government's provisions of less and less fats, bread, bacon, poultry, etc., including public meetings expressing great anger at these sharp restrictions though the war has been ended for several months. But, while the anger of the masses in Britain may be expressed by protests at meetings in various parts of the country, yet in other lands such methods may not be followed with the frank declaration that trouble may be caused by toleration of famine in other countries so that quick measures to alleviate the situation of the threatened worldwide food crisis must be taken without undue delay by various governments, including the Canadian Government.

For some time now it has been known in circles close to the government in this nation's capital that the Federal Cabinet has been considering ways and means to play its proper role in the tragic situation in order to bring about a betterment of the severe shortages. Discussions have been long and at times quite difficult since it is held that a proper balance must be found between supplying abroad all the food which Canada can produce and spare for export and maintaining a policy of satisfactory provisions of food for the masses in this country. The outcries which accompanied the re-introduction of meat rationing in Canada have not been forgotten though there was no alternative at that time since it has now been disclosed that during the first three month period following rationing Canada exported no less than $275,600,000 pounds of meat overseas, most of which went to the Motherland, as against $248,600,000 pounds in the corresponding period of 1944. Moreover, during the whole of 1945 Canada shipped 714,220,000 pounds of meat to Britain, though there had been an actual 15 per cent decline in meat production from the preceding year. Now, the aim is to ship about 794,233,000 pounds of meat in 1946.

There have been persistent reports that Canada may be enabled to produce automobiles even cheaper than the United States in the post-war period, but inquiries in this capital bring forth the information that, though production costs here may be lower than those prevailing, yet it is most unlikely that Canada would be able to produce cars as cheaply as the United States, with none other than Reconstruction Minister Howe backing up this view, explaining that Canadian automotive industry is operating on a seven-month basis as compared with American industry on a twelve-month basis, adding that the United States plants turned out a greater unit volume of vehicles.

A three-man Royal Commission is going to find out in Ottawa how senior administrative officers in the public service of Canada can be treated right so that only the best possible men can be attracted and retained in the posts, with hints heard in this capital that private enterprise and positions outside of Canada may take tawa that some top-ranking officials the salary, classifications and conditions of employment are improved considerably, especially in view of the complexities of governmental responsibilities at the present time. At the same time, it is pointed out in Ottawa that some top-ranking officials receive salaries as follows: Graham Towers, Governor of the Bank of Canada, $30,000; Donald Gordon, $20,000 as Deputy Governor; Charles H. Bland, chairman, Civil Service Commission of Canada, $9,000, and $7,000 each to two commissioners, Dr. G. S. H. Barton, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, $10,000; Norman Robertson, Under-Secretary, External Affairs, $10,000, and Associate Under-Secretary Hume Wrong, $10,000; Deputy Minister of Finance, Dr. W. C. Clark, $12,000; Dr. Brock Chisholm, Deputy Minister of Health, $9,000; Deputy Minister of Justice, P. Varcoe, $10,000; Deputy Minister of Labour, Arthur MacNamara, $10,000; Deputy Minister of Welfare, G. F. Davidson, $9,000; Deputy, Post Office, Walter Turnbull, $10,000; Deputy Minister of Trade and Commerce, M. W. Macenzie, $12,000; Auditor-General, Watson Sellar, $15,000; Inspector of Banks, C. F. Elderkin, $15,000; Chairman, Board of Governors, Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, A. D. Dunton, $15,000. There are others in various posts of the Federal Government receiving more or less.

With the regular, auxiliary and reserve branches included in the estimation, it is clear now in Ottawa that Canada's air force, the Royal Canadian Air Force, will have a solid foundation based on a personnel of about 30,000 as compared with 4,000 in the year before World War II or the peak year of 1943 when the R.C.A.F. had a personnel of 206,000. It will cost now, in peacetime, an estimated $59,000,000 a year as compared with $7,000,000 in the year before the war. Then again, it should also be noted that the R.C.A.F. will retain its own separate identity whenever one Minister may have charge of the army, navy and air forces in this country.

"There is too much concern expressed in our parliaments over pigs and horses, and not enough over our children," said Major Ian Eisenhardt, National Director of the Canadian Physical Fitness Programme, during an address in Ottawa. "I am for a free and untrammelled world press," declared Gordon Graydon, Member of Parliament and a former Acting Leader of the official Opposition in House of Commons, as he spoke to the Canadian Club in this capital. "I am not at all convinced that we can have permanent and healthy international understanding without it." "Husbands are all alike they have different faces so that we can tell them apart. Our problem is not to keep them young but to make them act their age." These words were stated in Ottawa by Byrne Hope Sanders, Director of Consumer Branch, Wartime Prices and Trade Board. "The young people of today have a far broader international outlook than the young people of yesterday," emphasized Robert M. C. King, Premier of the Ontario Older Boys' Parliament, in Ottawa. "It will aid them in future world relationships and may be a contributing factor to world peace," he added. "England is bruised and battered — and oh, so hungry." This was stated here by Mrs. W. B. MacDermott in speaking about her experiences in Great Britain and indicating the great lack of food abroad.

It is expected in some circles in Ottawa that pre-fabricated houses may help in goodly measure to ease the serious housing shortage across Canada, though Hon. C. D. Howe has given the impression here that the pre-fabricated home may never be very popular in Canada. . . . Meanwhile, a conference in Ottawa has disclosed that a plan is in the making to train about 20,000 apprentices for the construction industry in this country on a four-year plan. . . . The acute shortage of butter is evident right under the nose of the officials in this capital as restaurants are serving meals in this city with little or no butter in sight. . . . After 43 years devoted to the public service, the Assistant Auditor-General of Canada, R. S. Glass, is retiring on July 1st, 1946. The war has taught us all that to succeed and do credit to the public service we must ever plan to do something better tomorrow than we did today," declared Mr. Glass during the ceremonies when he was presented with a silver tea tray by his associates in the office. . . . A delegation from the Canadian Temperance Federation has conferred with Finance Minister Isley, in Ottawa, and made a number of requests. . . . Likewise, clergy in Ottawa have expressed strong opposition to the deportation of Japanese from Canada.

People Are Asking?

Q.—When I go to a feed store in my town to buy grain the dealer insists upon me buying flour, which I do not need. My neighbours tell me this is against the regulations of your Board. Are they correct?

A.—Yes. When any dealer requires a customer to buy some article he does not want in order to secure something he does not need the transaction is termed a conditional sale. All kinds of conditional sales are illegal under our regulations. If you will send us the name of your dealer the matter will be investigated.

Q.—My landlord refuses to supply our apartment with heat although under the terms of our lease he is supposed to do so. Shouldn't he decrease the rent or supply heat?

A.—If the supplying of heat was included in your fixed ceiling rent and apply for a decrease in rent. Consult it is not being supplied now you should the rentals officer at the nearest War-time Prices and Trade Board for the proper procedure.

Q.—A store in our town has nylon stockings but will not sell them to me until their own customers have their supplies. Can they do this?

A.—The Wartime Prices and Trade Board does not tell a dealer how to sell any unrationed commodities. He may use his own judgment in this respect.

Q.—I gave my tenant a notice to vacate, but did not put it in writing. Now I understand that it should have been put in writing.

A.—If you may legally give your tenant a notice to vacate you must put it in writing and it must be on a form provided by the Board. We have referred the matter to the rentals officer, who will send you further information regarding this matter.

Q.—I am expecting my wife and son from overseas sometime this month. How can they obtain ration books for meat, sugar, preserves and butter?

A.—Apply to the local ration Board in your city and present credentials identifying your wife and son. They will, if these documents are satisfactory, obtain their ration books.

Q.—I am a Canadian just discharged from the U. S. Army. Have I a right to a priority suit purchase certificate?

A.—Yes. Any Canadian discharged from the American forces may obtain a priority suit purchase certificate at any local ration board or ration branch provided he can establish his Canadian citizenship and his discharge certificate issued after May 1st, 1945.

It is better to be doing the most insignificant thing than to reckon even a half hour insignificant.—Goethe.

Feeding Lambs.

Lambs, not used to grain or silage, must be introduced to these feeds gradually. Otherwise, scouring or other digestive troubles will result and perhaps even severe death losses. A good start is a mixture chiefly of a bulky feed like oats and wheat bran. The amount of corn or concentrate feed is gradually increased until the lambs are on full feed and getting only corn with a small amount of protein. On warm days in the winter, it is often necessary to reduce the grain allowance slightly or the lambs may go off feed. Feeding should be done twice daily from clean troughs with grain fed first, silage next and, if used, hay last. There should always be plenty of salt and fresh water handy.

Operating Disease.

In commercial fattening of lambs, death losses are always expected to be about three or four per cent even under expert feeding, but losses often exceed this percentage due to poor feeding practices. An example of this is seen in the "over-eating disease" caused by forcing the animals to much. Almost invariably, this disease strikes the largest, fattest, most vigorous and greediest of the flock. Death comes suddenly in some cases and in others it is after a prolonged illness with symptoms similar to apoplexy. The cause is supposed to be over-feeding of rich concentrates resulting in inflamed intestinal walls.

This apparently allows poisonous matter in the intestines to pass through the walls and become absorbed in the circulation. The disease can usually be corrected in a few hours by discontinuing feeding grain for a short period.

Recommended Feeds.

When on full feed, thrifty lambs between 60 and 70 pounds will consume 1½ pounds of grain and 1 to 1½ pounds of legume hay daily. Beet pulp with a legume hay makes a successful starter for lamb feeding. The average pulp-fed lamb makes a better daily gain than one receiving grain and hay. Beet pulp is also a very popular feed as a fattener for aged ewes with poor teeth. Sugar beet tops are a big part of the feed plan of many sheep raisers in this area where sugar beets is an important crop.

Q.—My grocer will give me only one pound of sugar for a coupon. I thought the value of the coupon was doubled at the beginning of the year.

A.—Your sugar coupon is good for one pound of sugar. However, when it is used for the purchase of preserves it has double the former preserves coupon value. The sugar coupons become valid each month and can be used to purchase sugar or preserves as desired.

Hybrid Corn.

The better corn hybrids yield higher, mature more evenly, have better type, stronger roots and stems, and are more resistant to disease than the parent open-pollinated varieties from which they originated. This is a well established fact. Nevertheless these hybrids are "chips off the old block" for they possess nothing that the parent varieties did not already have. Then why are they so superior if nothing has been added to them? That is a question that is frequently asked. The answer is simple, says F. Dimmock, Forage Plants Division, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa.

A parent variety is the sum total of all its characters, both good and bad. The good characters are those which are responsible for improved yields, stronger stems and roots and resistance to disease, while the bad characters are those which have opposite effects. Obviously the purpose of the corn breeder is to get rid of the bad characters. Therefore during the breeding process as many of the undesirable characters as possible are eliminated. Only the good characters, as far as they can be recognized, are retained to produce the hybrids. That is why hybrids are superior to their parents, because they possess the good characters and less of the bad characters.

The corn breeder has done an excellent job. He has produced superior hybrids ranging in maturity from early to late, suitable for production under a wide range of conditions. It is equally important that the grower should do a good job in choosing a hybrid adapted to his particular conditions. Irrespective of whether the crop is to be grown for ear corn or for silage, satisfactory results can only be obtained by growing well adapted hybrids. Corn hybrids are recommended on the basis of adaptation to climatic zones, so if you are not sure which hybrid is best adapted to your particular zone now is the time to obtain this information by writing to the nearest Experimental Farm, or Agricultural Representative.

Essex Town Council.

Monday, February 25th. Council met in regular session, in the Council Chamber, at 8 p.m., with Mayor Linton, Reeve Irwin and Councilors Chase, Shaw, Francotte, Brushett, Pulleyblank and Lee present.

Joseph Montgomery addressed Council, requesting a street light in front of his home. There was a light there when he purchased the property from Mr. Doan, but it was moved to the corner of Wellington street. His street is now very dark as the light on Brien avenue is between the Earl and Frank Roberts' properties.

Mr. Lee asked what fee the building inspector received before he issued a permit.

The fees were explained by Mr. Brown.

The Fire and Light committee assured Mr. Montgomery that the light would be replaced.

Minutes of last regular meeting were read, and on motion of Messrs. Blylaw No. 1119, setting the date Blylaw No. 1046, setting the date that the newly elected Council is to be sworn in, said date to be the first Monday in January of each year, at 7 p.m., was read and passed.

Blylaw No. 1120, granting the local Capt. Brien Branch of the Canadian Legion, exemption of taxes, except for school rates and Local Improvement, on their club rooms, was read and passed, same to be forwarded to our local supervisor, Mr. Coombe, for his approval.

Mayor Linton reported seeing the trustees of Enterprise Lodge, I.O.O.F., re bill for redecorating the Council Chamber and Town Treasurer's office. They agreed to pay for the Naylor Lumber Company account of $19.59, but not Mr. Sadler's account for the painting and redecorating.

As this work was started in 1945 and ordered by the 1945 council, the Clerk was requested to charge same as an account payable of 1945, and said account was ordered paid.

The Clerk read a letter from the Kent & Essex Mutual Fire Insurance Company, requesting a bill for the local Fire Department answering call to the Clarence Coleman fire, and said they would send a check in payment for same.

The Council set a fee of $50 and requested the Clerk to set a bill for that amount to the Insurance Company.

Mr. Francotte reported having a talk with Fred Eldridge re salary as garbage collector, stating the latter still wanted the $120 per month to do the work. He would stay on until the end of February, but if Council could not see their way clear to grant the raise then Mr. Kennedy would have to do the work for a couple of weeks until Council could advertise and try and find a new garbage collector.

On motion of Messrs. Francotte and Shaw, the Clerk was instructed to advertise for applications for garbage collector salary to be $100 per month, applicant to supply his own truck. Applications to be in hands of Clerk by 6 p.m. on Monday, March 11th.

Mr. Francotte reported that Roy Ellis had seen him in regard to graveling of Milne street, from Center street to Laird avenue. Mr. Ellis stated he and two other ratepayers would each pay for two truck loads of gravel of town would match same with six more loads. This would give the people on the west end of Laird avenue a good road to Victoria street, as Milne street is gravelled now from Centre to Victoria.

Council readily agreed to Mr. Ellis' proposition and gave Mr. Francotte orders to properly grade the street and then gravel same.

The question of heating the fire hall was discussed.

Reeve Irwin reported that Mrs. Dr. Boyd would like a street light at their corner.—Left with the Fire and Light committee, with power to act.

The Reeve also reported that Harvey Annett would like the road in front of their home, on Irwin avenue, properly graded.—Referred to Board of Works.

J. M. Shaw advised Council that George Buhler would like a couple of loads of gravel or cinders in front of his property on Albert street, as he had not, as yet, any price on installing the stop light at Center street, on Talbot.

Frank Brown, building inspector, reported that Jack Smith had been to see him in regard to making over their property, next to H. R. Johnston's office, into a two family flat.

The Clerk reported seeing Hector Cada, County Treasurer, re county rates for 1946 and had been advised that they would be no higher than 1945.

The Clerk also reported receiving a phone call from Jack Linegar, of the Unemployment Insurance Co. office, in Windsor, in which he requested office space in Essex for one day a week to pay unemployment insurance to Essex and district workers, to save them the expense of having to go into Windsor for same.

Council granted use of Council Chamber.

On motion of Messrs. Francotte and Irwin the following accounts were passed: Bell Telephone Co., accounts, $14.75; Union Gas Co., Town Hall, $20.10; Essex Farmers Ltd., F. Pro., $22.45; Separate School Board, on demand, $400; Queen Motor Sales, F. Pro., $42.66; Library Board, part grant, $200; Ontario Dept. of Health, insulin, $6.07; Essex Hydro, street lights, $215.20; K. E. Brett, salary, $91.66; W. Kennedy, salary less tax, $127.35; H. Harrison, salary, less tax, $140.75; F. Eldridge, salary, less tax, $91.85; Receiver-General of Canada, tax, $57.85; Essex Farmers Ltd., fuel, Bungalow School, $6.30; Geddes & Keane, insurance, F. Pro., $23.35; Dominion Office Supply, account, $5.28; E. Pulleyblank, miscellaneous, $10; Ern Wilson, gravel, $7.55; J. Kennedy, salary, $8; C. Jones, F. Pro., $22; F. Sadler, redecorating, $149; W. E. Beauman, salary less tax, $142.20; Treasurer, account paid, $1.

The Mayor reported that a ratepayer had spoken to him about the smoke nuisance from the Essex Dry Cleaners. Mr. Brown stated that Mr. Jarozak had spoken to him about the smoke from the soft coal he is forced to burn as he cannot get hard coal.

New Beet Price Highest Since Peak of 1920.

The highest prices in 26 years will be paid to Ontario growers of sugar beets this year, according to details of the contract recently released. It provides a guarantee floor price of $9.00 per ton of factory-delivered beets regardless of sugar content and $12.44 per tons of beets testing 17.27 per cent sugar as they did last crop. The sliding scale also indicates $13.36 per ton of delivered beets of 18.54 per cent sugar, the test of the 1944 crop. These prices, including both federal and provincial aid, are 68c higher, for average beets, than last year and just below the all-time record prices of 1920.

The Province of Ontario grant is $12,500 for 1946, its distribution being apportioned by the Growers' Association and Sugar Company at the rate of a 58c per ton. The grant is sufficient to pay this subsidy on 193,665 tons, the Sugar Company then voluntarily taking over and paying the 58c per ton on the balance of the crop. The federal government's aid is in two forms. The first is a continuance of the $1.00 reduction of the excise tax per 100 pounds of sugar. For Ontario growers of 17 per cent beets, this refund amounts to about $2.28 per ton. The second form of assistance, included in the contract, is a payment of 60¢ per 100 pounds of sugar by the Sugar Administration. This is paid in full to the grower and represents about $1.62 in terms of a ton of 17 per cent Ontario beets.

Sugar Company fieldmen offered the new contracts to growers in their territories on February 11th. First reports are that the contracts are enthusiastically received because of the increased prices; with close to a 25% increase in acreage per grower. Based on 1945 figures, such increase will fall far short of the Dominion-Provincial Agricultural Conference goal of 35,000 acres. It is stated by many growers, however, that they will increase their acreage further if the federal government will guarantee an enlarged supply of skilled beet labor, including at least as many prisoners of war as in 1945.

T. George Wood, general manager of Canadian Sugar Factories, is quoted by the press as stating Alberta beet prices should reach $13.00 per ton this year. Further reports from the west mention that beet labor is the greatest concern and contracting will not be attempted until March 1st.

month from the time he has cribbed his corn until delivery has been made. The company, he promised, will advance money on all corn stored in the farmer's crib, and without interest. This advance will be up to 80 per cent of the value of the corn stored, he declared.

Agricultural leaders in this district have been prime movers in the signing of the contract. James A. Garner, Kent representative of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, has been a strong champion of hybrid corn for a number of years.

Hails Contract.

N. D. MacKenzie, senior grain inspector of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, hailed the signing of the contract as a progressive step towards stabilizing the corn industry in this district. "This is the most important event in the history of the farming industry in this part of the country," he declared. "This contract, between highly reputable men, is a stabilizing influence in Western Ontario farming. I am fully in support of this deal. It means more than we can imagine to the farmers of this part of the province."

Parry in Favour.

"I am a hundred per cent in favour of this project," declared George Parry, M.L.A. "Our corn market, once conditions return to normal, is going to be our most important market, and this deal will go a long way toward giving farmers economic security. I think this is a wonderful thing for Western Ontario."

Hon. W. G. Thompson, Minister of Lands and Forests, declared himself wholeheartedly in favour of the contract. "Considering that Kellogg supplies have in the past been imported, the introduction of this new million-dollar agricultural industry will have far-reaching effects. I wish to endorse this deal and to lend my full support to its success."

A Great Stroke.

"This is a great stroke of business and it comes at an opportune time," declared J. D. Brien, secretary of the Ontario Seed Corn Growers' Marketing Board.

"It is a deal consummated by a company of standing and reputation on the one side, and on the other by a Corn Dealers' company whose push, integrity and development are well known. The farmers and all those interested in this, the greatest of cereal crops, must see that this deal is successful," he said.

"I am primarily interested," he declared, "not so much because it will mean dollars in the pockets of the farmers of this district, but because of its long-range effects."

Mr. Brien pointed out that during war years Canadian farmers enjoyed a position in which they were not offered serious competition, but he warned that such a condition will not long prevail now that peace is here. "We all know that a period of reconstruction is coming," he said, "and we must be prepared to face possible revised tariff laws, which will bring foreign corn into our country cheaper than we can produce it ourselves." He went on to say that the Canadian farmer must be able to show the great users of corn that this country can produce the quality of merchandise.

Only in this way, he pointed out, will Canadian farmers be able to sell their produce and only if the farmer is able to point out to Government that he has such markets, will he be able to bring pressure to bear to get tariff protection for the corn industry in Canada.

In an interview with the Toronto Globe and Mail, officials of the Ontario Department of Agriculture declared that the deal was a "great thing for the corn producers."

"There has been for some years a limited production of the hybrid corn for specialties and baking products," one official said. "We have

P. Welacky presented a petition, signed by a number of ratepayers whose lands depended on the west townline drain for an outlet, requesting immediate proceedings be taken to have the said drain repaired. He was informed that the Engineer had made a survey of this drain and the report was expected sometime during this month.

A member of the Harrow Fair Board asked Council for a donation towards the Fair for 1946. Moved by Mr. Dewhurst, seconded by Mr. Stevenson, that a donation of $255 be given to the Harrow Fair, Car.

A deputation from the Memorial Hospital Board at Leamington, addressed the Council asking for participation of Gosfield North in the cost of building the hospital. Members of Council expressed their willingness to assist, but wanted some time to give the matter consideration.

W. Critchley asked if the gravel pit could be opened more than one day a week. He would like to get some gravel for improvements and could not always go the day it was open, and he would like to get the gravel home before spring work begins. Moved by Mr. Tully, seconded by Mr. Dewhurst, that the road superintendent have authority to open the pit on other than usual days when sufficient persons from the township want to haul gravel to make it worth while. Car.

The Collector asked for authority to return certain taxes as uncollected, although there might be sufficient property to disclaim. Moved by Mr. Stevenson, seconded by Mr. Goodburn, that the Collector return these taxes as uncollected for the year 1946. Car.

Moved by Mr. Dewhurst, seconded by Mr. Stevenson, that the repair of the roof of the town hall be left in charge of the Reserve. Car.

The Clerk reported one application received for office of wood inspector, Howard Dresser. As the hour was getting late, this was left over until next meeting.

Mr. Goodwin and Orlin Osborne reported on their attendance at the Good Roads Association convention, and from information gathered they were of the opinion we needed a power grader rather than a truck. The Clerk was asked to advertise for tenders for

Red Cross Membership Drive.

The Membership Drive is rallying workers to support the Canadian Red Cross peacetime program in 463 Branches. Ian R. Dowie revealed in his interim report to the Ontario Division Executive Committee meeting held at Toronto, March 5th. "Red Cross in Ontario will be stronger in the next two years for the effort we are making in the Division this month," said Mr. Dowie. Mr. Dowie is honorary chairman of the Membership Drive, and the members of his sales staff are once more assisting branches in organizing their campaign.

Strawberry Weevil Likes Lots of Snow.

In the fruit insect investigation work of the Division of Entomology, Dominion Department of Agriculture, a study of the strawberry weevil in New Brunswick has shown that the insect does not leave the plantation in any numbers during the summer. It hibernates within the plantation and begins to cut buds as soon as they develop in the spring. Studies indicated that snow coverage plays an important part in the fluctuation in the numbers of weevils. Little snow coverage results in severe winter injury and in a great decrease in weevil infestation. On the other hand, heavy snow coverage during the winter months results in heavy weevil damage in the following spring, provided there were weevils present in the plantation in the previous year.

A medium sized power grader, tenders to be received up to April 1st next.

The adjourned Court of Revision on Drainage Bylaw No. 275 convened. The Clerk reported the parties interested had been notified and no appeals had been filed. Moved by Mr. Tully, seconded by Mr. Stevenson, that the assessments as amended be confirmed and Court of Revision be closed. Car.

Drainage Bylaws No. 275 and 276 were each given second and third readings and finally passed.

Bylaw No. 922, providing for road expenditures for the year 1946 was read the necessary times and passed, the amount was fixed at $17,000.

The Clerk was instructed to advertise in the Essex Free Press for tenders for the repair of the Centre Branch drain and the west end of old No. 5, along the 6th Con. Road west, tenders to be received up to Monday, April 1st.

The following orders were approved and passed: Voucher No. 2, for road maintenance, $124.88; Essex County Hospital account for January, $19.17; Cottam Mercantile Co., $21; J. W. Gallipian, $28.34; Philpott's Bakery, $6.88; S. H. Wyatt, printing and serving Bylaw 275, $40; J. Hello, Homemakers! Home lighting by electricity makes our work easier, but we are often careless in failing to use it to the best advantage. Insufficient or improper lighting can be guarded against. Use a table lamp placed so that the light shines on the work in hand from the left side. If there is not a close enough outlet, use an extension cord. Inside frosted bulbs and whitened shades are highly recommended. Sixty to 100 watt bulbs are suggested for tedious work when the light source is three or four feet away. A good light will prevent unnecessary fatigue and strain from cleaning cupboards, painting, scrubbing, ironing or any household chore.

TAKE A TIP.

1. Dark bulbs and dark shades absorb light.
2. Coloured lights are decorative but do not give as much light as white ones.
3. Clean lighting fixtures occasionally to obtain maximum amount of light and life of bulb.
4. Keep a few bulbs in stock for replacements.

Warble Flies Cause Enormous Damage.

Damage to Canadian cattle directly or indirectly attributable to warble flies continues to run into several millions of dollars a year. Injury caused by warble flies is of two kinds. The chief injury is the damage done to beef carcasses, due to the presence of warble cysts. The affected parts have to be trimmed from the carcass, and because the cysts usually occur in the more expensive cuts in the back and loin, the damage done by the trimming and the consequent disfigurement is considerable. Also the injuries to hides result in large losses. A hide with a hole caused by the grub is useless for making the best leather articles, and hides showing five or more holes are automatically discounted in price.

Other serious causes of damage are the reduction of the milk yield in dairy cattle and loss of flesh in beef cattle, with a general deterioration in the health of the animals. On the approach of the warble flies, cattle become terror-stricken and rush madly about the field in their efforts to escape the flies. This is a peculiar reaction, because the flies do not sting, but there can be no doubt about the painful effect on the cattle.

Warble flies are of two kinds, known as the common cattle grub or heel fly, and the northern cattle grub or large warble fly. Their habits in general are the same. The heel fly appears in the season, March to June, while the large warble fly is active from early June to August. The heel fly lays its eggs in rows on the hairs of the legs and lower parts of the cattle; the large warble fly attaches spines, each female lays from 400 to 500 eggs. The small grubs hatch in from 3 to 7 days, penetrate the skin, and migrate through the system of the animal. They remain there during the late summer until early winter when they again migrate, and finally come to rest under the skin of the back. Here the grubs form cysts and make breathing holes. When fully grown they squeeze their way through the holes and drop to the ground. They change into black, hard, seed-like objects from which in 4 or 5 weeks the adult flies emerge. At once they mate and the female lays her eggs.

As has been shown in many parts of Canada, the complete control of warble flies in any area is possible only when all the cattle in a com-

BUTTERLESS CAKE.

- 4 eggs (separated)
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 cup flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons baking powder
- 1 cup raisins
- 1 cup peanuts (skinned and chopped)
- 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Beat yolks of eggs until light and lemon-colored; then add sugar and beat well. Add vanilla. Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Stir the dry ingredients into egg mixture. Add raisins and nuts. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into oiled greased pan, and bake in a moderate electric oven 20 minutes.

TURNIP PUDDING.

- 1 cup baking fat
- 2 1/2 cups mashed turnips
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 2 eggs (separated)
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1/2 teaspoon pepper
- bread crumbs.

Melt baking fat, stir in flour, add turnip and beaten egg yolks. Fold in seasoning and stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into greased custard cups. Top with crumbs and oven poach in electric oven at 350 degrees for 30 minutes.

THE SUGGESTION BOX.

Mrs. B. T. says: A white sauce for vegetables is improved by the addition of a pinch of dry mustard.

Mrs. S. A. N. says: Bake peeled egg plant that has been soaked in salted water for 20 minutes. When partially baked (10 minutes) stuff with cooked dried meat and moistened bread crumbs and continue baking until stuffing is browned.

Mrs. T. M. says: Escalloped potatoes are a new dish if you blend peanut butter with the milk.

Mrs. H. C. says: Left-over cooked turnip greens go well in stews.

Mrs. J. R. says: Cook fish slowly to retain natural flavour and oils. Salt at the table.

Animals are treated at the same time by a Derris or Rotenone wash applied to their backs in the early spring when the swellings on the backs of infested animals become conspicuous. The dates of application of the wash vary in different parts of Canada. Generally speaking, in the interior of British Columbia, the first treatment should be given in February; in the Prairie Provinces and Eastern Canada about the third week of March. The second and third applications should be made at intervals of 28 days, and, if practicable, a fourth after an interval of 35 days. More than one wash is necessary because all the grubs do not mature at the same time.

Provide a Creep for Early Lambs.

Lambs are arriving and the careful shepherd will undoubtedly be prepared. With plenty of legume fodder, a ration of concentrate made up to three parts oats and one part wheat bran, daily access to salt, bone meal and fresh water, with daily exercise provided, there should be little to worry about at lambing time, states J. A. Teller, in charge of Sheep Production, Dominion Department of Agriculture.

A ewe must be well fed and cared for in order to be in proper condition to nurse its young. A plentiful supply of milk for young lambs is the first requisite. Eighty to ninety pound lambs in one hundred days are most usually the product of excellent nursing ewes, which in turn have been and ever-watchful shepherd. Early lambs or lambs born in mid-winter should be provided with what is known as a creep — a slatted hurdle in the form of a picket fence with spars far enough apart to permit the lambs to pass through but close enough to prevent the sheep from doing so. The creep leads to a feeding pen for the lambs, in which has been erected a small trough holding a mixture of oats, wheat, bran and oil cake meal as also the choice bits of alfalfa or other well-cured clovers. With management of ewes and lambs as described, lambs will grow rapidly and be ready for market early in the season.

It may be laid as a universal rule that a government which attempts more than it ought will perform less. — T. B. Macaulay.

Troubled Hearts.

Today, as perhaps never before, men's hearts fall them for fear. Those heart failures are of many kinds. Some are called broken hearts, others sad or heavy hearts, depressed hearts, and weak hearts, to mention just a few of the descriptive adjectives commonly associated with the heart. Many believe we are living in heart-breaking times, times that try the heart beyond its limit of endurance.

Sometimes these descriptions have specific reference to the condition of the heart as an organ of the human system. Much more frequently, however, they refer to the state of one's emotions, for from far back in antiquity the heart has been regarded as the centre of the emotional nature, as well as the seat of life and strength. But regardless of their import, these beliefs about the heart must be reckoned with for they directly affect the usefulness and happiness of mankind. With great perspicacity Solomon said of a man (Proverbs 23:7), "As he thinketh in his heart so is he."

With equal insight Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and founder of Christian Science, suggests a practical way to improve this thinking "in his heart." In Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures she writes (p. 5) "we should examine ourselves and learn what is the affection and purpose of the heart, for in this way only can we learn what we honestly are."

To keep the heart "with all diligence," as said the Psalmist, means to recognize and cast out those mortal feelings which, upon honest examination, are seen to be unworthy emotions; it means to analyze our motives to be sure they are right ones; to guard our affections so that they are unselfish and pure; it means to find satisfaction only in that joy which is spiritual and which brings no sorrow with it. Such watching and purifying of the heart necessarily begins with the acknowledgment of God's perfect, spiritual creation, including man in His image and likeness. Only thus can permanent and complete healing of heart troubles be accomplished. — Christian Science Monitor.

Dysentery in Bees.

Colonies of bees suffering from dysentery in the cellar before it is time for them to be removed can often be saved by bringing them out early, placing them in cases, and packing them with planer shavings of old bags, says the Dominion Apiarist. The bees will then have the opportunity of taking a cleansing flight as soon as the weather permits.

ELIMINATE the feed hazard in chick raising

It isn't enough to know the analysis of a feed—you must know how that analysis is made up. You must know how many pounds of the expensive ingredients like powdered milk, meat meal and cereal grass are in the feed.

And you get this information, right down to the pound, of every ingredient in CAFETERIA Chick Starter.

We can't invite you to compare the ingredients of CAFETERIA Chick Starter with other chick starters for no other feed gives you full formula information.

Salvation Army Home Front Appeal Opens Sept. 15th.

Decision has been reached to hold The Salvation Army Home Front Appeal campaign 1946-47 in September next, it is announced by Lt. Col. H. Chas. Tuttle, National Campaign Secretary.

Opening of the campaign will be on Sunday, September 15th when special inauguration and dedication services will be held in the Salvation Army Corps halls throughout Canada and the Territorial Commander will make a radio broadcast.

"September is free of other appeals and it is hoped this month will come to be regarded as the regular month for the annual Salvation Army appeal," said Col. Tuttle.

In several cities there will be special appeals for financial backing for reconstruction projects in addition to funds for the maintenance of Salvation Army work, he said. In some cities where Salvation Army work is still financed by united welfare or community chest campaigns there will be special capital-raising efforts for projected Salvation Army expansion undertakings. Among these cities will be Ottawa, London, Windsor and Saskatoon.

As the result of a recommendation made by The Salvation Army National Public Relations Advisory Committee, it is hoped to avoid split campaigns this year, Col. Tuttle stated. Last year campaigns were held at different times in different parts of Canada. The committee, headed by W. J. J. Butler, Toronto, expressed the opinion that staggered campaigns reduced the effectiveness of the appeal.

Air Marshal William A. Bishop, V.C., C.B., D.S.O., M.C., D.F.C., of Ottawa and Montreal, is chairman of the National Campaign Committee sponsoring the appeal.

When one more is a crowd!

When the family comes home, or friends are caught in town without hotel accommodation, you can always make room for one more... if Dad will sleep on the chesterfield. But sometimes there simply is no room for one more.

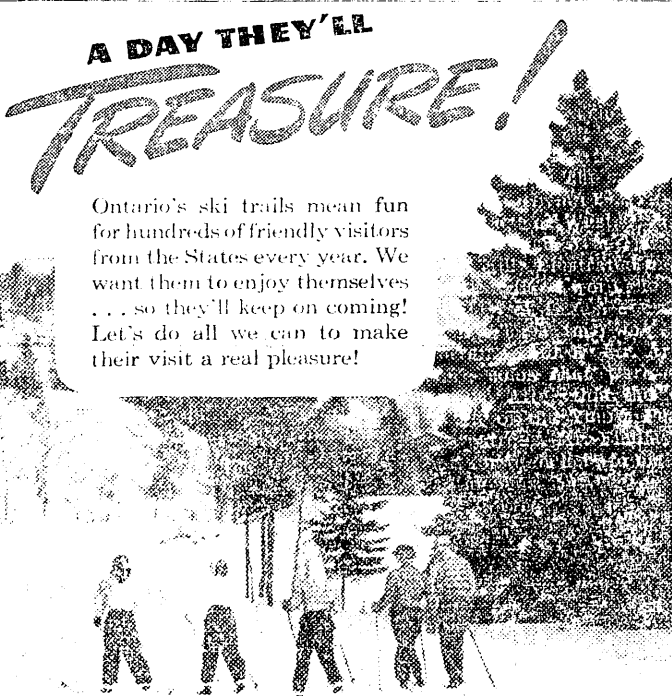

Take the home that is not adequately wired, for instance. That new sandwich grill may be one appliance too many for the circuit to carry. The new kitchen mixer may be out of luck for a convenient wall outlet to operate from. Where to put that frozen-food cabinet may be a bigger problem than finding one you can buy. The wall outlet in the chosen corner may be already "overloaded" because of improper distribution of outlets per circuit.

When you build or remodel, be sure that your home is adequately wired. Be sure that it is ready to receive the new electrical appliances that you will be wanting to add from time to time. Employ a reliable electrical contractor, and see that there are plenty of outlets in every room, and circuits enough to serve them all adequately.

Your Hydro supplies power at rates that are among the lowest in the world. If you are to have full advantage of its convenience, your home must be adequately wired.

If you are improving or building a home, ask your Hydro for the booklet, "Adequate Wiring for the Postwar Electric Homes of Canada."

No Pink Elephants for Real Elephants.

Contrary to general belief, animals are usually color blind, says American Pain Journal, so in most cases a bull would react just as violently to a white cape as to a red one all toreros and bull fighting practice to the contrary notwithstanding.

And by the same token, of course, a pink elephant would be just a sober gray elephant to another elephant.

Ottawa's Spy Excitement.

All last week the Capital's newspapers were jam-packed with reports, rumours, conjectures and Oppenheim imagining about the "spy" roundup by the RCMP. Perhaps by the time this column sees print, the Government will have made a statement regarding the dramatic disclosures.

One thing is certain, and that is the Government made the matter public with great reluctance. The first statement made by the Government was based on "information of undoubted authenticity," and this can be accepted.

The Royal Commission which began work in camera and is still in camera, collected early information which was quite distressing. On the strength of that information, the police have detained for questioning an unknown number of persons.

As one Ottawa paper puts it: "Eventually there must be a full and complete disclosure, so that the guilty are punished and the innocent absolved. That must be the intention of the Government—it must not falter, no matter how painful the task. If a major operation is necessary to remove a tumor in our public life, then the operation we must have."

Some of the speculation in Ottawa centres around the future of the Labour Progressive Party. Other speculation wonders what the coincidental visit in Moscow of Stanley Knowlton, CCF M.P., will have on his political career in Canada.

The CCF imports. A peculiarity of the CCF Government in Saskatchewan has been its tendency to import talent from other Canadian areas in order to help it apply socialism to Saskatchewan. This is a peculiar irony. The people of Saskatchewan having voted the CCF into power at the 1944 provincial election are not asked to participate fully in the operation of their new Government.

This imported talent has gone through an extensive list, from the embarrassing bad-boy Watson Thompson, who recently got thrown out of the CCF employ, to the Cadburys and the Shumachers. There have been many others, and the latest is a Lieut. Weinstein, a Manitoba University engineering student with a penchant for dramatics. Lieut. Weinstein played in "Suds in Your Eyes" in last December's Winnipeg Little Theatre Review.

But Mr. Weinstein is going to have savdust in his eye from now on, because he has taken on the job of managing the CCF box factory in Prince Albert. It seems a queer thing that Saskatchewan, with all its woodworking industries, could not provide a Saskatchewan man for this CCF managerial job. Could it be that too many Saskatchewanites, being right close to the CCF Government, are not so enamoured with it as they thought they were going to be? Maybe "far fields look greener" is the basis for the rush by non-Saskatchewanites to take CCF jobs!

Trade Flows South. There is much satisfaction in Ottawa over the energy and initiative the Government is showing in promoting Canadian trade abroad. Even though many manufacturers are bedeviled by shortages of raw material and by continued pressure from unified home-market demands, it is not unwelcome to know that big markets abroad are eagerly awaiting Canadian goods.

At the moment Minister of Trade and Commerce MacKinnon is in Latin America. Before returning home he will have visited Mexico, Colombia, Guatemala, Honduras, Nicaragua, El Salvador, Costa Rica, Panama, and Venezuela. The list reads like an atlas, and it will be an atlas in which the magic words "Made in Canada" will be the mark of quality goods.

Ottawa trade experts view Canada's export role optimistically. They point out that Canada's factories were undamaged by war, that her labour supply in terms of skills as well as quantity is good, and that the nation's relations with most of the importing countries are excellent.

Because of the Government's policy, Canada is favourably placed to meet world demand for goods and services. It is a policy, the end results of which will put many dollars into the pockets of Canadian workmen and consumers.

Family Allowances Picture. Canada's Family Allowance have been in operation now for just over a year, and statistics covering the full picture are being released by the Department of Health and Welfare.

Some 1,363,000 families have received allowances to date. The Minister reveals that while the largest single payment actually made to date to any family has been $45 a month the average paid per family has been $12.

Two-thirds of Canada's families receiving the allowance average between two and three children each. There are only 3,644 families in Canada having two or more children. This represents only one-third of one per cent of the families in Canada receiving Family Allowances.

Families containing between three and nine children make up 60 per cent of the total. These families receive $12.50 and are 11 per cent of the total. Families with four or more children or less total over $8 per cent of the families receiving allowances.

Families with income below $2,000 annually derive some revenue from the allowance, though income tax exemptions are lowered by the amount received in allowances.

The general picture of Family Allowances in Canada is that the payment of this money each month is achieving its desired result in terms of better nutrition, better housing, better education, and better opportunities for the children of Canada.

Women Legionnaires on Equal Footing With Men.

"We do not expect you young ladies to be with us taking a back seat in our organization and you have exactly the same rights and privileges within the Legion as the men have," said Alex Walker, Dominion President of the Canadian Legion when addressing a group of women Legionnaires in Calgary recently.

Mr. Walker told the women that the Legion had done much for women in the service. "The authorities decided that you were only entitled to a modest pay and that, in the event of pensionable disabilities while in the service, you should only get four-fifths the pension a man gets. The Legion saw the injustice of that and went to bat for you. The result was an increase in pay and pension rights that are on a par with the boys," he said.

"We also insisted that you should get the same clothing allowance, the same equi-ment, the same service gratuity and the same re-establishment credit as the men, and, as you know, we won out," the president added.

In concluding Mr. Walker said, "Service women have a unique opportunity in the Legion to advance the well-being of women generally by securing the adoption of policies that will be backed by the Legion as a whole. I hope they will accept the challenge, both for their own sake and Canadian womanhood generally, and for the sake of Canada as a whole."

No Field of Human Activity of More Value Than Business.

"There is no field of human activity in which educational ideals rationally applied are of more value than in business," says the March Monthly Letter of the Royal Bank of Canada. "Besides preparing the mind to accept responsibility for tasks, a physical education develops a sense of right, duty and honour. More and more, in the modern world, business rests on confidence, as well as on good judgment."

After pointing out that all decided by educators and pupils does not fall from heaven ready-made, the article goes on to discuss what education is. "While any sort of goal is better than aimless browsing and indifference to acceptance, there are higher aims than merely the elimination of illiteracy. A more satisfying enumeration of the aim of education can probably be required by arranging in order the leading activities of life. They are: (1) activities which directly minister to self-preservation; (2) those which by securing the essentials of life minister indirectly to self-preservation; (3) those which have for their end the bettering of the human condition; (4) those which are involved in the maintenance of proper social and political relations; and (5) activities which Herbert Spencer refers to as miscellaneous, which fill up the leisure hours of life devoted to the general culture of the tastes and feelings."

The puzzle is how can the necessities and wants of the individual be kept in harmony with the needs of the community? The answer is that the individual must be educated to the point where he can understand the needs of the community and act accordingly. The education system must be adapted to the needs of the community, and the community must be educated to the needs of the individual.

The Journal of the Canadian and Newfoundland Education Association is quoted as saying that no English school, school, history textbooks mention the rights of the French language under the constitution, and French textbooks give little space to the Hudson's Bay Company, the English explorers, the United Empire Loyalists, or the history of provinces other than Quebec. "No true appreciation of history—and therefore of how Canada got to be where she now is—can be gained from prejudiced or careless texts," says the bank article.

It is necessary in order to have truth in history, to walk all around every incident, act, and rule, viewing each from all angles.

"This applies with equal force in the international field, because the peace of the world depends upon every nation understanding the aims, the hopes, the fears, and the needs of all other nations, as a basis for trying to find common, humane and moral goals. It is to the material interest of all people to advance the standard of living in depressed areas, and the relationship between education and standards of living is obvious."

"The question exercising Canadians interested in education today is: having brought in measures compelling children to go to school, did the authorities pursue the matter so as to keep every child busy at his highest natural level of successful development? The ability of some provinces or sections to provide better salary levels and more desirable facilities for teachers than other provinces or sections deserves the educational opportunities, and militates against equality of education. The cure does not lie in a direct transfer of educational responsibility to the Dominion government. While a reluctant province may not be driven faster or farther in education than it cares to go, if unsatisfactory conditions are to be remedied, more money must be provided for education. The most important source of revenue for school purposes, the tax on real estate, is no longer sufficient, in many cases, to meet the rising costs. Again, the revenue produced by such a local tax must vary widely from place to place, with the consequent loss of the quality of service must also vary greatly.

Education is intended not only for making a livelihood but for the sake of society and for the maintenance of democracy. If this ideal is to be carried into action, democracy must be instilled in the schools in a dynamic way so as to win the intelligent support of the pupils. In addition, democracy must be given practical application in education. It is not democracy to offer identical curriculum for all students.

Whatver is done in education, and whatever the needs of education, it is the duty of the well-educated citizen to understand the problems of education and to contribute to the solution of them. The field of education is not a closed one, and it is not a field of monopoly. It is a field of opportunity, and it is a field of challenge. It is a field of service, and it is a field of sacrifice. It is a field of hope, and it is a field of faith. It is a field of love, and it is a field of life.

The office of government is not to confer happiness, but to give men opportunity to work out happiness for themselves. — William Elery Channing.

"If the idea of advancing education appeals to the people, then they must Moisture Rots Lumber.

We all know that a post in wet ground will rot but most of us are not sure just how much moisture it takes. Scientists tell us that, when the wood has a moisture content of 20 per cent, it is very susceptible to attack by micro-organisms and insects, which in one word means rotting. Seasoned wood in average temperature and humidity contains 12 to 15 per cent humidity however, as evidenced by swelling and shrinking.

Most rotting lumber is found in stables, pig pens, hen houses, sheep pens, dairy houses and root storage cellars. In fact almost any wood in contact with the ground will decay; for example, fence posts and feeding troughs. We have managed to get along fairly well by treating this lumber with coal-tar creosote but it has many disadvantages. Creosote is inflammable, has a disagreeable odor and will not take a satisfactory coat of paint.

Chemical Stops Decay. The Dow Chemical Company has a product called Pentachlorophenol which is claimed as the best yet for preventing rot in lumber. It is a crystalline organic chemical, soluble in oils but only slightly soluble in water. This product will destroy all fungi bacteria and other micro-organisms that bring about our rotting fence posts. Pentachlorophenol is usually applied to wood as a 5 per cent solution in a light fuel oil. Five to six pounds per cubic foot of wood above ground is considered sufficient and 8 to 10 pounds for wood in contact with the ground. This treated wood will take a good coat of paint which is a big advantage over our old method of using creosote.

Ten Year Test. During the summer of 1935, a number of boards were treated with a variety of wood preservatives. Last year after a trial of ten years, many pieces of this lumber were in bad shape, indicating failure or partial failure of the preservative used. Those treated with Pentachlorophenol were still sound pieces of lumber and had withstood attacks of micro-organisms and termites.

This successful farmer in Kent County had good rich soil for his soybean crop, due to his crop rotation plan. Soybeans, which add some nitrogen to the soil, work well in crop rotations, such as sugar beets, corn, oats, soybeans . . . or corn, soybeans wheat and clover.

Ontario farmers are sure of a ready market for soybeans, too. Because Victory Mills has invested $2,500,000.00 in a new plant and plans to buy more than 3,000,000 bushels of soybeans a year.

5 SOUND REASONS FOR GROWING SOYBEANS!

1. Soybeans are a Hardy crop—resistant to drought, light frosts and heavy rains during growing season.
2. They're a PROFITABLE cash crop.
3. There's a READY MARKET for all you can grow.
4. Soybeans need a MINIMUM OF LABOR—can be harvested with a combine whenever weather is suitable.
5. A real SOIL-BUILDER, improving soil tilth and adding some nitrogen—soybeans fit into any "crop rotation" planning.

New Paint for Alleys.

A coating devised in paint laboratories during the war for use on the famous Mosquito fighter bombers, is forecast as an aid to improving the appearance of the future.

The coating is said to make the boards tougher and faster so probably will be employed on the walls of houses equipped to do everything but roll up a 200 game.

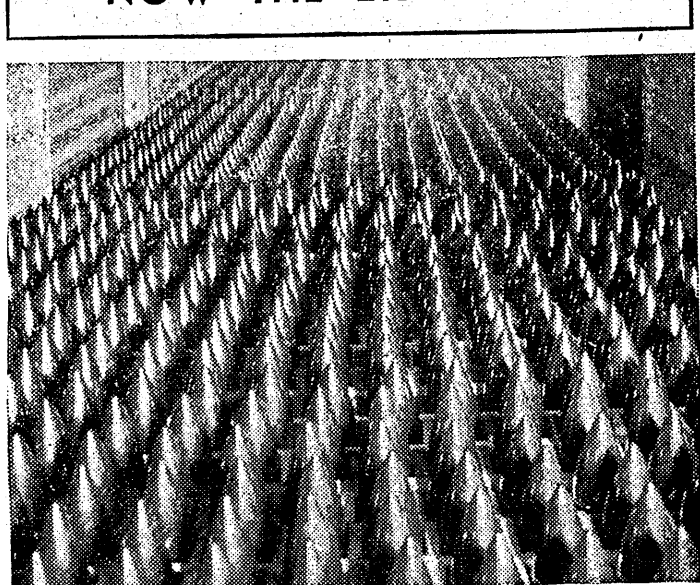

Preparing the Tobacco Seed-Bed.

Sick or uneven beds of tobacco plants are as often the result of inadequate preparation of the beds as anything else. This is the conclusion drawn from years of study of seedbed troubles, carried out by the Dominion Experimental Substation, Delhi, Ontario, says F. A. Stinson, officer-in-charge.

The first mistake may be that of having the soil too dry or too wet when it is worked up before steaming. It should be just moist enough to crumble nicely. The second mistake and a very common one, is failure to turn the soil over completely to a depth of eight or ten inches. Simply plying it up with a fork is not good enough. Ordinary steaming will not penetrate soil that has not been thoroughly loosened up. The muck should be added only after the soil has been turned over and levelled. Enough muck for a layer one to one and a half inches deep is about right.

Steaming for one-half hour per run is not too long and any shorter time than that may not do the job. Walking on the beds after steaming is bound to cause uneven drainage in the soil and may result in introducing disease organisms. As an added precaution against carryover of disease the use of a formaldehyde drench on the sidewalks and walkways is recommended. This may be made by mixing formaldehyde with water, one gallon to forty. It can be applied to the walls with a whitewash brush and to the walks with the sprinkling can. Probably the easiest way, however, is to put the formaldehyde in the water can containing the right amount of water, and spray it on the walls, boards, and walks with the hose. It is not necessary to do the beds, as they will have them steamed. To be effective formaldehyde should be applied early in the morning of a calm, sunny day when the greenhouse can be shut up completely to keep the fumes in and the temperature high. The fumes should be completely out before seeding but there is plenty of

NOW THE LID IS OFF

It is late summer, 1943. At Montreal and Quebec, 49 Canadian National Express cars are being hurriedly yet carefully loaded with thousands of tons of shells, hand grenades and—odd as it may seem—rubber footwear. The loading of the munitions at the various plants is being done under the protection of armed guards. On each of the four special trains needed, only one person, a sworn-in, armed head office employee of the C.N. Express, knows what the supplies are for and where they are going.

Until now it was a secret. More than 8,000 miles away, the Japanese were in the Aleutians. Troops were making strategic defence posts against the threat. Invasion by American and Canadian forces was decided. D-Day was set. But special equipment and munitions had to be obtained quickly for the particular type of warfare to be waged. The supplies were sent to the invasion force on the fastest C.N. Express schedule to the most distant point on the System's Pacific Coast line.

Thousands of shell casings, one of hundreds of similar shipments headed by the C.N. Express during the war, are shown being loaded in a car on their way to a shell-filling munitions plant. When the shells were filled with explosives, only a small number was placed in a car, packed in protective cases and specially loaded.

One bag of tobacco fertilizer worked into the muck on each seven or eight hundred square feet after steaming, provides plenty of plant food for the whole season. Over-fertilization is one of the most common causes of failure or poor growth in the seedbed.

Packing or tramping the bed is not recommended. More watering is required on a loose bed but when the soil is not packed there is better drainage. Good drainage is a big help in getting the bed warmed up during cloudy damp weather and one of the best forms of insurance against rot and other diseases in the bed.

Looking Ahead

A new D.D.T. powder . . . in exploding rivet . . . a new ungicide . . . nylon hose.

WATER MIX D.D.T.

One of the most important advantages of the new D.D.T. powder, Deenat 50-w, is that it is made up simply by adding it to water. Unlike old-type D.D.T. products, the spray is non-inflammable and may be safely used on livestock and plants.

IT'S HERE

Chemists have developed an exploding rivet with an explosive charge in the shank. When heat is applied to the head, it explodes the charge in the shank which expands and sets the rivet. Now used in aircraft, it has many other time and money-saving uses.

IT'S HERE

A new organic fungicide by the name of "Fermate" is now available commercially in Canada. "Fermate" has been extensively tested by Government Plant Pathologists and is reported to have many advantages over sulphur and copper fungicides in controlling orchard diseases such as apple and pear scabs.

IT'S HERE

Soon now, the ladies will be able to buy nylon hose more sheer than any nylons they've ever seen. These super-sheer stockings will be knit by Canada's hosiery manufacturers from nylon yarn made by C-I-L at Kingston, Ontario.

Further information on any of these products is obtainable by writing C-I-L, P.O. Box 10, Montreal, P.Q.

Now Time to Plan Vegetable Garden.

The time to think about planting the vegetable garden should not be left until just before sowing the seed. It is not too early to make plans now, says W. R. Ferguson, Division of Horticulture, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa. Two points — the size of the garden and the kind of vegetables desired — will help in deciding the amount of ground to be used for the various vegetables, and the growth and yield of the vegetables in former years will be a guide in buying fertilizer. It should be on hand early and worked into the ground before planting.

In the spring when working the soil, commercial fertilizer, such as 4-8-16 or 4-12-4 should be applied at the rate of two or three pounds per 100 square feet, or 800 to 1,200 pounds per acre. If the soil had not been manured in the fall, the amount of fertilizer may be increased to four pounds per 100 square feet, or 1,600 pounds per acre.

In the case of tomatoes, early cabbage, and other plants which must be sown long before it is possible to plant them in the garden outside, many gardeners like to grow plants from their own seed. Other gardeners buy young plants from greenhouses and market gardeners. Seed is sown usually in late March or early April in pots or small flats in bright sunny windows. If more plants are needed, a hotbed should be made. Some of the early varieties to start are: Tomatoes (Abel, Earliana, John Baer, or Bonny Best); cabbage (Golden Acre or Copenhagen Market); cauliflower (Snowball). Other vegetables may be started in the hotbed to get earlier crops, such as peppers, melons, cucumbers, onions and lettuce. Successive sowings will ensure more than one crop of most vegetables. Further information may be found in the publications of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, such as "The Vegetable Garden," "Vegetables for Prairie Farms," "Hothouse and Cold Frames," "Tomato Culture," "Potato Culture," "Wartime Garden," and others which may be obtained free by writing to the Department at Ottawa.

Food For Bees.

Although it is not considered good beekeeping to have the colonies running short of stores at the latter part of the winter, such a condition may arise, says the Dominion Apiarist, C. B. Gooderham. If there are any such colonies, the bees may be fed by placing a comb of honey in top of the frames, beneath the quilt, first breaking a few of the cappings. If combs are not available, the bees may be given a sugar syrup made of two parts sugar to one part water. A honey pail feeder with about 30 fine holes punched in the cover is the most suitable for giving the syrup to the bees. Do not disturb the bees unnecessarily, urges Mr. Gooderham, and do not attempt to examine the brood chamber. If a beekeeper has saved supers of honey from the previous year's crop, they may be placed over the brood chamber without an excluder between the two chambers, but never feed the bees honey unless it is absolutely certain that the colonies from which the honey was taken were free from disease.

BEHIND THE HEADLINES.

A veteran impartial observer can detect indications of an unmistakable nature in this nation's capital that the second session of the 20th Parliament will be crowded not only with a most unusual agenda of momentous affairs concerning which much spectacular news may be in the making, including perhaps more information about the espionage inquiry, British loan talks, etc., but that this gathering will be unexpectedly lengthy as well as probably marked by angry debates, with that hint that Federal Cabinet meetings held here prior to this session were often characterized by long meetings which were followed seldom by any announcements lately.

When the members of the House of Commons and Senate departed from Ottawa for the session, there were indications already that political controversies were growing in Ottawa and these were ominous of what would be forthcoming in this new session was left unfinished and this, in addition to a rather lengthy list of newly accumulated business, may prolong this session into the fall, especially if there should be any unexpected delays through unforeseen developments in this gathering, a more animated spirit of criticism or debate, a recess at Easter, an adjournment to allow attendance of leaders at the Peace Conference, if held this year, or any other cause.

Even a casual study of the agenda for this session, it is hinted backstage in Ottawa, stresses the huge task confronting the legislators, particularly the great strife in words and angry debates which may result as more and more information is sought by the opposition as well as private members, and critical attitudes are expressed in Parliament about recent activities or decisions of the Government on a multiplicity of issues.

The nation-wide housing shortage is reaching a climax and it is known that a storm of protest will sweep Parliament as a result. Though the war has been over for quite a long time now, yet governmental agencies and expenditures are rather high, with popular pressure for reductions bound to find voices in Parliament asking for an explanation, if not immediate action. The War Assets Corporation's sale of two billion dollars in surplus war goods may be aired since its operations have not pleased a great many people in business. The continued employment of Orders-in-Council in certain respects has caused widespread dissatisfaction. The Dominion-Provincial Conference may be a subject of discussion, especially if anything concrete should result from its gatherings while the session is still in existence in Ottawa. It is known that there is much interest amongst members in the redistribution of seats or constituencies. The question of a distinctive Canadian flag and the Citizenship Act may be answered in this session. Projected world trade conferences are in the making and these are of paramount importance. Several important committees, including one on veterans' affairs, revision of the rules and standing orders of the House of Commons, on war expenditures and economies, and others, should provide deep consideration. Amendments to the Judges' Act, Criminal Code, etc., may bring forth most unusual points of interest for the man-in-the-street since a start has already been made to consider an increase in salaries paid to judges in line with public opinion on this point, particularly if the Supreme Court in Ottawa should become the last court of justice in this land and since changes in the Criminal Code seem essential now to curb postwar crime waves sweeping across this whole country.

Of course, the annual budget will be one of the highlights of the whole session because taxpayers have been hearing in no uncertain language that, with the end of the war, their burdens should be lifted from the record-breaking loads of the wartime emergency, with little satisfaction having been obtained so far as a result of these loud demands except perhaps the cut in income tax and in excess profits taxation in the last budget, with a few isolated efforts to streamline the whole taxation process in this country. However, it is explained in Ottawa that Governmental expenditures have not been coming down as fast as officials would like to see them decline for unavoidable reasons. Indeed, though the war has ended a long time ago, yet it is emphasized in Ottawa that certain costs associated with the armed forces have continued in proper manner, with the comment that Parliament will most likely learn in this session what it will cost Canada to maintain her post-war forces, one unofficial prognostication having placed this estimate at $200,000,000.

While it has been indicated in Ottawa that Canada's occupation forces abroad may be withdrawn by September or October of this year, yet it must be stressed at this time that this must not be interpreted that Canada will not carry out any future commitments in world security wherein there may concern her armed forces. In fact, the contrary is true, and, if Canada is obliged or requested to aid in world security measures or an international police force, Canada would do her proper share with this being hinted in Ottawa, where a report has suggested that the Security Council of the United Nations Organization is occupied in figuring out military requirements which will be needed to meet emergencies or threatened aggressions. Furthermore, there is nothing to indicate in Ottawa that any system of compulsory military training is being planned in Canada now, though discussions on same are going on in other countries like the United States and Britain. The voluntary system of enlistment is also being used for Canada's permanent forces, comprising an army of 25,000 active force and 180,000 reserve, a navy of 10,000 active, and an air force of 16,100 regular, 4,500 auxiliary, and 10,000 reserve.

With the departure from Canada of Their Excellencies, the Earl of Athlone and H.R.H. Princess Alice, after the formal opening of the second session of the 20th Parliament, the new Governor-General, Field Marshal Viscount Alexander of Tunis, is expected to arrive in Ottawa early in April and plans are being completed for his welcome as well as swearing-in ceremony in the Senate Chamber, with Chief Justice Rinfret administering the oath of office to the personal representative here of His Majesty King George VI, prior to the departure of the Earl of Athlone, a dinner on behalf of the Canadian Government was given in Ottawa and on another occasion a presentation to Princess Alice of a cheque for $50,000 is being made by the wretched as a fact in the field for the education of youth leaving in Canada, though formerly departing chaperones of Government House here received personal gifts.

It is extremely unlikely that bread rationing will come in Canada, it is hinted in Ottawa, in face of such proposals being heard in Washington and London. . . . Also it is forecast here that the use of oleomargarine is not being considered as a means to relieve the fat shortages, with predictions that a production of about 52,000,000 pounds of butter during the next three months may be expected and with spring almost on the scene present ration of butter may be maintained. . . . But opinions here are that rationing of butter, meat, and other food-stuffs may last for another two years, even if the opinions are not official. . . . Suggestions heard that a Royal Commission may be established in Ottawa to investigate the liquor situation are not regarded seriously in well-informed quarters here. It is held that political and other factors render such an inquiry as most unlikely. . . . It is forecast that new automobiles may be on Canadian streets and fields before the end of this month, including Fords, Studebakers, Plymouths and Buicks, though high priorities will prevail, with the situation probably easing up to such an extent during the summer that it is possible these will be sold quite freely by the end of the summer of 1946. . . . Gen. Crerar, who led Canada's first Canadian Army in Europe and who retired to civilian life recently, is still persistently mentioned in rumors as a possible choice for a diplomatic post in future.

Improvements are being made in Canada's House of Commons, including already a better lighting system, ventilation methods, and general acoustics, with the experiments on a public address system for the House of Commons arousing much interest amongst the people's representatives who are asking, in whispers now, if this may not lead eventually to the broadcasting of addresses from Parliament. . . . Rt. Hon. Malcolm MacDonald, British High Commissioner in Canada, is preparing to go to Singapore in April, after saying farewell to Canada. He had been in London recently to discuss Malayan affairs with officials before entering upon his new assignment as Governor-General there. . . . Believe it or not but it is absolutely true that a French-Canadian named J. Emile Seguin, a master plumber in Hull across the river from Ottawa, is getting $54 per month in "Baby Bonus" payments as the father of 11 children under the age of 16, with his family consisting of 10 boys and 9 girls. . . . There is no information available in Ottawa on the reported discovery of a new mineral supposed to contain powerful radio-inactive qualities and alleged to have been found by a prospector and his wife in Quebec. . . . Complete demobilization of the women's services in the army, navy, and air forces is contemplated before the end of this year. (Reproduction prohibited, 1946, Federal Features Syndicate).

Good circulation of air in a room is essential to perfect drying of fresh paint, varnish or enamel. Virtually all such finishes dry by the oxidizing of the oil, which depends on the oxygen in the air. If there is not good ventilation in the newly-painted room, there is a shortage of oxygen and the paint drying process is slowed down. A certain amount of heat is necessary for good drying also, but it should be remembered in winter painting particularly that a proper amount of fresh air is more essential still. Heat, without a good circulation of air, will not dry paints, varnishes or enamels.

The elimination of selfish interests is essential to good government. In other words, the ideal can only be obtained when God rules in the affairs of men.—Sir Wilfrid Grenfell.

Albuna Women Hear Address

When Mrs. George Irwin entertained the members of the Albuna United Church Woman's Association and Women's Missionary Society, with Mrs. Charles Jackson presiding, Mrs. Geo. Cowan and Mrs. Wm. McLendon were appointed as a committee from the Woman's Association to prepare for the service of dedication for the new windows to be installed in the church. Mrs. James Cowan conducted the worship service, assisted by the Rev. S. R. Johnston and Mrs. Irwin, and Mrs. Stanley R. Johnston conducted the study period, based on the work of medical missionaries in Angola, West Africa.

"Four contributions are being made by the medical missionaries to the African people. The missionary doctor is trained to diagnose and treat his patients; he introduces and uses pre-Yorkie for medical service, and the fourth great contribution of the medical missionaries is their ability to help their patients, as people, to know God and find the new life which He gives," the speaker said.

Reference was made to the outstanding missionaries to Africa and a brief resume of the life and work of Dr. Albert Schweitzer and Dr. Mary Cushman was given by Mr. Johnston.

Mrs. Arthur Humber, Mrs. Albert Heatherington and Mrs. Irwin were tea conveners.

Teamwork Solves Housing Problem.

Teamwork on the part of the Canadian Legion, North Sandwich Branch B.C., and the Citizens' Rehabilitation Committee, has solved the housing shortage for at least 30 veterans of this war.

The group purchased a lot of army tents from Major General G. R. Parkes, V.C., assisted in putting the deal through for the veterans.

Frugality is good. If liberality is joined with it, the first is leaving off superfluous expenses; the last bestowing them to the benefit of others that need.—William Penn.

"Things That Make for Peace"
Theme of Meeting.

"The things that make for our peace," was the theme of the service prepared by Miss Mabel Shaw, formerly of Mbereshi, Central Africa, for the World Day of Prayer attended by women from Trinity Anglican Church, Brooker Baptist Church, Cottam, Albana, North Ridge, Elford and Gesto United Churches in the United Church Friday afternoon.

Mrs. George Newman presided at the service with Mrs. Frederick Gordy at the piano. Mrs. Mercy Birch explained that the offerings received from these services are used for Christian literature all over the world. Others taking part were Mrs. Donald Morrison, Mrs. John Helkie and Mrs. O. Patterson, of Brooker Baptist Church; Mrs. Gladys Raymond, of North Ridge United Church; Mrs. Delbert R. Jones and Miss Chinda Williams, of Cottam United Church; Mrs. James Cowan and Mrs. Frank Cowan, of Albana United Church; Mrs. A. E. MacGill and Mrs. Sidney Wyatt, of Trinity Anglican Church, and Mrs. Alfred Elford, of Elford United Church, who was vocal soloist.

Mrs. Stephen T. Dunk, of Gesto United Church, was the guest speaker, choosing for her theme "The Jews," Past, Present and Future.

"No other people have been so much persecuted as the Jews. I fear we forget that Jesus said 'inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me.' He allied himself with the Jews. God promised Abraham that through him all the nations of the earth should be blessed, and that his seed would be as the sand of the sea.

"The present state is not very glorious; no nation has been so set upon. For well nigh 2,000 years the Jews have been without a country and without a capital, yet they have preserved their faith and their nationality in spite of every effort to destroy them. They have been trampled as mud and scattered as by the winds of heaven. Yet they have seen empire after empire pass into oblivion while they multiplied, with vitality unimpaired.

"They have been as a light, kindled and shining, showing the path of duty and honour to the whole world. The affairs of men have been so ordered that those who persecuted and opposed them were ever visited by inexorable judgment."

As to the future, the Jews have been called the king pin of the ten plus of the nations, the clock of the world. "Israel will yet become the channel of blessing to the world. Is the Jew on your missionary program?" the speaker asked in conclusion.

New Color Deal for New Babies.

Paint color combinations featured as based on child psychology studies are being produced by one large manufacturer of children's furniture. With a million dollar plant under construction, the firm (Storkline) says juvenile furniture in the future will be finished in appealing colors.

Never again, say company officials, will baby carriages and baby furniture be decorated with staid, old-time finishes. Instead, the new streamlined models will compare with the smartest paint jobs of the finest automobiles.

White Ships Repel Heat.

Now that war camouflage is coming off, refrigerated ships are, for the most part, blossoming out in white paint again. The main reason for the use of white is that it is a paint shade which best reflects the radiated heat of the sun, thus keeping the interior of the vessel cooler.

Frequent tests have shown, also, that the paint color on a house exterior has much to do with the heat of the home. In some cases houses have been made as much as 14 degrees cooler in hot weather by trading a dark paint coating for a white or near-white finish.

Essex Town Council.

Monday, March 11th. Council met in the Court Chamber, as per adjournment, with Mayor Linton, Reeve Irwin and Councillors Lee, Chase, Shaw, Francotte, Brushett and Pulleyblank, present.

Harry Hutchinson addressed Council re subdividing the acreage he recently repurchased, with a little over 500 feet frontage on Victoria street. He would like to divide and sell this land as building lots, but could not do so unless the present open ditch in front of about 600 feet of the frontage was filled in with sewer crock. He thought it would take at least 16-inch crock, to which all the Council agreed.

After much discussion, it was moved by Messrs. Irwin and Francotte, that matter be left with the Drainage committee, with power to act.

Mr. Lee and Mr. Francotte assured Mr. Hutchinson that if the sewer crock was procurable the work would be done as soon as weather permitted.

Angus Robson addressed Council re running at large of dogs. He contended that Town Bylaw should be enforced and all dogs tied up or kept on own property, as they were destroying lawns and gardens by being allowed to run at large.

After a lengthy discussion, the Clerk was instructed, on motion of Messrs. Francotte and Pulleyblank, to have an advertisement placed in the Free Press warning owners and harbourers of dogs that their animals must be kept tied up or not leave their own property or they would be liable to prosecution, and held responsible for damage done by their animals.

Earl Pulleyblank reported he had rented the Bungalow School building to a couple of young ladies, from Windsor, who are promoting dancing classes every Thursday afternoon. The fee was $12 per month.

Mr. Pulleyblank also asked permission of Council to have the trunk of a tree removed from the walk in front of the Legion hall.—Granted.

J. S. Brown, fire chief, was present when John Chase, chairman of the Fire and Light Committee, asked the Mayor for the Council's opinion as to the local fire brigade responding to country fires with the new fire truck. If requested, he as chairman, didn't want to take it upon himself to give Mr. Truesdale authority to sound the siren for fire in the country, but would like the whole Council to act on the matter. He personally was all in favour of fire truck going out of town in response to a call for help.

On being asked by Mr. Pulleyblank if the members of the brigade were agreeable to answer country calls, Chief Brown replied that they were all anxious to help anyone who called for help.

After much discussion pro and con, it was decided to lay matter over till next regular meeting, so members would have plenty of time to consider the matter.

Mr. Brown also advised Council that the Department was in need of some new hose and to consider this expenditure when striking the budget. No hose has been purchased in over four years.

The Clerk reported he had received three applications for the position of Garbage Collector, as advertised in last week's Free Press. The applicants were Gordon Lambier, who was not considered as he resided out of town, and Lawrence Lambier, both at the advertised salary of $100 per month, and Fred Eldridge, requesting a salary of $120 per month.

Mayor Linton and Councillor Francotte both reported being interviewed by Stanley Lippatt, shortly after 6 o'clock, in regard to the job.

On motion of Messrs. Irwin and Shaw, Lawrence Lambier was appointed garbage collector at a salary of $100 per month, said work to be done under the supervision of Mr. Francotte, chairman of Board of Works.

John Chase reported that Mr. Crowley, of the Grand Central Hotel, had spoken to him re town filling in the back end of their lot, where the old barn was torn down, and making the town parking lot much roomier. The town was welcome to the free use of the lot if they would fill it in with gravel or earth.—Left with the Board of Works.

Mr. Irwin reported that Mr. Sewell, the present owner of the old Mrs. John Laing property, would like a Bell Telephone Company pole at the side of his property, moved, as he wished to make a side entrance to his home.

On motion of Messrs. Francotte and Shaw, the Clerk was instructed to request the Telephone Company to move the pole, said work to be done under the supervision of Mr. Irwin.

Mr. Lee reported that Howard Davidson had spoken to him about graveling the west end of Centre street, from end of pavement to his driveway. He would make the town load for load if the gravel was placed on the road.

This matter was laid over till roads are fit for graveling. Council adjourned.

To disregard the welfare of others is contrary to the law of God; therefore, it deteriorates one's ability to do good, to benefit himself and mankind.—Mary Baker Eddy.

Proportion and propriety are among the best secrets of domestic wisdom; and there is no surer test of integrity than a well-proportioned expenditure.—Hannah More.

Letter from Child Refugee.

Mrs. Detwiler, of town has received a letter from a young girl in the View, Village de Parnon, St. Pierre Port, Guernsey, dated February 21, which is as follows:

Dear Mrs. Detwiler, you might find it strange to get a letter from me, a little Guernsey girl, but I received your most lovely jumper, which gave me much joy indeed. I received it yesterday.

My two younger sisters also received jumpers very similar to mine, but they were not as fortunate as I am, they did not have an address with theirs.

I am at home now with my mother, father and three sisters. I and my two sisters were evacuated to Essex, land June 1940, and we came home August 1945. My sisters names are Noelle, aged 15; Nellie, aged 11; and Rosemary, aged 7, the youngest, who stayed with my parents, who were here during the whole of the occupation.

I live in a bungalow quite near the beach. It is lovely here in the summer. The Germans made a mess of it, but now it is all cleaned, so we are just longing for the summer to come again once more so that we may dance about and splash in the water again.

At school I am in class V. I am 13 years old now, as you can see. I am not a good writer at all, but am good in arithmetic and other things. At needle work I am knitting myself a nice cardigan.

When my father was a little boy he went to Canada and he often speaks about it and says it is a very nice country.

I will now end this little letter, hoping to have an answer from you, which would give me much pleasure indeed. I remain, your sincerely,

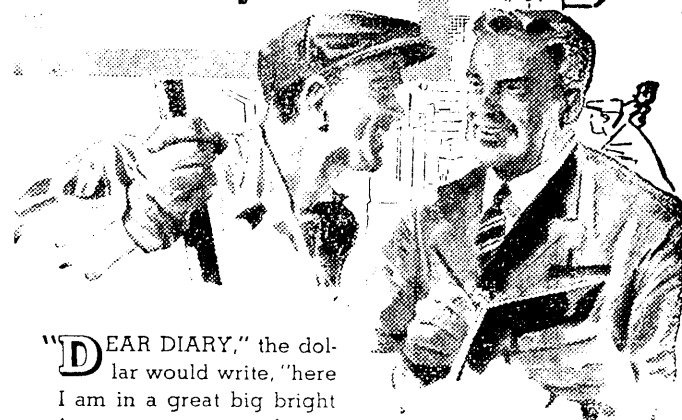

MARGARET MIGNOT.

Enclosed was also a letter from Mrs. Mignot, as follows:

Dear Mrs. Detwiler, I am also joining in with Margaret's letter to thank you for your lovely gifts. I am sure there are many more like myself, who would like to thank their kind donors if only they had their address. I don't know what would have become of many of us during the occupation in the early part of 1945 if it had not been for your wonderful Red Cross parcels. We shall never forget what all you kind people of Canada, and also New Zealand, did for us, so from the bottom of my heart I say "Thank you dear lady, and all kind friends" which you know have contributed in sending all these lovely gifts.

I remain, your sincerely,
MRS. MIGNOT.

If a dollar could write a diary...

"DEAR DIARY," the dollar would write, "here I am in a great big bright factory, my ears almost deafened by the roar of machinery which turns out shining new appliances that thousands of Canadian housewives were waiting for all through the war."

"I know I'm just one of millions of dollars which the Life Insurance companies are investing now in all sorts of civilian post-war developments... public utilities, power resources, railways, hotels, office buildings, and a whole list of projects which are pressingly needed to get us all back to a normal peacetime footing."

"I came from a country bank, as part of somebody's Life Insurance premium. It's wonderful to feel that I'm doing something socially useful for the future welfare of my country."

25¢ This portion of every dollar of Life Insurance funds is invested in public utilities, industries, etc., and is hard at work in every province creating work and prosperity. The remaining 75 cents are invested in government and municipal bonds, securities and mortgages, etc., yet these funds are always available for the immediate protection of four million policyholders in time of need.

A Message from the Life Insurance Companies in Canada.

"Boy—am I glad I saw my Bank Manager!"

"Betty and I were worried... we were urged to invest our savings, including my service gratuities, in what we thought might be a good business proposition. My bank manager showed me why it wasn't so good... maybe saved us from losing all we have!"

If you are an ex-serviceman, getting re-established in civilian life you will find your local Bank Manager a useful man to consult.

He is familiar with local business conditions and opportunities; he is glad to give helpful information to any veteran who comes to see him.

He knows the hopes and fears, joys and worries of small business men, wage-earners and salaried workers, because he has been talking to them over many years—considering their problems, lending them money, rendering them service in many ways. He'll be glad to do the same for you.

Why not talk to him at the first opportunity? Veterans all over Canada are saying: "Boy—am I glad I saw my Bank Manager!"

"WITH A SOYBEAN CROP-FEAR OF LIGHT SPRING FROSTS WON'T KEEP ME AWAKE AT NIGHT!"

Last spring when late frosts severely damaged this farmer's pea crop, his 40 acres of soybeans were unharmed. He got $2,600.00 for them—and now is sold on keeping a third of his acreage in soybeans as a kind of crop insurance plan.

And Victory Mills' $2,500,000.00 investment in a huge new plant—and their air of buying more than 3,000,000 bushels a year in Ontario—assures farmers, of a ready market for all the soybeans they can grow.

SOUND REASONS FOR GROWING SOYBEANS:

1. Soybeans are a Hardy crop—resistant to drought, light frosts and heavy rains during growing season.
2. They're a PROFITABLE cash crop.
3. There's a READY MARKET for all you can grow.
4. Soybeans need a MINIMUM OF LABOR—can be harvested with a combine whenever weather is suitable.
5. A real SOIL-BUILDER, improving soil tilth and adding some nitrogen—soybeans fit into any "crop rotation" planning.

IN MEMORIAM
In loving memory of Harold Harrison, who passed away four years ago,
March 24th, 1942.

Peaceful be thy sleep, dear son;
It is sweet to breathe thy name;
In life we loved you dearly,
In death we do the same.
Oft we think of you, dear son,
And our hearts are sad with pain.
Oh this would be a Heaven
Could we hear your voice again.
You are gone but not forgotten,
Never shall your memory fade,
Sweetest thoughts shall ever linger
Around the grave where you are laid.

—Sadly missed by his mother, brothers, sisters and uncle.

On Sunday next, March 17th, there will be no services in the Church of the Redeemer. Services in St. Stephen's Church at 11 a.m., and Sunday school at 9:45 a.m.

The Ladies' Guild of the Church of the Redeemer will serve a chicken pie supper in the Parish Hall, on Friday evening, March 15th, beginning at 6 p.m. A good program will follow the supper. The members are preparing articles for sewing and novelties for sale.

Mrs. Anson Toffenlire presided over the meeting of the Ladies' Guild of the Church of the Redeemer, at the home of Mrs. Ed. Lounsbrough, on March 7th. Eighteen ladies were present. The meeting opened by singing "Open My Eyes," with Mrs. Webster at the piano. Rev. J. Tully read Psalm 40 and led in prayer. Final plans were completed for the supper March 15th. A busy afternoon was spent in sewing. Mrs. Tully closed the meeting with prayer and a delicious lunch was served by the hostess.

"The Things that make for our Peace," was the theme of the service prepared by Miss Mabel Shaw, formerly of Mbereshi, Central Africa, for the World Day of Prayer Service held in St. Stephen's Church, on Friday afternoon. Mrs. J. Tully, key woman, presided, with Mrs. Clyde O'Neil at the organ. Mrs. Roy McKee read the Bible lesson. Mrs. Fawcett, Mrs. Lyle Banwell, Mrs. Newton Holden, Mrs. Glen Webster and Mrs. Anson Toffenlire led in prayer. Mrs. Howe and Mrs. Harry Potypiece were soloists. Mrs. J. Tully gave an interesting address and pronounced the benediction. Mrs. Roy McKee was hostess to the Ladies' Guild of St. Stephen's Church, on Wednesday afternoon.

The annual St. Patrick's tea, sponsored by the organist and choir of St. Stephen's Church, was held in the parish hall, on Tuesday afternoon. The lovely weather was responsible for a large crowd who thoroughly enjoyed the delightful afternoon. Mrs. Violet Webb Leach was the guest artist and she was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. (Dr.) F. R. Guest. She gave a musical travelogue on the Horse Shoe Islands, in the Atlantic. Her verbal and musical interpretations were so realistic that she carried her audience in imagination to the scenes she described. The tea table was attractively laid with a dainty lace cloth, centred with a bouquet of daffodils with green tapers in crystal holders. The guests were served at quarter tables. Mrs. Ern Holden and Mrs. Will Herdman poured tea and were later replaced by Mrs. Newton Holden and Miss Lena Shuel. Mrs. Charles Washbrook and Mrs. Roy McKee were lunch conveners. Mrs. Fawcett, Mrs. Herb Vollans, Mrs. George Vollans and Mrs. Crowder were in charge of the goods table. Mrs. Jamie Holden presided at the contribution basket and Mrs. Elmar O'Neil and Mrs. Robert Morris were in charge of registration. The proceeds of the tea were $82.

Miss Millie Webster returned to her home in Toronto on Wednesday after spending the past six weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Justin O'Neil.

SPICED ONIONS.
6 medium sized onions
1 tablespoon mild-flavoured fat

the water over them in a cold utensil. Bring the water back to boiling point as quickly as possible, and keep it at that temperature throughout the cooking period. When vegetables are tender, drain and serve immediately since standing in hot water or over steam is as disastrous as long cooking.

To retain a good colour when cooking red cabbage or beets, add a little vinegar to the water. Strange as it may seem, when onions are overcooked they lose their pungent flavour and become tasteless. Large onions will cook more quickly if lengthwise cuts, about an inch long, are made at one end through the centre. The home economists of the Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture, suggest spiced onions as an acceptable variation on the following recipe for Turnip Souffle. This is a new and exceedingly attractive way to dress up an old-winter-favourite as a supper or luncheon dish.

Vegetables.

If all depends on you. Do those you cook for really enjoy their vegetables, or are they eaten only from a sense of duty?

No vegetable need be flat, colourless and wishy-washy. First plan to serve those that harmonize in flavour and give colour contrast, then cook them to retain all their eye and appetite appeal.

Vegetables should be added to boiling salted water. . . 1 teaspoon salt. 1 quart water. . . rather than pouring

2 tablespoons brown sugar
½ teaspoon cinnamon.

Holl-w cut top of onions slightly. Cook in boiling salted water until tender. Blend together the mild-flavoured fat, brown sugar and cinnamon. Place a small portion of this mixture in the hollow of each onion, garnish with a thin wedge of cucumber pickle. Six servings.

TURNIP SOUFFLE.
2 tablespoons mild-flavoured fat
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
1 teaspoon salt
3 egg yolks
1½ cups finely mashed turnip
3 egg whites

Melt fat, add flour and blend well. Add milk and salt. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly until thickened. To slightly beaten egg yolks, add a small portion of the hot mixture. Stir well, add to first mixture and cook 2 to 3 minutes longer, over low heat stirring constantly. Remove from heat and add mashed turnip. Cool mixture. Beat egg whites until stiff, but not dry, and fold into cooled mixture. Turn into a greased casserole and oven-poach in a moderate oven, 350 degrees F. for 1 to 1½ hours. Six servings.

Care of Baby Chicks.

Clean houses and yards, clean litter, good feed, careful management, together with a little common sense, are the essentials in handling baby chicks in order to prevent losses, says R. F. Timney, Dominion Experimental Station, Charlottetown, P.E.I.

Everything should be in readiness before chicks arrive. Too often no preparations are made until notice of arrival is received from the express agent. Brooder houses should be thoroughly scrubbed down — floors, walls, ceilings — and disinfected previous to the arrival of the chicks. All drafts must be eliminated. Leaky roofs must be repaired and made tight. Corners of the brooder house floor should be rounded off with wire or boards to prevent crowding or piling. Floors should be covered with clean, dry litter. Clean sand, chopped straw, planer shavings or, for the farmer, clover heads, leaves, etc., from the barn floor, are excellent. Litter should be changed whenever it becomes dirty or wet.

The brooder stove should be operated for several days before the arrival of chicks and a check made to see that the controls work effectively, and adjusted to maintain a temperature of 95 to 98 degrees, two inches above the floor at the edge of the hove. Do not guess the temperature, but use a thermometer. Temperatures after the first few days may be lowered about five degrees per week, as the chicks grow older. Uniformity in temperature is essential. Rapid changes will cause over-heating, or chilling with disastrous results.

A good brand of commercial starter is less likely to give trouble than home-mixed feeds and when followed up with growing mash will give good results. The manufacturer's instructions should be followed carefully. Chicks should not be fed until they are about 48 hours old.

Adequate feeding space for all chicks should be provided. For the first week or ten days, feed five or six times daily, leaving the mash before the birds for about 15 to 20 minutes at each feeding. Changes should be made gradually to a good growing mixture.

Be careful not to overcrowd chicks. It should be noted that brooder ratings are based on day-old chicks and a 500-chick brooder should not be expected to handle its full rating after the birds are several weeks old. When ready to range see that clean land is provided — land on which birds have not ranged for at least three years. Cleanliness and good management practices are the watchword and if these are observed, success should follow.

Canton (population: 850,000) is the largest port of southern China. It is protected by a solid brick wall, 20 feet thick by 25 feet high, with 14 gates, of which two are built to allow in the city the waters of Pearl River.

Kite Flying Contest.

Calling all Boys! Make and construct your kites before April 25th. Fly them and test your skill, so that on Thursday of Easter week you can compete with the other contestants and win a prize. You may get your dad or friend to help build your kite and the design may be any type that you may choose.

This great afternoon of fun is organized by the Essex Rotary Club, which is offering liberal prizes for the best kite flown in the contest. Four classes will be chosen and prizes will be offered in each class. The first prize will be $5, the second $3 and the third $1. There will be the box type class; large, medium and small classes. The boys will be judged on their ability to fly their kites and the kites will be judged as to how they manoeuvre in the air. This will be a test of skill as well as construction.

The committee appointed by the Rotary Club are all boys who loved to fly kites in their younger days. There is Charles Maedel, who is always the friends of the boys, and will be ably assisted by Harold Findlay, Perry Vanstone and Bill Wass. These members will be glad to take your entries before April 20th. So build your kite and get lots of practice in putting them in the air and flying these birds of the wind.

Labor Struggle for Power.

By Lewis Milligan.

The present epidemic of labor strikes in the United States is being attributed to communistic agitation, the purpose of which is to create a spirit of unrest and of class hatred among working people. That, of course, is in full accordance with the teachings of Karl Marx upon which Communism and Socialism are founded. Marx visualized a final struggle between Labour and Capital for supreme power, in which Labour would be triumphant and State Socialism established in its place. That is what happened in Russia as a result of the communist revolution led by Lenin and Trotsky.

The question arises whether the labor union leaders, and the workers whom they lead, really want to gain supreme power, destroy the capitalist system and change the name and nature of the United States of America to that of a United Socialist Republic of America. That may not be the intention of the labor unions in promoting these strikes, but that is what it will eventually lead to if the Capitalist system is destroyed. Socialism and Capitalism cannot live together, because they are totally opposed to each other. Socialism demands complete State control of both capital and labor — of production, wages, prices and the private life of every citizen. Labor unions would be abolished or become mere instruments of the Government to keep the workers in order. Labor leaders would be civil servants or would be maintained by a check-off system, and their chief job would be to suppress agitation among the workers and nip strikes in the bud. This might be a good thing so far as the disruption of industry is concerned, but it would mean the loss of freedom and the workers would become State slaves, with the union leaders as their taskmasters.

That may be the best system for the Russian people who for centuries lived in serfdom under the Czars, compared to which Communism was a form of emancipation; but it was not freedom. The Soviet leaders themselves realized that the Russian people were not ready for freedom and could only be governed by regimentation — they were ripe for a century of Communism, the Russian people have no freedom. Their Soviet rulers are self-appointed, their education is strictly insulated from all democratic ideas; they have no freedom of speech or free press; their newspapers being restricted to news, views and even advertisements prepared by government officials.

One could not imagine the working people of the United States submitting to such a system, but they are heading in that direction in their struggle for dominating power in industry, which must inevitably result in the destruction of the Capitalist system. The only alternatives to that system are Socialism or Fascism. Capitalism is not a perfect system, but it is a system of freedom and is adapted to all sorts and conditions of men. It is the only known economic system in which democracy can have the freest expression and the greatest incentive to political, social, cultural as well as industrial progress. With all its admitted faults — and the faults are mostly inherent in human nature — democracy under Capitalism has made greater strides of progress in the past hundred years than in all previous time.

Human progress is unlimited, but it requires individual freedom, incentive, competition and even opposition for its operation. Any system of regimentation is a dead-end street, and even Capitalism can become that if it is carried to the extreme. The danger of modern civilization is that men become mere parts or slaves to the machinery which they have invented. They may gain a perfectly organized State, but they will lose their freedom and their souls.

There is one thing to be said in favor of the present outbreak of labor strikes, in that it may be a revolt against wartime regimentation. It cannot be too strongly emphasized that the destruction of Capitalism by labor unions would result in the destruction of the labour unions themselves, and of all that the unions profess to stand for in freedom and the rights of labor — even the right to strike would be abolished.

Watch the Overwintered Colonies.

For the beekeeper who winters his bees, late winter and early spring constitute the most critical period of the year. Most of the so-called winter losses occur during this period and most of these losses are due to starvation, says C. B. Goodenham, Dominion Apiarist, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa. Unfortunately, when preparing the bees for winter, there is a tendency to hold the winter food supply to a minimum making little or no allowance for unfavourable conditions the following spring. Once brood rearing is resumed during late winter food consumption within the colony increases enormously and the supply given for the winter is in danger of becoming exhausted long before new supplies are available from the fields. Even if the spring sources of nectar and pollen should open early it is folly to rely upon them to supply the bees' needs. Weather conditions may be such that the flowers fail to secrete nectar or the bees may be prevented from gathering what nectar is available. The experience of 1945 should be enough to cause every beekeeper to watch his colonies closely during the period immediately ahead in order to prevent heavy losses from starvation. Many a colony that looks well and strong now may easily be dead within a month. A recent examination of a number of colonies at the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, disclosed that brood rearing was well underway and the condition of the brood indicated that egg laying commenced during the first week in January. This means that winter food is being used to rear brood, consequently, it is in danger of exhaustion long before the spring sources of nectar are available. Early feeding may be necessary to save them. Beekeepers should watch their colonies so that they may prevent serious losses.

DDT Formulations.

In processed publication No. 37 the Division of Entomology makes tentative recommendations for the agricultural use of DDT. They were discussed at a recent meeting of manufacturers in Toronto. In harmony with them and in pursuance of the policy of simplicity and economy in the number of formulations of DDT offered to the public, the Pesticides Administration recommend the following basis for consideration of registrations under the Pest Control Products Act:

1. "Agricultural Insecticides" means insecticides for use on crops of any kind but not on live stock.
2. A DDT spray powder should contain a dispersal agent.
3. The amount of DDT permissible as the sole insecticidal agent in an agricultural insecticide should be the following only: 3 per cent, 25 per cent, 50 per cent and the amount present should form part of the brand name.

BAR SCOTS LIVE STOCK.
Owing to the existence in Scotland of foot and mouth disease all permits for the importation of cattle, sheep, goats, other ruminants, and swine into Canada direct from Scotland are cancelled with the exception of those covering shipments actually embarked on vessels enroute to Canada, as from February 1st, 1946.

CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Kennedy held "open house", on Sunday afternoon, March 31st, to their family and friends, the occasion being their Golden Wedding Anniversary.

The livingroom was beautifully decorated with spring flowers, where Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy and the "bride's" mother, Mrs. Jemima Farough, received.

After the signing of the register, the guests were invited to the diningroom, where tea was poured alternately by Mrs. J. D. Shelton and Mrs. Kennedy's sisters, Mrs. Harold Neice, Mrs. Jessie Ellis, Mrs. Ed. Ellis and Mrs. William Thomas.

The table was covered with a cut-work cloth, decorated with golden tapers and a centre piece of daffodils and with a miniature bride and groom.

Assisting with the serving were Miss Edna Kennedy, Mrs. Murray Kennedy, Miss Mary Lewis, Mrs. Whitney Stone, Mrs. Stewart Kennedy, Mrs. Stirling Kennedy, Mrs. George McGuire, Mrs. Elbe Lewis, Mrs. Cecil Kennedy, Mrs. Jack Shaw, Miss Myrtle Kennedy and Mrs. Jack Lewis.

Eight guests were present that had attended the wedding in 1896.

A family dinner was held in the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Kennedy were married March 31st, 1896, by Rev. Thibadoux, of the Maidstone Methodist Church. Mr. Kennedy has owned and operated a general store at Gesto, which burned to the ground; came to Essex 40 years ago, and went into partnership of Johnston and Kennedy, in the planing mill business, which stood where the Essex Farmers' show rooms are today. He at one time owned and operated a garage, with the Chevrolet agency, in the building now the Essex Recreation, and for the past 15 years, to last September, was a turnkey at Essex County Gaol.

There are eleven children: Myrtle, of Windsor; Alma (Mrs. E. A. Lewis) of Kingsville; Cecil, of Guelph; Edna, of Ingersoll; Gladys (Mrs. G. W. McGuire) of Windsor; Ruby (Mrs. C. W. Stone) of Tilbury; Stewart, of Essex; Lydia (Mrs. Snyder) of Montreal, Que.; Sterling, of Plymouth, Mich.; Fern (Mrs. Jack Shaw) of Essex, and Murray, at home. There are 16 grandchildren.

All the children were present except Mrs. Snyder.

had to be cancelled. In the near future we will have a social hour, with all ladies who have assisted with this work, in our own branch and all other branches will accept the notice as their invitation. We made our last shipment, consisting of 6 boys' sweaters, 5 pairs of gloves, 2 pairs of socks, 3 pairs men's mitts, 14 pair boys' socks; 1 man's shirt, 2 blouses, 1 jumper, 10 pair child's socks and 10 layettes. These layettes were made by the girls of the Bonus Amicus class and to them we extend our grateful thanks. We extend thanks to all ladies who carried on so faithfully these past years. We and the community do extend special thanks to Mrs. Henry, of Woodsee Branch, who has been a constant knitter. We know many boys have been warmed by her work. Watch for notice of social meeting.

Let Us Have Faith.

By R. J. Deuchman.

I am worried about the Socialists. Once they annoy me, now they give me a half happy feeling of worry and amusement. From time to time I am forcibly reminded of their awareness of sin, their consciousness of its pleasures and profits. I pick up now and then a copy of the "New Republic". It is supposed to be highbrow and intellectual, at least it thinks it is, but it is astonishing the amazing amount of stuff it picks up out of the gutter.

It is so definitely definite about its point of view — orchids spring spontaneously from the chests of labor leaders, Phillip Murray and Walter Reuther can do no wrong, even John L. Lewis, who has cost the coal miners far more than they will ever know, is stripped of his malignant look when he is presented through the pages of the "New Republic" but sometimes he gets on their nerves and they cast an Evil glance at him and pass by on the other side — no one could help doing that occasionally. So far as the average leader of industry is concerned, the "New Republic" attaches the mark of the beast to him, he is to them a dweller in the tents of iniquity.

In the last issue it discussed the experiment which the United States is going to carry out in regard to the effectiveness of the atomic bomb on naval vessels. A group of old and some good, or at least, better ships are to be gathered together then a bomb or two will be dropped on them to see what happens. At once the "New Republic" suggests that the Admirals are using the occasion to sink a lot of vessels "not entirely obsolete" by old standards in order to demand money from Congress for new ones. This is a typical example, they never expect a man to do right even when he has exhausted all the possibilities of doing wrong — he lives thereafter suspended half way between heaven and earth — not good enough to get into one, too bad to be accepted into the other — it's a mean trick to play on a capitalist.

Then the other day there was an announcement in the papers that the United Steel Workers (C.I.O.) felt that the cost of living index was being stacked against them — "manipulated" is the word used. Now there are some things so rare in this world that they may be classed as impossible. A lawyer doesn't sell out the case of his client, all his training and instincts are against it, it can't be done. A doctor doesn't poison the patient he is attempting to cure. A statistician will not twist figures to suit a particular purpose. Accuracy is his God — he serves with amazing devotion. So when we are told that these men, or women, are playing a game — we'd they do not know the type of men and women they are talking about.

There is far more honesty in the people of this world than most statesmen imagine. Here are a few lines written by Jaquin Miller, the Poet of the Sierras. I have forgotten the caption, but "Tolerance" would be a good one for it:

In men whom men denounced as ill
I see so much of goodness still;
In men whom men pronounce divine
I see so much of sin and blot;
I hesitate to draw the line Between the two—where God has not.

Our Socialist friends will be a good deal wiser, better and more useful — and there is room for improvement — if they will look at others with less splenic vision, a little more confidence in the goodness of mankind.

From a townsman who has moved to Northern Ontario but who still reads her home town paper comes a newsy letter. We publish a few of her suggestions today.

1. If your electric iron has become discoloured and sticks to the clothes, pour a little salt on some brown paper and press the iron in and around in the salt.
2. A handy ironing board attachment is a small stiff brush useful for brushing out fringes, bringing up chenille or velvet materials and removing lint from cotton materials.
3. Keep packages of black and white press-on mending tape and a small pair of scissors near your ironing board. Mend small tears as you iron.

Mixed Feeds Far Below the Demand.

Pointing out that the overall production of mixed feeds in Canada is far below the demand, H.D. Egly, of Victory Mills Ltd., said yesterday that an increase in the supply of brewer's yeast and brewer's grains would enable his company to boost its production of animal feeds "from four to eight times our present output."

In reporting to the Board of Directors of the Canadian Breweries Ltd. parent company of Victory Mills, Mr. Egly said the demand for "the high vitamin feed which we process from brewer's yeast is such that Victory Mills could safely produce eight times the quantity now being supplied."

He said his company now receives about 35 tons of wet yeast a week from the four O'Keefe's breweries in Toronto and the Carling's plant at Waterloo. "Our capacity is such that we could handle 320 tons a week," he said, "but we are unable to come close to that figure because of the limited supply of yeast we're getting from the breweries."

Victory Mills distributes the animal feeds to Quebec, The Maritimes and Manitoba, as well as Ontario, he said.

Based on the present demand, Victory Mills has existing market for "at least four times" the present production of processed brewer's grains, Mr. Egly related. Animal feed processed from brewer's grains, like that from brewer's yeast, is high in vitamin content, he said and when incorporated into the animal food formula provides vitamin B.

"One farmer who has been using brewer's grains for cattle feed reported last week that during a 30-day period when he was unable to get his usual supply his cheque for milk from the dairy dropped 25 percent," Mr. Egly said. "Most dairymen assert that cattle which receive a regular diet of Brewers' grain have a high record of milk productivity."

President D. Clive Betts of Canadian Breweries Limited pointed out to the board meeting that brewers use no wheat whatever and that the entire brewing industry of Canada uses only about four percent of the nation's barley crop.

"Much of this is premium quality barley which would be wastefully employed if used in the feeding of livestock before being malted," he declared. "After it is malted, the wet grains are turned over to Victory Mills for feed processing so that, actually, maximum use is made of it."

Color Mooted for Factories.

A large majority of industrial plants today are far too dull and dark for efficient seeing, remarks "Modern Industry" in a discussion of the trend towards Color Scheming in factories. "Even the most modern lighting system isn't much use if light falls on dull, dark walls, work tables and floors. They will absorb light instead of reflecting it and spreading it where it is needed, and you won't get anywhere near full value from your lighting dollar."

OF the 2,500 Bell employees who enlisted for war service, over 1,700 are back on the job. They have been given refresher courses to bring them up to date or to help them recapture their old skills.

Ninety per cent of those returning want to continue in telephone work. Eventually, we expect thirty-seven per cent of our entire male staff to be veterans of World War II.

There's lots of work waiting for them.

Our big job right now is to clean up delayed orders and we are losing no time. No less than 75,000 telephones have been installed since V-E Day.

Telephone instruments will soon be in better supply. Central office apparatus is the real problem. It takes time to make and instal this highly complicated apparatus. That's why applicants in areas where switchboards are full will still have to wait some time for service.

• We promise it won't be a minute longer than necessary.

Public Enemy No. 1 CANCER

• Cancer is exceeded only by heart disease as a cause of death. Because it frequently means long and cruel suffering, and is the disease we dread most, it most decidedly ranks as Public Enemy No. 1.

Yet cancer in its early stages usually causes no pain. That is why relatively few cancers get any treatment in their early stages when most of them can be cured by radium, x-ray or surgery.

Cancer of the lip may be mistaken for a cold sore that does not heal. The first sign of cancer of the throat may be hoarseness. Cancer of the stomach, in its early stages may be mistaken for indigestion.

To cut down the death rate from cancer in Ontario (5193 Ontario people died from this disease in 1943) funds are now being raised and a drive is being organized in this province to conquer cancer. Here are the objectives of this campaign:

- 1—To organize and operate fully equipped cancer clinics at suitable centres where people may be examined, and, if necessary, treated according to the newest scientific methods.
- 2—To pay a portion of the cost of treatment of cancer for those needing financial help.
- 3—To pay travelling expenses to and from clinics if needed.
- 4—To conduct an energetic program of cancer research in Ontario.

As a citizen of Ontario you are asked to contribute to this very worthy cause. Your donation may help put such measures into effect as will save the lives of some of your loved ones—even your own life. It may help to free the world forever from the dread scourge of cancer.

This appeal is for an objective of $2,000,000 to provide for a three-year program of cancer research, treatment and province-wide service.

Injustice Makes Poor Citizens.

By Joseph Lister Rutledge.

Recent decision of the Supreme Court of Canada should bring a glow of satisfaction to a multitude of Canadians. The Court said that many citizens have wanted to say for years past, and it said it emphatically and effectively. The gist of the ruling was that a position taken by the Income Tax Office was "purely arbitrary," and was "based on unreasonableness."

Specifically this ruling was an appeal of Wright Canadian ropes, Ltd. It reversed the decision of a lower court that had upheld the Income Tax Office's right to decide that certain contractual obligations, undertaken by the company in 1935 and observed since that date, did not represent a proper business expense, and to set its own arbitrary figure.

Once this original decision was reversed back for revision it ceased to be of wide public interest. What is of interest is that an arbitrary decision proven wrong in one case might very well be representative of a multitude of other cases, differing only in the circumstances and the amounts involved. There are many people who have felt the same sense of injustice but who have not been able to offset that feeling by concrete action. Such a citizen realizes that the amount at stake is so small that it would be the utmost folly to take the case to court. He recognizes that should he do so, and should the injustice he may feel be real and, what is more important, provable, it would still cost him more than would letting the matter ride and accepting the injustice.

It is somewhat too much to hope that people who have compounded with their sense of injustice in their own cases will change their character and stand out as champions of justice in larger issues that involve us all. The simple fact is that we can't in one breath urge that our government is "of the people, for the people, by the people," and with another assure our citizens that when it comes to taxation, some officials can make a decision that flies in the face of what we believe to be the facts and the rights of our particular case, and if he is of that temper—or even if he isn't, for he has small option once his decision is made—can tell us to do as we are told, or else!

Every day, of course, we are subject to laws that restrict us. But they are laws that we have approved as being for the public good. Also we should know when we have infringed them. If we should be in doubt, the due process of law, in which we will be represented, will decide the question for us. There is nothing arbitrary about it, and the reasons are known to us.

As a people we do not like unlimited discretionary powers. If we did we would not have troubled to wrap our liberties around with so many safeguards. We don't like such powers to exist whether they are wielded by clerk or a Cabinet Minister, and we don't think that the clerk or the Cabinet Minister likes them to exist either. And when it comes to a place where one Canadian court can give its support to a ruling that another Canadian "unreasonable," it is evident that there is to wide a divergence of opinion even presuming almost superman powers of fact and understanding.

Isn't it time to integrate the patchwork that is our Income War Tax Act so that citizens little and big might understand what it means and know that they are getting all the breaks they deserve. —Liberty Magazine.

Farmers Should Get This Pamphlet.

An attractive pamphlet "A New Plan for Financing Farm Implement Purchases" has been issued by the Administration of the Farm Improvement Loans Act. This pamphlet sets out in a concise manner the advantages of the Plan to the farmer, the manufacturer, and the dealer alike.

That the Plan has much to offer is proved by the fact that over $2,000,000 has already been loaned for the purchase of farm implements in Canada. Indications are that the Plan will be extensively used this year by Canadian farmers for the necessary financing in connection with farm implements purchases.

A copy of this pamphlet can be obtained by writing to the Supervisor, Farm Improvement Loans, Department of Finance, Ottawa.

Whether this is due to so-called hasty "war marriages," merely coincidental, or any other cause, it is a fact nevertheless, that there is a flood of unusual proportions sweeping into this capital in applications for divorce before the Senate Divorce Committee at this session, presumably wholly from Quebec, if not all, since the province has no divorce courts. Complaints have been made again and again against the present procedure in past sessions but nothing much has ever been done in this respect, though numerous proposals have been made from time to time to change this system of granting divorces to Canadians from Quebec. Indeed, this system has even been termed "scandalous" by critics who have urged a drastic change in procedure as well as a general widening of the grounds for divorce presently restricted to infidelity in Canada, especially since divorce laws have been widened in other lands.

"There is no probability that the Alaska Highway will be open to the general public in the near future," said in Parliament Canada's Minister of National Defence, Hon. Douglas Abbott, in explaining that this 1,250 miles road of the greatest possible strategic value will be taken over by the Canadian Army from the United States Army about April 3rd, with information in Ottawa hinting that it will be used for training purposes. "There are no facilities for servicing motor cars and supplying them with gasoline and so on," he continued. "Consequently, it will not be possible for the Canadian Army to undertake the responsibility of permitting ordinary civilian travel on the road in the immediate future. We shall have to look into it further after we have taken it over."

With the initial shock of the revelation that secret and confidential information had allegedly been disclosed in Ottawa to representatives of a foreign mission having passed, this nation's capital is now a centre of much speculation and rumour wherein the development of pro-Soviet Russia and anti-Soviet Russia viewpoints can be heard more and more, though in actuality and in official circles there is a very definite attitude that no such pro or anti viewpoint should be encouraged in any way. In other words, it seems that the cases of the spy-ring should not be judged at this time at all since these are pending before proper courts of justice and the case of the foreign power involved should also not be judged by the man-in-the-street in any way which might complicate or do harm to international relations. At least, this definite attitude of caution in judgment seems to dominate in official circles during the present "spring housecleaning" of this capital's espionage ring and the same caution appears to exist amongst most of the 23 envoys of foreign powers who represent their governments in Ottawa, these keeping a close watch on the events here and indicating how Ottawa has become one of the world's capitals in a relatively short time.

Then again, a suggestion that this espionage affair might be a case for the Court of International Justice has been deemed to be "extremely unlikely" by an expert who emphasized that this Court dealt with legal matters affecting government and no charges against any government have been made in this way so far.

It is hinted in Ottawa that more laws for farmers may be coming in face of the virtual deluge of such news lately on account of the Federal Government's desperate drive for more and more food production as well as exportation in answer to an urgent appeal from abroad.

The Minister of Trade and Commerce, Hon. James A. MacKinnon, has already made a very important statement in Parliament in regard to special measures aimed at bringing about an increase in wheat deliveries in Western Canada and to indicate his Government's 1946-47 program for oats, barley and oil seeds. "While we have been working on a very large wheat and flour export program during the present crop year, we hope to be able to increase shipments over the quantities originally planned," he declared most significantly, adding that "the new arrangement merely provides a means whereby producers may elect to deliver wheat between April 1st and June 30th, 1946, with cash settlement taken at their option in 1946, 1947 or 1948."

Likewise, the Minister of Agriculture, Hon. J. G. Gardiner, has indicated in Ottawa that an understanding has been reached in discussions between British and Canadian representatives on food supplies by Canada and demands by Britain, involving decisions by the British Ministry of Food and the meat as well as dairy boards of the Canadian Department of Agriculture, with these being put now into the form of agreements to be signed on behalf of both governments. It should be pointed out that these discussions took account of the recent announcement of the United Kingdom policy in regard to home agricultural production and of the long-term prospects regarding supplies of the different foodstuffs, such as bacon and ham, cheese, evaporated milk, roller dried skim milk powder, eggs, meat, etc. Meanwhile, more news about these matters, it is hinted in Ottawa, may be forthcoming in the near future.

Hon. Thibaudeau Rinfret, is this country's Administrator until the new Governor-General designate, Viscount Alexander, takes over the task since the Chief Justice was sworn into office just as soon as the Earl of Athlone had departed, and he will carry on until the new Governor-General accepts formally his office in Ottawa. . . . Incidentally, a new and thorough spring cleaning is taking place in this capital in preparation for the new Governor-General, with workmen cleaning and decorating the Union Station here and Parliament Hill receiving a similar treatment. . . . And while on the subject, the famous French town planner, Jacques Greber, officials of the Government, and Premier King have held a meeting in Ottawa in arranging plans for creating a beautiful nation's capital. . . . The critical shortage of housing materials was emphasized in Ottawa when it became known here that the War Assets Corporation announced a program of dismantling surplus buildings on military establishments across Canada so that these may be made available to authorities of the Veterans Land Act and Wartime Housing building plans. . . . The United States Government has scrapped all their disposal procedures and set up the exact machinery which Canada has been using for the disposal of war assets, even adopting the same name, War Assets Corporation. This has been made known in this capital.

Ground Sprays as Control Measures.

Two important orchard diseases, apple scab and leaf spot of sour cherries, are initiated from fungus wintering bodies which develop during winter on diseased leaves. Both these diseases were epidemic in 1945 and an exceptionally heavy carry over may be expected for 1946, says G. S. Chamberlain, Dominion Laboratory of Plant Pathology, St. Catharines, Ont. The subsequent development of scab and leaf spot depends to a very great extent on weather conditions. Nevertheless, the existence of the tremendous carry-over of fungus material is a serious threat and one to be met by close attention to spraying operations. In this connection a useful supplement to the regular spray program is the application of a spray designed to reduce the fungus material to such a low level that the control to be obtained by summer applications is made easier. This may be accomplished by thoroughly spraying the leaves on the ground with Elgotol 1/2 per cent strength (1-200) at the time of bud break. This material penetrates the developing fruiting bodies and prevents the subsequent discharge of spores. A thorough application is necessary to obtain full value from this treatment. The entire floor of the orchard, including fence corners and the immediate borders of the orchard where leaves are likely to collect and be sprayed. Where there are many leaves these should be loosened with a harrow so that all leaves may be thoroughly sprayed the leaves on the

SERVANTS GALORE... BY WIRE

● The time to solve the servant problem once and for all is when you are building or "modernizing" your home. The greatest modern domestic servant is electricity. How well and to what extent electricity can serve you, now and in the future, depends on how well your "servant's entrance" is designed . . . how wisely your home is wired.

Inadequate wiring limits the use of electricity. It leads only to inefficient operation of lights and appliances. But adequate wiring . . . three wire service to the house, with proper size circuits in the home and plenty of outlets in every room . . . overcomes these difficulties, and gives you full use of these modern servants.

Electrical home appliances increased rapidly in number and variety before the war. They are now reappearing and will continue to multiply. Homes that were wired only for the needs of 20 years ago should now be rewired to suit the wonderful new "electrical servants" to come.

Hydro's low-cost dependable service enables you to use these modern servants to the full if you have provided for them. In planning your new home, put adequate wiring at the top of your list.

If you are improving or building a home, ask your Hydro for the booklet "Adequate Wiring for the Postwar Electric Homes of Canada."

Ed Plant Passes.

The County of Essex, on Tuesday, lost one of its most respected and best known citizens, when Edwin Plant passed away in Grace Hospital, Winsor. He had been hospitalized only a few days, as a result of a broken hip, but had been in failing health the past four or five years.

Deceased, who was in his 84th year, was born and had lived all his life in Maidstone Township. Since a young man he had always taken a great interest in Municipal and Community work, being elected Councillor in 1898 and Reeve of the Township in 1902-3-4.
In 1917 he was appointed treasurer, a position he filled until retiring in 1940. In 1890 he was appointed assistant treasurer of the Essex County Fair Board, and a few years later became treasurer, a position he held until a couple of years before the Fair went out of existence.

Surviving are a son Arthur H., of Essex, and Miss Ethel, at the family home on No. 98 Highway; a brother Thomas, well-known ex-Reeve of Maidstone Township and ex-Warden of the County; also four grandchildren. His wife, the former Elizabeth Jane Goring, predeceased him 26 years ago, as did three brothers, Alfred, Walter and Oliver, and two sisters, Agnes (Mrs.
Charles Hicks) and Ella (Mrs. John K. Arnald).

(Thursday) afternoon from his late home, in charge of Rev. J. N. Sceviour.

I. O. D. E. Hold April Meeting

Mrs. G. I. Geddes was the April hostess for a well-attended meeting of the Col. Talbot of Essex Chapter, I. O.
D. E., with Mrs. V. Miller presiding.
Reports from the salvage convener and from the Thrift Shop were given and Mrs. E. A. Naylor and Mrs. Parker were put in charge of the Thrift Shop for the next month. Mrs. Parker, as Empire study convener, read an article about Manitoba. The sum of $10 was voted to the Municipal Chapter for educational scholarships, $5 to the Lucy Morrison Memorial Fund, and $150 to the Institute for the Blind.
This last money was left by the late Mrs. Wm. Chatterton and is given as a memorial to her; $20 to the Flower Fund for gifts and flowers.

Plans to entertain our two recent war brides were left with the conven-ers, Mrs. Parker and Mrs. Ammet.
The chapter voted to hold alternate evening meetings. A committee, composed of Mrs. Elsie, Mrs. Brien, Mrs.
Brett and Mrs. A. E. Naylor was appointed to make plans for an old-fishioned musical evening, to be held in May, the proceeds to go to the blind.
After the business of the evening, there was a short program. Miss Maxine Price played two piano solos.
Mrs. Brien read a short story of Helen Keller, Mrs. Elsie gave some statistics from the Institute for the Blind, and Mrs. Naylor told about the "sixth sense of the blind," called facial vision or sound perception, which is being taught our blinded soldiers.
At the close refreshments were served by the hostess.

Baptist Young People's Fellowship.

The Baptist Young People's Fellowship held their meeting on Monday night, at 8 p.m. The meeting opened with prayer, and Doris Cross led the group in a few well-chosen choruses.
At the meeting the members were divided into four groups: Devotional, Stewardship, Missions and Advancement. It is by the use of these four groups that we are to conduct our meetings.

The scripture reading was taken from Luke 11. Francis McNaughton spoke to us about prayer and the value
it is in any believer's life.
The next meeting will be held in charge of the Missions, led by Doris Cross, on April 22nd. All young people are invited to come and fellowship with us.

Henderson-Simpson Wedding

A spring wedding of interest was solemnized at the United Church, on Saturday evening, when Rev. R. H.
Parr, before an altar decorated with white flowers and burning white tapers, united in marriage Ruby Kathryne Simpson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Simpson, and William
John Henderson, son of Mrs. E. A.
Henderson and the late Mr. Henderson.

The bride wore a pearl grey suit with black accessories, and her corsage was of red roses. Miss Shirley Robinson, as bridesmaid, wore a lime green suit with black hat and a corsage of yellow roses. The bridegroom was assisted by his brother, Robert Henderson.

The wedding music was played by Mrs. J. A. Nightingale, and during the signing of the register Miss Beryl Nichols, of Windsor, sang "Because."
After the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlour.

Mrs. Simpson wore an afternoon frock of violet crepe with black and white accessories and carried pink carnations. The bridegroom's mother wore a black dress with black and white accessories.

In the basement of the church, decorated in pink and white, dinner was served to about ninety guests, by Circle No. 3 of the Women's Association. The bride's table was centred with a three-tiered wedding cake flanked by satin-died white tapers in crystal holders. Assisting in serving were six friends of the bride, Mrs. Robert Taylor, Mrs. Stan Jansen, Mrs. Velma
Martin, all of Windsor, and Miss Mary Plant, Mrs. Joe Henderson and Miss Norma Grant, of Essex.

Later, Mr. and Mrs. Henderson left on a motor trip to London and Toronto, the bride wearing a three-quarter length yalta shag coat over her suit and carrying a plastic purse. On their return they will live on the groom's farm, just outside of Essex.

A number of delightful pre-nuptial showers were held in her honour; Miss Shirley Robinson entertained 25 young ladies at a miscellaneous shower at her home in town; Mrs. Stanley Jensen, of Windsor, entertained about 30 young ladies at Mario's, in Winsor, while Mr. and Mrs. Ken Gardner and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Taylor entertained 8 couples at dinner and bridge, at the former's home in town, and presented them with a Clyde Wool blanket. The office staff at Ford's, where the bride-elect worked, presented her with a lovely drum head table.

Holsteins Break Production Records.

Over 500 Holstein breeders attended a celebration at the Ontario Hospital, Hamilton, Ontario, on April 5th, in honour of two world and one Canadian Champions that have recently completed records. Two of these were owned by the Ontario Hospital, Hamilton, and one by Dymond Bros., Jerseyville. The Dymond Bros. cow, Springville Irene Canary Echo, is a most unusual combination of a great producer and a cow of outstanding type. A year ago she was in the news when she was classified as "Excellent in Selective Registration at the advanced age of sixteen years, being the oldest cow in Canada ever to receive this award, the highest attainable for type. She has now completed a yearly record started as a 16-year-old of 24,561 lbs. milk containing 553 lbs. fat. This is the largest record for either milk or fat that has ever been reported anywhere in the world for a cow of her age or older.

O. H. H. Bonheur Darkness is the name of the new World Champion senior two-year-old for butterfat production. In 365 days on twice-a-day milking she gave 19,193 lbs. milk containing 820 lbs. butterfat. Her sister, O. H. H. Abberkerk Darkness, set a new Canadian record in the junior three-year-old class of the 365-day division on four-times-a-day milking with 709 lbs. fat from 17,762 lbs. milk. Both these animals were bred and are still owned by the Ontario Hospital, Hamilton.

In regard to the latest developments about creating in future a separate head for the Department of External Affairs which is now under the jurisdiction of the Prime Minister, Premier Mackenzie King has made it quite clear from time to time that he was not over-anxious to carry the extra burdens of this Department in addition to his heavy responsibilities as head of the Government. However, affairs on the international scene have been so delicate and critical as well as interlocked that such a change cannot be brought about even now very readily, especially in view of the current international situation, with this being hinted in Ottawa at this time. Then again, Premier King himself has stated in Parliament that he has had "a very close and intimate association with both Mr. Churchill when he was Prime Minister of the United Kingdom and with the late President Roosevelt of the United States," this being mentioned in the light of international gatherings that are to take place this year. "Very few men living today know what was in the mind of these men when certain decisions were made as well as I do myself; and of some of those decisions, I say, I think I have of those who are in office today, and almost exclusive knowledge," said in part Premier Mackenzie King in Parliament.

The institution of Daylight Saving Time, it is reported in Ottawa, will now be a matter for the provincial legislature and local municipalities, though during the war the Federal Government had put it into existence across Canada. Nevertheless, in peacetime it is a purely local affair and this will be the case this year.

Any allegation or claim that Canada had held out on Soviet Russia during the war is completely false according to the record in this capital where it has been established that during 1944-45 alone Canada had given mutual aid to Soviet Russia to the value of $97,563,000 in munitions, food and other supplies, including vehicles, industrial equipment, raw materials, services, etc. There is no foundation for such widely publicized allegations or claims since Canada most emphatically did not hold out on Soviet Russia at any time during the war.

With the authorization lately by War-time Prices and Trade Board of important price adjustments, including iron and steel, lumber, butter and park, pulp and paper, clothing and furnishings, etc., the impression seems to have spread that price control is ending in Canada, and that a drastic increase in the cost of living is now inevitable in this country, with the policy of the Federal Government having changed in this respect. However, this is not true at all and it is stressed in strong terms in Ottawa where no doubt is left that these price adjustments lately are only part and parcel of a carefully planned program though in the course of the next few months other small increases may continue to arrive in the cost of living is impending."

In other words, as long as the danger is great of inflation in view of the purchasing power and consumer demands are exceeding the supplies available in this country of many things, price controls will exist in principle and practice, with a change here and there being made on the basis of the Federal Government's policy on price control for the transition period which aims to give a reasonable degree of stability to living costs while creating conditions favourable to a high level of employment and production. Of course, it is admitted in Ottawa that this policy may, and undoubtedly will, mean somehow a small rise in the cost of living in this country but it will be carried out in such a way as to preserve the economic advantages gained from the wartime policy of protecting producers and consumers alike from the dislocations usually caused by inflation. As it has already been stated previously in a report from Ottawa, the Government has no intention in mind of putting into existence any policy which implies the removal, wholly or even substantially, of price control at the present time, though the line may be bent here and there from time to time in the course of the next few months.

Several committees of the House of Commons are engaged in extremely important work and their progress is being watched with interest during this session such as the veterans affairs committee, the war expenditures and economies committee already by the committee of the House of Commons and Senate seeking to select a flag and the committee aiming to find ways and means to simplify, speed up and otherwise revise the rules of Parliament. Each committee's progress in this session may be productive of most interesting news so that its operations and achievements are of concern to all. No less than about 1,500 different designs for a flag for Canada are said to have been received already by the committee, including in a vast majority of cases the Union Jack as a feature of the new designs; Walter A. Tucker is again chairman of the veterans affairs committee which has started its work so early in this session for a good start; with dire spread criticisms being heard on all sides against the slow procedure of Parliament on revision of House rules, the committee on revision of House rules, under Chairman Speaker Fauteux, is being watched very closely; the committee on war expenditures and economies will continue its examination of such matters of deep concern to all taxpayers, involving the operations the War Assets Corporation about which so much has been heard lately on Parliament Hill.

Many rumours have been accompanying the acute butter shortages across Canada and in Ottawa, these have been discounted in no uncertain terms. One rumour stated that much butter was being consumed in making soaps or cosmetics but inquiries have disclosed that this was not true, with coconut oil rather than butter being used in making cosmetics or soap. Another rumour claimed that much butter was being shipped abroad and this supposedly causing the severe shortages here, though investigations in Ottawa show that this, too, is wrong completely, since in the first two months of 1946 about 500,000 pounds were exported, this being only three per cent of Canadian production of butter. On the other hand, it is emphasized that on March 1st, 1946, the stocks of creamery butter held in nine principal cities of Canada had fallen to 5,556,000 pounds from 13,952,164 pounds on February 1st, with March 1st, 1945 having seen a stock of butter here of 11,372,000 pounds or almost double that in 1946 at the same time. Moreover, production figures were lower this year, though an early change in the weather may shortly produce more butter in this country, it is predicted.

"Our farm population is strongly urged to continue to strive for the greatest possible over-all production of foodstuffs and to plan their farming so as to produce the maximum quantity of food during the next three to four years," said Prime Minister Mackenzie King in Ottawa. "Foreign policy is too vital to be left to the sparetime direction of a harassed Prime Minister," declared Opposition Leader Hon. John Bracken in an address in Parliament. "A closed door policy does not harm those shut out but rather the country which is denied their contribution to its life," stated M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, in speaking in the capital on "Citizenship in a Changing World" . . . "Characteristics of veterans taking university courses are their interest in current affairs in co-operation with education and being of service," said the R.C.A.F. director of education, Harry E. Low, M.B.E., in a most significant statement in this capital.

The Veterans Affairs Minister, Hon. Ian Mackenzie, has disclosed in Ottawa that disability pensions in force on account of World War II increased from 21,955 at the beginning of 1945 to 48,484 at present. "Flour and bread rationing in Canada is held to be unlikely in Canada shortly in face of speculations on this subject being heard throughout this capital. . . . The Chief Commissioner of the Canadian Wheat Board, George McIvor, is the Canadian delegate to a conference called by the emergency economic committee for Europe and the purpose of this conference is to consider the present world cereals position, especially bearing in mind the immediate requirements of European countries. . . . Canada's chartered banks had current operating earnings of $171,700,000 during the 1945 financial year. . . . When the Progressive-Conservative Association met in Ottawa, there seemed to be considerable approval of the Federal Government adopting a plan whereby a date would be fixed for holding general elections every five years and that this should be something taken out of the hands of the government, being fixed by statute for this objective. . . . In face of any contrary impression, the espionage hearings in the courtroom in Ottawa were not conducted in any way to exclude the general public, with these court hearings being open to the limit of the available space or seats for such trials of justice. Peas, Protein Feed for Bacon Hogs.

The results of two feeding tests conducted in 1944 show that satisfactory gains are made by growing pigs when up to fifty per cent of the supplementary protein is supplied by peas. The other constituents of the supplements used with pea meal were meat meal and fish meal, or meat meal alone. Five per cent each of bone meal and iodized salt were included with each of the supplements tested, says R. M. Hopper, Dominion Experimental Farm, Brandon. The basal ration fed in the tests was made up of nine parts of chopped barley and one part of chopped oats. One test was commenced when the average weight of the pigs was 56 pounds, and the other when the average weight was 35 pounds. The tests were continued until all pigs were up to market weight. Slaughter tests were made to determine the quality of carcass produced with each of the rations. The amount of pea meal included in the different supplements used were forty, fifty, and sixty per cent respectively. Sufficient supplement was added to each ration to bring the total protein content of the feed mixture up to 16 per cent until the pigs reached an average weight of 100 pounds. During the period when the pigs were gaining in weight from an average of 100 pounds to 150 pounds, the total protein content of the feed was reduced to 14 1/2 per cent. During the finishing period only sufficient supplement was added to bring the total protein content of the feed to 13 1/2 per cent.

The average rate of gains by all pigs in the test was approximately 1 1/4 pounds daily. The average daily gains made by the pigs consuming the different supplements were almost identical. On the basis of Advanced Registry scores for carcass quality the pigs in the different lots were also equal. The average score being 77. While protein of animal origin, such as meat meal, is superior to proteins of vegetable origin for use in rations for pigs, a mixture of approximately equal parts of the two gives satisfactory results. While 10 to 12 per cent of meat meal in the rations for well started pigs weighing under 100 pounds will satisfy their needs, 14 to 17 per cent of the mixture of equal parts of meat meal and pea meal are required in the ration to promote the same rate of gain.

WELLER'S HARDWARE ESSEX

NOW THE LID IS OFF

WHEN war was declared in 1939, officers of the Canadian National Railways knew the tremendous war job that the company would be called upon to perform. Hundreds of millions of tons of war materials would have to be shipped to the United Nations from Canadian and American war plants to Halifax for overseas. By rail, the Atlantic port is served only by the Canadian National. Like all other railways in America, the C.N.R. emerged from the depression with a minimum of equipment. To keep the essential supplies moving, not a single delay could occur—cars would have to be unloaded and make a quick turn-around. How this big task was done can now be told. A lighterage pier 650 feet long and 100 wide was built with four railway tracks to handle 52 cars. The foundation took 1,800 piles and the pier 1,700,000 feet of timber.

More than 100 lighters, 110 feet long, 34 wide and eight-and-a-half deep with a capacity of 400 tons each were constructed. A 350-car yard was set up. Housing for the 200 C.N.R. employees needed to transfer the war supplies to the lighters was erected. In 1942 alone 72,000,000 tons of war equipment was handled. In a single hour 100 C.N.R. trains were loaded and despatched to Halifax from a Canadian munitions depot. Not a single delay was caused in handling the essential equipment and munitions by the Railway during almost six years of war. In the upper photograph a convoy of 94 ships is shown ready to steam out of Bedford Basin at Halifax, while, in the lower, C.N.R. employees are unloading T.N.I. from a freight car direct to a lighter on a chute with a R.C.M.P. officer on guard. Convoys as large as 125 ships were loaded from the lighters.

CANCER

CAN BE CURED

1000 Canadians die of cancer every month. Cancer specialists are convinced that the majority of these lives could be saved if proper treatment were given in the early stages of the disease.

That is the aim of the campaign against cancer now being organized in Ontario—to cut down this costly loss of life now being exacted by cancer.

It is proposed to establish cancer clinics at suitable centres throughout the province where all who suspect they may have cancer may be examined, and receive the proper treatment if necessary.

Plans are also under way to pay a portion of the cost of treatment of cancer, as well as travelling expenses, for those needing financial help.

The third objective of the campaign is an energetic program of cancer research in Ontario with the aim of discovering a specific cure for cancer, or for some means of preventing the disease.

Cancer research carried on to date has been entirely inadequate. It is estimated that less than $100,000 is being spent in the whole of Canada on cancer and related subjects.

Cancer can be conquered. If science is able to organize sufficient forces against the scourge of cancer, the solution will sooner or later be found.

Your contribution is needed—to cut down the death rate from cancer now—to carry on the search for a method of ridding the world of this dread disease.

This appeal is for an objective of $2,000,000 to provide for a three-year program of cancer research, treatment and province-wide service.

While 10 to 12 per cent of meat meal in the rations for well started pigs weighing under 100 pounds will satisfy their needs, 14 to 17 per cent of the mixture of equal parts of meat meal and pea meal are required in the ration to promote the same rate of gain.

Where Liberties Begin and End.

By Joseph Lister Rutledge.

There is something almost amusing in the debt way that the Soviet press and government has robbed us of our righteous indignation at the abuse of our hospitality, and has replaced it with a feeling both regretful and apologetic at having mentioned the matter at all.

Soviet officials having made no attempt to deny the implied charges themselves with maintaining that the countermeasures we adopted represented an unfriendly attitude. This sputter of anger on the part of the offender seems to smack of Hitler's dictum that if a lie is made big enough it will be believed by the people who can think only in terms of little lies; and if a contention is absurd enough, people will accept the absurdity for truth.

There seems to be more than a little justification for these beliefs considering how many Canadians have rushed to justify the Soviet actions. They have urged that espionage is a recognized practice and that in objecting to it, happening here we have put an unwarranted strain on the good relations on which our hope for an untroubled world must rest. This tendency to be apologetic for doing what we believe to be right is tantamount to apologizing to a burglar for having questioned his motives. It is woolly-headed thinking. It is reminiscent of Munich, of the timid, time-serving, caustic arguments and practice of the appeasers, and these led us—were?

We are ready to agree with anyone that the best assurance of world peace and security is to be found in the co-operation of the English speaking world with the great and growing powers of Russia and China. But only the befuddled thinker can believe that this can be achieved by a servile acceptance of anything that any one of the partners in this world organization may demand irrespective of its rights or justice. There are too many groups, even in our own thinking as the last word in social progress and public policy, and they are asking that we relinquish even our own rights in her presence lest she should remove this promise of peace from us.

The fact is that Russia needs peace even more urgently than we do. But the trend of her political thinking and her assessment of our somewhat too obvious efforts to please has suggested to her that she can use our eagerness for peace as a whip, or as a basis for maneuvering for her individual advantage.

This is not good thinking, and those Canadians who are encouraging that attitude are playing the same dangerous game that the appeasers played in the closing era of the 1930s. The need that we have for peace is a mutual need. If it is to be lasting and effective

In an active life is sown the seed of wisdom, but he who reflects not, never reaps.—Edward Young.

No Sugar Used in Brewing of Beer.

The Canadian Breweries Limited have sent us the following article to correct the wrong impression some people have in regard to the use of sugar in beer:

"No sugar whatever is used in the brewing of beer in Canada. Nor, to our knowledge, does any Canadian brewer purchase an ounce of sugar for manufacturing purposes. No wheat is used in the brewing of Canadian beer. The principal grain used is barley, which has been malted. That is, generally speaking, barley of a premium grade which it would be wasteful to use as feed.

"In the last year for which statistics have been released, Canadian brewing industry used about 7,000,000 bushels of barley out of a total crop of about 150,000,000 bushels. This is just over 4% of the crop."

People Are Asking?

Q.—I am a veteran and unacquainted with rental regulations which went into effect after I went overseas. I returned about six months ago and rented a house. Now I find out that I have been paying more than the ceiling rent. What should I do?

A.—You should consult the rentals office in your nearest Wartime Prices and Trade Board office regarding this matter. Give them the full facts and they will direct you as to the proper procedure.

Q.—To settle an argument will you please tell me what is meant by saying that the price ceiling on certain goods and services has been suspended.

A.—It means that price regulations have been removed from these goods and services but if the prices show too high an increase without regulations, these will be reimposed.

Q.—I am a farmer and will have maple syrup this year. How shall I know what price to ask for it?

A.—Ceiling prices on maple syrup are determined according to grade. Grades are set by the department of agriculture and not by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board. However,

Letter from East Africa.

The following letter was received by the editor from Major Albert E. Church, of the Salvation Army, a former Essex boy, now stationed at Nairobi, Kenya Colony, East Africa.

I dear Ken—For some time I felt that I should write you a few lines as you have been exceptionally kind in that the Free Press has arrived from the dear old town since we came to East Africa, almost thirteen years ago. Many changes have taken place since then, and we have passed through a great struggle for liberty and peace, and I suppose we of all people (I refer to East Africa) should be grateful to God that we were spared the tragic calamity that befell some parts of Africa. Truly, the enemy was at our gate, and I can well imagine our fate, had the Germans pushed through to Alexandria and then Cairo, when they were scurrying along North Africa, and then again the great Italian force that sat on our northern borders, a mere stone's throw from us, considering the speed of the plane in present-day travel.

Well, my good wife and three children are with me, spared and now looking homeward, that is excepting my son, who is a sergeant in the King's African Rifles, and will not be demobilized until some time in 1947, all being well. We are booked on the "Cameronia," which we expect will sail from Mombasa, our port, on March 22nd, and after a few days in England we are making a two line for that grand old spot in Ontario, the dear old Town of Essex.

Thirteen years without leave has been a heavy strain on us and besides continuing our own Salvation Army duties, we have tackled military welfare work — canteens, etc., meeting troops from the four corners of the earth, even some Canadian Air Force lads, from Ottawa, New Brunswick, Saskatoon, etc., and army, in the person of Captain (Dr.) MacGregor, of London, Ontario, who was serving with the Gold Coast Regiment, I also met a Captain from Montreal, so we have contacted some Canadians, which really thrilled us, and whoever would have thought it, meeting them in this part of the world. Also navy from Canada and Newfoundland, and some fine American lads.

We are feeling very worn out, but the joy of looking forward to seeing our friends in Essex and other parts of Canada, as well as meeting our relatives, more than compensates for the long extended tour in East Africa. I am sorry that our son will not be coming with us, but in common with all Europeans in East Africa, he was called up when he attained the age of 18 years, while still at school. As he knows the language, Kiswahili, he passed out of the military training school a sergeant with an "A" certificate, so it is most probable that he will have to rejoin until this Command passes out under general demobilization, when he is coming to Canada to complete his education.

How are you all keeping? The Free Press keeps us posted with the news of the town and district, so we hardly feel so far away — but it will be the real thing to see the folks again.

Please hold the Free Press until we arrive in Canada, which will be some time in April — a grand time to arrive from Africa, as we will not be subject to any cold weather. Our weather is very very hot and dry, with no rain yet, and it is very enervating, the continual heat.

Please convey our kindest regards to any of our old Essex friends. Will see you soon.

Yours sincerely,

ALBERT E. CHURCH.

subscriptions have remained the same since the Plan was organized and no increase is anticipated.

In Windsor, Mr. Saunders said, there were 15,576 participants as of December 31st last. They were enrolled in 227 groups, representing the city's principal industries and business houses. The enrolment in Essex county was 17,426 in 253 groups.

"There has been a steady increase in the number of participants and groups in both city and county since the beginning of the year," Mr. Saunders said.

Enrolment is on a group basis, he explained. The Plan provides needed hospital care and subscriptions are used for the benefit of subscribers. The rates and benefits are approved by the Ontario Department of Health.

The hospitals of Ontario themselves, through the Ontario Hospital Association, founded the Blue Cross Plan for hospital care "as a service in the public interest," Mr. Saunders said.

E. V. Hanna, whose headquarters are at Windsor, is representative of Plan for Hospital Care in the Border Cities Area and Essex County.

Unfolding Spy Drama.

Despite the opening of Parliament, the departure of the gracious Atholton from Canada's soil, and the Churchill speeches, the "spy" drama continues to hold the centre of the stage in the Capital. Six-inch headlines in local papers told the story of super-explosive secrets being passed on to an outside nation, of agents in key positions in war departments, of a Member of Parliament identified in the spy ring.

This latter disclosure caused literally hundreds of curious Ottawans to crowd the halls of the Parliament when the said Member of Parliament was challenged and thrown out.

However, as one newspaperman commented, "Parliament did itself proud by politely but calmly carrying on with its scheduled business and permitting the Member of Parliament under a cloud of suspicion to take his seat in the Commons, ignored and unchallenged."

The discreet manner in which the Member of Parliament was treated by his colleagues was a demonstration of the soundness of Canada's democratic principles and justice.

Prime Minister's Statement. During the spy excitement, of course, there have been a number of official statements, but the most until the Prime Minister made his first parliamentary speech on the subject.

In ninety minutes he set forth the official background of the Russian espionage investigation, and the newspaper reporters present described it as one of his greatest parliamentary efforts.

His delivery was calm, his recitation of an involved and tedious matter was marked by genuine moderation, and his conclusion was striking. He emphasized that, despite the revelations, he felt sure that Canada wants only the friendliest relations with Russia.

The final paragraph of the Prime Minister's address is worth keeping in mind during the public discussion of this matter which will necessarily be long, and the newspaper reports thereof which may at times be violent.

Mr. King said: "As far as the Russian people are concerned, I am as sure as I am of anything that the Russian people are just as anxious for friendly relations with Canada and with peoples in other parts of the world as our own people are, but in that country as in some others, there are persons who for their own selfish ends will do many things that would not be countenanced by the great majority. We have seen how a few men may get power into their own hands, and power once secured, they will do with it for selfish and ambitious ends many things that are not approved by their fellow men. What has happened in this instance may have been the action of a few men which I am certain will not be condoned and would not be countenanced by the Russian people. I intend with whatever little power I have, so far as this matter is concerned, to unearth whatever may be wrong, and for the remainder of my life to devote my time to trying in every way possible to see that the greatest amount of friendship and harmony and good will is promoted between all people and the people of Canada in particular."

Food for the Starving. In the Speech from the Throne the Government said it was "seeking by all practicable means to make available for export the maximum supply of foodstuffs." The Speech also added that "every encouragement is being given to increasing production. The gravity of the situation demands, on the part of the people of Canada, a united and whole-hearted effort."

As some of the first steps in this urgent humanitarian activity, the Government has announced a 10 per cent reduction in the amount of wheat to be allowed for domestic flour, and has refused to increase the withdrawal rate of flour from wheat. The first will increase the amount of wheat for export, and the second will see that a continued supply of mill feed will be available for livestock, because meat also is required overseas.

It is the overall picture which the Government is aiming to control. It would be easy to increase the amount of wheat acreage for 1946, but that would mean less coarse grain, which would spell trouble for farmers raising bacon, livestock, dairy products, poultry products — for which Canada already has large export contracts.

As proof of the realistic manner in which the Government is acting in the wheat and food problem, there came immediate assurances of co-operation from the provincial governments of Canada's grain-growing provinces. While some further debate on the matter is expected in the House of Commons, the general wheat plan of the Government is obviously very acceptable to agricultural leaders and good farmers.

Canada's Foreign Policy. A significant step was taken in the growth and development of Canada's foreign policy, and the method of giving expression to it, when the Prime Minister announced a bill to amend the present legislation regarding the External Affairs Department.

The bill will allow any Minister to hold the External Affairs portfolio. Since 1912 this portfolio has always been held by the Prime Minister, and there have been certain limitations as a result.

Professional forecasters in the Capital are saying that this step by the Government is bound to lead to a separate ministry of External Affairs which would be entirely in keeping with Canada's new and dignified position in the international world.

The annual meeting of the Essex County Library Association was held on Thursday of last week, in the local public library, with A. E. MacGillivray, of Cottam, as chairman, and representatives from Amherstburg, Comber, Cottam, Harrow, Kilmorris, Leamington, Riverside, Roseland Woodlee and Essex present.

Submits Report. Miss B. Hardie, county Librarian, submitted a report of the year's work showing a circulation increase of 5,429 books over 1944 and the number of schools receiving books from the county library headquarters as 11.

It was decided that a truck system of transportation for book exchanges be started and each library visited four times a year.

Father Blonde, chairman of the Windsor Public Library Board, said Windsor was beginning to feel that it was time for libraries to branch out and that the time was past when libraries were being presented to the public on a silver platter.

"Windsor is becoming ambitious as regards libraries and is now going to create her own," he said.

Must Co-operate. As secretary of the trustees' section of the library association, Mrs. Kerr of Windsor said, "There is no section in Ontario that cannot be covered by library service and library trustees must get together and co-ordinate their interests and obligations."

Public School Inspector R. A. Pierce gave an encouraging report of the increased interest that school boards were showing in buying books and thus creating a wider and greater interest in reading.

Tells of Work. Angus Mowatt, provincial library inspector, introduced A. Garland, of London, the Western Ontario representative of the Adult Education

Board. Mr. Garland spoke of the work of the Universities' Adult Education Board, telling how the province had set aside $50,000 for adult education, turned it over to the universities, who had set up a board.

The speaker said, "Education is a continuing program and the schools are only a start in the educational field." He urged fewer lectures, more discussion groups, more participation on the part of the students and more good listeners.

"When anything is done in education, the libraries are going to have a major part, because they are no longer just a storehouse for books, continued Mr. Garland.

He suggested that libraries should be one of the places where discussion groups could gather and concluded by saying, "Democracy will not survive unless we discuss what is back of it. Then follows understanding and co-operation."

Mr. Mowatt told something of what should be done to stimulate library service and congratulated the western part of the province on the work of the library association.

The following officers were elected for the year: Chairman, A. E. MacGillivray; vice-chairman, Mr. McAlpine; secretary-treasurer, not decided; auditor, Mr. Patterson.

Essex Store Robbed.

The steel safe of Stedman Bros. store, in town, was stolen sometime between 4 a.m. and daylight, on Sunday morning, by thieves who gained entrance through the front door, by use of heavy iron bars. They evidently carried the safe back through the door to their waiting car or truck, and drove to the pea vineries near Gesto, where they wrecked same by use of heavy instruments.

The thieves got around $400 in cash, receipts of the week-end business.

This is the second time the store safe has been stolen. Provincial and local police are investigating.

Essex Town Council.

Thursday April 11th, Council met in special session in the council chamber at 8 p.m. at the call of the special committee formed to find a suitable man as relief to Chief of Police H. Harrison who had been granted a three months' sick leave.

Mayor Linton, Reeve Irwin and Councillors Chase, Shaw, Lee and Pulleyblank were present.

The Mayor stated he had got in touch with Ray M. Davis, of London, whom he asked to be present. He then called on Mr. Davis to address Council.

Mr. Davis stated he was 28 years of age and 6 ft. 3 in. in height, married, with one child. He had just been given his discharge, on February 18th, from the Provost Corps of the Canadian Army, after serving in all the theatres of war. He has had one year's experience as a constable, the Middlesex County Police Force prior to enlisting in 1940. He would like to continue in police work, and could take over at once. He owned his own car.

After a short discussion, during which Mr. Davis tabled some references, Mr. Davis was hired, on motion of Messrs. Irwin and Chase, as relief chief of police for a three months' period.

Mr. Harrison, on request, agreed to stay on with Mr. Davis till the end of the month.

Council adjourned.

Essex Town Council.

Wednesday, April 17th, Council met in special session, at 4 p.m., at the call of the Mayor, with Mayor Linton, Reeve Irwin, and Councillors Chase, Shaw, Lee and Pulleyblank present; also Mr. Geddes, town solicitor, and Mr. Wightman, representative of Goulding, Rose & Co., investment brokers, of Toronto.

The Mayor stated the meeting had been called to consider re-financing the town debenture indebtedness.

Mr. Wightman, of Toronto, then addressed Council, laying the tentative plan on the Council table. The scheduled proposal calling in all the town's present outstanding debentures, callable according to present refunding plan, which bear 3 1/2% interest and replace them with an issue of 2 1/2% and 3% bonds. His company would underwrite the whole issue at a price of 97 1/2, which is a cost to the town of 3.06% interest.

The present debt of $275,535.82 would be called in and new debentures of $122,000 at 2 1/2%, payable in the first ten years and $160,000 at 3%, payable from 11 to 20 years from July 1st, would be issued, which sold by the town at 97 1/2 would net the municipality $274,950.

After discussing the feasibility of the plan, which Mr. Geddes reported had the full endorsement of Mr. Coombe and his department, according to a long distance call he had about 2 o'clock from the town supervisor, Mayor Linton asked each Councillor individually if they were in favour of re-financing the town debenture indebtedness, to which all were unanimous.

On motion of Messrs. Irwin and Pulleyblank the following motion was unanimously passed:

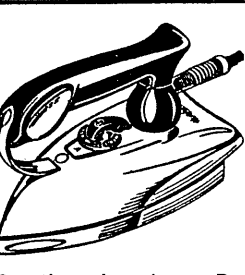

"That the Municipality of the Town of Essex call in all their outstanding debentures as at December 31st, 1946, and replace them with an issue of $282,000, viz., $122,000 bearing 2 1/2% interest coupons, due and payable from 1947 to 1956 and $160,000 bearing 3% interest coupons, due and payable from 1957 to 1966, same to be sold to Goulding, Rose & Co., of Toronto, at a price of $97.50 per $100 principal, said investment house to pay all expenses incurred as printing of debentures, etc., except the fee of the Ontario Municipal Board; the said Company to assume interest payable from date of issue, July 1st, 1946, to December 31st, 1946, however said company is to be paid interest earned on the said $282,000, to be placed in the name of the Town of Essex, with a recognized sound bank or loan company, from July 1st, 1946, to December 31st, 1946, this amount of interest earned to help reimburse Goulding, Rose & Co. for the extra six months interest charge they will be required to pay; all of above agreement to be subject to the approval of the Department of Municipal Affairs, Toronto, and to the final validation order of the Ontario Municipal Board.

Council adjourned.

REFUNDING SAVES RATEPAYERS EXCESS OF $50,000

New Interest Rate 2 1/2% and 3%.

The Town Council, at a special meeting, held Wednesday afternoon, unanimously approved a new refunding plan for the town.

The present town debenture indebtedness of $275,535.82, all of which is callable as at December 31st of any year, according to the present town refunding plan, which has been in operation since 1940, will be called at December 31st, 1946.

To raise the said $275,535.82 the town will issue debentures to a total of $282,000, viz., $122,000 to bear interest at 2 1/2% payable on July 1st, 1947 annually to July 1st, 1956, and $160,000 bearing 3% interest, payable annually July 1st, 1957 to July 1st, 1966.

Under the present plan our indebtedness was to have been paid over a forty year period, 1940 to 1980, in other words, we still had 34 years to pay, whereas the new plan will pay off our total indebtedness in twenty years at an annual payment of only slightly over $1,000 a year more than we had to raise to pay off before, at our original debt in 34 years.

To show the saving in the next year, our debt of $275,535.82 bearing 3 1/2% interest coupons amounts to $164,225.50 interest payable as at December 31st, 1946, while the new issue, totalling $282,000 with interest at the rate of 2 1/2%, amounts to only $70,500 or a saving of over $93,725.

The total savings to the ratepayers over the 20 year period will be in excess of $50,000.

This new plan will also have the callable clause printed on each debenture so, if by chance, money gets any cheaper a few years from now, the council at that time will again be able to call in all outstanding debentures and sell a new issue.

When one considers that Dominion of Canada Bonds bear 3% interest and Town of Essex are refunding at a cost to the town of only 3.06%, you can realize what a savings Mayor Linton and his Council have made for the ratepayers of Essex.

Mother Care Act Among Bills Passing Legislature.

Designed to aid and improve conditions throughout Ontario, one of the largest volumes of new and amended legislation was dealt with by the 22nd session of the Ontario Legislature recently concluded. A total of 176 bills was introduced, 132 being public bills and 44 private measures. Of these 152 were passed.

New Health Measure.

Included in this large volume of legislation are many measures implementing the Drew Government's aggressive policies in the fields of health, education, law enforcement, agriculture, highways, welfare, etc. Particularly in health measures under the direction of Hon. Russell T. Kelley, a bill was approved providing for free medical examination of all expectant mothers. Under this new departure, expectant mothers receive a free medical examination upon making application to a medical practitioner who forwards a report to the Department of Health. The doctor making the examination is to be paid a $5 fee by the government.

Two New Departments.

Two new departments were set up under legislation introduced by Premier George Drew. These are: the Department of Travel and Publicity, headed by Hon. G. Arthur Welsh, and the Department of Reform Institutions, headed by Hon. G. H. Durnbar. Departments dealing directly with these two problems are new in provincial administration. The Travel and Publicity Department will direct its work toward aiding the tourist business and publicizing the province. Officials estimate that the forthcoming season will be the largest in years with upwards of 12,000,000 visitors expected. The Reform Institutions Department will direct the new five or six institutions to be erected at various points throughout the province under the new policy for handling certain types of inmates.

Continue Grants.

Continuation of educational grants to municipalities, counties and townships to relieve the tax burden on the local taxpayer is provided for in the budget. A record highway construction and improvement program is to be implemented with expenditures of $46,000,000 to be made.

Complete revision of liquor sales is to be made under the Liquor License Act, a step designated in the course of temperance. Another measure introduced by Attorney-General L. E. Blackwell provides for widening of Provincial Police work by a new war-proved frequency modulation radio system. This will institute a new method in crime prevention, the new system knitting together the whole police system by permitting not only station to car two-way communication but car-to-car communication.

Subsidies Continued.

A new minimum wage for men is to be brought in by regulation, Minister of Labor Charles Daley announced. Subsidies on cheese, hogs, and sugar beets are continued for another year by measures introduced by Minister of Agriculture T. L. Kennedy. Another bill from his department sets up the Ontario Food Terminal to be built in York County for handling of fruit and produce. The Conservation authorities in various parts of the province, similar to the Grand River Conservation and Thames River Control commissions. Three municipalities within a watershed may proceed to create an authority under this measure to control flood conditions.

Historic Mace.

The session occupied 25 sitting days. This included nine night sessions and one morning sitting. At prorogation, the historic mace, symbolizing the king's authority, and used at the first parliament held in Ontario on September 15th, 1792, was taken into the Chamber. This first session was at Niagara-on-the-Lake. On April 27th, 1837, this mace was seized by U. S. troops when capturing York. It was taken to Washington, remaining there until 1931 when the late President Roosevelt directed its return here. Premier Drew announced it will be encased in glass and placed on exhibition in Parliament Buildings. A select committee was appointed on motion of Premier Drew to study and report on members' indemnities.

Are You a Moron or a Genius?

Are you a moron or a genius? If either, then the chances are that you automatically become a public menace once you get behind the wheel of a car, truck or bus and press down on the accelerator.

According to educators and psychologists, those who are far below average in intelligence are forever getting into traffic difficulties because they are not mentally alert. But the genius is no better. He gets into highway hot water because his mind is usually on abstract things.

This doesn't mean that Mr. Average Driver has any right to crow, though even if tests do show that this large medium group can produce good drivers.

It takes more than an ability to step on the gas or use a brake to become an expert. Modern driving is serious business. A good driver must be emotionally, mentally and physically sound. For one thing, he can't be thinking about June moons or that income tax payment and at the same time keep his mind on the wheel, on the highway and on the man in the other car. Nor is he likely to escape trouble if his eyesight is so poor that he finds difficulty in hitting a barn door broadside at twenty paces.

Like practically every other modern skill these days, today's driving habits and drivers have been analyzed with microscopic precision and the investigators, psychological, analytical and factual, have come up with the goods. But that's old stuff. The emphasis now is on remedial measures: what can be done to correct bad driving habits?

The man with probably the best answer is Professor Ames E. Neyhart, administrative head of the Institute of Public Safety, Pennsylvania State College, and staff consultant for the American Automobile Association on road training. The author of several books on safe driving, he presented his first course in the U. S. on driver education and training for new drivers in 1937 at Pennsylvania State College. Three years later he inaugurated a teacher training course in driver education, and it was in that year that he was appointed a full-time staff consultant for the American Automobile Association.

Largely through Prof. Neyhart's efforts, the idea has spread until today 8,000 of the 25,000 high schools in the United States now give lessons on driving. Six hundred of these schools use automobiles and give behind-the-wheel instruction in addition to class lectures on safe driving. In one American city, Cleveland, Ohio, every high school has had a full-time teacher and a full-time car since 1936. The results have been more than encouraging, according to Prof. Neyhart. The record of 1,800 Clevelanders who had completed the course was compared with that of the same age group, licensed at the same time and driving under the same conditions, who did not take the course or failed to complete it. The group that had been trained had 12 per cent fewer accidents.

It was in 1939 that Prof. Neyhart inaugurated the first motor fleet supervisors' training course in the U. S. This course enabled him to carry over into the field of commercial highway transportation the practical techniques for the training of commercial vehicle drivers. At present fleet supervisors' courses are being conducted in more than 65 American cities and more than 1,000 instructors have been trained.

Last year in Toronto, the first Canadian fleet supervisors' course was held. It proved so successful that a second has been planned for this year, April 22nd to 26th, in the Mining Building of the University of Toronto. Emphasizing the need for testing, selecting, training and supervising motor fleet personnel, the course is sponsored by the Extension Department of the University of Toronto, the Ontario Safety League and John Labatt Limited, of London, Ont.

Prof. Neyhart, who will visit Toronto to take charge of the class again this year, sketches the objectives of the course this way: "It will teach supervisors of motor fleets to study their drivers—to study the mental, emotional and physical characteristics of the individual and their influence on his driving, and to acquaint each driver with his own limitations and suggest appropriate remedies or methods of compensation."

To achieve these ends, motor fleet buses from all parts of Ontario will go to school for five days. Besides attending lectures, they will be tested with the very latest in scientific equipment and receive behind-the-wheel, over-the-road instruction.

White Bread or Dark?

Discussions in Ottawa on the desirability or necessity of milling long extraction flour in Canada, in order to help out food shortages in Great Britain and Europe, seem to point to one conclusion. While nutritionists favour "dark" bread, the Canadian housewife does not like it. In an emergency, long extraction flour may be necessary as it was in Great Britain during the war. Under normal conditions of supply, the consumer prefers his bread white.

To meet the standards set by millions of housewives on this continent over a long period of years, the flour miller has found that he must extract approximately 72 per cent of the weight of his wheat as flour and the remaining 28 per cent is then used for mill feeds and other end products. If extraction of flour is increased to 80 per cent, or 85 per cent, as was English practice during the war, more flour retaining more of the B vitamins is secured but the characteristics of the flour change. The housewife is not slow in noticing the difference.

This is indicated by the fact that only about 3 per cent of flour used in Canada is that designated "Canada Approved." The nutritionists approve this flour because it has a higher vitamin B content but the consuming public have not taken this flour, after four years of promotional efforts on the part of government agencies, because it does not meet the standards they demand and get in the old-established brands.

If world food shortages require that Canada's wheat stocks be stretched as far as possible, Canadians will undoubtedly accept and eat bread and bakery products made from the long extraction flour. Actually any contribution by Canada in this respect would be small in relation to her already enormous effort. Long extraction, too, means less feed for cattle. Canadians are conscious that they are more fortunate than most in respect to available food supplies and are not averse to tightening their belts to supply more food to famine-threatened countries. They are willing to do much in an emergency but only so long as they are convinced that emergency exists. The Dominion Government's recent decision not to go to long extraction is good news for bread eaters.

Rates of Applying Barnyard Manure.

There are several factors that should be considered when deciding upon the most economical rate at which to apply barnyard manure. 1. The quantity of manure available; 2. The duration of the rotation; 3. The kind or variety of crop to be produced; 4. The physical condition of the soil.

Experiments at the Dominion Experimental Farm, Nappan, N.S., over a period of years indicate that light but frequent applications of manure will return a higher value per ton than heavy rates with longer intervals between applications and have also shown that increased rates have resulted in increased yields and lower net returns per ton.

In a 4-year rotation of swedes, oats, clover hay, timothy hay, 12 tons of manure per acre applied before the swede crop gave a 22-year average increase in dry matter production in the four crops of 24 per cent over unmanured plots, and a return of $3.22 per ton of manure applied. Sixteen tons increased the yield by 106 per cent and the return value of the manure was $3.09, while 20 tons gave an increase of 130 per cent in yield and a return of $2.84 per ton of manure applied. When 8 tons per acre were applied twice in the rotation, before swedes and again before the clover crop, the increase in dry matter was 128 per cent and the return value per ton of manure was $3.35.

With a limited supply of manure in relation to the area under cultivation, a condition found on most farms, light but frequent applications, supplemented with commercial fertilizer, are preferable.

Cash crops will generally return a higher value per ton of manure than crops for livestock feed, but the effect of heavy rates on the quality of the crop and the incidence of disease must be taken into consideration. Land low in organic matter will usually benefit from heavy rates to a greater degree than soil that is high in this material.

Imperial Oil Profits Up.

Net profits of Imperial Oil from its sales in Canada increased slightly in 1945 over those in 1944, the company's annual report states. During the past year approximately 1,291,000,000 gallons of products were sold at an average net profit of four-fifths of a cent per gallon. This compares with 1,397,000,000 gallons at an average net profit of approximately three-quarters of a cent per gallon in 1944.

Earnings from investments, mostly in South America, were $6,264,298.76, and this brought the total operating income of the company to $10,287.13 or 61.62 cents per share.

The report reveals that the company has extensive plans for building and modernizing refinery equipment. Four ocean-going tankers lost during the war, are to be replaced, and the company plans to build three lake tankers in Canada. A fourth tanker of coastal size has been added to the fleet recently. Approximately 93 per cent of those company employees who served in the armed forces and were known to be discharged were again in the company's employ at the end of 1945.

To encourage the growing of improved quality seed and malting barley in 1946, the brewing and malting industries of Canada are offering substantial cash awards to the farmers of Ontario who produce the best barley of certain approved varieties.

The National Barley Contest is being conducted to help overcome a serious barley production situation resulting from an extreme shortage of seed and steadily deteriorating quality. By stimulating quality barley improvement, Canada's domestic needs will be met and successful re-entry into world barley markets assured in the future.

Important!

In all present-day tires, regardless of make, correct inflation is essential. Over-inflation leads to hard riding, lessens traction, induces skidding. Under-inflation causes abnormal flexing, causes ply separation, shortens tire life—consult your Goodyear Dealer for proper pressure.

The arrival of the new Governor General of Canada, Viscount Alexander of Tunis, is drawing attention to four precedents or customs in this respect. One, the departure of the Earl of Athlone from Canada by air set a new custom since no other Governor General had left this country by this modern method. Two, the old tradition of the "passing at sea" of one Governor General leaving and the other arriving was upheld again since the Earl of Athlone sailed for England on the Queen Mary and the Aquitania brought Viscount Alexander to Canada at about the same time, this again creating a situation where there would be no two Governors General in Canada at the same time. Three, the Earl of Athlone had been sworn into office in Ottawa and this precedent has been followed by Viscount Alexander, though in the past a Governor General was often sworn in just as soon as he got foot on Canadian soil. Four, while usually the Governor General occupies the throne on state occasions in this capital alone, yet the Earl of Athlone was accompanied by his wife, H.R.H. Princess Alice, since she was a member of the Royal Family, and she sat on the throne, too, this explaining a situation which has been a mystery for many Canadians.

It may be merely another item in the estimates of expenditures to most people, but in reality it tells a most important story. This refers to the report that the Federal Government will spend over $14,000,000 for research purposes in the three armed services in 1946-47 and this amount for scientific work in defence is more than used to be spent in normal peacetime years for Canada's armed forces entirely prior to World War II, indicating in no uncertain manner the trend of the times in such matters and the teeth being put into international law enforcement. Likewise, a check-up of these figures shows that research generally will be a most important consideration this coming year, with normal expenses for the National Research Council including $2,087,852 and another $4,291,000 for "special activities." At the same time, it should be pointed out that it has been revealed in Ottawa that the total expenditures on Canada's armed forces are being reduced by $1,494,575.547, with army expenditures for coming year set at $283,170,171, air force $118,124,753 and navy $72,817,856 for a total of $488,608,641 for 1946-47.

A report in Ottawa has shown clearly that the cost of living index in Canada has gone up from 119.9 at February 1st to 120.1 on March 1st and this means that the rise since August, 1939, that is the last month before the war started, has been no less than 19.1 per cent from 100.8 to 120.1 on the basis of official disclosures here. Though foods contributed the major part of the latest increase, yet clothing, home-furnishings and services as well as fuel also registered moderate increases.

In regard to the demand made in Parliament by a member of the official Opposition, Major Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C., of the Progressive Conservatives, for production of all correspondence, telegrams and other documents exchanged between Premier King and the British Government relative to the withdrawal of the Canadian army occupational forces from Germany, Premier King suggested that this motion should be dropped. "Correspondence of this kind is, according to long standing precedent, privileged," said the Prime Minister, indicating that it would not be possible to meet such wishes at present. Statements have been made in the British House of Commons which would indicate that the agreement to withdraw these troops was of a unilateral character and against the wishes of the authorities in Great Britain. declared Major General Pearkes. "There is a good deal of feeling about this in the country. If the Prime Minister is unable to produce all the papers, perhaps he could produce sufficient to clear up the matter, or he may be prepared to make a statement with regard to the reasons behind the withdrawal of this force." However, Premier King replied that Defence Minister Abbott would be only too ready to make a statement later in the session, this apparently closing this incident only temporarily or for the time being, so that more may be heard about it in Ottawa later since hints of vigorous criticisms for this action have been whispered backstage for some time now.

Notwithstanding the popular belief that Canadians will get a sharp drop in the present taxation scales soon, yet several hints have been given lately in Ottawa that the requirements of the Federal Government, together with reports reaching here of the needs of provincial and municipal bodies, may not allow any such expected decreases in taxation now, especially in view of the social security measures asked for lately and the estimates brought down in Ottawa for the fiscal year ending March 31st, 1947, with Government estimates of $2,769,349,815 having been "larger than anticipated." In fact, there have been suggestions heard here that there may be even greater expenditures in various directions, though an effort will be made by the Government to cut expenses as quickly as possible and some taxes may drop. However, Canadians may not get the great relief from taxation that is generally expected.

With the resignation of Hon. H. A. Bruce, 77 year old Progressive-Conservative representative from Toronto-Parkdale, the official Opposition in Parliament has been reduced to 65 and other party standings are: Liberals 126, C.C.F. 28, Social Credit 13, and others 12, with widespread interest being shown in conversations in the lobbies and elsewhere in the coming first by-election since the general elections of last June. Political predictions insist that there will most likely be a contest for the seat by several parties, though since 1917 this constituency has invariably returned a Progressive-Conservative representative and in the last test Hon. H. A. Bruce won by almost 2,000 majority over his nearest rival, a Liberal.

It has been disclosed in this capital that Canada admitted 14,366 immigrants in the period June 1st, 1945, to Jan. 1st, 1946. In regard to refugees it may be added that a special committee of the Cabinet is studying the question of admitting European refugees to Canada but Premier King has emphasized that it is a most difficult problem so that as far as Canada was concerned it must be carefully examined before any action is taken, though he indicated that this country was not able up to now to admit any large number but "as the situation in the world changes we hope to take more liberal attitude than it has been possible to take in the past."

"Before we can look forward to peace and prosperity we must do away with the fact that millions of people never have enough to eat," said in Ottawa the New Zealand High Commissioner to Canada, Hon. David Wilson. "Interest in emigration to Canada amongst the people of the W Weed Killer a Genuine Knockout.

What George Knowles, Weed Control Expert, Field Husbandry Division, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, believes is the most helpful ally yet discovered in the battle against weeds, is a new chemical known as 2-4-D, which is a contraction of 2,4-dichlorophenoxyacetic acid. His belief follows the encouraging results of a series of elaborate experiments carried out in Ottawa and at several other Dominion Experimental Farms in co-operation with 13 North Central states of the United States.

The Ottawa experiments disclosed that one application of the powerful new chemical, which the manufacturers say will be on sale in quantities in Canada early in the spring, will kill many weeds, more effectively than any other chemical. It will also killandelions and most other weeds found in lawns, without injury to the grass. It does, however, temporarily eliminate clover, but the clover gradually grows again without re-seeding.

While 2-4-D, when used on Canada thistle in grain crops, did not completely kill the vigorous weed, it was badly set back that it did not reappear until nearly harvest time and only in the form of young shoots. Practically the same results were obtained on field bindweed growing in a field of oats. Just how many applications of 2-4-D will be required to spell out and certain death to Canada thistle and field bindweed in grain crops is yet to be determined.

When annual weeds, such as mustard, lamb's quarters, and red root, are sprayed with the new weed killer, they are blotted out as completely as Hiroshima was by the atomic bomb. As an example of this, Mr. Knowles says a dense growth of mustard growing in an acre of grain was eliminated by one spraying of 120 gallons of liquid that contained less than three-quarters of a pound of one of the preparations containing 2-4-D. Amazingly the new devastating weed killer does no perceptible injury to plants of the grass family, which includes wheat, oats, barley and rye. But if 2-4-D is used on a lawn around a flower garden, Mr. Knowles advises the exercise of considerable care or some cherished plants may be damaged, for there is still much to learn about the new wonder weed killer.

Discovery of 2-4-D was made by a group of scientists in the United States in 1943 while experimenting with hormone or growth stimulants. Over-illumination it was found killed some plants, one of which was field bindweed. The news of what 2-4-D did to bindweed caused great interest among agricultural scientists everywhere and plans to carry on experiments on other weeds have since been carried out at several points in Canada and the United States.

If additional experiments with 2-4-D are as encouraging results as those which have already been disclosed farmers may be able to wage more successful war against weeds, which cost them many millions of dollars annually.

that would crush and rend."

"As the Russian Kid was dying," Mike recalled, "he turned to me and said: 'Never quit, Kid, carry on,' and I have tried to follow that advice."

In the long years this wraithlike prospector searched the barrens for his "strike" he has never lost his keen ability to understand and act quickly.

Back in his beloved Val d'Or recently, together with a few prospector friends, he once again set forth to check on an outcropping of two. One of the party ventured too far out on the thin ice and plunged through. It was instantly clear the ice would not support a rescuer. It was Mike who solved it, and quickly. Seizing an axe he swiftly dropped a long and slender tree close to the struggling boy — and it was Mike who swiftly crawled along its length and drew him safely into its branches. The others drew the tree, Mike and the shivering boy to safety. And Mike, despite his ability to defy the elements, cannot swim a single stroke. When the young man learned this, he was greatly impressed and told the others, "Well, but for Mike Mitto, I was a goner." And to Mike, "Knowing you could not swim, why did you do it?"

Mike's simple answer was "What would you have done?"

No one who knows the man believes he will settle down in Val d'Or, at least not for long. He will be off to the hills again as sure as shooting. He is only in his fifties.

He doesn't have to leave though, because he owns a very great part of the real estate along the town's main street; besides being the biggest shareholder in Bordenburg, he is also president of Sault Ste. Marie Mines, Bordenburg Mines, and is interested in a host of others not mentioned the ones he has not yet found.

The day becomes more solemn and serene

When noon is past; there is a harmony in Autumn, and a luster to its sky which through the Summer is not heard or seen.

—Shelley.

MIKE MITTO

Renowned character of the gold fields from the Yukon to Quebec, was one of the first stakers in Val d'Or, and the area on which the city now stands. He still owns much Main Street property that is valued at $1,000 per front foot, some ninety claims stretched across Canada, and is reputed to be Val d'Or's first millionaire. Jack Chappell, another fabulous prospector, claims that he would have been first but didn't sell as quick as Mike. Mike constantly toys with a nugget taken from his first strike in the Yukon — his lucky piece.

Mike Mitto, Prospector.

He Found a Pot of Gold at the Rainbow's End.

By Walker Hall.

With the raw-ribbed Wild that abhors all life, the Wild that would crush and rend; I have climbed and closed with the naked North; I have learned to defy and defend; Shoulder to shoulder we've fought it out.

—From "The Heart of the Source," by Robert W. Service.

To sit across the table from Mike Mitto is a rare experience; one that I shall not soon forget. He chats freely, his voice resonant with affection for the wild north over which he has reamed for more than fifty years. To look deep into his eyes is to find with the "Spenn of the North." As he talks, you see through his eyes the bleakness of the barren lands on the rim of the Arctic; you see the tall snowclad minarets that are the Rockies; you see the bush-clad Laurentians rolling limitlessly; you see the rushing rivers, and you feel the icy blasts that send men to untimely ends.

Mike's hands tell eloquently of hardships suffered on the trail, of grueling pick and shovel work; and his weather-beaten face confirms it all.

This hardy and colorful man arrived in Canada in 1913. He met the equally colorful "Russian Kid" in Prince Rupert, B.C. The Russian Kid had just arrived from Alaska hardened and enthusiastic at the end of a prospecting trip. They compared notes and found that the "Kid" had also come from Russia. A closer check revealed that they had actually come from the same district, Georgia, in the Caucasus. They became fast friends and later became full and splendid partners. The partnership lasted until the Russian Kid died in 1938.

Shortly after meeting in Prince Rupert, they headed north into Alaska and the Yukon. There they learned that a great demand for coal had developed. They knew of favourable geology in Alberta, and drifted into that Province, where they staked claims to feed coal to the hungry maw of industry to the east and south.

By 1920 they had come east, spending some two and a half years in the vicinity of Schreiber, in search of platinum. This mineral is occasionally found in Northern Ontario. By 1923 they were in the Porcupine area and in 1925, looked over the Kirkland Lake gold field, among others. In the latter year they moved over into Northwestern Quebec.

It was in 1925 that the "Russian Kid" staked the property known as the Bordenburg. It is rumoured that he refused a cool million for it. This mine is in Dasserat Township, Northwestern Quebec, and it is now being developed through the efforts of Mike Mitto.

Mike took time out in 1926 to marry the Russian Kid's sister, but the call of the wild, the lure of gold, was too strong for them. When the Flin Flon property in Manitoba was found in 1929, the Georgian pair were there, with Mike on the payroll of the big Hudson Bay Mining & Smelting Company. The mine, of course, is still producing on a large scale.

Here is an interesting sidelight: Mike returned to Quebec, convinced that he could uncover a bonanza there. He ran afoul of certain interests, who for reasons best known to themselves, did not want settlers where Val d'Or now stands. Mike had put up a cabin on forbidden ground. Others, suspecting that Mike had something up his sleeve moved in. An attempt was made to frighten Mike but it didn't work. He was told "that if you don't get the hell out of here, we will fire your cabin."

Says Mike, "If you do, it will be your last act, because I will kill you."

The cabin stayed, making Mike one of the very first to settle on the site of that modern and thriving mining town of Val d'Or. The Lanauque, Sigma and other strong producing mines are in this general vicinity.

Dome Exploration Limited developed the Sigma and for a time our tough prospector worked for them. He also worked at the Beattie Mine, where he met Dr. A. F. Banfield, Ph.D., who later became consulting geologist for Ventures Limited, one of the largest mining organizations in the world.

This was all too tame for Mike's vigorous nature, and with the spell of the far north still tingling in his veins, he sought the solace of the Yellowknife. He knew that the gigantic volcanic upheavals of a vast age had been particularly violent in the vicinity of Great Slave Lake, and far to the north. And he knew, too, that such action took place, in fractures, and in areas where massive formations were pushed through the land by the forces of nature.

The airplane had invaded the far barrens and Mike Mitto spurned the area near the Great Slave Lake itself. One hundred and seventy miles to the north he found what he claims is his bonanza.

He came across the rich outcropping late one afternoon, just as he was considering knocking off for the day. The dinner he had been anticipating was forgotten, and so was the camp, and for that matter the rest of the world.

With pick and shovel, he worked for hours under the midnight sun, in a frenzy of excitement, stripping overburden from this — his greatest find to that date. When he eventually cooled a little, and returned to camp he could barely walk from fatigue, and the mosquitoes had made a bloody mess of his hands, his face and his chest. Ordinarily, in mosquito time, in the Yellowknife, miners and prospectors wear nets over their heads, but Mike didn't know he was being eaten alive.

He had staked his first find! Back in Quebec with his samples, Mike immediately looked up Dr. Banfield, "Banny," Mike calls him.

So confident was Dr. Banfield in Mike's integrity, he dropped everything at once, and many of his duties were of high importance to the companies he represented. Together they caught a plane and winged back to Yellowknife.

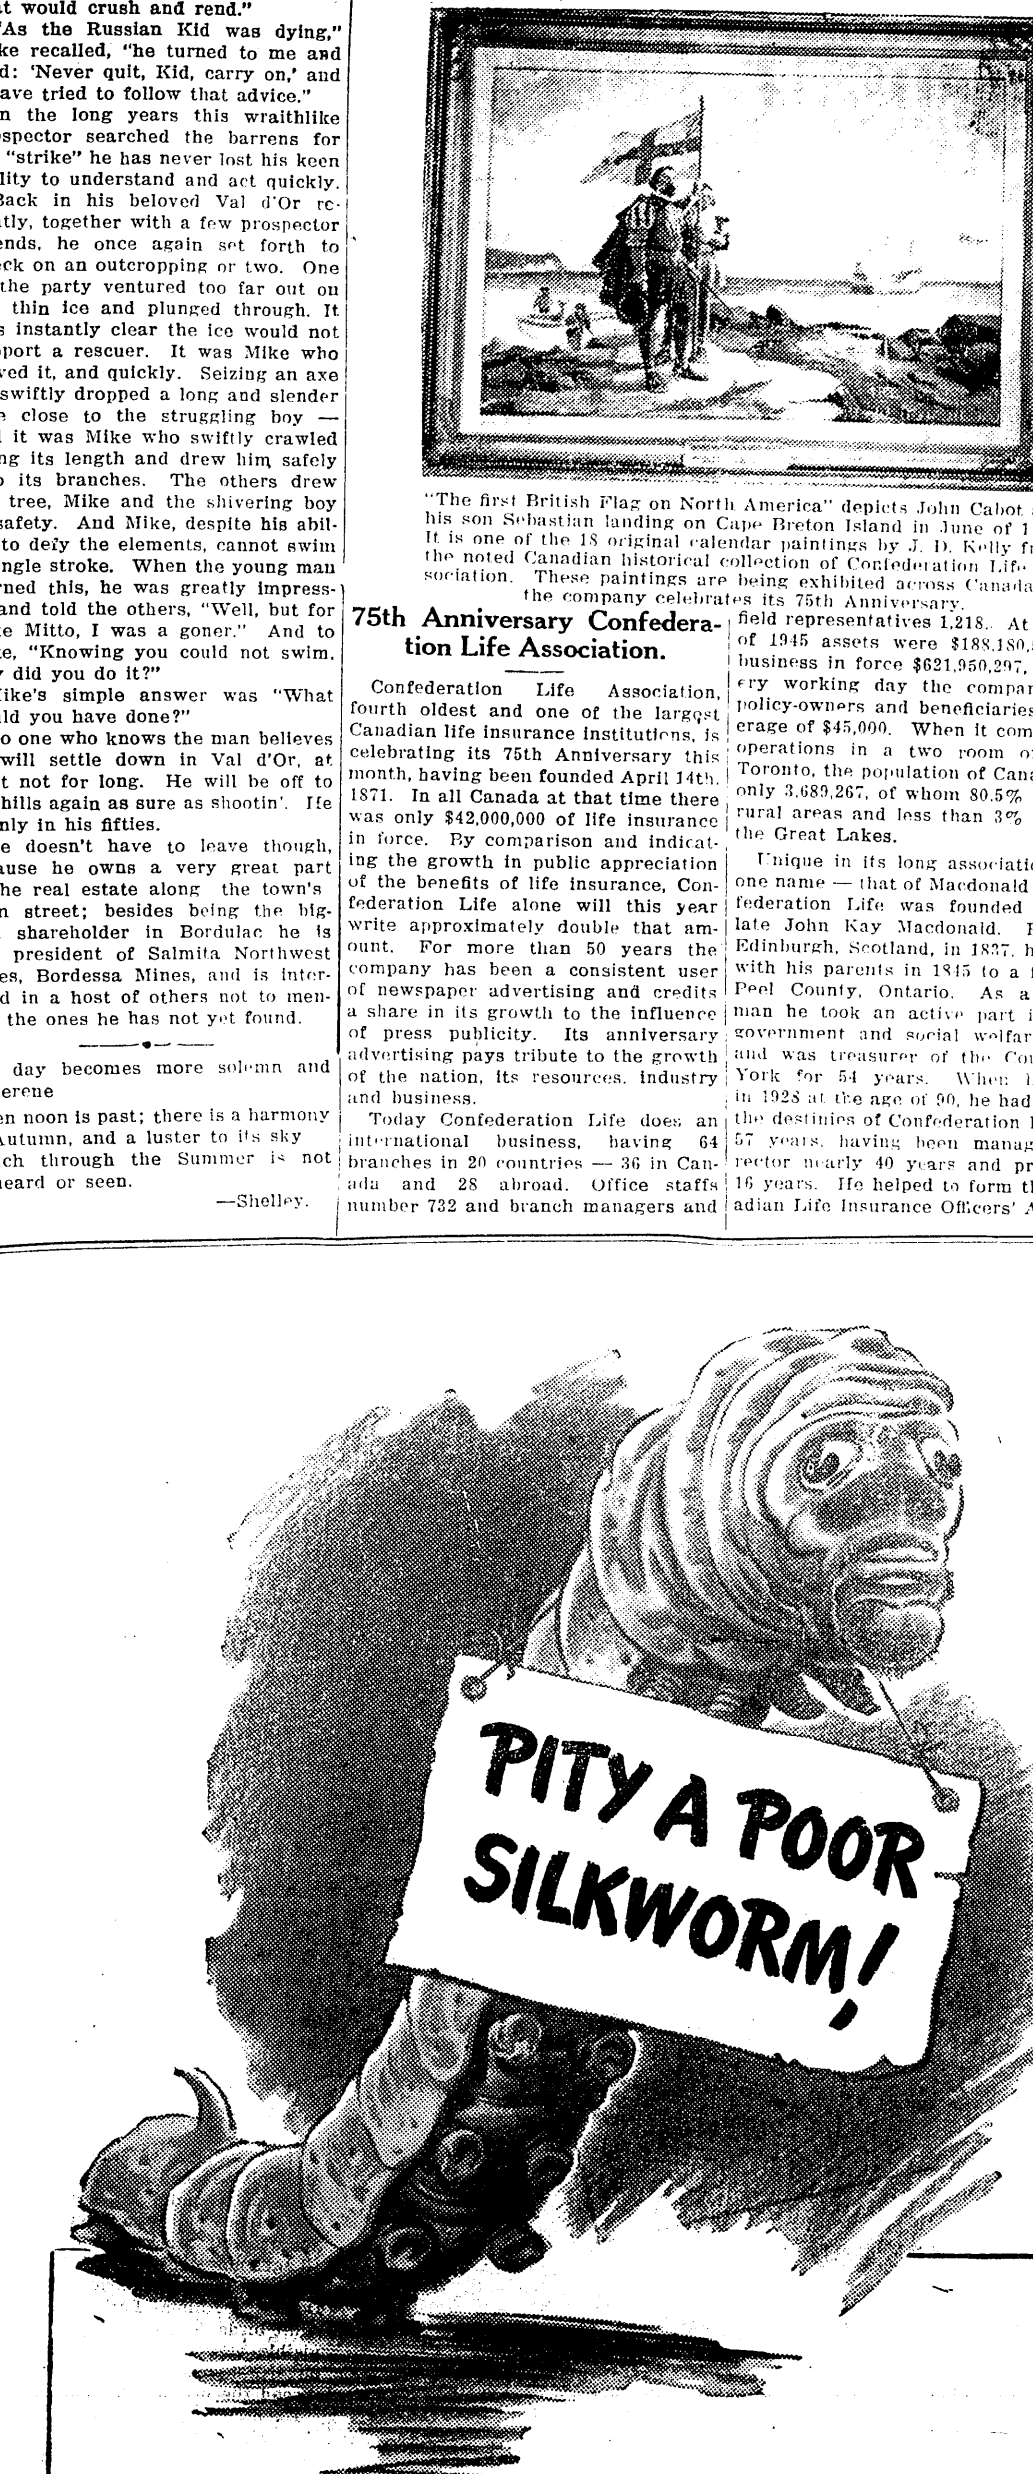

"Dr. Banfield has since said, 'When Mike said he had something I knew it must be something big.'"

He said further, "It is the best showing I have ever seen." The samples averaged from $30 to $1,270 to the ton.

When these two friends arrived at Courageous Lake, where the property is located, they looked over the vein and the surrounding terrain. They had an idea they should do a little more staking and were discussing it over a smoke, as twilight gathered. Far in the southern sky they heard airplane engines thrumming northward and they knew that the news had spread.

The rush was on. Since then many claims have been staked around Mac Kay and Courageous Lakes, and come spring there will be intensive activity in the area.

Mike fell into a reverie. His mind was back with the Russian Kid, his old pal, with whom he had learned the tricks of prospecting, and how to meet and conquer Service's Wild

PITY A POOR SILKWORM!

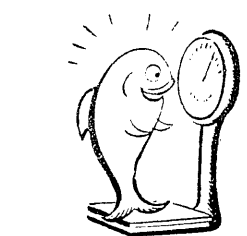

No one tipped him off to new synthetic yarns which would endanger his markets. Now, new ways and new materials are passing him by.

NYLON . . . produced by chemistry from coal, air and water after ten years' patient research . . . is an example. This wonderful new yarn is already flowing into the manufacture of glamorous hosiery and will soon be used in foundation garments, lingerie, and many other textiles, thus creating new Canadian jobs and new standards of beauty and service.

SERVING CANADIANS  THROUGH CHEMISTRY

Looking Ahead

Fish by the acre . . . seeing through a tree . . . and oil-resistant rubber.

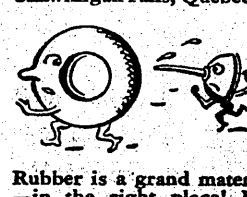

Do you know that fish is the only main food supply which man has so far done nothing to cultivate? He grows his grains in fields, his fruit in orchards, his meat in cattle, swine, sheep.

Now, however, with the aid of the chemist, our supplies of fish are to be increased. Fertilizer spread on the surface of fishing waters, stimulates growth of the basic fish food (plankton), so that fish grow and multiply much faster. Fish yields in farm fish ponds have jumped 400% with this treatment.

Can you see through a tree? Someone might say, "Yes, by X-ray," but that's not the answer. Chemistry, almost by magic, can do it by transforming Canadian wood pulp into liquid cellulose and then into transparent "Cellophane" with which so many of your purchases are protected on their way to you. "Cellophane" cellulose film is made by C-I-L at Shawinigan Falls, Quebec.

Rubber is a grand material — in the right place! But some of the uses to which it has been put were just a bit too much for its constitution. When exposed to sunlight, oil, gasoline or chemicals, natural rubber quickly deteriorates. And that is where neoprene synthetic rubber comes in. It can take most of the abuse that gets natural rubber down.

Further information on any of these products is obtainable by writing "Looking Ahead," C-I-L, P.O. Box 10, Montreal, P.Q.

Growing Vegetables for Exhibition.

Helpful hints for exhibitors of vegetables at Fairs that may place them among the most coveted prize winners, are offered by J. Gallaher, Head Gardener, Experimental Station, Kenilworth, N.S. For root vegetables, dig a bed four feet long and three to four feet for potatoes, less for carrots, and still less for beets and garden turnips. Level off the surface and with a stake four feet long and about three inches in diameter, tapering to a point, make a hole the required depth. Fill the hole with good rich soil which has been put through a quarter-inch sieve, sow the seeds thinly on top, and when sure of a good stand, thin to one plant to a hole. Apply fertilizer at intervals, keep the weeds down and the surface loose, and water when necessary. Should the crowns come above the ground, cover them by drawing the soil up to them. Beets and garden turnips may require a mixture of sand to lighten the soil so that few, if any, large branching roots may form. Great care must be taken that the plant is not disturbed in the thinning process. Allow at least twelve inches between the plants in the row.

Onion good may be sown in February, transplanted to flats when quite young, and later to other flats and then planted in well prepared land about the middle of May in rows 2 feet apart, plants 1 to 1½ feet apart in row. Avoid setting the plants too deep. The land should be trodden very firmly before planting, given frequent applications of a mixed fertilizer, and the surface kept loose by constant shallow hoeing, being careful not to cut the roots as they are on or near the surface.

A few days before the exhibition, dig the bulbs, do not pull them by their tops, shake off all soil from the roots and expose the bulb to the sun to dry. Handle with care at all times.

If celery seed is sown before the middle of March the plants are likely to bolt early in the season. Sow thinly and transplant when quite small. Grow in well prepared soil, enriched with plenty of rotted manure. Set the plants 15 to 18 inches apart in the row (18 inches is better). Occasionally, as the plants grow, earth them up, taking care that paper bands are placed around the stems because the soil will discolor the outer cause the soil with celery is about 12 stalks. When the celery is about 12 stalks, high place boards 12 inches wide on each side of the row, about six inches away from the plants, and fill to the top with sawdust. (Hardwood sawdust is best). Another row of 12-inch boards will be necessary to give the proper blanch of two feet. Instead of boards and sawdust for blanching, strong waterproof paper may be wrapped around each plant, adding more as the plant grows. The plant must never suffer for want of water.

Hello, Homemakers! This column is written in reply to the many requests concerning the preparation and cooking of fish. In spite of the scarcity of canned fish, supplies of fresh or frozen fish are available.

Don't be critical of the frozen fish. Freezing preserves the fresh flavor and enables you to store it in the freezing unit of the electric refrigerator until you wish to cook it. When cooking frozen fish, the best results are obtained if it is allowed to thaw sufficiently to cut into steaks. Allow a few minutes longer cooking frozen fish—about eight minutes extra baking.

Before we discuss ways of preparing fish, may we remind you that it is important to know which kinds are fat and which are naturally lean, especially when the diet is low in fat. The common fish containing oils are: herring, mackerel, salmon, smelts, whitefish, mullet and haddock. Lean fish are: bass, bluefish, cod, flounder, halibut, perch, pickerel, lake trout and catfish. Oil fish are best for baking; dry or lean fish require fat and some moisture to prevent the skin from bursting or sticking.

Methods of Cooking Fish.

Baking Whole Fish: Split the trimmed fish down the backbone so that the fish will lie flat. Place in oiled baking pan skin side down. Sprinkle with salt. Cover with finely prepared bread crumbs sprinkle with milk. Bake in an electric oven of 425 degrees for 15 to 30 minutes according to the size of the fish.

A 3-pound fish requires 15 to 30 minutes and a 6-pound fish 25 to 30 minutes. If the fish becomes too brown before cooking period is up, reduce the heat.

Baked Whole Stuffed Fish: Fish to be stuffed should weigh 3 to 5 pounds. Clean, scale and remove the head and tail if desired. Sprinkle with salt inside and out. Stuff and sew. Place in an oiled pan and bake in electric oven at 400 degrees 12 minutes, then reduce heat and bake 30 to 40 minutes according to the thickness of fish. Allow 10 minutes for each pound up to 4 pounds and 5 minutes for each additional pound.

Sauteed or Pan-Fried Fish: This is a quick method of cooking fish. Small or medium fish are best for this purpose—large fish should be cut into pieces for serving. Roll in salted flour, cornmeal, or fine crumbs. Use enough cooking fat or oil to completely cover the surface of the pan. Heat oil until hot but not smoking hot, brown fish on one side, turn and brown on the other. Fish is cooked when easily pierced with a fork.

Fried Fish (deep fat): This method requires a pan one-third full of oil; therefore only specific inquiries will be answered.

Boiled Fish: Whole fish may be boiled, but it is more satisfactory if cut into servings. Dried or lean-meat fish are best for boiling. Servings are put on a pie plate and placed in a saucepan over which is poured one quart of water, 2 teaspoons salt. (A spoonful of onion is a good substitute for vinegar solution.) Fish is boiled for 5 minutes, then simmered for 10 to 15 minutes, depending on the thickness. The liquid is used for making sauce—thickened and seasoned with onion, parsley, mushroom, chopped egg, cheese, tomato or spices such as capers.

Steamed Fish: Pieces of dry-meat fish are cooked tender in a steamer, allowing 10 to 15 minutes per pound. Sauce is the finishing touch for this dish, too.

LENTEN SPECIALS. Feature cottage cheese as an entree accompanied by baked potatoes and browned parsnips.

There are countless egg dishes: poached, scrambled, curried, fried, cooked-in-shell, stuffed, baked in cravy fried in deep batter, souffles, omelets, fondues, and variations of these.

Dried beans and peas are protein foods too. Thick soup seasoned with a small amount of onion and celery rounds out a meatless dinner. Our pioneers were grateful for boiled dried vegetables seasoned with a dash of cayenne.

Milk and cheese make a simple casserole the main stay of any meal. If your oven does not keep a constant temperature, make a cream sauce of whole milk in preference to homogenized; this will prevent a curdled looking scallop.

Vegetables are in ample supply. It is easy to provide a vegetable plate of three or four varieties, but snoring each mound with butter just can't be done these days. Here's what to do: drain off the liquid from a can of beets, heat to boiling and stir in two tablespoons of flour mixed to a paste with water, add 2 tablespoons vinegar and 3 tablespoons brown sugar to make a good sauce. Canned peas are delicious heated to simmering point in their juice in which a bag containing a half teaspoon whole spices has been steeped. In the water from a tin of cut beans we slice two to three thin pieces of orange. Of course, cheese flavours any vegetable. If it is melted (not cooked) on able if it is melted (not cooked) on top of a precooked casserole. And concentrated cream soups are about the easiest way of enriching any lenten meal.

Transmit Pullorum Disease to Healthy Poultry.

It is well known that baby chicks are highly susceptible to infection with Salmonella pullorum, the organism that causes pullorum disease, but it is not as well recognized that birds of all ages may contract the infection from others, says Dr. Charles A. Mitchell, Dominion Animal Pathologist. While adult birds do not as a rule show any visible effects of such infection they nevertheless become carriers and may spread the infection to other birds.

Experiments conducted by the Division of Animal Pathology, Dominion Department of Agriculture have shown that when chickens 40 days of age were placed with an infected group of the same age 37 per cent became infected. Twenty per cent of adult males became infected when placed in an infected adult group of birds. Thirty per cent of adult females also became infected by exposure in the same infected group of birds.

Several months' exposure was necessary before evidence of infection, as shown by agglutination tests, made its appearance. Older birds are much less susceptible to infection with Salmonella pullorum than chicks under natural conditions but these experiments serve to show that older chicks and adult birds cannot be overlooked as a source of infection. The presence of infection was confirmed by bacteriological examination of the birds that reacted to the agglutination test.

This work emphasizes the danger of introducing infected adult stock to a clean flock, and the need of thoroughly cleaning and disinfecting quarters after removal of infected birds before the introduction of clean stock. The houses in which the infected stock had been kept for over a year were cleaned and disinfected and clean birds placed in these houses shortly afterwards remained clean. Thoroughness in these procedures is essential.

Prepare for Bees Now.

Beekeepers should be ready for any emergency, and now is the time before the spring rush begins to think for the spring rush operations, and to back on last year's operations, and to do now all the things that were planned when working with bees during the summer. Equipment and combs that need repairing and replacing, should be done without delay. Rickety hives, poor combs, and other faulty equipment should not be used in the coming season, says W. A. Burns, Dominion Experimental Station, Charlottetown, P.E.I.

Orders for new equipment should be placed now. Lumber is still in short supply and while bee supply manufacturers will do all they can to fill orders, they cannot fill all orders on a moment's notice. Many package shippers are even now booked up for 1946 and orders for package bees should be placed without delay either direct with the shipper or through a local Beekeepers' Association.

An important item in 1946 is the sugar supply. In the past beekeepers have been allowed sufficient sugar for spring feeding and possibly many are of the opinion that permits for the purchase of sugar will be again available. No sugar would be allowed for spring feeding in 1946, and until this spring of the Sugar Controller is revised or rescheduled beekeepers must depend on honey for their spring requirements.

SUGAR COMPANY PUBLISHES BEET HONOUR ROLL

Outstanding growers of sugar beets in Ontario for 1945 have been named in an "Honour Roll" prepared by Canada and Dominion Sugar Company, and appearing in the company publication, "Up and Down the Rows." Forty-seven growers, whose gross returns per acre last year exceeded $200 are included.

Leading the list is Harry Van Roboys, farmer in Howard Township, whose crop rated $259.63 per acre. His sugar beet field of 5.9 acres adjoining the Thames River, near Kent Bridge, showed a yield of 20.57 per acre, with an average sugar content of 18.7%. This Brant County farmer planted a trial crop of 30 acres of soybeans last summer. And when he pocketed $1,800.00 cash he decided to plant at least a third of his acreage in soybeans this year. Sound thinking—when the risk of crop loss is so small!

Moreover, the fact that Victory Mills has invested over $2,500,000.00 in a huge processing plant and plans to buy more than 3,000,000 bushels of soybeans this year—gives Ontario farmer's confidence they'll find a ready market for all the soybeans grown.

15 SOUND REASONS FOR GROWING SOYBEANS!

1. Soybeans are a Hardy crop—resistant to drought, light frosts and heavy rains during growing season.
2. They're a PROFITABLE cash crop.
3. There's a READY MARKET for all you can grow!
4. Soybeans need a MINIMUM of LABOR—can be harvested with a combine whenever weather is suitable.
5. A real SOIL-BUILDER, improving soil tilth and adding some nitrogen—soybeans fit into any "crop rotation" planning.

Ten years ago, there were 685,000 Bell telephones in service. Today there are over a million—56 per cent more.

EVERY time a new telephone is installed the scope of your service is enlarged. You may not need to call many of the new subscribers, but when you do, they are within reach—and it may be urgent.

We have added more than 75,000 telephones since V-E Day. As we bend all our efforts to catch up on delayed orders, the scope of your service will continue to grow—its potential value will increase.

In 1946 our outlay for expansion and improvements will exceed thirty million dollars.

We are losing no time.

The Sugar Beet Situation.

The statement, has recently been made that the growing of sugar beets was a hothouse industry, useful only in wartime when it is difficult to get raw cane sugar from tropical countries.

Another statement, reflective of a certain school of thought in government circles, is that the sugar beet is not a natural crop for Canada.

Both statements are contrary to the facts. The sugar beet factory at Val-laceburg, Ont., was started in 1902, and the industry thrived all through the intervening years, including the years of the first World War, and was only checked by the draining of young man-power from the farms during World War II. When adequate supplies of farm labor are again assured, there is every reason to expect continued progress of the industry.

It would be difficult to say what is a natural crop for Canada. Wheat, tobacco and potatoes certainly are not. The Indians grew some maize, but it was greatly different from the hybrid corn being successfully grown by today's farmers.

In a study of sugar-beet production in Kent County published by the Dominion Department of Agriculture in 1941, it is said: "The acreage of sugar beets is higher, averaging 1.3 acres on the most successful farms, as against 8.2 acres for the 25 least successful farms."

Sugar beets are grown by successful farmers in Southwestern Ontario counties (Kent, Middlesex, Lambton, Huron, Essex and Elgin) because the land is suitable in most districts and because this root crop, properly rotated with other crops, enriches the soil. It is a crop of which there is never an unsalable surplus. Even in the depression years prices for sugar beets declined less than those for other crops.

Because sugar is a bulk commodity, geography has much to do with the success or failure of sugar-beet factories. In pre-war days, granulated beet sugar from Chatham and Wallaceburg could be sold on an even basis in Toronto with sugar produced from cane brought from the tropics to Montreal. At Belleville or Kingston, cane sugar had an advantage.

Wartime subsidies on sugar beets were, and still are, necessary, because of the price ceiling, subsidies on other crops and the grave shortage of farm labour. But in a normal peacetime economy, subsidies will not be required.

Between 1939 and 1945, farmers of Southwestern Ontario were paid $13,000,000 for sugar beets, apart from the $465,000 in Ontario Government subsidy. More than $16,000,000 was also paid to factory labor, transportation agencies and various suppliers during the same period.

Modern Church in Post-War.

The departure of Dean R. H. Waterman for Western Canada on March 17th would normally be a matter of small notice. The fact that he would be flying would occasion no surprise. When the purpose of this trip and the story of the Church's approach to Post-War reconstruction is known, this event becomes news. In the world of today we are accustomed to the use of aircraft business. The correlated impact of the newspaper, magazine and broadcast message is understood in the world of advertising. The church has long been considered by many laymen, if not divorced from, at least only lightly attached to the use of modern aids in meeting the needs, spiritual and secular of the people. The Anglican Advance Appeal for Rededication and thank-offering has opened the eyes of many to the fact that the Church of today meets the needs of tomorrow with a knowledge and appreciation of the new tools at hand for reaching a vast spread society.

The fact that the Dean of Niagara as organizing secretary of the Anglican Advance Appeal should use the airlines to ensure his personal contact with each Diocesan committee is a natural outcome following the use of a similar form of transportation used by missionaries in the far north and by the Bishop of the Arctic, the Right Rev. A. L. Fleming in visiting his wide flung Diocese. But this personal visitation carrying the message of Rededication and a plan for a sound rebuilding of the peace is allied with a concerted approach of press advertising, direct mail, parochial canvass and national and Diocesan broadcast, as carefully thought out as any business appeal. The results of this understanding are already evident. Reports from across Canada show that there is a new spirit among the people. A knowledge of their own responsibilities in rebuilding in a war torn world. A real appreciation of their enviable position among men and a determination to ensure a future of great promise for the coming generations. In this rebuilt and strengthened spirit they are banding together as one in a great thank-offering.

"This is Our Canada," latest National Film Board release in the Canada Carries On series, is a record of Canadian achievement, and a forecast of her bright future.

ahead with eagerness and courage and initiative. Give us that, and the billions need not frighten us. We are their master. —Liberty Magazine.

On the eve of the first great war, March 1914, the net national debt of Canada stood at $335,996,850. It had been incurred through expansion of transportation and the development of our industries and our natural resources, and we had solid grounds for believing that the returns from these expenditures would ultimately liquidate the debt.

In March of this year the total funded debt of the Dominion will be in the neighborhood of $16,000,000,000. Should we pay an average interest rate of 2½ per cent, we will be paying in interest alone, and every year, considerably more than our total debt of only thirty-two years earlier. Now is there hope of this obligation liquidating itself. It was born of war, of cumulatively expensive war. The first World War cost us almost a billion and a half dollars. This war cost us ten times as much.

We have to go back sixteen years to find a time when we reduced our debt. Indeed, in the past century there were only thirteen occasions when we have managed to reduce our debt, and the total of these reductions amounted to something less than the $335,000,000 debt with which we entered the first Great War. In essence, then, since that date we have gone in the red $16,000,000,000.

Obviously, for a country of 12,000,000 people, this is approaching the danger mark, and ultimately we must learn to pay for our increased advantages as we go, or do without them. We can't continue to pyramid our debt without facing disaster. We cannot meet the debt we have by saving alone. We can meet it only by the adventuring of capital in enterprises that create new wealth. If, short-sightedly, we should attempt to approximate a balance budget by squeezing the last dollar from industry, we will do so at the cost of capital growth fearful and timid, of industry restricted and backward-looking, of labor suffering because management can see only defeat, not the promise of a future that will make labor profitable. The hopeful way is to give individuals and industry the inducement to look a cancerous growth. His wife had a serious internal cancer removed ten years ago.

Two women who lived in the same village and attended the same church, were attacked by cancer. Both women had a little scaly spot on the skin of the bridge of her nose that peeled off, seeming to go away, and then came back again. Finally she retired from public contact because of her appearance. Within three years she was dead of a spreading skin cancer that destroyed wide areas of tissue about her face and head. The tragic part of this story is the fact that the woman would be alive today if she had been willing to do something about it.

Doctors chafe at their own helplessness when cancer patients come to them too late. All they can do is to try to relieve their patients' misery for as much of life as remains to them, knowing all the time that the patient could have been cured if treated earlier. Many women refuse to go to their doctor until their cancer of the breast is past curing. Most of them reason that it couldn't be cancer because it didn't hurt.

It is time to come out of the dark ages and lift the veil of fear and ignorance that surround this disease that kills 1,000 Canadians a month.

"Give to Conquer Cancer" is the slogan that is being used throughout the Province this month in the Ontario Cancer Foundation's drive for a minimum of $2,000,000. All banks are receiving centres for donations, or they may be sent direct to the Foundation's office at 22 College Street, Toronto 2.

Helping Backs to Bear Their Burden.

By Joseph Lester Rutledge

The man who can look back over fifty years of effort is accustomed to assess his material success or failure on a basis of what he has acquired to compensate for those lost years. It would be a bold man indeed who would face the future with unwavering courage if in those fifty years he had pyramided not his assets but his liabilities.

To compare the situation of an individual and of a country is not quite a fair comparison. A man has a limited span and all his possibilities are qualified by that fact. The future of a country is long. It has behind it a vast wealth of natural resources that in a country as young and as largely endowed as Canada, are being developed more quickly than they are being used. It has the potential asset of the efforts not of one citizen but of millions. It has developing industries and, together, these provide a perhaps too, ready source of taxation on which it may lean.

But while there are these sharp differences between the human case and the case of the country, the essential fact remains unchanged that if there are steadily mounting debts in the one case or the other, the end is the same and ultimately obligations will overtake assets.

On the eve of the first great war, March 1914, the net national debt of Canada stood at $335,996,850. It had been incurred through expansion of transportation and the development of our industries and our natural resources, and we had solid grounds for believing that the returns from these expenditures would ultimately liquidate the debt.

The Sugar Beet Situation.

The statement, has recently been made that the growing of sugar beets was a hothouse industry, useful only in wartime when it is difficult to get raw cane sugar from tropical countries.

Another statement, reflective of a certain school of thought in government circles, is that the sugar beet is not a natural crop for Canada.

Both statements are contrary to the facts. The sugar beet factory at Val-laceburg, Ont., was started in 1902, and the industry thrived all through the intervening years, including the years of the first World War, and was only checked by the draining of young man-power from the farms during World War II. When adequate supplies of farm labor are again assured, there is every reason to expect continued progress of the industry.

It would be difficult to say what is a natural crop for Canada. Wheat, tobacco and potatoes certainly are not. The Indians grew some maize, but it was greatly different from the hybrid corn being successfully grown by today's farmers.

In a study of sugar-beet production in Kent County published by the Dominion Department of Agriculture in 1941, it is said: "The acreage of sugar beets is higher, averaging 1.3 acres on the most successful farms, as against 8.2 acres for the 25 least successful farms."

Lefevre-Griffin Wedding.

At a very quiet wedding ceremony, performed in the Woodslee United Church parsonage, on Thursday of last week, Rev. J. N. Sceviour united in marriage Miss Beulah Griffin, of Leamington, daughter of Howard Griffin, of Woodslee, and Whitney Lefevre, of Cottam, son of Mrs. Lefevre and the late Mr. Lefevre. They were attended by Miss Marion Smith, of Leamington, and Ronald Getty, of Wheatley. The young couple will reside in Leamington.

Ex-Wardens Meet.

The ex-Wardens of Essex County held their annual spring meeting in the Aberdeen Hotel, Essex, on Wednesday, with the poorest turnout, due no doubt to the splendid spring weather, in the history of the association, there being only nine ex-Wardens and six other guests present. Several of the regular attendants were missing, one of whom was John F. Miller, ex-Treasurer of the county, who missed his first meeting since he helped found this organization. However, he sent his best wishes and regrets at not being able to be present, due to his crippled condition. Another familiar figure absent was Robert Atkin, who has missed few, if any, of these gatherings. The secretary was requested to write both these men and extend them best wishes from their ex-associates present. R. F. Benoit brought glad tidings for ex-Warden C. A. De first.

Officers-elect were: President, E. S. Scarath; 1st vice-president, A. A. Marquette; 2nd vice-president, George A. Pearson; secretary-treasurer, W. B. Clifford. Those present were ex-Wardens Thomas Plant, D. M. Eagle, W. B. Clifford, R. F. Benoit, Enos McCausland, E. S. Scarath, A. G. Tisdelle, Phil Grondin, A. A. Marquette and Wm. Knister, county road superintendent; Hector Cadia, county treasurer; Dr. Paul Polsson, county registrar; E. H. Reynolds, manager of the Imperial Bank, Sandwich, county bankers; A. McKenney, agricultural representative, and K. E. Brett, of Essex.

Rev. Thomas Francis Whealen Passes.

Rev. Thomas Francis Whealen, a retired Anglican clergyman, passed away in East Windsor Hospital on Tuesday, following months of ill-health. He had only been a patient in the hospital, however, a few weeks, being removed there after having been seized with a stroke.

Deceased was born in Bruce County, April 13th, 1861, and following graduation, had served at the following parishes before retirement, viz., Morpeth, Dresden, Princeton, Alisa Craig, Alvington, Colchester (54 years ago), and St. Stephens (38 years ago).

Surviving is one son, Rev. J. H. Whealen, of St. Paul's, Essex, with whom he made his home. His wife died 16 years ago. He was the last of a family of fourteen.

Funeral services were held today (Thursday) from St. Paul's Church, Essex, with burial in Trinity Church Cemetery, Howard township.

Rotary Club Makes Donation to Crippled Children.

At the last meeting of Essex Rotary Club it was decided to donate $300 to Woodeden, which is a vocational school located seven miles from London, where crippled children can live the year round. When completed, they will be able to get a vocational course combined with regular school studies to better prepare them to take their place in the world.

The main building or "mother house" accommodates the kitchen, dining room, living room, office and the supervisor's quarters. A group of bungalows will be erected — each to house eight children, one nurse and a counselor.

A swimming pool and one wading pool is already a part of the property and one extra wading pool is to be constructed so that both the large and small children may have the advantage of water treatment.

Treatment for muscle re-education is given under the direction of a graduate physiotherapist.

The beauties of nature — particularly in plants and flowers — will help to make life more pleasant for the children of Woodeden. Beautiful gardens, wooded walks with winding paths, rustic bridges over little streams, bird houses and many other wonders of nature will all add to the beauties of Woodeden. A nature study house is planned for the furtherance of this particular phase of the education of the children.

James Murray Dies.

James Murray, well known resident of Essex, quietly passed away, in bed, early Sunday morning, from a heart ailment. He had been confined to his home only about a week.

Deceased was born near North Woodslee, a son of the late John Murray and Mary Crozier, on February 22nd, 1865, and had lived in the county all his life. On May 23rd, 1894, he married Mary Schooley, who survives with three children, Ruth (Mrs. O. W. Walters) of Dutton; Pearl (Mrs. F. J. Roberts) of Essex, and Miss Medora Murray, of Windsor; also three brothers, Colin, of Carrot River, Sask.; Robert, of Armad, Mich.; and Charles of Detroit; and three sisters, Mrs. Jane Fessant and Mrs. Duff Haskell, of Detroit, and Mrs. Charles Franz, of Chicago, Ill.

Deceased had been a cripple since about five years of age when, while playing outside, he ran a needle into his right knee. He was a cobbler by trade and worked for Mr. LaPlante, in Tilbury, prior to moving to Essex in 1906, where he worked for both the late R. Sonley and the late William Chatterton. He was a member of Grace United Church and of Enterprise Lodge, I.O.O.F., of which he was financial secretary for many years.

Funeral services were held from the Hicks & Son Funeral Home, on Tuesday, in charge of Rev. R. H. Parr. Burial was in Evergreen Memorial Park, Leamington.

Peebles-Wilson Nuptials.

With the Rev. M. A. Bury officiating, Miss Ruby Ilene Wilson, daughter of Mrs. William Wilson, of Maldstone, and the late Mr. Wilson, recently became the bride of Alexander Aitken Peebles, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Peebles, of Windermere road, Windsor, at a ceremony at the Manor, in Windsor.

Spring flowers formed the setting for the wedding and for the reception that followed. Given in marriage by her uncle, R. B. Maynard, of Detroit, the bride wore a powder blue crepe suit with navy blue accessories, and carried a bouquet of white roses. Her bridesmaid, Miss Jean Alexander, wearing a gray suit and pink accessories, carried a bouquet of roses.

The best man was William Waldron, and Miss Bessie Peebles, sister of the groom, played the wedding music, while Miss Mary Hasman sang "At Dawning" before the ceremony and "Because" during the signing of the register.

The bride's aunt, Mrs. Maynard, of Detroit, and the groom's aunt, Mrs. James Heywood, also of Detroit, poured tea.

that body.

Chief topics for extreme statements were the Government Bill on Canadian Citizenship and the announcement by Finance Minister Halsey of a change in the retail ceilings on farm machinery.

There were further exhibitions of temper during the debate on the resolution regarding the Government's loan to Great Britain.

Perhaps the rapid manner in which most of the members of Parliament disappeared from the Hill as soon as the Easter Recess was called means they have sought advice in their constituencies where, with spring burning, they will find energy and optimism.

Farm Implements.

Evidence of the touchy nature of the cost of farm implements may be found in the fact that more than 36 speeches regarding the matter were made in the House of Commons between the hours of 3 o'clock in the afternoon and 11 o'clock at night in one day. This is almost a record for expressiveness.

The Government was attacked from several sides, but an analysis of Hansard reveals the House is still strongly in favour of price control.

Explaining the move, Finance Minister Halsey said that the change in ceiling has been authorized with "considerable" reluctance.

Mr. Halsey pointed out that maximum production on farm machinery and equipment was urgent for the expansion, or even the maintenance, of Canada's food-producing capacity. This maximum production of farm machinery increased cost of materials and could not be effected in the face of ponent parts produced in Canada or imported for assembly in Canada and proper increases in wage rates and the increases given to the implement companies are to cover these added costs.

Mr. Halsey noted that prices of farm products rose 44 per cent during the past year (including the very recent increases in butter and hogs) while implement prices rose only 3 per cent. Agriculture Minister Gardiner indicated that further increases in farmers' revenue was imminent.

CCF, Compulsion.

After sitting 37 days, the CCF, controlled Saskatchewan Legislature ended its third session recently, passing many new laws and amending existing ones.

It is interesting to note that two CCF members joined with the Liberal Opposition protesting the CCF bill requiring institutions to insure in a government office before they can qualify for a provincial grant. This law affects more than 5,000 school districts as well as hospitals and sanatoria, and something like $32,000,000 in insurance protection is involved. Apparently the Saskatchewan government has no confidence in the ability of its insurance department to compete with the existing insurance companies in the province.

This is only one feature of CCF compulsion in Saskatchewan. Another example is automobile insurance. Before a motorist may have a provincial driving license he must purchase government insurance, and this has Saskatchewan farmers up in arms. Many contend that the government insurance does not give adequate protection.

Publicity about these differences of opinion over compulsion in Saskatchewan is making it difficult for the CCF to propagandize its plans and policies in other provinces. Moreover, the activities of C. H. Millard, Canadian Director of the United Steel Workers of America, and well known in Ontario CCF circles, is another handicap to the CCF.

Mr. Millard keeps talking about the possibility of a national steel strike, a statement which has an implied threat and is a good way not to get agreement between the steel industry and the unions.

Mr. Millard will find that this kind of loose talk is against the best interests of the workers and farmers of Canada.

Critical of the Tories.

When the Tory member for Muskoka-Ontario, J. M. MacDonnell, sounded off at Cornell last week, prophesying that the Tories would win 60 seats in Ontario (the same prediction they made before the last election in the next Dominion election) and when a Tory gathering in Montreal began talking about national unity, criticism of the Tories appeared in unexpected places.

The "Ottawa Journal" by inference declared that the Tory sentiments in Montreal violated the truth that in a democracy it is the duty of leadership to respect and be tolerant of all shades of opinion.

No less a Tory supporter than the "Financial Post" recently said that the "Pro-Cons have been fumbling around too long. It's time the Pro-Cons turned out the basic political beliefs for which they stand."

These are comments which the Tories must certainly be pondering over in the Easter Recess of Parliament. When the boys reassemble, the leaves will be out in Ottawa and the grass on the lawns of Parliament Hill an emerald green. Perhaps that will help keep everyone in a good mood.

Easter Recess Needed.
As you read these paragraphs, Parliament is having a deserved, not to say necessary, Easter recess. After two months of pretty close attention to the nation's business — business often with sharp controversial aspects — tempers were getting frayed and there were displays in the Commons not entirely usual to the dignity of

Still bigger job ahead

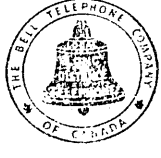

Last year, Bell telephone workers installed 187,444 telephones and disconnected 124,861 (surrender of service, change of address, etc.) — a net gain of 62,583.

1945 was the biggest year, but one, in our history. Although we had to repair, re-use, substitute and improvise, we were able to provide telephones for all essential uses and to reduce the waiting list substantially.

But there's a still bigger job ahead. The going rate since V-E Day has been at a higher level than in any other equal period. To wipe out the waiting list and get back to our old ready-to-serve basis will be our chief concern until the job is done. We are making progress to that end.

Where only telephone instruments are involved, the next two or three months should clear our lists. But in many localities central office equipment is the problem and this takes time to make and to instal.

THE PROVINCE OF PROMISE...

ONTARIO, a thousand miles this way and a thousand miles that, is the playground of Canadians and Americans alike. With its diversity of climate, life and interest, the province has everything the tourist wants and he comes in his millions to partake of it. Figuratively, the reception, accommodation and entertainment of these visiting millions set up waves of opportunity-filled activities that affect every phase of the business life of Ontario. The impact of the visitor-industry is seen on every hand... it is the wealth of all of us... we are a permanent host to millions.

A CORNER ON TOURISTS

Annually, by train, boat, bus and private car, more tourists enter Ontario than all the other provinces of Canada combined. In 1945, although gasoline rationing was not lifted until August, 2,070,000 American motor cars came in for less-than-forty-eight-hour stays and 554,000 for longer periods. Competent authorities estimate Ontario's yearly share of tourist revenues as 60% to 70% of Canada's total. The province expects at least 10,000,000 American visitors in 1946.

FRIDAY, APRIL 26, 1946.

While it is undoubtedly true that the man-in-the-street across this country may not be as thoroughly or completely informed about the exact discussions which have taken place in these gatherings, yet it is known in Ottawa that behind the activities of the Dominion-Provincial Conference there has been an almost desperate effort here to achieve the purpose of these most important meetings. This is hinted even if it may imply a compromise by mutual concessions in order to obtain this extremely difficult period of postwar reconstruction as much co-operation as possible between the Federal Government and the Provincial Governments.

Indeed, it is pointed out in Ottawa that current conditions on the international scene suggests strongly that, if this country's present as well as immediate future problems of the post-war period are to be solved in a suitable manner, efforts to strengthen Dominion-Provincial relations must be made now more than ever before or at least in the same spirit as during the wartime emergency, though this may involve different financial arrangements or procedure in mobilizing resources.

During the war, the emergency of organizing a national war effort had caused the Federal Government to assume certain huge direct financial Governments. However, though the war has ended, yet it would appear now that postwar conditions both in Canada and abroad may place a greater, and much greater, responsibility on the Federal Government in health, social welfare and other services, than it is generally realized so that it is considered necessary to organize or to mobilize financial resources properly.

Already this broad plan has been made known by the Federal Government whose spokesmen have indicated that this postwar co-operation is sought without centralization of all governmental functions, nor to subordinate one government to another or to expand at the expense of another this allowing for financial independence and autonomy as well as co-operation. This, it is emphasized in strong terms in Ottawa, is necessary if progressive measures under consideration or about to be are to bring direct results for a proper standard of living, full employment, expanding markets at home and abroad, systematic conservation and development of natural resources, social betterment, and others which fit into the pattern of peace.

The Government's announcement of an authorization to allow an increase in the price of farm implements or machinery has been responsible for bringing the heaviest attack on any price control policy which has ever been reported in this nation's capital. In fact, it has been startling and whisper heard behind the scenes did not minimize the widespread dissatisfaction amongst members, especially from the Prairie Provinces, though this tension could not be seen in the ranks of members from other sections of the country. Hon. J. L. Halsey, Minister of Finance, admitted that in part at least the reasons for this increase were due to the needs of the maximum production of farm machinery and equipment and the Wartime Prices and Trade Board had advised that the Board was convinced that such an increase was absolutely necessary at this time. He stressed that he personally had not seen any representatives of any implement company, nor had any such company communicated with him except by protesting at what was done in regard to these increases, though representations to the Wartime Prices and Trade Board had been made over quite a period of time. In addition, he recalled what happened after the last World War. Taking 1914 as the index of 100, in 1915 the prices had decreased 5 per cent; in 1916, it was 4 per cent below 1914; in 1917, it was up 11 per cent; in 1918, there was an increase of 44 per cent; in 1919, 54 per cent rise was witnessed; in 1920, 64 per cent was shown; in 1921, it was a rise of no less than 96 per cent. Without controls, he argued, the same situation would prevail.

However, in face of all arguments and explanations, it is known backstage along Parliament Hill that considerable dissatisfaction has accompanied this announcement of an increase being allowed in the prices of all or most farm products, with the impression being that the criticisms and protests against this bound to bring repercussions in various circles since the attack on the policy was, in reality, the heaviest ever made on any Government price control policy.

The latest report issued in Ottawa emphasizes that, in face of all the rationing and taxation regulations, Canadians have consumed, in gallons, in 1945, no less than 3,719,918 of liquor, 110,228,815 beer, and 3,712,456 wine as against 3,443,716 of liquor, 90,709,847 beer and 3,593,946 wine in the previous twelve months period, with the extent of the heavier drinking being obvious, though of course, the drinking of Canadians did not reach the unusual mark attained in 1943 when apparently war time employment and drinking had reached an amazing height. In 1943, Canadians drank no less than 4,729,850 gallons of liquor, together with 4,627,567 gallons of wine. In 1945 Federal Government taxes derived from liquor were $44,607,200, from beer $42,507,251, and from wine $2,012,112.

With now about 3,600 residents of Canada in the British Isles holding priority standing and many of whom have early in 1945, it has been disclosed in Ottawa that civilian berthings for such trips are very small, indeed, so that anyone in Canada desiring to leave for Europe must anticipate very long delays before obtaining return passage to this country. In other words, it has been made clear in Ottawa that persons going overseas now for other than urgent purposes must expect no west-bound trans-Atlantic accommodation for a considerable time and this is mentioned now because a recent announcement in Ottawa that wartime controls over departure of women and children from Canada had been misinterpreted as implying that conditions were normal since this wartime control had been removed.

From time to time representations for the establishment of a Canadian embassy in the Vatican have been made by individuals but it is reported in this capital that no official representations have been received by the Canadian Government for the creation of such a diplomatic mission in Rome.

"It is very moving and inspiring to witness, as I have in two world wars, the way the members of our Empire family have rallied together in the cause of freedom," said Canada's new Governor-General in one of his finest addresses in Ottawa where Viscount Alexander has attracted much attention. "We, in Canada, have sought to make the family and the home the foundation of our national life," declared Prime Minister Mackenzie King to Viscount Alexander and Lady Alexander in this capital. "In Your Excellencies and your children we recognize and welcome a happy family. . . . 'Canada's Prime Minister is a bachelor. . . . 'Great cities grow around world ports and Ottawa is indirect line," stated the famous aviation expert, Glenn Martin, during a visit to Ottawa, which he indicated is close enough to world routes to become one of the greatest airports in the world. . . . "We must keep the income of the farmers of the Prairie Provinces at a decent level to provide an outlet for industrial products of eastern Canada," were the significant words spoken at a meeting in Ottawa by the lady members of parliament here, Mrs. Gladys Strum, M.P. from Qu'Appelle, Saskatchewan.

The wife of Canada's new Governor-General is a rather attractive, tall woman who was dressed in a royal blue suit, fitted full-length coat, off-the-face hat of the same shade with ostrich tips of royal blue and a lighter shade, on her first public appearance. . . . There is considerable interest here in the report that 300,000 persons in the lower income brackets were freed from income tax payments in Britain in the budget, with hopes being entertained here that perhaps any possible future tax cuts in Ottawa may favour Canada's "little men" too. . . . There are 143 men who served overseas in World War II now in Federal prisons in Canada and this has been disclosed in Parliament. . . . Canada's shortwave broadcasting station at Sackville, N.B., is sending out daily programmes now to the United Kingdom, France, Czechoslovakia, Germany and The Netherlands and experimental weekly programmes are being sent to Latin America and the West Indies, with the total cost of this CBC station, which is not finished as yet, likely to be $1,280,500. Its operating costs from February 1st, 1944 until October 1st, 1945, were $403,352 and employees of this shortwave station are 105. . . . A 1906 Briscoe auto belonging to Mr. Bessin of Ottawa, has been evaluated by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board at $200, with Mr. Bessin stating that his car "has a top speed of 20 miles an hour downhill." . . . There is little likelihood that the price of cigarettes in Canada will rise, it is claimed in Ottawa, in face of the removal of price ceilings. . . . A new Brazilian Ambassador has arrived in Ottawa and he is Dr. Acyr de Nascimento Pass. . . . Likewise, Poland's new Ambassador to Canada, Dr. Alfred Fiedor-kiewicz, is expected here any day now. He was a prisoner in the notorious Oswiecim camp where over four million persons were killed by the Germans, though Dr. Fiedor-kiewicz escaped.

Damage by Flood.
Sweet clover, alfalfa, and crested wheatgrass were able to withstand only short periods of flooding, while brome, slender wheatgrass, and meadow fescue were able to stand fairly long periods. Timothy and reed canary grass stood the most flooding of the crop tested by the Dominion Experimental Station, Swift Current, Sask., to determine the length of time which certain commonly grown forage crops may be covered by water without causing excessive permanent injury. The experiments were conducted.

Factors in Growing Soybeans.
The proper choice of a variety is important in connection with the production of almost any crop in Canada. This is particularly true of soybeans, where adaptation to the conditions of a particular locality is essential if a variety is to give satisfactory results. Soybean varieties now being grown in Canada vary in maturity from 100 to 140 days. It is obvious that a 140-day variety is useless in a district best suited to a 100-day variety and vice versa. Consequently, the choice of a suitable variety is important and only the best seed available of the chosen variety should be used, says F. Dimmock, Division of Forage Crops, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa. It is a wise practice to inoculate the seed with the proper culture each year no matter whether the land to be used has grown soybeans before or not. Inoculation is a form of insurance that has proved profitable. Then there are certain cultural practices that are important. Spring preparation of the soil should be thorough. Soybeans are planted fairly late, and an opportune time to combat weeds is before seeding is done. It would be better to delay seeding a little rather than plant in poorly prepared land. Time of seeding is also important and if the land is ready should be done around the middle of May. It is a common practice to seed soybeans just before the corn is planted. A light stroke with the harrow two or three times after the beans are up and before they are six inches high will do wonders in controlling weeds. This should be followed by row cultivation. Leave the surface level and do not ridge up the rows, as this may do more harm than good by interfering with harvesting operations. Row planting has been generally accepted as better than close drilling. Rows 30 inches apart, with the plants averaging 1 to 2 inches apart in the rows is about the right spacing. If a farmer is undecided as to what variety to choose for his locality, or if he desires more detailed information on the culture of soybeans, he should without delay consult the Agricultural representative or get in touch with the nearest Experimental Farm.

Maple Sugar Grove.

The ideal maple grove should fulfil the following seven requirements:—area should be completely filled with sugar maple trees with fully developed crowns. The canopy of leafy crowns should allow little sunshine to fall upon the ground, thereby discouraging the growth of grass and weeds. Maple trees of all ages should cover the area. As the old mature trees are cut out, the younger ones take their places. Roadways through the grove help in the collection of the sap and reduce the usual difficulties with underbrush. Live stock should be rigidly excluded from the sugar bush. The bush should be thinned to allow only the trees necessary for replacement to remain. An unthinned border at least 25 feet wide on all sides should be left as a windbreak which serves as a safeguard against storms.

This successful farmer in Kent County had good rich soil for his soybean crop, due to his crop rotation plan. Soybeans, which add some nitrogen to the soil, work well in crop rotations, such as sugar beets, corn, oats, soybeans . . . or corn, soybeans wheat and clover.

Ontario farmers are sure of a ready market for soybeans, too. Because Victory Mills has invested over $2,500,000.00 in a new plant and plans to buy more than 3,000,000 bushels of soybeans a year.

5 SOUND REASONS FOR GROWING SOYBEANS!

1. Soybeans are a Hardy Crop—resistant to drought, light frosts and heavy rains during growing season.
2. They're a PROFITABLE cash crop.
3. There's a READY MARKET for all you can grow.
4. Soybeans need a MINIMUM OF LABOR—can be harvested with a combine whenever weather is suitable.
5. A real SOIL-BUILDER, improving soil tilth and adding some nitrogen—soybeans fit into any "crop rotation" planning.

SUGAR FOR CANNING

There is a world-wide shortage of sugar. Last year world sugar production was twenty-five percent below 1939. Reasons for the decrease are:

- Destruction of the sugar industries in Java and the Philippines.
- Shortages of labour and fertilizers in many sugar-producing countries.
- Last year's drought in the Caribbean area, especially Cuba.
- Damage to European sugar beet fields.

World sugar supplies are pooled for the benefit of the United Nations. Canada, the United States and Great Britain are allotted an equal share of sugar according to population. Available supplies must also be shared with other countries.

TEN POUNDS OF CANNING SUGAR PER PERSON

This year's canning sugar allowance is ten pounds per person—the same as last year. Instead of special canning sugar coupons, ten additional green "S" coupons are being made available for the purchase of canning sugar.

S8 to S12 inclusive become valid on May 2nd; S17 to S21 inclusive on July 4th. Each coupon is good for the purchase of one pound of sugar.

The ten "S" coupons for canning sugar are in addition to the "S" coupons which regularly become valid each month for the purchase of sugar and preserves.

Those who do not wish to do home canning may use the extra coupons to buy commercially packed, jams, jellies, canned fruit, etc., or sugar to supplement the regular ration.

The ten "S" coupons for canning sugar need not be used immediately they become valid. You will be given ample notice of their expiry date.

THESE ARE YOUR "S" COUPONS FOR EXTRA SUGAR

VALID MAY 2

Any valid "S" Coupon, including those shown here, may be used to purchase sugar for canning, or the amount stated below of preserves.

The green "S" coupons S8 to S12 and S17 to S21 are in addition to the "S" coupons which regularly become valid each month for the purchase of sugar and preserves. They are validated to make available enough sugar for home canning or for other household uses.

AMOUNT OF SUGAR USED IN CANNING

Each housewife may use her canning sugar to fit the needs of her particular household. A common method is to allow ¾ lb. sugar for each quart jar of canned fruit; and 1½ lbs. sugar for each quart of jam or jelly.

SUGARLESS METHOD OF CANNING FRUIT

Many home economists recommend the sugarless method of canning fruit. Sugar can be added during the winter as the fruit is used. If you have not a copy already, write the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, for "Wartime Canning" pamphlet.

FRIDAY, APRIL 26, 1946.

All Peoples Either Grow or Die.

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics makes the following statement: "When the population of a country is based on the number of people who are expected to live, the population of a country is based on the number of people who are expected to live."

estimates. They are based on the or-probable logic of what has happened under certain given factors, and what will happen if we continue under our present system for the next forty-five years. If we do that, then in the year 2000, according to the Bureau's estimate, Canada will have a population of 15,000,000 people, and from that date a slow decline will begin. If this estimate is true, and if we do not take the factors that make it true into account, then we may as well accept the figures as the assurance of a permanent and inevitable extinction of the people.

Of history there has never been a land as favoured as ours that a sol-fish few have been permitted to retain for themselves alone. The evidence on which the Bureau's findings are based. We will not be permitted to retain this land in such a case. We must possess this land and develop its resources for the benefit of ourselves and the world, or ultimately some numerous, more aggressive, more able people will take it from us. All the sober statistics to the contrary, with any distant dream of 15,000,000 people we can never possess this land. We cannot populate it. We cannot develop its vast resources. We cannot meet its obligations in the world. We cannot even defend its 88,000 miles of coast and borderland with a slim handful of people — with a handful that, as a people, are growing old.

That is what the Bureau meant when it spoke of our growing to a peak and then declining. It meant that, within so short a time, the impulse of growth would be overtaken by the fact of decay. That is the history of small peoples. They cannot renew their youth. In 1931, 41.6 per cent of our population was twenty years or younger. Ten years later, with 1,250,000 more people, the total youth under twenty was only 37.5 per cent. That is the way nations die. Can we hope to hold almost 4,000,000 square miles with 15,000,000 ageing people?

There are nearly 100 people for every square mile of the islands of Japan. Even in the vast lands of China there are half as many to the mile, and in India there are scarcely less.

Average the people and area of Germany, France, Poland, and the British Isles, and there are 100 people a square mile for every one of ours. Russia, with its limitless spaces, sprawling over half of two continents, an arctic country like our own — has ten people a square mile for every one of ours.
We have less than three people a square mile, the sparsest population and the vastest resources in all the world. But before we sit down to the quiet and complacent enjoyment of these bounties, it might be well to ask ourselves one question: How long will these millions patiently starve while we have vacant fields crying for a harvest, and resources beyond the dreams of any Midas waiting to be used for the world's good?

This is our great chance — perhaps our last chance — to add to our population by peaceful immigration. Liberty Magazine.

Notice to Creditors.

In the Matter of the Estate of John Albert Sweetman, late of the Township of Gosfield North, in the County of Essex, Retired Farmer, deceased.

NOTICE is hereby given that all creditors and others having claims or demands against the estate of the said John Albert Sweetman, who died on or about the 12th day of December, 1945, are required on or before the post prepaid, or deliver to Asa Sweet-man, Essex, Ontario, the executor of ecutor will not be liable for the said

ARTHUR H. PLANT,
Solicitor for the said Executor,
Essex, Ontario.

Hollow Grass Stem.

The stems of the many species of true grasses, generally called culms, are hollow except in corn, in which they are solid but are closed at intervals with variously coloured swollen parts called nodes or joints. Botanists point out that rye, barley, oats and wheat are as truly grasses as Meadow Fescue, Red Top, and Timothy.

Supplement Feed for Swine.

Experience and experiments have definitely shown that profitable year-round pig production is possible when ordinary farm feeds are suitably fortified with the necessary protein, mineral and vitamin supplements, says W.
W. Cram, Dominion Experimental Farm, Indian Head, Sask.

The provision of essential suppliments for the maintenance of health, thrift and normal growth is neither complicated nor costly. When reasonable amounts of skim milk or buttermilk, green feed in the form of pasture, well cured alfalfa leaves or alfalfa meal, and common salt are supplied, a large part of the deficiencies of common feeds will be corrected.

If skim milk or buttermilk are not available, tankage fed at the rate of 10 per cent for weanlings, 8 per cent for growing pigs and pregnant sows, and 5 per cent for finishing pigs, or mature dry sows, will supply the extra protein and calcium required. From one-half to one pound of common salt in 200 pounds of meal mixture is necessary for pigs of all ages unless mixed minerals or a protein-mineral supplement is fed.

The feeding of extra iodine to sows during pregnancy will prevent hairless or flabby pigs at birth and improve the general health and thrift of both sow and litter. Iodine may be provided by dissolving one ounce of potassium iodide in one gallon of water and feeding one tablespoonful of the solution per sow per day.

Litters born and reared inside are likely to become pale, anaemic and unthrifty unless supplied extra iron from birth until they are eating solid feeds. Sufficient iron sulphate to cover a dime placed on the tongue of each pig at 3 to 8 days of age and repeated every seven days until 3 or 4 doses have been given will supply all needs for extra iron. Another method of providing iron to nursing litters consists of supplying fresh earth sods daily that have been sprinkled with iron sulphate solution.

Closely confined pigs receiving no green feed often become unthrifty owing to the lack of vitamins A and D.
These vitamins may be easily supplied by feeding one teaspoonful of fish oil per pig per day.

The creep feeding of a fine meal mixture will encourage nursing pigs to eat at an early age with thrifter pigs at weaning less setback after weaning.

WHEAT HOLDUP?

Wheat must move if Europe is to be fed; but many western farmers, hears The Financial Post, are reported holding their grain in anticipation of lower income tax rates. One plan mooted to encourage immediate deliveries, is payment by promissory note. Such notes could be held by the farmers until tax rates drop.

"Meet my neighbour...

"Poor wanker, he's got Henry's troubles in every new sunroom. How can I get him to stop wasting money at the races?"

"Meet my neighbour... my rainy-day expert," said Henry.
"Aren't you a bit of a sunroom fan? I've heard the name this new sunroom outfit quite a few times."

"I'm a sunroom expert," said the banker, looking from one to the other.

"Years ago he gave me a new slant on life insurance. Provide for the rainy days... then you can enjoy the sunshine."
So that's the way I live. My life insurance premiums are the first call on my income. That means I don't have to worry about Kitty and the kids. Then I figure current expenses, right down to so much a week for movies and ice cream cones. And then!

mounts up, Kitty gets a new galley for the kitchen, or we smarten up the house. This new sunroom comes out of our

People Are Asking?

Q.—My grocer tells me he has only seed potatoes for sale but I think the potatoes I bought recently are table potatoes which should be cheaper than seed potatoes. Is there any way in which I might know what kind of potatoes I am buying?

A.—Yes. Under existing regulations seed potatoes must be sold in a container sealed and tagged with a Canadian Government tag on them.

Q.—Have price ceiling regulations governing laundrying been removed. Last week I paid 30 cents to have a shirt washed and pressed. The former price was 25 cents.

A.—There is a price ceiling on this type of service. Please send us the name of the launderer and we will have the matter investigated.

Q.—When I returned from overseas I bought a house and the owner told me that I could get possession if I gave a three months' notice. The tenants refuse to move. How can I obtain possession?

A.—Under existing rentals regulations and as long as the tenants remain well behaved you cannot obtain possession of the house. The special allowance given ex-service men is for those who lived in the house before they enlisted.

Q.—I don't use meat sauce but my dealer insists on my buying it before he will sell me ketchup. He says he has to buy the sauce to get the ketchup and I must do the same. I've been told this is illegal.

A.—It is illegal. No dealer, either wholesaler, retailer or manufacturer, may force any customer to buy something he doesn't need in order to obtain something he wants.

Q.—I want to slaughter cattle for my own consumption. I understand I must have a slaughtering permit. Is this true?

A.—If you are going to slaughter two animals or less you must get permission from the Board. If you intend slaughtering more you must have a permit authorizing you to do so.

Using Our Abilities.

Workers are finding an outlet for unused abilities in all fields of activity today. Those who can fit into new situations easily are in demand, and wise is he who learns the truth of his real being and draws upon his inherent abilities.

"We are all capable of more than we do," writes Mary Baker Eddy in the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" (p. 89). This can be proved in the variety as well as in the quantity and quality of our work. "Mind," she says in the same paragraph, "is not necessarily dependent upon educational processes. It possesses of itself all beauty and poetry, and the power of expressing them."

An individual once had opportunity to prove this statement to be literally true. She was called unexpectedly one morning to go immediately to a large high school to substitute for the music teacher. She had never before led any music group, and had very limited experience playing in orchestras or in teaching of any kind. The official in charge was reminded of these limitations, but insisted that since there was no one else she must substitute.

Obediently she started out, endeavoring while on her way to understand the full meaning of the statement just quoted. Arriving at the classroom just in time to arrange her music and pick up the baton to conduct the orchestra, already assembling, she realized that divine Mind was the real conductor as she gave the pupils the signal to begin. After the first few measures she found herself wielding the baton easily and joyously, and she continued to do so throughout the day.

A month later she was called to a larger school to conduct an orchestra as large for a longer period of time and to appear with it in two public programs. This was at a time, too, when many more experienced teachers were easily available. She recognized her knowledge to be reflected from Mind and not limited to "educational processes." — Christian Science Monitor.

To Conduct Motor Training Course.

"Nine out of every ten pedestrians killed in traffic accidents have never driven a car," according to Prof. Amos E. Noyhart, America's top authority on driving and driving hazards. He will arrive in Toronto next week to conduct the second Canadian Motor Vehicle Fleet Supervisors' training course — April 22nd to 26th — in the Mining Building of the University of Toronto.

The course, with emphasis on testing, selecting, training and supervising of fleet personnel, is sponsored, as was the case last year, by the Extension Department of the University of Toronto, the Ontario Safety League, and John Labatt Limited, of London, Ont.

"The modern driver should remember that two-thirds of all pedestrian fatalities occur at night when there is only one-third the day-time traffic," says the administrative head of the Institute of Public Safety, Pennsylvania State College, and staff consultant for the American Automobile Association on road training. "Another fact is that two-thirds of all pedestrians killed are more than 40 years of age."

The summer is the worst because traffic then is at its peak, declares Prof. Noyhart. "We will soon be facing our biggest headache: the careless or unskilled driver. The pilot of a plane is thoroughly trained for his job; so are the locomotive engineer and the ship's captain. In the same manner there should be 'ground schools' for the modern motorist. In North America, the automobile is used by more people and is involved in more accidents than all other modes of transportation combined."

"We must approach the problem in the right way. We should find out if would-be drivers are qualified to operate cars, not allow them to get into trouble and then say they shouldn't be allowed to drive."

"What we should do is train those would-be drivers when they are of legal age to drive, that is, in our high schools. Those who operate taxi, bus or trucking fleets and their reservoir of drivers in high schools, and if youths are taught the technique of good driving there, all the fleet operator has to do is train them in the things directly relating to their job."

"Many people think that if a man has driven a truck for ten years he must be twice as good as one who has driven for only five. Yet it is a proven fact that a boy who has driven for only one or two years can be a far better driver than a man who has driven for 20."

In one U. S. city not long ago, according to Prof. Noyhart, a psychiatrist checked 367 drivers who had been picked up for traffic offenses of one kind or another. "They were an average lot, not selected because of any evidence of mental disorder," he points out. "Out of the 367, the psychiatrist found that seven were definitely crazy and had to be packed away in an insane asylum. Eleven more had to take psychiatric treatment before they could be released. This is ample proof that any driver, regardless of how good he may be, must always be on the alert for the man behind the wheel of the other car."

When it comes to statistics, Prof. Noyhart can quote figures by the yard. According to the U. S. authority, it takes 22 feet to stop a car on dry pavement when you are travelling 15 or 16 m. p. h. But at 40 m. p. h. you require 88 feet in which to stop. It requires about 30 per cent more gasoline to average 60 m. p. h. than to average 40 m. p. h. Here are some average figures: At 30 m. p. h. a car will travel 18 miles on one gallon of gasoline; at 40 m. p. h. 14.4 miles on a gallon; at 50 m. p. h. 11.6 miles on a gallon; and at 60 m. p. h. 9.6 miles on a gallon.

And if your worry is tires, it will interest you to know that at 52 m. p. h. the tire wear is 2.7 times as great as at 33 m. p. h.

For the five-day Fleet Supervisors' training course in Toronto next week, tests have been devised to record the mental, physical and emotional characteristics of drivers. On the basis of these tests, Prof. Noyhart states, it is possible to determine whether or not a man will make a good driver and to reveal the weak spots which may be corrected.

Exercises have been prepared to measure a driver's ability to handle a car expertly and to improve his driving skill. Each exercise is designed to bring out some significant driving practice. In addition to obtaining a measure of the degree of expertise, these exercises also create an awareness on the part of those tested that skilful handling of a car is not a "cinch," but requires sound physical characteristics, driving knowledge, alertness, consideration for others and highly developed skill.

The course is aimed at the prevention of accidents, reduction of operational costs, conservation of equipment, and improvement of management, driver and customer relations on the part of firms operating motor vehicle fleets. To accomplish this purpose, the idea is to present, largely through demonstration, a complete program for selecting, training and maintaining fleet personnel.

Use of Limestone Helps Crop Yields.

According to the experience of the Dominion Experimental Station, Lennoxville, many districts in the Province of Quebec in which the use of lime as a soil amendment would bring greater profits. In an experiment conducted at the Station over the past 18 years the value of the increased crop due to the use of lime was about $12 for each ton of ground limestone applied. That refers to the increase in yield alone and does not take into account the improvement in quality which is especially noticeable in the clover crop.

How can a farmer tell if his fields need lime? Certain plants, such as sheep sorrel and horsehair are an indication that the soil is sour. To ascertain the condition of the soil is not a difficult matter. A sample should be sent to the nearest Experimental Farm or Station or to the local agronomist or agricultural representative for testing, for which no charge is made. The sample required is small but should be representative of the field. If the soil is not uniform, take more than one sample from different parts of the field. The test will show what the deficiencies in the soil are or whether it is acid and how much ground limestone or other amendments are required to neutralize it.

Pleasures are all alike, simply considered in themselves. He that takes pleasure to hear sermons enjoys himself as much as he that hears plays. — John Selden.

"... AND NOW FOR A

POUND OF EGGS

MADAM?"

● Quoting eggs by the pound would be confusing, wouldn't it? You buy eggs by the dozen, milk by the quart, meat by the pound. By what measure do you buy electricity?

You buy electricity by the kilowatt-hour, and you should know what a kilowatt-hour can do for you.

An electric lamp or appliance is usually marked "60 watts", "500 watts", "1000 watts", as the case may be. The mark simply indicates the number of watts of electricity that the lamp or appliance will use. A kilowatt is simply 1000 watts. A kilowatt-hour is 1000 watts used for one hour—or 100 watts for ten hours. So that one kilowatt-hour will operate your 1000 watt electric iron for one hour. And at what a small cost!

The average urban rate for Hydro in Ontario is about 1-1/5c per kilowatt-hour. Just over 1c to light a 100-watt lamp for 10 hours, or drive a washing machine for four hours! Isn't it great to live in Ontario, where Hydro rates are among the lowest in the world?

WORLD FOOD EMERGENCY

We must help feed a hungry world

A serious shortage of food in certain areas of the world was expected, but crop failures in many areas, and lack of distribution facilities, seeds, and tools in others created a food shortage of alarming proportions. Only immediate deliveries of staple foods can sustain the hungry millions.

PRODUCE AND SAVE — MORE

Since 1939, our per capita record of food exports has exceeded that of any other country. Food production has soared. Canadians have eaten well in spite of war. Today, the seriousness of the world's food situation calls for even greater efforts. We can increase our food shipments and still have enough for our needs.

THIS IS WHAT WE CAN DO

We can ship more WHEAT, FLOUR, MEATS, CHEESE and EGGS if as great quantities as possible are made available for shipment during the next four months.

PRODUCERS! — DELIVER TO MARKET.
CONSUMERS! — BUY LESS OF THESE FOODS — BUY ONLY FOR IMMEDIATE NEEDS—WASTE NOTHING—PLANT A GARDEN—SUBSTITUTE VEGETABLES FOR AS MANY OF THESE VITAL FOODS AS YOU CAN.

This will increase supplies at storage depots, thus freeing additional needed foods for the world's hungry. There can be no permanent prosperity for us... or anyone... while hunger and despair afflict large areas of the world.

Share with the hungry!

Greyhound to Operate on Standard Time.

In order to avoid possible confusion over daylight saving time, the Greyhound Lines in Western Ontario have announced that they will continue to operate on standard time. The main reason for this decision is the fact that most of the communities served by Greyhound have already decided to adhere to standard time. This applies to the territory between Windsor, London and Sarnia and east to Toronto, served by Eastern Canadian Greyhound Lines, as well as the Windsor-Buffalo route of Canadian Greyhound. Effective April 28th, there will be one extra trip daily between London and Sarnia, along with two extra round trips daily between Chatham and Windsor, the latter to include extra service to Port Lambton and Dresden.

North Ridge United Church Easter Services.

The North Ridge United Church had two great services on Easter Sunday. The sunrise service was unusually well attended. The Young People in charge took for their theme "The Meaning of Easter." Harold Hall led the congregation in singing well known Easter hymns. Grace Coleman, Phyllis Mulcaster and Charles Raymond read scripture passages, showing what the Resurrection meant to the Disciples and the women of the time, and Elford spoke on the topic "What the Resurrection means to us today." Lorraine Elford offered prayer and Margaret Dunk sang a solo.

The Communion service which followed, was conducted by Rev. Stephen Dunk. The Young People of Cottam United Church were in attendance and Rev. Stanley Johnston offered prayer. Over one hundred young people participated in this service.

At the regular church service eight young people and five adults were received into church membership. The Young Peoples choir sang two lovely Easter selections.

Good News....Mr. Motorist

Now that all restrictions of the past five years are behind us as far as motoring is concerned you, no doubt, are planning a trip far afield this year.

If you insure your car with us, I will place it in a Company that insures more cars and trucks than any other — always a jump in advance and always leading, where others follow, from the standpoint of SERVICE.

We have sensed your needs, especially when you are far from home — a stranger in a strange land — if you should be unfortunate enough to meet with an accident.

With your policy this year of expected, unprecedented travel, goes an IDENTIFICATION setup, which is the latest and most up-to-the-minute one you have ever seen. It consists of a cute little card-size envelope with the usual identification data on the face of it. On the inside there are minute instructions how to proceed and what firm should be involved in an accident, regardless of where you might be in Canada or the United States. The best facilities that money can buy are already there and at your service for the asking. This is very convenient even if you do not leave Ontario.

YOU WILL BE SORRY if you do not see me, when insuring your car. SPECIAL FEATURES, COST and SERVICE unparalleled.

Lansing-McPherson Wedding.

At a beautiful setting of white pinks and burning white tapers in Essex United Church at 2.30 o'clock Saturday afternoon, the Rev. R. H. Parr united in marriage Miss Gloria May McPherson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Archie M. McPherson, of Essex, and Robert Stewart Lansing, son of Mrs. Albert Lansing, of Essex, and the late Mr. Lansing.

Entering the church on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage, the bride was lovely in a long-torso gown of traditional white satin, the fitted bodice featuring a sweetheart neckline marked with tiny bows, and long sleeves forming points on her hands, and the skirt full. Her full-length veil was held to her head with a lace flounce and a pearl clasp, and she carried calla lilies.

Her sister, Miss Nancy McPherson, as maid of honour, chose deep fuchsia crepe with a draped skirt and three-quarter length dolman sleeves and a high, round neckline. Her hat, a tiny skullcap, was edged with a wide, starched tulle and caught in back with matching feathers and a bow. Miss Marjorie Smith, of Windsor, in mauve, and Miss Glenna Webster, of Paquette, in lime green, as bridesmaids, wore similarly styled costumes and all carried nosegays of yellow snapdragons.

Brother Best Man, Morley Lansing, assisted his brother as best man, and the bride's brothers, Jack and Duncan McPherson, were the ushers.

Mrs. J. A. Nightingale played the wedding march, and the Misses Margaret and Beatrice Bennett sang, very beautifully, "I'll Walk Beside You," and "Because."

A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents, where spring blossoms were used throughout the rooms, the bride's table being centred with the wedding cake, flanked by burning tapers. Mrs. Morley Lansing and Mrs. LeRoy Weed presided over the tea. Mrs. McPherson wore for her daughter's wedding, a gown of gray crepe, with a tiny hat of pink tulle, and a corsage of pink roses and snapdragons, while Mrs. Lansing, the groom's mother, chose powder blue, a hat of black and matching blue, and wore a corsage of red carnations and snapdragons.

Mr. and Mrs. Lansing left for a trip south, planning to visit the bride's aunt, Mrs. H. S. Wall, in Miami, Fla. For travelling the bride chose a pale gray gabardine suit, tailored, with a hat of pink and cerise roses and net. They will live in Essex.

Guests from out-of-town included the groom's grandmother and aunt from Windsor, Mr. and Mrs. P. LeRoy Weed and son LeRoy, of Grosse Pointe Woods, Mich., and Arthur Perrin, of Toronto.

Essex Town Council.

Monday, April 29th. Council met in special session, in the Council Chamber, at the adjournment, with Mayor J. C. Linton, Reeve Irwin and Councillors Chase, Lee, Shaw, Francotte and Brushett present.

Chief of Police H. Harrison asked permission to address members of Council before they went into committee to go over the applications for Chief of Police of town, as advertised. He stated that, from reading the advertisement placed in the local paper, the Star, and Toronto Globe, Council had evidently changed their mind in regard to granting him a three month leave of absence, without pay, and would be hiring a permanent chief. He couldn't understand it and wanted to know if he was out of it still on the three months' leave granted him to regain his health.

Mayor Linton explained that Mr. Davis, with whom the Council thought they had arranged to take over the Chief's duties for the three month leave of absence period, apparently decided to give up the job and on receipt of an official letter, reported to the Provincial Police Headquarters in Toronto for examination so Council, at its regular meeting last Monday evening, unanimously passed a resolution to advertise for a Chief of Police, as it looked then as though the town would be without police protection.

N. Prince addressed Council advising that he had had some of the medals given local boys on their return, without charging any war tax, which he finds out he had no authority to do. He had an auditor for the Department of National Revenue checking his accounts and he had advised him to request Council to write and get exemption of the war tax on the medals.

On motion of Messrs. Francotte and Chase, the Clerk was instructed to write the proper authorities, asking for exemption of the war tax, as the town was using the medals for patriotic purposes only.

Council went into committee and the Clerk opened the 18 applications received in answer to the Corporation's advertisement for a Chief of Police.

After going over the applications thoroughly Councilor Francotte moved that the application of V. F. Sumnerfield, a former Chief of Police of Aylmer, Ont., be accepted, but couldn't get no second.

After further lengthy arguments, the motion of Mr. Sumnerfield was carried, and the Clerk was instructed to hire, under the original terms, viz., on probation for the three month leave of absence period granted Chief Harrison, with the understanding that if he proves satisfactory and Mr. Harrison is still physically unfit to assume his duties, that he will be given the position permanently. The motion carried, however Mr. Brushett was still opposed, being in favour of a couple of others with years of police experience, while Mr. Francotte refused to vote.

Mr. Davis was called in off the street and accepted the office according to the terms of the motion. Council adjourned.

Welcome Home.

"Welcome Home!" Never were words more warmly spoken as a happy crowd of relatives and friends gathered Monday evening in the Salvation Army Citadel to greet Murray Ellis, recently returned from service with the Canadian Navy. Ladies of the Home League served a delicious supper, with servicemen of the Corps as special guests.

In honour of "the boys" Bandmaster Duke Damm and the band arranged a very interesting program which was ably piloted by Clayton Rawling, of Windsor. Rupert Cook, as speaker of the evening, presented gifts on behalf of the comrades. Returned men of the Corps include Murray Ellis, Sterling Ellis, Leonard Gammon, William Gammon, Don Wilson, who served in the navy; and Don Roberts, who gave service in the R.C.A.F.

Donald Pastorius, also a member of the R.C.A.F., paid the supreme sacrifice in April 1944. The crowd bowed in silent tribute before the band played "Abide With Me," dedicated to his memory.

In peacetime, as in war, the Army is here to serve.

ELFORD

Fire threatened the Henry Teskey home on Saturday evening, when the roof caught fire from an overheated stove pipe. However, neighbours soon formed a bucket brigade and got the blaze under control.

The next Young People's meeting will be held at the home of Lily White, on May 6th, at 8.30 p.m.

On April 29th, the Elford Young People sponsored a box social. A large crowd attended and proceeds were $33.

Miss Mabel Dennison is recovering from a fractured rib, while Miss Stella Martin is in Hotel Dieu suffering from a broken pelvis. Both girls received injuries in the hayride accident on Douglas Road.

A joint meeting of the W. A. and W. M. S. will meet on Wednesday, May 8th, at 2 p.m., at the home of Mrs. Douglas McBeth.

Mother and Daughter.

Another record was broken Tuesday night, when 310 mothers and daughters attended their banquet in the local United Church. The ticket sales were limited, otherwise the capacity of the banquet hall would have been exceeded. An excellent chicken dinner was served by the men of the church, under the convener'ship of J. W. Elsiey in the kitchen and Graham Armstrong in the diningroom.

A program of merit was presented by Mrs. R. H. Parr, president of the W. M. S., under whose auspices the banquet was held. The first number was community singing, led by Marion McIlwain, with Miss Marjorie Allen at the piano; Miss Joyce Thibodeau, of Windsor, a pupil of Miss Myrtle Kennedy, contributed two humorous readings which were well received, while Mrs. H. Manningham, of Cottam, accompanied by Mrs. J. W. Elsiey, favoured with two delightful solos.

Mrs. Alger Naylor introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Myrtle Labbitt, of OKLW, Detroit, who gave a most interesting and instructive address on the wholesome relationship of mothers and daughters. Mrs. Labbitt is always a favourite with Essex audiences. The generous applause showed the high appreciation of her logic and humour.

A vote of thanks to all who contributed to the great success of the banquet was moved by Mrs. G. Doyle and seconded by Miss Dorothy Vanstone. The oldest lady present at the banquet, Mrs. Mary Rogers, was presented with a basket of flowers, in recognition of her long association with the W. M. S.

The National Anthem concluded an evening of inspiration and profit.

FRIDAY, MAY 3, 1946.

Canada's Position.

Refreshed after its two weeks vacation, Parliament is already well settled into the second lap of its current session. Much work lies ahead of it. The debate on the Citizenship Bill, the National Flag Bill, the Budget, the various Departmental Estimates, to say nothing of a number of private bills still to come up for discussion are expected to take considerable time.

Most of this business is of extreme importance, both economic and moral, and when its impact is felt on the nation, Canada's position will be increasingly improved.

Looking at the immediate scene, it is possible to prove that conditions in Canada are as good if not better than anywhere else in the world. For instance, with the recent 16 per cent cut in the lower income brackets in almost all the lower income brackets are lower than in England, Australia, New Zealand. The nation's per capita debt has not increased as much as in other countries, despite the heavy burden of the war.

During the past six years, Canadians have increased their total savings from $2,000,000,000 to something over $10,000,000,000. Add to this the fact that certainly up to the moment, the purchasing power of the Canadian dollar has been better maintained than in other countries.

It is true that we do have problems. The need for houses is urgent, despite the Government's various activities. Nevertheless, in 1945, under conditions of total war, Canada built 41,000 dwelling units, the largest annual figure in our history. Neither the United States nor Australia has proportionately matched this achievement.

Employment Picture.

Reconversion of industry problems are still with us, which is not unexpected since the war is hardly over more than eight months. The Government plans for repatriation, for rehabilitation, and for reconstruction, have so far worked out fairly well.

As Minister of Reconstruction, Howe pointed out to the Toronto Canadian Club recently, low Canadian unemployment is a cause for concern, and what is more, the transfer of individuals from job to job and from place to place have been slow since last August. There are some dramatic features.

From V-J day to the end of March, discharges from the Armed Forces numbered 122,000 persons, while the decrease in the numbers employed in non-agricultural war industry has been about 50,000 persons.

The means that more than 1,000,000 Canadians have given up their war time occupations since V-J Day. At that time there were 75,000 unemployed job applications at federal employment offices; at the end of March 1946 the figure had risen to 266,000, being a net increase of 191,000.

In other words, something like 900,000 Canadians who lost their jobs with the coming of victory have either found employment or have withdrawn from the labour market. That is a striking achievement.

Moreover, the country is far from having reached the end of the demand for workers; industrial reconversion is only about 50 per cent complete at the moment.

Senate Active.

The keen activity of the Senate during its session so far this year has evoked much commendable comment. Two of its activities are assuming major proportions — the Committee on Income Tax Administration and the Committee on External Affairs.

The Senate has already accumulated a large body of important evidence regarding taxation. Observers are prophesying that the efforts of the committee will throw a good deal of enlightenment on the tax problem, and accordingly the recommendations of the Senators for improvement in the nation's taxation setup are being awaited with lively interest.

There is an expectation that the Committee will make an interim report in time to have some of its recommendations incorporated in the 1947 Budget. One recommendation may be the suggestion that a Board of Income Tax Appeals be set up.

The Senate External Affairs Committee has already suggested that if Canada is to be adequately represented in this new era of world conferences, the External Affairs Department must organize a flying squad of experts who can be released from strictly departmental duties at Ottawa for the purpose of attending such conferences.

Opinion in the Capital is that this alertness by the Senate will help Canada to fulfill her obligations in maintaining world peace.

Food for the Starving.

Speaking of international obligations, this column has frequently pointed out the obligation of Canada in helping to assure an adequate supply of food for world areas where the productive capacity is not as great as Canada's.

During the past week Prime Minister King announced two more steps which would be taken. Canada will make available for export a further 2,000,000 bushels of oats and 2,500,000 bushels of lower grade wheat, and Canada has proposed to the United States that both countries cancel commercial export permits for flour except for urgent needs.

These two new steps mean that the Government has taken a total of 11 separate measures designed to provide more food for a world faced with starvation out of which disease and disorder can arise.

Social and economic conditions in the lands of Canada mean that a great deal of work must be done to help the people of Canada and the people of the world. Canada is doing its part, and the people of Canada and the people of the world are blessed in even a small way by the work that they already do.

Canada is that little which changes the course of right. Clever.

The statement in a United States war book by an aide to Gen. Eisenhower alleging that Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, Commander formerly of the First Canadian Army, had been refused permission by Field Marshal Alexander in 1943 to visit Canadian forces in Sicily has made no impression in Ottawa, where its truth is doubted. However, it can be reported that a story has been heard repeatedly that Field Marshal Montgomery and not Field Marshal Alexander had refused permission to persons for visits to Sicily in the early days of the campaign there on account of the lack of transportation facilities at the time, with Gen. McNaughton's name being mentioned as one who had been refused such permission at first but this having nothing to do with Field Marshal Alexander, who is now known as Viscount Alexander of Tunis, Canada's Governor-General, since Field Marshal Montgomery was in command in Sicily in 1943.

With prices of certain articles or services and wages rising, together with the insistent demands for increasing these steadily, it appears almost certain in this capital that the cost-of-living index in Canada may go up several points before the 1946 year will end, though the Government will make a desperate fight to keep it down by an anti-inflation policy. Indeed, it is pointed out in Ottawa that the cost-of-living index at February 1st, 1946, was 119.9 as against a lower mark by 1.3 at the same date in 1945, but, considering the increases already allowed in certain prices in 1945 in many articles and services, there is no doubt that by the end of 1946 it will be a much higher mark, at least, by several points, such as five points or more, especially if labour agitation for higher wages is successful in his rightful claims and wages should be more in tune with the higher prices and the proper claims of farmers and others are granted sooner or later.

Premier Mackenzie King has accepted the invitation of the Prime Minister of the United Kingdom to meet in conference with him and others in London on matters of mutual interest and the hope has been expressed here that this meeting will take place at a time which will be approximate to that of the meeting of the Paris Conference, if this is possible as an arrangement.

Canadian soldiers still in service outside of Canada comprise 35,200 all ranks as at March 31st, 1946, and these include 16,300 in the Canadian Army occupation force and 19,400 others. This has been made known in Ottawa.

With the announcement in Ottawa that a further five million bushels of oats as well as about two and a half million bushels of lower grade wheat are being made available by the Canadian Government and the proposal by Canada that United States and this country cancel commercial export permits for flour except for urgent need it is evident that more measures are being taken by the authorities to help the grave food shortages throughout the world. Meanwhile, it has become known in this capital that the total stocks of grain in Canada at the end of last month found total stocks of wheat here amounting to 210,954,588 bushels as compared with 480,094,553 bushels at the same time in 1945.

Indeed, stocks in various positions with the corresponding figures for 1945 within brackets are as follows: in elevators and flour mills and about 95,121,939 bushels (317,324,567 bushels); in transit by rail, 9,789,649 bushels (8,533,986 bushels); on farms, 106,043,000 bushels (154,236,000 bushels).

The total quantity of oats in Canada is estimated at 167,843,259 bushels as compared with 242,780,882 bushels at the same time in 1945; this year's total comprising 33,819,349 bushels in elevators and flour mills, 3,546,910 bushels in transit by rail and 130,477,000 bushels on farms. Barley stocks in Canada amounted to 66,830,901 bushels as against 88,432,750 bushels at the same time last year; stocks of rye are estimated at 1,731,145 bushels as compared with 49,360 bushels in 1945. Flaxseed stocks amounted to 3,927,887 bushels as against 5,850,475 bushels in 1945.

These are the stocks of grain in Canada on the latest date for which reports are available in Ottawa and these should be taken into account in considering any measures which have or will be taken in order that a starving world may be aided by Canada, with officials here underlining the necessity of voluntary self-denial, general economy and avoiding waste as urgent now "in an acutely difficult situation."

With the announcement in Ottawa that a tentative date for new rates of pay for Canada's army, navy and air forces set to go into effect on October 1st, 1946, it is interesting to report that provision has been made in the estimates for a reduction of no less than $1,494,575,547 in the total expenditures on the Canadian armed forces. In fact, it has been made known here that army expenditures for the coming year have been set at $283,170,171 as against $1,068,168,105, a decrease of $801,998,234; the air force at $118,124,753 as against $598,487,116, a decrease of $480,362,363; and the navy at $72,817,856 as against $299,528,667, a decrease of $226,710,811.

Canada's Minister of Mines and Natural Resources, Hon. J. A. Glen, has revealed in Ottawa that this country had issued a total of 950 temporary permits for entry into Canada of refugees transferred from the United Kingdom.

The order-in-council PC 4671 of June 7, 1943, which limited strictly the number of holidays to be observed in Canada during the war so that employers and employees were forced to keep only a certain limited number of statutory holidays for the past several years, such as New Year's Day, Good Friday, Dominion Day, Labor Day, Thanksgiving Day and Christmas Day, has been revoked and now pre-war holidays can be observed.

"No country has a greater need for overall national scientific planning than has Canada for reasons that are basic in our economy," said Dr. C. J. Mackenzie, the head of Canada's National Research Council in Ottawa, in addressing an important gathering here of the Professional Institute of the Civil Service of Canada. "We have the power to have the best of world mankind has dreamed about but has never had before," declared Hon. John Bracken to a huge audience in this capital. "There must be a stop to hyphenated Canadianism," remarked Jean T. Richards, K.C., M.P., at a meeting in Ottawa. "Canada has a population representing many, but in the main, two great cultures. These cultures must be preserved. "To assist in the pressing need for food in Europe we must pay more attention to meal preparation today than ever before," said Miss Edith L. Elliott, Home Economist in the Dominion Department of Agriculture in Ottawa.

June Beetle Flights in 1946.

(Science Service News)

Over the Niagara peninsula, the Eschscholtz-Oshawa area and Lambton County in Ontario, exceptional numbers of June beetles are now present in the soil awaiting the warm weather of May and June to commence flying and later feeding on the foliage of forest and shade trees, ornamental shrubs and small fruits, resulting in partial or complete defoliation.

After feeding for short time the female June beetles will start burrowing into the soil to deposit the large, white, oval eggs, principally in grass-covered soil, often exceeding one-quarter million per acre. In a period of about one month, or principally during July, these eggs will hatch into young white grubs which will continue to feed on crops roots until September but although these first years grubs will be very numerous they will not cause important injury in the area concerned until 1947.

During that year the grubs will be in the second year of growth in which they feed ravenously from May to October and cause severe losses to crops which may not be fully recognized until harvest time. This constitutes an outbreak of white grubs which occur every third year in infested areas where white grubs and June beetles are economic pests.

Since white grubs are most destructive during the second year stages it is necessary to apply control precautions before the occurrence of these stages, or during 1946. This is particularly important in the Niagara peninsula to prevent a recurrence during 1947 of the very devastating outbreak which occurred in the area during 1944. June beetles can readily be controlled on foliage by applying arsenate of lead spray at the rate of 1 pound to 20 gallons of water applied about May 20th but the immature stages or white grubs are not so readily controlled.

Literature and general information on white grubs and June beetles may be obtained from the Provincial Entomologist, Guelph, Ontario, or the Dominion Entomologist, Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Best Treatment for Rickets in Live Stock.

The past winter has been rather hard on bulls. This is particularly true in Western Canada where an early winter forced many farmers and ranchers to stable their bulls one month earlier than usual. Some of the young stock is now showing in its gait the results of this prolonged transfer from grazing to stall feeding: with rickets, their feet turn in and they walk with a lack of vigor and sureness of stride.

Dr. Charles A. Mitchell, Dominion Animal Pathologist, points out that rickets is a disease caused by a deficiency of calcium, phosphorus or Vitamin D in an animal's diet. If a young animal does not have enough calcium deposited in the cartilage of its bones, these bones will become weak. Older animals may suffer from slight attacks of rickets, but usually recover provided that their bones have been built up to strength during their growing period. Young bulls however do not recover as easily. Indeed, in young bulls, rickets may persist, weakening the animal and reducing its market value.

The most effective precaution against rickets is a diet containing adequate calcium, phosphorus, and Vitamin D as the ability of the body to make use of calcium depends on the presence of phosphorus and Vitamin D in the diet. Well-cured hay should contain enough to both minerals to protect an animal, but whether it does depends on the presence of these minerals in the soil where the hay is grown. Nor should a mineral supplement be always depended on to supply the deficiency. As Dr. Mitchell points out, if the soil producing the animal's feed is naturally rich in calcium, excess quantities of calcium in the feed ration will not be absorbed. Accordingly, this authority on animal diseases says that each case of rickets should be treated by a veterinarian who is thoroughly familiar with local soil and feeding conditions.

Early winter and its consequent early stabling is not the sole condition leading to rickets. A few years ago, live stock in Eastern Canada suffered from rickets when rainy weather during the haying season interfered with proper curing of the hay.

Many animals will recover from rickets when spring sunshine assists them to absorb the calcium their bones require. But as the disease can greatly retard the growth of young live stock, it is wise to call in a veterinarian at the first sign of the disease. The symptoms to watch for are sore feet, sometimes arthritis and — in some individual animals — bandy legs.

Last spring when late frosts severely damaged this farmer's pea crop, his 40 acres of soybeans were unharmed. He got $2,600.00 for them—and now is sold on keeping a third of his acreage in soybeans as a kind of crop insurance plan.

And Victory Mills' $2,500,000.00 investment in a huge new plant—and their aim of buying more than 3,000,000 bushels a year in Ontario—assures farmers of a ready market for all the soybeans they can grow.

SOUND REASONS FOR GROWING SOYBEANS!

1. Soybeans are a Hardy crop—resistant to drought, light frosts and heavy rains during growing season.
2. They're a PROFITABLE cash crop.
3. There's a READY MARKET for all you can grow.
4. Soybeans need a MINIMUM OF LABOR—can be harvested with a combine whenever weather is suitable.
5. A real SOIL-BUILDER, improving soil tilth and adding some nitrogen—soybeans fit into any "crop rotation" planning.

People Are Asking?

Q.—What coupons will be used for purchase of sugar for canning this year?

A.—The regular S coupons will be available for this purpose. Ten additional coupons over and above the regular sugar and preserves allowance will be declared valid. The first five become good May 2.

Q.—Two months ago I gave my landlord my notice of intention to vacate because I had bought another house. Now I find I cannot get possession of the house because the tenants in it cannot find other accommodation. The house in which I now live has been sold and I have been notified I must move by the first of May. My husband is in the armed forces and I have no place to go. Can you make me move out of my present dwelling?

A.—You do not mention in your letter what notice you gave your landlord. We advise you to consult the nearest office of the War-time Prices and Trade Board or write directly to the Regional Rentals officer of the Board, Federal Building, London, giving him details regarding the notice of your intention to vacate and the notice served on the tenants of the house you bought.

Hello Homemakers! Let's give our family that refreshment and relaxation so deserved when the day's routine is over, by serving pleasant, interesting supper dishes. All of us know that fish, eggs, whole-grain cereals, and cheese are basic ingredients of the main Lenten supper dish, but too few of us take time to figure out how we can prepare them reasonably and attractively.

It's fun to plan a dish with just a small note of surprise in either shape, texture or garnish. A homemaker who prepares good food can erase many trials and tribulations, without actually raising the budget a few cents.

Oatmeal Vegetable Soup.

2 lb. soup bone (½ bone, ½ meat)
2 tablespoons fat
2 quarts water
4 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
2 cups cooked tomatoes

Remove part of meat from cracked soup bone, cut meat into cubes and brown lightly in hot fat. Place meat, soup bone, water, salt and pepper in soup kettle; cover and simmer 2 hours. Cool, strain and chill sufficiently so that excess fat may be skimmed off. Return stock to kettle and add vegetables. Bring to a boil, then slowly add rolled oats or oatmeal. Cover and simmer 30 minutes until vegetables are tender. Soup meat used in making the stock may be cut in small pieces and added. Serve with finely chopped parsley sprinkled on top, if desired. Yield, 8 large servings.

Q.—I bought some potatoes marked American War Seed potatoes. What price should I pay for these, the table potato price or the seed potato price?

A.—You should pay the table potato price effective in your district. This price may be determined from your local WPTB office.

Q.—I am a grocer and recently purchased some honey. It was more expensive than honey I bought previously. Did my wholesaler make a mistake?

A.—The wholesale price of honey was permitted an increase of one percent per pound recently.

Q.—I read in the paper that sports goods have been removed from the ceiling regulations. Does this mean I will have to pay more for tennis or golf balls?

A.—No, golf and tennis balls are not included in the list of sports equipment and accessories suspended from price ceiling regulations.

Says Beet Contract Best on Continent.

W. J. McGregor, president of the Canada and Dominion Sugar Company, told shareholders at the annual meeting, on Thursday of last week, that over the last three-year period the Company has suffered a substantial loss on its beet sugar operations. Costs of labour, fuel, supplies and packages, have steadily mounted, while selling prices of refined beet sugar, dried beet pulp and beet molasses continue to be frozen at ceiling prices so low in comparison that on the small volume a severe loss on beet operations has been inescapable. While over 100,000,000 pounds of granulated beet sugar was produced to supplement Canada's dwindling supplies, and while the Dominion Treasury collects more than $1,000,000 excise tax on this production, the Company is saddled with severe losses and so far has been unable to obtain any price relief.

Mr. McGregor said he believes that the contract for growing sugar beets in Southwestern Ontario is the most favourable, from the growers' standpoint, on this continent. The price is the highest since 1920, when refined sugar was much higher in price and when there were neither rationing nor ceiling prices. He also expressed the hope that there would be sufficient acreage this year to enable the Company to operate both the Chatham and Wallaceburg factories.

Reviewing the inducements to farmers for stimulating production, Mr. McGregor said that in line with higher costs of imported raw sugars, the Dominion Government increased the net return on beet sugars from the 1946 crop by 60% per hundred, the entire benefit going to the farmers. This is to be achieved without raising prices to the consumers, presumably through the use of the Government's Sugar Stabilization Fund. As this amount of the Government's $15.5 million subsidy granted by the Ontario Government last year, a joint appeal by the Growers Association and the Company was made to the Ontario Government for a subsidy of $112,500. It was granted in full on the basis of 58¢ per ton of beets, all going to the benefit of the growers. This covers approximately 1944,000 tons, with the Company undertaking payment of 55¢ per ton on all beets delivered in excess of that tonnage. No possible surplus of sugar can occur to break prices in 1946. The average acre of sugar beets produces enough sugar for 111 Canadians for a whole year under present household and consumer canning rations.

The Montreal plant (Redpath) continued refining on a full-time basis, comparable to the previous year, although operating costs were rising steadily. Government control of supplies, prices and rationing of sugar continues through 1946. White rations for the first quarter of this year were at the low level of the last part of 1945. The rations for industrial uses for the second quarter were increased by 10%, or to 60% of their 1941 usage. Supplies of raw sugar in 1946 should be slightly more than in 1945 which may result in a larger volume of distribution during the current year.

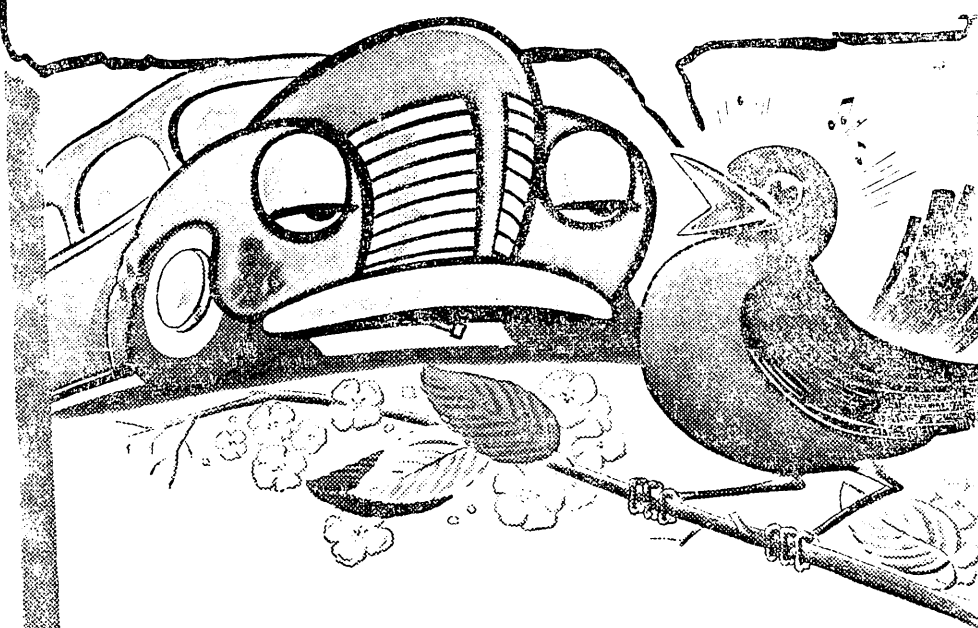

Mr. McGregor pointed out that the net operating profit is down 35% from $1,915,733 to $1,238,804. The consumer or household ration was reduced, by June 1945, from 26 pounds annually to a total of 19 pounds for the entire year. Industrial users who, at the end of 1944, were receiving 80% of their 1941 usage, were reduced through progressive cuts to 50% by June 1945, with the exception of certain industries.

"By the years end, Mr. McGregor said, "ration allowances of refined sugar were at the lowest point reached during the war. This drastic reduction in volume accounted to a large chill sauce and fold the dough, envelope-style, to end. The chill sauce — dampen edges to seal well. Place over the top of the heat d fish mixture for baking.

Choosing the Correct Colors.

The woman who is having trouble choosing the correct colors to use in redecorating her home can take a tip from Charles R. Conquergood, of Toronto, ranked as one of Canada's top color authorities, who says simply "style your home using the same principles as you use in styling your dress."

Mr. Conquergood has packed away a vast knowledge of color principles in years of study of an elusive subject, but he still has a deep respect for the instinctive good taste in decorating of the majority of women. What's more, he rates them (generally speaking of course) ahead of men when it comes to good color practice in home decoration.

"Women generally have a better sense of color than men," he says. "Men generally do not depend on color; their tastes usually fail to climb beyond the jazz or basic colors—red, yellow, blue. Women like a symphony of color; the result of good sense shading and blending of a variety of hues to produce an overall effect which is pleasing to the eye."

In his color room at Canada Printing Ink Company, of which he is president, Mr. Conquergood does almost incredible things with varied colored lights to show how any color under the sun can look infinitely different under a change of light. That's why he won't make any blanket statement about his ideas of just what colors should be used in home decoration.

As far as he is concerned, each room in each home presents its own particular coloring problem, because the final effect depends on the color of the original color of the paint used. It depends also on the type of light available, on the individual eye of the decorator on the color of objects in the room on the changes of color which curtains and drapes will give to the light entering the room, and innumerable other factors.

Another difficulty in any generalization, as he sees it, is the fact that color is usually associated with some other factor, such as form and substance, and it is usually an association of a combination of factors which plays on our emotion. "It has been my experience," Mr. Conquergood says, "that our reactions to color depend as much on the way in which the color is used as on the color itself."

"The human eye is a very complex instrument, sensitive to light and color so that paint is also subject to the vagaries of vision. The complicated process of human reaction and emotions which we commonly describe under the heading of psychology plus our natural or inherited taste, plus our degree of education, are factors which do not affect paint but which do affect and control the color of paint we buy."

In other words, Mr. Conquergood isn't going out on any limb in suggesting a particular combination of paint colors for Mayday. He does believe, however, that any woman could improve her decorating ability by careful study of color circle charts which show the way colors group themselves in order around the circumference of a circle whose center is grey. Colors opposite each other on the circle are the complementary colors, the shades which blend pleasantly together but raise each other as they come from the other.

On getting back to our starting point, he says that a woman usually can do a creditable job of color styling in the home by sticking to the principles on which she chooses her dress—that is, by picking a base color which she likes and trimming it with other colors which she likes on the first.

Returned Men Gamble on Unusual Businesses.

Venturesome spirit of returned men across Canada is indicated by the willingness of many to risk their savings and fortunes on unusual businesses, products of their wartime dreams.

A wedding catering business started by Frank Slater, 24-year-old Vancouver veteran, known as the Baker Catering Service, has grown within four months into an extremely profitable enterprise.

Every party who places an engagement notice in a Vancouver paper receives a letter explaining his service. Once hired, the Baker Catering Service handles everything from printing of invitations and decorations and transportation, to refreshment and orchestra.

An ex-army accountant on the West Coast interprets Government forms for small firms, another veteran is a frog farmer, three ex-navy men are operating the only plasticine in its kind on Vancouver Island, while A. Lloyd Gray and Lewis Williams, former army and air force, respectively, are in the aerial survey business at Vancouver. Jacob L. Glick, believed to be the most northerly veteran receiving Department of Veterans Affairs assistance is going to operate a hotel at Yellowknife, N.W.T., this spring.

Also in the far north is John A. Jones, naval veteran, who has a trading post at Inuvik, N.W.T., and owns another at Aklayuk.

The best portion of a good man's life is his little, nameless, unremembered acts of kindness and of love. Wordsworth.

You Did It in War — You Can Do It in Peace.

The stock answer to every responsible person who asks how impractical are the war — you can do it in peace.

What did Canada do in the war that Canada can do in peace? Canada took, by enlistment or by compulsion, approximately one million of its fittest citizens and trained them for destruction. Their freedom was taken to preserve the national freedom by destroying the enemy's forces.

Canada compelled millions of citizens to work at jobs selected for them at wages fixed for them, under conditions set for them.

Productions were regulated strictly; profits and prices were fixed, controlled and taxed; domestic travel was prohibited; the expenditure of money outside of Canada for other than nationally-approved purposes was prevented; a considerable portion of all income was appropriated by taxation.

Canada paid approximately half of the cost of the war out of current taxes and borrowed the balance from Canadian citizens, big and little. This national mortgage is now so great that it can be carried and liquidated only by production far exceeding any previous peace-time performance.

"You did it in war—you can do it in peace" means that the method of war must continue a vast part of our production must be destroyed or given away, and the debt of Canada must increase at the rate of 50 percent of total expenditures.

Look at Canada as a great farm producing a wide variety of products, but not enough presently to meet expenses. The farm was loaded with first and second mortgages to win two world wars. The "You did it in war—you can do it in peace" people are now demanding that we cut down production per person, pay more for less work, decrease value and increase prices, make more work by idleness. All this, and protection from unsuitable work, to be done by the magic of a third mortgage which we cannot raise.

Greater Production.

From every corner we farmers are being urged to increase farm production, not on every item but certainly on most. We have been boosting our output continually since 1939 and it takes a bit of figuring to decide how we can continue to do it with the same size farm. There seems to be a tendency in a few cases to put a larger part of the farm into crop and reduce the pasture acreage and thus reduce the number of livestock. It becomes a matter of deciding which is more important, more crop or the livestock.

The demand for greater production arises from the general food shortage and before a farmer decides to reduce the number of stock he should consider the abilities of each to produce this human food so scarce. For example, a dairy cow only requires 500 pounds of feed to provide 100 pounds of human food. A hog requires 800, a hen 1,500 and a steer 2,000 pounds of feed to produce 100 pounds of food.

Later in the season, the yellowwood with its long chains of white flowers swaying in the breeze, or the large fuzzy heads of bloom on the Japanese lilac add a definite attractive touch. Catalpa and horse chestnut are too large for most city lots but very showy where space permits.

In late summer the show comes from brightly coloured fruits; brilliant scarlet clusters of mountain ash berries; the changing reds of hawthorne and crabapple and the glossy black of nanny-berry or black haw. Autumn ends the season with a blaze of scarlet, crimson and gold from the foliage of such small trees as the amur and tatarian maples. Any of these small trees will give a pleasing note of colour to lend emphasis to some part of the garden at a particular season.

Through all the year their size gives sufficient mass to create an accent point to mark corners, frame views, and create a background for the bright colours of shrubs and herbaceous plants.

parts of the Dominion. Definitely, we can increase our production — and without extra acreage.

The farmer who has no virgin land and doesn't want to reduce his livestock is still able to increase crop output — he can increase his acreage yields. Yes, it's true, even the above-average farmers can better their past performances. There is no better method than crop diversification. We got along so little for so long that it has been tempting to get into the crops that paid off best in recent years.

This has led to the dangerous situation of a one-crop economy and regardless of what the one crop happens to be in any particular district, it will rapidly deplete the soil fertility. In this country we have the advantages of soil, climate and markets for a great variety of crops and a long-term plan of rotation is easier than in other Flowering Trees for Every Fancy.

Trees in city gardens provide shade and a mass of softening green foliage. Large trees fulfil these purposes better than small ones. On small city lots, however, large trees have distinct disadvantage because of their wide spreading tops and travelling hungry roots. They can only be planted advantageously along the roadway, well away from the front of the houses. For the small garden area at the back of lots, only medium or small sized trees are useful, says R. W. Oliver, Division of Horticulture, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa.

To justify the amount of space they occupy such trees should provide attractive colour effects at different times of the year. In the spring it may be the warm glow of the expanding leaf buds of redbud, the rosy splash of colour of a rosybloom crabapple in the middle of May, or the bright green of the opening leaves of the weeping birch against the silvery grace of its trunk and branches. Many species of plum and cherry are useful in spring, one of the most attractive being the May-day tree which has a light feathery appearance when covered with its narrow racemes of small white flowers.

"Easter," Cottam W. M. S. Topic.

Mrs. Robert Blackton, of Talbot Road, opened her home for the Easter (thank-offering) meeting of the United Church, when 20 members and four visitors answered the roll call and Mrs. Edward Miner, of Kingsville, was the guest speaker, and brought a timely message on "Easter."

She traced the reactions of each stage in life to the Easter message and reviewed the events of Passion Week, applying them to present-day conditions. Turning to the realm of nature she said: "We commonly speak of the grip of the grip of Spring, since it is far more marvelous. Then fresh life begins to surge through every artery of old earth. Everything in nature is under the spell of a new force. Trees are bursting, rivers gushing, the very air we breathe is vital and pungent, and the returning birds take up the joyous story with their song. Life is again teeming. Winter is conquered: Spring stands the victor."

"It is surely not by accident that Christians observe Easter at this season. The grip of Spring may be taken as an allegory of the victory of Christ over death, and of the new spiritual life that surges through the church because of that victory. Even as the trees must respond to the vitalizing force of Spring after their months of slumber, so our dull spirits must respond to the life giving force of the victorious Christ."

Invited to Tea.
Mrs. Delbert R. Jones conducted the business period, during which an invitation from the Olinda Universalist Church to attend a tea on May 17th was accepted.

Announcement was made of the visit of the Dominion president of the W.M.S., Mrs. Roger Self, of Toronto, for a county rally to be held in Cottam United Church at 7.30 p.m. Sunday May 5th, and the corresponding secretary was asked to send invitations to all the auxiliaries in the county.

The Easter service of worship prepared by Miss Isabel Griffiths of Toronto, on the theme "A New and Living Way," was conducted by Mrs. D. R. Jones, assisted by Mrs. Amos Neupert and Mrs. Clarence Pettapiece, and Mrs. J. S. Foster, who dedicated the offering. Mrs. Frederick Whitney, Mrs. Byron Humber, Mrs. Ernest Botham, Mrs. N. J. Ferguson, Mrs. Orin Osborne and Mrs. Leonard Allen assisted in serving tea.

Essex Town Council.

Monday, April 22nd.
Council met in regular session, in the Council Chamber, at 8 p.m., with Mayor Linton, Reeve Irwin and Councilors Chase, Shaw, Lee, Francott, Brushett and Pulleyblank present.

Ern Wilson addressed council re he and his son James, purchasing Malott street, from Gordon avenue to Wilson avenue, a blind street which lies between their property and the Essex Auto Wreckers, at present grown up with brush. He proposed filling in the two shallow ditches and levelling the land.—Referred to solicitor.

Bernard Bridgen addressed council stating he and his father were planning to build a new garage on their property at the rear of the Town Hall, and wanted to know if Council would grant them a permit.—Granted. He also stated they would like to purchase the blind alley between the present garage and Dr. Boyd's property, a continuation of the alley alongside the library.—Referred to the solicitor.

Ted Rivest advised Council he was selling lots off his property on Victoria street, and would like the ditch the town had just cleaned out, filled in with tile, as the ditch is in the centre of a proposed lot.

After much discussion as to whether the town could drain the dump some other way, this matter was left with the Drainage committee, with power to act, on motion of Messrs. Francott and Irwin.

Wilfred Bauer was present in regard to two petitions presented in recent years, to Council, requesting that sewer crock be laid in the present Hanlan street drain, at least 200 feet on each side of Laird avenue. He stated that the stench from this open ditch was at times unbearable.

Mr. Chase informed Mr. Bauer that to grant the petitioners their request would cost into the thousands and the town, at present, just didn't have the money.

Ed. Michael presented blue prints of the new building they are erecting at the corner of Wilson avenue and Fox street. He stated that, according to the architect's plans, there should be three cesspools for the building, and he would like permission to place a small septic tank on the boulevard on Wilson avenue, another small tank in the alley at the end of the building, and a large cesspool in the alley alongside of the building.

A lengthy discussion followed, during which Mr. Michael was advised that the town would have to run a sewer crock drain down the alley to Wilson avenue to take care of the drainage from the stores on Talbot street, the drainage from which used to go through the Michael property.

On motion of Messrs. Irwin and Chase, matter referred to the Drainage committee and Commissioner for Ward 3B, with power to act.

Mr. Michael also stated they were installing a central heating system in the new building and asked permission of Council to run a pipe across the alley to heat the front street stores. They would be sure it would be high enough so as not to obstruct any traffic.—Left with Commissioner for Ward 3B.

Minutes of last regular meeting and special meetings were read and on motion of Messrs. Irwin and Chase, adopted.

Bylaw No. 1121, the Rating Bylaw for 1945, was read and passed.
The Clerk was advised to advertise the annual clean-up day for Wednesday, May 1st.

Mr. Lee reported on some drainage requests, viz., one from Leonard Booke, on Brock street, which would require 743 feet of tile; another from James R. Linton, for the filling of the north side of Jenner street, from Iler avenue to Brien avenue, a distance of 432 feet; also that Harvey Annett had again asked him when Council was going to level the road in front of their place on Irwin avenue.

J. M. Shaw stated he had had several people ask for calcium chloride on their streets.

Mr. Francott advised that he had been over to Harrow on Sunday to see Mr. Pollard.

Mr. Irwin requested the Clerk to get in touch with C. B. Allison re report on McIntyre drain.

Too Much of Everything.

Gentlemen:

In reply to your request to send a cheque, we wish to inform you that the present condition of our bank accounts make it almost impossible for us to do so.

Our shrunken financial condition is due to Federal laws, State laws, County laws, Sister-in-laws and Orphans. Through these laws we are compelled to pay a business tax, income tax, head tax, school tax, high tax, furniture tax, car tax, food tax, excise tax, and income tax. We are required to get a business license, real estate license, car license, truck license, liquor license, not to mention a marriage license and dog license.

We are also required to contribute to every society and organization which the genius of man is capable of bringing to life, to woman's relief and the old dieget's relief. Also to every hospital and charitable institution in the County, including the red cross, the purple cross, the black cross, and the double cross.

For my own safety I am required to carry life insurance, property insurance, liability insurance, burglary insurance, earthquake insurance, tornado insurance, aircraft insurance, unemployment insurance, old age insurance and fire insurance.

My business is so governed that it is no easy matter for me to find out who owns it. I am inspected, expected, suspected, disrespected, rejected, doctored, examined, re-examined, informed, required, summoned, fined, commanded and compelled until I provide and to exhaustible supply of money for every known need, desire or hope of the human race.

Simply because I refuse to donate to something or the other I am boycotted, talked about, lied about, held up and held down, and robbed until I am almost ruined.

I can tell you honestly, that except for the miracle that I have hoped, I could not believe the cheque. The wolf that comes to many doors now, always, just had pups in my kitchen. I sold them and here is the money.

Yours very truly,
Bob.

No More Blondes.

Hydrogen peroxide, now on "short" list, is not merely a bleach for milady's hair, but millions of pounds of it are used every year in industry. The chemical is obtained as a by-product in the manufacture of blue-dye, a fine white powder obtained from barite and used in the manufacture of paint. Although Canada is rich in barite, a non-metallic ore somewhat resembling marble, the blue-dye must be imported because of lack of processing plants in this country.

For them...
A REAL HOLIDAY!

Our friends from the States have always enjoyed fishing the waters of Ontario... 73,000 angling permits were bought by them in one year. When they return, let's give them a great welcome!

WHAT CAN I DO?

The answer is plenty! Here are some of the things anyone can do. The suggestions come from a well-known Ontario hotelman:

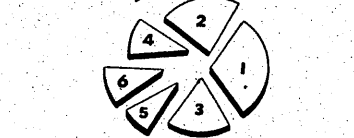

1. Know the places of interest and beauty spots in your district and tell people about them.
2. When you write your friends in the States tell them about some of the places they would enjoy visiting.
3. Try to make any visitor glad he came.
4. Take time to give requested information fully and graciously.
5. In business dealings, remember our reputation for courtesy and fairness depends on you.
6. To sum it up, follow the "Golden Rule."

IT'S EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS... it's good business!

Worth his weight in gold! Actually, the Province of Ontario, in pre-war years, produced almost the same amount from tourist business as it did from the much publicized gold mining industry. It is up to each of us individually to see that this business goes on growing.

This diagram, based on figures supplied by the Hotel Association, shows how everyone benefits from the Ontario tourist income. Every tourist dollar is shared this way... 1. Hotels; 2. Retail stores; 3. Restaurants; 4. Taxes, etc; 5. Amusements; 6. Garages.

"Let's make them want to come back!"

1946 is an all-important year

FOR CANADA'S TOURIST BUSINESS

MILLIONS OF AMERICAN VISITORS are expected to come to Canada during 1946 for their post-war vacation.

It won't always be easy to accommodate them. We still have our crowding and shortages. We are still in the aftermath of war. This is the very reason we should all take special care to be courteous and considerate to our guests this summer.

This year, of all years, we must maintain the reputation we have won for true hospitality

YOU MAY NEVER SEE A TOURIST, BUT...
tourist dollars flow to you. The grocer, the garage man, the farmer, the office worker—everybody benefits directly or indirectly from tourist spending, and the extra work and income it creates. Last year, tourists in Canada spent more than one hundred and fifty million dollars. In the years ahead, as our ability to handle tourist traffic grows, who is to say how big this business may become? For Canada is in an enviable position—a natural vacation land next door to the most travel-minded nation in the world. This is an all-important year! It may be difficult in many ways yet it holds great promise for the future.

THEY'LL BE TALKING ABOUT US... We want them to come again. We want them to tell their friends: "We had a marvellous time in Canada!" By making them truly welcome, we can win millions of enthusiastic salesmen for Canada—"satisfied customers" who will pass on to many times their number the story of Canadian hospitality and of Canada's unlimited attractions as a vacation land.

Good News....Mr. Motorist

Now that all restrictions of the past five years are behind us as far as motoring is concerned you, no doubt, are planning a trip far ahead this year.

If you insure your car with us, I will place it in a Company that insures more cars and trucks than any other — always a jump in advance and always leading, where others follow, from the standpoint of SERVICE.

We have sensed your needs, especially when you are far from home — a stranger in a strange land — if you should be unfortunate enough to meet with an accident.

With your policy this year of expected, unprecedented travel, goes an IDENTIFICATION setup, which is the latest and most up-to-the-minute one you have ever seen. It consists of a cute little card-size envelope with the usual identification data on the face of it. On the inside there are minute instructions how to proceed and what firm to contact in the event of your requiring adjustment facilities, if you should be involved in an accident, regardless of where you might be in Canada or the United States. The best facilities that money can buy are already there and at your service for the asking. This is very convenient even if you do not leave Ontario.

YOU WILL BE SORRY if you do not see me, when insuring your car. SPECIAL FEATURES, COST and SERVICE unparalleled.

Dies of Injuries.

Miss Stella Martin, daughter of Mr. John Snoes, of Colchester North, died in Hotel Dieu, Windsor, on Friday of last week, from injuries suffered on Friday night, April 26th, when the wagon on which she and a large group of young people were having a hay ride party, was struck by a Detroit motorist, on the Dougall avenue Road, just out of Windsor.

Deceased was born in Maidstone Township, on April 20th, 1929, and had clerked, for the past four months, in the S. H. Sadler Drug Store, in town.

Surviving besides her mother are her step-father John Snoes; a sister, Helen (Mrs. Stanley Kippus) and the following step-sisters and brothers, Sylvester, Alajze, Frank, Martha, Florence and Mildred Snoes, all at home.

Funeral services, which was one of the largest attended in this section in years, was held from the family home, on Sunday, at 3 p.m., with interment in Greenlawn Memorial Park.

High School Army Cadets.

Essex is to be honoured, on Thursday, May 16th, by high ranking military personnel, who will attend the annual Cadet Inspection of the No. 15 Essex High School Army Cadets.

Col. Bingham, Director of Cadets for the Dominion, and Major Linton, Director of Cadets for Ontario, together with Major J. S. Young, District Cadet Officer, will comprise the inspecting party on inspection day, Thursday, May 16th, at 2 p.m.

The Cadets have been working hard to give a good performance. The public is invited to attend. Seating arrangements will be provided for spectators.

Former Essex Girl Passes.

Mrs. Jen Thrush, widow of the late Dr. Thrush, and daughter of Mrs. S. B. Green, of town, and the late Mr. Green, passed away at the home of her son, Donald, at Britton, Ont., on Sunday last.

Deceased was born in Essex 56 years ago.

Surviving, besides her mother, are two sons, Donald, of Britton, and Alex, of Welland; and three daughters, the Misses Jean and Barbara and Betty (Mrs. R. Gore) all of Toronto; also a brother, Samuel P., of Windsor, and five sisters, Vera and Florence (Mrs. R. Purlong), of Essex; Helen (Mrs. R. P. White) of Amherstburg; Beatrice (Mrs. William Purlong) and Mrs. Grace Featherstone, of Windsor.

Funeral services were held from St. Paul's Anglican Church, Dunnville, on Tuesday, and burial was in the Dunnville Cemetery. All her sisters and brother attended the services.

George Ford Passes.

George Ford, aged 78, a resident of Essex, passed away in Grace Hospital, Windsor, on Saturday. He had been confined to the hospital only about a week.

Deceased, who was born near Stratford, came to Essex, from Saskatchewan, nearly twenty years ago, and lived on Victoria street, until his wife passed away twelve years ago, when he moved to the late Mrs. Cousin's boarding house on Cameron avenue.

Surviving is an adopted daughter, Mrs. Ernest DeLong, living in Portland, Ore.

Funeral services were held from the James Sutton Funeral Home, Windsor, on Tuesday, with interment beside his late wife, in Roselawn Cemetery, Detroit.

Hitchhiker Badly Hurt.

As an aftermath of a car crash on No. 3 Highway, 2 miles west of Essex, about 6:30 Saturday night, that sent a girl hitchhiker, to Grace Hospital with grave injuries, Herbert Watkinson, aged 52, of 2736 West Euclid avenue, Detroit, was remanded to May 21st on dangerous driving before Magistrate J. A. Hamman in county magistrate's court on Monday.

Assistant Crown Attorney J. A. Kennedy asked for the remand due to the girl's injuries. She is believed to have suffered a broken neck and back when Watkinson's car, in which along with Catherine Scott, 17, also of Detroit, she had accepted a ride to Leamington, crashed with the car of Clarke Kendrick, 35, of Cottam.

Her companion and the driver escaped with minor injuries in the collision that badly wrecked Watkinson's car. Kendrick's car escaped with minor damage.

The accident happened when the Detroit car, with a clear highway in front of him, in passing a car driven by Clarke Kendrick, of Cottam, in which beside the driver was his young son in the front seat, who received a cut arm, and his wife and two babies in the back seat, cut off the Kendrick car, hitting its front fender and hub cap. The Kendrick car was kept under control and went over on its side in the shallow ditch on the right hand side of the road, however the Detroit car went completely out of control, veered over to the left side of the road, struck a tree, when evidently the driver was thrown clear through the open door, followed down the ditch for fifty feet or more, before striking the end of a cement culvert and turning completely over.

The late Mrs. Collins was an active worker in all church work, was a member of the C. W. L., Altar Society, and the League of the Sacred Heart of St. Mary's Church.

Surviving, besides her husband, are six sons, Bernard, Russell, Harry, Wilfred, Michael and Paul, all of Maidstone Cross; also ten grandchildren, a sister, Mrs. Mary Cullen, of Buffalo, Resting at Janisse Bros. Funeral Home, 555 London street west, Windsor, where services will be held on Saturday morning at 8:30, thence to St. Mary's Church at 9. Burial will be in the church cemetery.

Baptist Young People's Fellowship.

A real blessing was received by those present on Monday evening, when the meeting was taken over by the devotional group, which led us by a lively gospel chorus, followed by a Bible Quiz. Miss Wakeling then brought us a message on "Why I Believe the Bible is the Word of God." God is the author; eternity its subject; Salvation its end; Truth its subject. Trust it, love it, obey it, and Eternity life is yours.

The Stewardship group have charged a fine meeting. Come and bring a friend, that they, as well as we, might receive a real blessing.

Remember, on Monday evening, at 8 p.m., at Essex Baptist Church. All young people heartily welcomed.

Ashton-Videan Nuptials.

In a setting of white flowers, in St. Anne's Church, Windsor, Saturday morning at 10 o'clock, the Rev. P. J. Donovan officiated at a double-ring ceremony which united in marriage Miss Alma Harriet Videan, of Harrow and Windsor, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James C. Videan, of Harrow, and Alan James Ashton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ashton, of Essex. White satin ribbons marked the guest pews.

Given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Harold Taggart, of Kingsville, the bride was charming in a floor-length gown of traditional white satin, the bodice featuring a lace yoke and a sweet heart neckline. Her sleeves extended in points over her hands, and her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a beaded coronet. She wore a pearl necklace given to her by her late grandmother. She also carried a lace handkerchief which her grandmother had worn at her wedding, and from the prayer book she carried, which was topped with Joanna Hill roses and lilacs of the valley, fell satin streamers caught with sweet peas and forget-me-nots.

Mrs. Philip Marchand, as matron of honor, wore white brocade organza over blue satin, and a cap of blue satin covered with white organza. Her gown was long torso styled, and she carried pink roses.

William Brodeur, of Essex, was best man, and the ushers were Paul Ennis, of Essex, and Douglas Sadler, also of Essex.

During the ceremony, Gonnards "Ave Maria" and "On This Day, O Beautiful Mother" were sung. For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Videan chose a two-piece ruschia frock with gay accessories. Mrs. Ashton wore a brown gabardine suit, a chartreuse blouse and sailor hat. Both wore white carnations.

A wedding breakfast followed the ceremony, for 30 members of the immediate families, at the bride's home in Harrow, and in the afternoon there was a reception for 100 guests. The house was decorated for the occasion with spring flowers, and the bride's table laid with a linen cloth and centred by the three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom. Mrs. Gordon Lang, of Windsor, and Mrs. David Ferriss, of Harrow, presided at the tea table.

Assisting in serving were Miss Phyllis Videan, Miss Mary Ashton, Mrs. Robert Clark, Miss Eleanor Clark, Miss Geraldine Lang and Miss Jean Gorick.

Following the ceremony, the couple left on an eastern honeymoon, and on returning will reside in Essex. Mrs. Ashton chose for travelling a leaf-green dressmaker suit with dark brown accessories, and a distance at the wedding included Mrs. Albert Drope, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Russell, of Petrolia, George Mann and Mr. and Mrs. A. Domico, of Detroit.

Public Can Save UNO, Synod is Told.

The Archbishop of Huron, the Most Rev. C. A. Seager, D.D., LL.D., opened the Synod of Huron last week in Grosvenor Hall, St. Paul's Cathedral, with a call to all the Anglican men and women of the Diocese of Huron to face reality and realize that they are living in a changing world, and that in such a world the Church of Jesus Christ must be on the alert and abreast with the thought and need of the times. He stated that the ultimate tragedy would be a Church that is out-of-date and behind-the-times in a world that desperately needs the spiritual heritage which the church can share. The Archbishop called on all his people within the Diocese to seize the opportunity of the Anglican Advance Appeal and make certain that the Church of England in Canada be equipped spiritually and financially for the work of the peace-making years ahead of us.

At this same Synod a resolution was passed approving of the Anglican Advance request to the Diocese of Huron for the raising of a fund of $500,000 within the Diocese for the Advance program of the whole church. Continuing in his charge to the Synod, Archbishop Seager said in part: The United Nations Organization and the Security Council, "that brave and courageous attempt to prevent war," will issue in eventual disaster unless the public is so aroused that it demand that "two typically incompatible forces at the heart of the organization" shall not exist. Archbishop C. A. Seager told the Synod of the Diocese of Huron at the opening meeting of its 87th session, last night in Bishop Cronyn Hall of St. Paul's Cathedral.

MOST REV. C. A. SEAGER, D.D., LL.D. Who will be at Trinity Church, Cottam, on Sunday next, May 12th.

Those forces, said Archbishop Seager, are the absolute necessity for international co-operation, and the power of veto held by each nation member of the council. Co-operation means the limitation of national sovereignty, he said, but the international veto provides for national sovereignty.

Out of Date. "Absolute national sovereignty is out of date," he said. "I would like to see every form of Christianity in Canada urge men by the millions to rise up and demand that this outmoded nationalism cease."

No other institution has a better right to arouse public opinion than the Christian Church, he stated, and called upon the Catholic Church in Canada and the Canadian Council of Churches to organize the Christians of the world for this purpose.

Quoting Jesus' words, "The field is the world," Archbishop Seager spoke of the place of the church in the new world. "The new order will transform the world for good or evil," he said. He urged the church not to be behind the times.

The awakening of the East, the rise of the American continent to a place of first importance in the world the rise and vast growth of organized labor the growth of clericalism particularly on the North American continent he regarded as emergency factors and evidence of the new world order.

China is Stage. "China is the star of the Pacific Ocean, the stage on which the next act of the human drama is to be played," he said. He felt that the Christian influence in China has been profound. The peoples of China and India mean political business the archbishop declared, and the people of India mean business in other ways of enormous significance to the entire world. He listed as the great needs of India education for the masses, up-to-date systems of public health, modern methods of agriculture and widespread development of natural resources and of industry.

"Everyone should be glad to make a great sacrifice in the Anglican Advance to aid that land," he said. "India and China should stand as two strong pillars in the porchway of Oriental humanity in the years to come. Religious ecclesiastical isolation is as out of date as its political counterpart. We must not be behind the times."

North America Pivot. "Unworthy though it be, North America is becoming a pivot around which humanity is revolving," Bishop Seager said. "It is essential that political, religious and social isolation of this continent be broken down in the same way they were in England at the time when it gave the world its great missionary societies, he said. "The blind will be leading the blind."

"Labor is claiming and will win a more secure place in society," he predicted. "This is the real meaning of the present turmoil and it is vital whether popular or not." Neither labor nor capital can afford to be behind the times, Archbishop Seager said.

"The new order will make the strike as out of date as the battleaxe in war," he felt, although he considered the labor movement to be of great value. He argued for the peace of co-operation between labor and capital in the new order that the rights of every group be recognized and provided for.

No Time for Civil War.

"We haven't time or place on the North American Continent any more for civil war in any form if we can prevent it," he said. His statement brought applause for clergy and laity. He recommended the Sermon on the Mount as the only practical basis for a satisfactory social order.

Clericalism, to which he said this continent is more addicted than the rest of the world, he defined as the domination of any ecclesiastical body in the political life of a nation. The influence of the church becomes political rather than religious he asserted, and the situation is not confined to any one religious group of Catholic or Protestant faith.

Clericalism must be opposed not by an opposing block but by a vital, vibrant Christianity, said the Archbishop as he called for advance of the church toward a "larger, purer objective which will lift her out of the gutter of low ideals. The most disgusting spectacle in the world is the Christian church rotten with politics."

Dragons in Path. Blind human perversity and selfishness, Archbishop Seager viewed as dragons in the path of the new order. Whether or not Communism is another dragon, he said he could not state, but "in the only country which has tried it out on a national scale, it has resulted in a wholly totalitarian state ignorant of everything outside itself, opposed to every principle of Christianity," he said. He claimed Communism to be similar to Nazism before the war, and a thousand years out of date. It has hanged itself in Canada," he said.

Even democracy can drift out of date, he believed. It needs the sting of Christian conscience to keep it on the narrow path by insistence upon human values.

Archbishop Seager called upon the clergy to enter the vanguard of the new day through the door of their own parishes, through human fellowship more powerful than atomic energy whether the churches be small or large. He said that in the Church of England, in spite of its heritage of work among the aborigines of this continent, a great weakness has paralyzed action, and that the church is weaker now than ever before.

"We have not kept faith with the original pioneer missionaries and are being crowded out by others, perhaps more faithful."

He urged the Synod members to take note of the changes in the world and to do their best to live in a real world.

Ration Coupons Due Dates. Coupons now valid are sugar preserves S1 to S12; butter, R1 to R7; meat, M29 to M36. The next butter coupon becomes valid May 16th.

Ration Book No. 6.

The first coupons in ration book number six will be good for the purchase of butter, meat, preserves and sugar on September 19th, according to information received at the regional office of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

Last coupons in book number five now being used for the purchase of rationed food commodities will be valid September 12th. According to present plans the new books will be issued during the week of September 9th and it is likely that the program of distribution will follow plans used in other years when representatives of the Consumer Branch were responsible for much of the organization.

Details of the next ration book have not yet been announced. It has, however been useful longer than any previous issue.

Canada's Sugar Effort Lacking Incentive.

Wellington Jeffers, the noted financial editor of the Toronto Globe and Mail, said in his column (April 26th), that "if the same incentive has been made available in Canada as in England and in the United States, Ontario (beet sugar) production would not have fallen so far below capacity of processors to handle it as has occurred. Alberta's output has been at capacity, but Ontario's situation is different, needed different treatment, and the output here has been down. Yet it was in Ontario where the chief hope of greater output lay."

The U. S. has made great efforts to increase sugar beet production. In 1945 alone, the payments to sugar beet growers averaged $5.50 per ton, and will be $6.50 in 1946. The cost to the U. S. government in 1945 was about $50,000,000, incentive payments to both growers and processors being worked out on a regional basis.

The Canadian government's help to the industry up to this year has been only the cancellation of one per cent per pound tax on sugar, or $1,610,000 in the year. It is calculated that, if Canada's encouragement to growers had equalled that of the U. S., the benefit would have been about $5,000,000, or three times as much help as was actually given.

The help in 1946 is augmented by 60¢ cents per cwt. of refined sugar, with no increase in consumer prices. This additional help apparently is to come from the sugar stabilization fund, which was created by levies on the cane and beet industry since the government assumed control in 1939.

The U. S. increased the price of refined sugar this year by 50 cents a hundred pounds, relieving their government of some expense.

U. S. sugar production has been raised to 22 per cent of domestic requirements. Canadian beet sugar factories could process 30% of Canada's rationed consumption, but beet production has provided only slightly over one-half of that amount.

The hope for substantially increased Canadian production is in Southwestern Ontario. Only one of the two long established factories in Ontario — largest in Canada — has operated in the past four years. The reason has been low acreage due partly to severe labor shortages and partly because competing crops of low labor requirements were subsidized by the Ottawa government.

The opinion is general that there would have been no production at all in 1945 if it had not been for $1.55 per ton subsidies from the Ontario Government. The same would apply in 1946 if the Ontario Government had not again come to the rescue with a subsidy of $112,500. Many hold the view that, as regards sugar, the Dominion Government has done less than it ought to have done.

The general beet labor situation looks better. As Sugar Facts goes to press there is no official word that there will be prisoners of war available in the district for the reeling of the camps is in progress on the assumption there will be at least as many as a year ago. The beet sugar processors in Ontario have opened beet labor recruiting offices in various centres. Surveys have shown that a number of workers who have left the district for war factories wish to return for the beet work.

Experienced beet workers, on piece work, make a daily wage higher than they could obtain for most factory work.

Blackstrap Molasses not Permitted as Bait.

With the allocation of molasses for agricultural purposes not yet sufficient to meet the necessary requirements black strap will not be permitted for use as bait for tobacco cutworms, according to a statement issued by the regional foods officer of the Board.

According to the announcement molasses is not essential in the preparation of the tobacco worm bait and it is essential for other purposes. While the black strap is not rationed statements must be given by the prospective purchaser to his dealer that the goods are for human consumption.

Mystery Linked With Weed Killing.

It is a mystery to many people why it is possible to kill one plant with a chemical spray and not kill another beside it. In some cases, the reason is still a mystery even to those who have given the subject careful study. In other cases, the answer is simple, says George Knowles, Field Husbandry Division, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa.

The first evidence of selective weed killing was observed when mustard growing in a grain crop was killed by copper sulphate spray which did not kill the grain. The spray burned the leaves of the grain and the crop looked dead for about one week. Then the grain commenced to turn green again, but the mustard made no further growth. The explanation of the recovery of the grain is that the growing tip of the plants of the grass family (and this includes oats, wheat, barley and rye), is enclosed in a sheath of covering and the caustic copper sulphate spray could not touch this covered growing point of the grain. In a few days the uninjured shoots emerged and soon the field was as green as if nothing had happened. The growing point of the mustard plant, however, is open and exposed. Then, too, the leaves of this weed are waxy and covered with short hairs which holds ample spray that soon burns the life out of all parts of the plant.

Most annual weeds can be killed in peas and in flax by Sinex. This is the trade name for a recently introduced chemical weed killer. It is thought that the reason for this is because leaves of peas and flax are waxy but without hairs and the spray runs off them like water off a cabbage leaf. The weeds that have not a waxy surface are killed by the spray.

Another example of selective weed killing is the spraying of carrots with oil. The oil wets the leaves of the carrots just as it wets the leaves of the weeds, but for some unknown reason the oil kills most of the annual weeds and does not kill the carrots. It might be said that carrots are not allergic to oil sprays.

The latest and most remarkable of all the chemical weed killers, 2-4-D is more highly selective than any known herbicide. Most selective weed killers discolour, temporarily, the crop in which the weeds are killed. This is not so with 2-4-D. It kills many species of weeds without causing any perceptible injury to plants of the grass family.

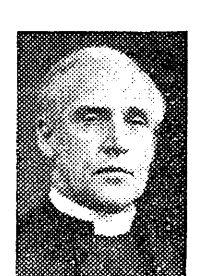

Where true fortitude dwells, loyalty, bounty, friendship and fidelity may be found.—Sir Thomas Browne.

A Call to Action

addressed to All Members of the Church of England in Canada by THE MOST REVEREND DERWYN T. OWEN, D.D., D.C.L.

Primate of all Canada

NEVER has humanity been in greater need of the Christian Gospel, the inspiration and guidance of Christian teaching and the Christian spirit.

To-day we give thanks for a physical victory over forces opposed to every Christian principle. But these forces must still be fought in human minds and hearts. The only new order worth building is a Christian order. At home and abroad, the Christian Church faces a renewed challenge.

That is why the Church of England in Canada is making an appeal to her people for rededication, self-sacrifice and constructive action.

This movement seeks to make Anglicans more truly Christian; to make them conscious of the historic mission of their church; to strengthen the spiritual, educational and social work of the Church at home and abroad; and to provide funds for additional clergy, for the pension fund, for helping the Mother Church in England, and the Churches in Europe in their work of rehabilitation, for providing youth training and leadership, and for assisting all Dioceses in meeting their local needs.

The Appeal was launched in our Churches on the Feast of the Eucharist, Sunday, January 6th, and will continue till May 19th. In its spiritual aspects it has already reached the homes of our people and its programme will continue over years to come.

During the week of May 12th to 19th, every member of the Church of England in Canada, so far as possible, will be visited by a fellow member, and invited to make contributions to the $1,300,000 fund needed to carry out the financial program.

I bespeak from every one of our members and friends the earnest, practical consideration of this urgent need. I am confident that every individual does his and her part, the combined objective of spiritual enrichment and financial support will be fully achieved.

DIG PLANT REAP
THE WHOLE WORLD NEEDS FOOD

THERE exists at present a world-wide famine, unprecedented in history. 140,000,000 Europeans face bare subsistence in the next few months—1,500 calories daily, per person. UNRRA's nutrition experts set minimum health requirements at 2,650 calories per day, excluding other nutritional elements. World wheat shortage amounts to 5,000,000 tons, rice to 3,000,000 tons. Meats, fats, sugars and vegetables are abnormally short. Agriculture and International Trade have been severely disrupted. Principal wheat producing nations all report low grain yields. Until the next harvest, therefore, the nations whose food production has fallen far below subsistence level, will depend largely upon the food which is produced and exported by the more fortunate nations.

If there is to be enduring peace and prosperity among the peoples of the world—sufficient nourishment must be provided for all mankind. You can contribute toward famine relief. Dig your own garden—each bag of potatoes, each head of lettuce, each pound of tomatoes, so produced, will release a proportionate amount of basic, exportable food. Your garden, in addition, will afford you hours of pleasant, healthy recreation; yield you quantities of fresh, appetizing food.

Through a series of advertisements, which will appear regularly, British American offers you hints and tips on vegetable gardening—the first of these tips appears below.

HOW TO LAY OUT YOUR VEGETABLE GARDEN

Run your rows, if practicable—north and south—thus gaining maximum benefit from the eastern forenoon and western afternoon sun.

A fence or hedge around the north western corner will decrease the harmful effect of a chilling north wind.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur McPharlin, of Eastlawn avenue, Detroit, announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Pauline McPharlin, to John J. Fitzsimmons, of Meadowbrook avenue, Leamington. The bridegroom's father was recently discharged as a lieutenant from the U.S. Army Air Force.

Mary Pauline is a granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Nace Halford. John E. Sexton is suffering from pleurisy and is in a critical condition.

The funeral of the late Ignatius (Nace) Halford was held on Saturday morning from the late residence to St. Mary's Church, where his pastor, Rev. P. J. Gleason, sang requiem high mass for the repose of deceased soul. The funeral was attended by a large number of friends, neighbours and relatives. Deceased was born June 9th, 1860, in Sandwich South, on the farm of his father, the late John Halford, who was one of the early pioneers of St. Mary's Church, and when a boy of 15 hauled materials for the erection of the present church. His mother was Ellen Barratt, who was born in Ireland, and he was of a family of 15 children, with only three sisters surviving him, Rev. Sister M. Vincent, of St. Joseph's Orphanage, London; Mrs. Ada McAuliffe and Mrs. Irene Jobin, of Windsor. The late John Halford, Jr., and Robert A. Halford, both Reeves of Sandwich South, were brothers.

Mr. Halford was a member of the Holy Name Society, League of the Sacred Heart, Altar Society, and a charter member of the Catholic Order of Foresters. He had been postmaster for over half a century and was awarded the Jubilee Medal by the late King George V for his long service. He was the last living member of the original owners of the Sandwich South Telephone system, being manager and establishing the central office in his home in order to get the system started. His wife, Christine Rourke, predeceased him on July 9th, 1937, and his other son, Dennis, December 4th, 1944. Deceased had been coming to his bed since an attack of bronchitis early in January and had been removed to Hotel Dieu early Tuesday for treatments, but passed away suddenly Wednesday evening at 8:15, from an attack of apoplexy. He leaves to mourn his loss, a son, Frank J., of the Detroit News, and five daughters, Margaret M. (Mrs. Edward C. Sexton), Bernadette M. (Mrs. Dan J. McLeod), Agnes M. (Mrs. Art C. McPharlin) of Detroit; Pauline R. (Mrs. James D. Quinlan), Mary C. (Mrs. John D. Walker), and twenty-two grandchildren. The pallbearers were three grandsons, John J. McLean, Francis J. McPharlin, and Robert J. Sexton, and three nephews,

You are cordially invited to become a member of the Salvation Army Home League. To do this attend the next meeting to be held at the Essex Salvation Army on Wednesdays at 2:30 p.m. Secretary, Mrs. Roy Ellis; treasurer Mrs. S. Dunn. Obedience.

Have you a problem? Would you like to find a solution for it today? Have you thought of trying the Christ method? It never fails.

You tried it, you say, and were helped but did not receive a complete healing. But was the trouble with the method or with yourself? Doubtless your experience is comparable to that of a woman who once sought to bake a certain difficult cake.

She had secured a tested recipe, and the cake when baked was fairly good but not perfect. She tried again and again, always with the same result. Another might have given up in discouragement, not so with this woman. She knew the recipe was correct, for it had been successfully tried by countless others. If others could succeed with it, so could she. Hence she wisely concluded: "The trouble is not with the recipe but with me. Somewhere along the line I am not following directions obediently."

Once more she set to work, and this time watched carefully for little disobediences on her part. She found one small place! Small? There are no small disobediences. The standard is right or wrong; there is no middle ground. True, it had seemed to this woman as if the small disobedience could make "no difference" in the finished result. It had been making, she found, a grave difference. It made the difference between a perfect and an imperfect result. For now she yielded full obedience to the rule and achieved a perfect fruit.

Christ Jesus said (Matthew 7:14), "Straight is the gate and narrow is the way which leadeth unto life." The way out of our problems is likewise straight and narrow. The way of life is that of the Christ exemplified

People Are Asking?

Q.—My son recently home from overseas wants to buy a new or good used car. Can you tell me what price he would have to pay for either?

A.—The ceiling prices to the order are set forth in schedules to the order on used cars. If you apply to the nearest office of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board giving details of the model, the model year and accessories information regarding the correct ceiling price will be given you. Car dealers have the ceiling prices on new cars.

Q.—How long must a visitor to Canada remain before he is given a temporary ration card?

A.—A visitor to Canada may be given the temporary ration card immediately following his application to the Local Ration Board, provided he intends to remain at least seven days in Canada.

Q.—My grocer would give me only one quarter of a pound of butter because he said he didn't have very much. However, he took a coupon. Is he permitted to do this?

A.—Under regulations of the Board retailers resorting to this practice are liable to prosecution. Your dealer should give you the full eight ounces or no butter.

Q.—I am a dealer and some of my customers insist on tearing out coupons and sending them to me when they order rationed foods. May I accept these coupons?

A.—No. This practice is illegal for an added danger in that retailers both consumers and retailers and the accepting loose coupons run the risk of receiving counterfeiters.

Q.—I rent a cottage which is badly in need of some repairs. I think the rent charged is too high. How can I find out if I am paying more than the right rental?

A.—Apply to the nearest rentals office of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board if your landlord cannot give you definite information on the ceiling price.

Cultural Practices Important With Soybeans.

The soybean crop responded to good cultural practices and gave good returns for the extra effort involved. Given reasonably fertile soil and favourable seasonal conditions the responsibility then rests with the grower to provide the conditions which will give the best yields, says C. W. Owen, Dominion Experimental Station, Harrow, Ontario.

The first factor to be considered is the choice of variety and equally important is the use of good seed. Seed quality can mean the difference between success and failure. With good seed the preparation of the seed bed must include the destruction of weeds and more crops of germinating weed seeds and provide good tilth to permit growth of the soybean seedling. A properly prepared seed bed is an invaluable asset to soybean production. Inoculation of the seed just before planting with nitro-culture is an economically sound practice.

Time and rate of planting soybeans may be varied according to seasonal conditions. It has been found that when the soil is warm about May 15 to 20, is generally the best time for planting. Timely planting usually results in larger yields of grain. Planting in rows 30 inches apart, at the rate of 30-45 pounds per acre, is sufficient seed or in other words plan to have the plants 2-3 inches apart in the row when they are finally established.

Cultivation with the drag harrow or rotary hoe to control weeds or break soil crusts may begin when the plants are up and continue until they are about six inches high. Weed control at this stage saves much weed competition and is more readily accomplished than later when the weeds are established. Later cultivation between the rows are only required to control later weed growth and conserve moisture.

Harvesting when the seed is low in moisture content will simplify storage problems and give a higher grade product. The most important factor in successful soybean culture is doing the proper operation at the proper time. This applies equally to planting, cultivating and harvesting. In the early part of the season these practices are directed towards the control of weeds and getting the crop started as quickly as possible. Later the control of weeds is most important. The equipment on the storage farm can be adapted to growing soybeans readily but the degree of success obtained may be governed largely by the proper and timely use of this machinery.

Peace rules the day where reason rules the mind.—William Collins.

'Marksman' and 'Monogram' Qualify as 'Extra' Sires.

Two Holstein bulls that are popular from coast to coast in Canada are Montvic Rag Apple Marksman and Montvic Monogram. The announcement by the Holstein-Friesian Association of Canada that both have qualified as "Extra" bulls is, therefore, of more than usual interest. In addition, they are the only two bulls that have, so far, been classified as XXX (the newly added Selective Registration classification for bulls of outstanding type). Both were bred at Mount Victoria farms, Hudson Heights, Ontario.

"Marksman" is jointly owned by J. E. McCague, Alliston, and C. J. Corwell, Boston, Ont., and "Monogram" is the property of R. Ray McLaughlin, Oshawa, Ont. Sons of these two noted sires are in service in leading Holstein herds in widely scattered parts of Canada. Thirty of the thirty-four daughters of "Marksman" that have reached milking are graded at least Good Plus and eight of them are classified as Very Good. The production of "Marksman" daughters is remarkable. So far, 12 have completed 11 records that average 60 lbs. per 100 lbs. of milk, with a range of 43 to 73 percent butterfat. All but one of these records were made as two-year-olds. A son of "Marksman" sold for $15,200 at the 1943 Race Ridden Statue to Dutch Scout.

At the end of an important Friday afternoon session of the executive of the Essex Black and White Day to Be Held at Harrow.

At a meeting of the executive of the Essex Black and White Day to Be Held at Harrow, it was decided to hold the annual Black & White Show on August 30th in conjunction with Harrow Fair. A prize list of $500 is being offered. In addition, the County Club will award a banner to the premier exhibitor. The judges will be George C. Bell, veteran Holstein breeder of Sarina.

The executive decided to strongly support calf club work in the county. In this connection, Assistant Agricultural Representative B. Hodges volunteered his services as instructor. A statue honouring a Boy Scout it will recall the heroic efforts of a Dutch Boy Scout who was entrusted by the British with a message to be carried through the enemy lines. In making of it, it was necessary for this Scout to cross a heavily guarded bridge. As he was crossing across the bridge he was shot through by another Scout, but the courage of Jan van Hoof, who was shot through by another Scout, was not lessened by the death of this Scout.

Waukesha, Wis. Last fall, a daughter sold for $17,600 at the All-Canadian sale at Oakville, Ontario. This established a new Canadian record price for an auction sale.

Fifty-three of the 86 daughters of "Monogram" have been graded at least Good Plus, 19 of them being classified as Very Good. Eighty records have been completed by 61 of his daughters with an average of 197 lbs. fat from 12,960 lbs. milk, average test 3.82 percent butterfat. One of his daughters recently completed a yearly record of 1,002 lbs. fat from 24,147 lbs. milk. Another daughter topped the 1942 National Holstein sale at $2,500. In 1941 "Monogram" stood the Reserve All-Canadian sale at $2,400. Two of his Gals were nominated for All-Canadian, one winning Reserve All-Canadian award by a close margin from the other which received Honorable Mention. This is the first time that two Gals by one sire have ever been nominated for All-Canadian. "Monogram" is a paternal half brother of the famous Montvic Rag Apple, who was purchased last fall by the United Cattle Raisers' Association, Ltd., Calgary, for $24,000. He is the highest auction price paid for a Holstein cow on the continent since 1930.

HOW TO DRAIN YOUR VEGETABLE GARDEN

A flourishing vegetable garden requires adequate drainage. By digging "dry wells", here and there—in the low, wet spots of your garden—this requirement may be achieved easily. Fill the lower half of the well with stones, the upper half with top soil.

The Little Man in the Middle

by Joseph Lister Rutledge.
We call him the white-collar man because it is the easiest tag we can find for him. He is the average. He is near enough to the low-income group to understand its problems. In outlook he has moved far enough away from it to realize that he wants the freedom to progress that is implicit in free enterprise.

He is a substantial citizen, this little man in the middle, in his unflinching response to all community demands. He owns his own home and takes pride in it. He obeys the law. He supports the church and charities. He is quite a guy, this white-collar man. His influence reaches far beyond his own income group where he diligently earns his $2,000 to $3,000 salary.

But, recently, a cold fear has been clutching at his vitals. His margin of security with the war—a sacrifice to a cause. Now he realizes that if present taxation continues, he won't be able to hold his head high as he used to. He won't be able to educate his children as he had planned to. He won't be able to protect his own future. He sees no better of his country than that. He has been the first to support a progressive measure. He didn't realize the baby bonus, though it meant little, but added cost to him, of old-age pensions from which he expected income and advantages. He was a free government insurance because it was an insurance for those who could not. He himself provided that insurance. Now he looks at a plan for new expenditures based on a light of a new tax burden of six per cent of his income. It seems that the government, in its haste to raise money, has had a sudden change of heart and that, once he had a little extra savings, that he would be able to meet such demands, hoping to group them when taxes were deducted from the war. Now no one seems to think of saving, and the little man in the middle is spent out.

What worries him particularly is that there isn't much he can do about it. In his cynical moments he realizes that in the income groups both below and above him some men rationalize tax evasions that are closed to him. Even if he agreed with them, his salary is not high enough to make a difference. He doesn't think that the government has the influence of numbers, or the power that comes with wealth. He represents only one quarter of the tax-paying public, though he does pay 19 per cent of the taxes. Sometimes he has a momentary upsurge of elation as when he reads that the cost of our armed forces will decline this year by almost a billion and a half dollars. Such a saving, he knows, is almost twice what all personal-income taxpayers have provided.

He doesn't think that these taxes should be wiped out, but he often hopes for relief, though he hardly expects it for himself. It will come first, he believes, to the low-income groups that have the most votes and to the upper blocks, where there is the most influence and the most money. The little man in the middle can see his own burden continuing until government spenders come to realize the vital to our continued prosperity is the middle-class spender. He is who buys homes and furniture and entertainment and vacuum cleaners and automobiles and refrigerators. Any sales manager knows that simple fact. When the man in the middle becomes desperate, as he is today, he must of necessity stop buying. Who will fill the gap left by this citizen who has been taxed out of the market—Liberty Magazine.

Facts Worth Noting About Brood Sows.

Analysis of the records kept on 423 litters farrowed since 1919 at the Dominion Experimental Station at Kapuskasing, Ontario, gives interesting information for all swine breeders on brood sow replacement, says J. U. Pilon of the Station staff.

These records show that the age of sows has a direct influence on litter size and on mortality of pigs during the nursing period. There is a slight increase in the litter size with the age of the sows up to approximately three years of age and then a general decrease is noted, although the decrease is higher on the size of litters at weaning age than on the size of litters at farrowing, due to a higher mortality of pigs as the sows age and become more clumsy.

The season at which farrowing occurs, spring vs fall, seems to have but little influence on mortality or size of litters, the difference being in favour of the fall litters.

Average mortality as shown by these records on 310 litters followed by one to three-year-old sows was 25 per cent while on 111 litters farrowed by four to six-year-old sows, it was 35 per cent and on 12 litters farrowed by seven to nine-year-old sows it was 47 per cent.

The same records also disclosed that the number of pigs raised per litter was 9.0 pigs for the above first group of sows, 7.5 pigs for the second and only 5.7 for the third group of sows.

It is generally accepted that a sow has to raise at least 8 to 9 pigs per litter and two litters a year to be profitable. It would not seem advisable to keep sows older than three years of age except in the case of exceptional good breeders.

On the other hand there is no reason to dispose of good breeding sows before the age of about 8 years as is too often done in certain districts where sows are killed after their first litter.

Another pleasant memory for them!

In the coming summer we may expect hundreds of visitors from the States. For many of them a good time means lots of leisure for hikes—visits to historic sites, scenic beauty spots. Let's give them a friendly welcome—help make their stay as memorable as it can be!

IT'S EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS... at good business!

Ontario profits almost as much from tourist business as from gold mining. It's up to each one of us to keep this business growing.

Reception Held.

On Friday evening, May 17th, a well attended reception was held in the First Baptist Church, in honour of the boys who left this Sunday School to fight for King and Country. They were as follows:

Killed in action: Carson, Robert;
Donald Hastings and Jack Ryan.
Deceased disabled: a son of World War I—Albert Rupert.
Returned men: Donald Shepley William Price, Frank Myrtle, William Goodburn, Ercell Brown, Charles Francotte, Wilmer, Francotte, Robert Francotte, Clifford Harrison, Lloyd
Frank, Ray Stead, Arnold Stead,
George Johnston, Murray Hosue, Kenneth Barlow, George Harold, Donald St. Julian, Harold Bessie, Elvin Pastorius, Gordon Pastorius, Ralph Pastorius, James Graham, Douglas Rupert, Jack Rupert.

In the few cases where the boys were still in the service or moved away to other localities they were represented by their parents.

The reception was opened by singing the Doxology and the National Anthem, followed by one minute silence in memory of those who paid the supreme sacrifice. After prayer the pastor, Rev. Fred Wakeling, spoke a few well-chosen words of welcome to the honoured guests and later a few words of sympathy to the parents of those who laid down their lives. Russell E.
Damm, Sunday school superintendent for the last 21 years, was chairman for the evening. The program consisted of special selections by two Sunday school boys, Larry Brushett and Howard Parker; a duet by Miss Margaret Mackinnon and Mrs. Robert McNamee, and also duets by Capt. and Mrs.
E. C. Wood, of Chatham. The congregation, as a whole, joined in chorals and hymn singing.

Capt. Wood of Chatham brought a heart-stirring address to our boys, which was very much appreciated.
One of the highlights of the evening was when Mr. Wood heard a record of greetings from his wife and members of his "Salem Choir" over our new public address system. This record was made in Chatham during war years and sent overseas to him while he was on duty as padre with the Kings' Own. This was played as a surprise to him.

Each member on the honour roll, or their parents, was presented with a lovely Bible as an appreciation of their contribution to victory. The presentations were made by Frank Thompson, assistant Sunday school superintendent. Capt. and Mrs. Wood were presented with an attractive duet book.

At the conclusion of the program a lovely lunch was served by the ladies of the Mission Circle and the Young People's Fellowship. The reception closed with the hymn "Blessed be the Tie that Binds" and prayer by the pastor. The church was attractively decorated for the occasion.

Letter of Thanks from Little French Girl.

The following letter was received by Miss Doris Roberts from Janine Collet, who received a parcel from the Red Cross, and sent from Essex:
Thaires, France.
March 6th, 1946.

My Dear Doris:
It was through the intermediary of an English office that I was pleasantly surprised to find a coat, in the pocket of which was the address of the generous donor.

I want to thank you very sincerely for the lovely clothes, which were complete.

I eagerly thank you for the little purse, which I will always regard as a souvenir of you.

I spent my vacation at Thaires, at my parent's home. I have a brother older than I, and a younger sister.
My brother is a soldier. He was through the whole war and he fought with the Canadian soldiers in Italy.

In school I studied English and Italian, but I cannot write you an English letter. I supposed that a French letter would give you great pleasure. In France these days we are having lots of snow and it is very cold.

In thanking you again, I will always hold you my dear Doris as my most treasured souvenir.

A Little French Girl, JANINE.

That was the old-fashioned way of controlling livestock, but maybe your way is antiquated too? A modern electric fence controller is just the thing for keeping livestock in their proper pasture field — it's inexpensive, easily set up and easily moved, and inexpensive to operate. Did you know that one electric fence controller will charge miles of barbed wire?
Come in today and choose an electric fence controller, that will meet your requirements, from our wide selection, which ranges in price from $15.00 to $24.00 complete with battery and insulators. We have barbed wire in 80 rod rolls at $4.00, and Hot-Shot batter-

Wins $50,000 Race.

Blue Aztec, a 4-year-old pacer, owned by R. W. Leatherdale, of Windsor, who is well known in Essex, as for years he owned and lived on the Sand Taylor farm, above town, won the $50,000 Pacing Handicap, at Santa Anita, Cal., on Saturday, from a field of over 20 horses and in winning the 1 1/4 mile race set a new world record for the distance. The winner's share of the purse was $20,000. Mr. Leather-dale purchased the horse a little over a year ago for slightly over $1, 000.

Rabbi Groner Guest of Kins- men Club.

The regular supper meeting of the Kinsmen club, held at the Aberdeen Hotel, on Tuesday night, was attended by several members from Windsor and Leamington. During the business session Cecil McMullen, assistant inspector of public schools, was unanimously taken in as a fellow Kinsmen.

The speaker of the evening was Rabbi Groner, of Windsor, who brought home to the club members a very forceful and interesting talk on juvenile delinquency. In his talk the Rabbi pointed out that the juvenile who were brought into court today were lads of 14 to 17 years and it was not on petty charges, but on charges of carrying fire arms, stealing cars and major crimes. He stated that they were skilled and trained in their jobs. Continuing, he said that the fault of these children living lives of crime did not lie mostly as public criticized in the churches, ministers and the community, but in their own homes, where parents should realize their obligations to their children.

He stated that this problem could be tackled advisedly if the parents would only realize their obligation when they brought children into the world, and if the children in turn would realize the great obligation that they owe to their community, to their country and to their parents, then they would become fine, upright citizens, and the percentage of juvenile crime would lessen.

To illustrate his talk, Rabbi Groner brought to the attention of his listeners the many Jewish children who will bear tattooed numbers on them and who have little or no food to eat and no clothes to wear. They would appreciate the freedom that this country offers and the food and clothes which many of the children today get easily. These children would become fine, upright citizens, as they have learned the hard way to appreciate the better things of life after so many years of hardship and want.

Way to Control Cabbage Maggot.

Now is the time to begin methods of control against the cabbage maggot. Attacks on cabbages, cauliflowers, radishes and such like plants, adults, two-winged flies, lay their eggs on the stems of the plants about the middle of May. These insects are controlled by the use of carbamate, states Alan G. Duns, Division of Entomology, Dominion Department of Agriculture.

Carbamate is a substance which is obtained at most seed houses, and when used, is diluted in water at the rate of one ounce to 10 gallons. Because of its sublimity, it is brought into contact with the plants in the form of a mist, so that good weather in early summer or in the fall helps towards best results.

If the building is to be painted for the first time, there is an open choice of the paint to be used, but, in repainting, unless the old paint has been completely removed with a painter's blow-torch or paint remover down to the bare wood, the paint used must be the same kind used the first time. Changing the type of paint is successful coats frequently results in trouble.

Be sure to use a good quality paint, advises Mr. Graves. Good ready-made mixed paints are easily obtainable, and for the farmer who prefers to mix his own paint and is familiar with the job, the necessary materials are still to be had. While lead in paint is one of the best white pigments used for outside white, red oxide is frequently used for barns and outbuildings. Lined oil has for many years been the standard substance in paint for outside. In using raw linseed oil for making paint, a proportion of Japan drier must be added to the mixture. Boiled linseed oil is a prepared oil with better drying qualities and usually does not require the addition of a drier. Turpentine is the best thinner of oil paints.

Paint drier is usually sold as a liquid, and to a gallon of raw oil in paint not more than three to eight per cent of drier should be added. Breaking up white lead and hand mixing of oil paints, especially when colors are added, are laborious processes requiring considerable skill and knowledge.

With regard to spray painting, which may be carried out at much lower cost of labour than brush-painting work, some farmers who are also good mechanics have built their own paint spray outfits, complete with compressor, paint tank, air tank, and spray gun.

Incidentally, there is considerable correspondence between farmers and the architect's office concerning farm building problems, and in recent years thousands of blue prints of building plans have been issued to farmer applicants.

Looking Ahead

with a new rat-killer... poison for poison ivy...suntan for hens...and dynamite for ditches.

Rats are smart. They just won't eat anything that tastes as if it might be poison. Now man is going after them with a new chemical called ANTU, so potent that a millionth of a pound can kill a rat, and the rats don't seem to notice the taste.

Now we're set to give Poison Ivy and Poison Oak, so long a scourge to the unwary, a dose of their own medicine! They'll be poisoned with AMMATE, a new and powerful chemical poison that makes them wither up and die. One or two lbs. of AMMATE will clear a patch 100 square feet in area.

Remember CEL-O-GLASS... the flexible cellulose-acetate glass substitute which many farmers used before the war, to get egg-producing ultra-violet rays into their hen-houses? Well, it's coming back soon to civilian life, complete with a 5-year performance guarantee. CEL-O-GLASS not only brings in sun and keeps out cold, it eliminates breakage costs as well.

Someone might well coin the phrase, "ditch in time saves nine men's time", or words to that effect, especially since ditching with dynamite has now become a science. Farmers, as well as explosives engineers, are putting explosives to work in this way more and more. And in doing it they save labour, time and expense.

Further information on any of these products is obtainable by writing "Looking Ahead", C-1-L, P.O. Box 10, Montreal, P.Q.

Spring Painting of Farm Buildings.

Although some persons may favour the fall rather than the spring for painting farm buildings, P. W. Graves, Architect, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, points out that there is usually a good opportunity to carry out the work in the spring between the completion of seeding and the beginning of haying, provided all the repairs to farm machinery and other jobs in preparation for the year's crops have been done.

The surface to be painted should be absolutely dry, and after rain, fog or dew should be given time to dry before commencing or continuing to paint. During cold, damp weather, paint hardens more slowly than in warm days, so that good weather in early summer or in the fall helps towards best results.

If the building is to be painted for the first time, there is an open choice of the paint to be used, but, in repainting, unless the old paint has been completely removed with a painter's blow-torch or paint remover down to the bare wood, the paint used must be the same kind used the first time. Changing the type of paint is successful coats frequently results in trouble.

Good ready-made mixed paints are easily obtainable, and for the farmer who prefers to mix his own paint and is familiar with the job, the necessary materials are still to be had. While lead in paint is one of the best white pigments used for outside white, red oxide is frequently used for barns and outbuildings. Lined oil has for many years been the standard substance in paint for outside. In using raw linseed oil for making paint, a proportion of Japan drier must be added to the mixture. Boiled linseed oil is a prepared oil with better drying qualities and usually does not require the addition of a drier. Turpentine is the best thinner of oil paints.

Paint drier is usually sold as a liquid, and to a gallon of raw oil in paint not more than three to eight per cent of drier should be added. Breaking up white lead and hand mixing of oil paints, especially when colors are added, are laborious processes requiring considerable skill and knowledge.

With regard to spray painting, which may be carried out at much lower cost of labour than brush-painting work, some farmers who are also good mechanics have built their own paint spray outfits, complete with compressor, paint tank, air tank, and spray gun.

Incidentally, there is considerable correspondence between farmers and the architect's office concerning farm building problems, and in recent years thousands of blue prints of building plans have been issued to farmer applicants.

One Who Lived in Darkness.

by Joseph Lister Rutledge.

Since the start of Ottawa's espionage investigation, surprise has followed surprise. Not the least move was the official Soviet claim of dishonesty on the part of the principal witness. Such a charge might have been good maneuvering had it been made immediately, but launched long weeks after the start of the investigation, and addressed primarily to the press, it seems of a piece with the whole unsavory fabric of these happenings. The rather obvious intent of such charges is to try the issues in the public mind before they are tried in the courts, and to prejudice a judicial decision by highly dubious evidence that could not, even if it were proven true, having bearing on documentary proof so far presented.

If there can be a hero among such unsavory happenings it could only be the one who, who at this late date, has been charged with dishonesty. He stands before us strangely free of suspicion in the face of these charges. That little unpretentious man has clothed himself with the dignity of a man who has seen a great vision. It was a vision of liberty that, granting any truth in the espionage charges, some Canadians born have been ready to betray and perhaps all of us have been too ready to overlook.

Ignor Gouzenko, that little man, got his early training in the Young Communist League in Russia. He had sprung from nowhere in particular and he was of small consequence until he graduated in the Russian Secret Service as a cipher clerk. All he had to do was think as he was told, do his work carefully, and someday he would be back in Russia to enjoy the privileges of Communism, of which it is claimed some Canadians thought so highly that they set it above the land that gave them sanctuary.

Perhaps there is a political naïveté as there is a physical. Perhaps the benefits that are close at hand are not so easily assessed as those at a distance. Perhaps, never as those known freedom, freedom becomes a part of great price. So it appears to a little man who was a cipher clerk, a pawn in a dingy world of world politics. With this new vision in his eyes—eyes no longer straining over the doctrines of Marx and Lenin he saw something that made every thing else seem poor and insignificant.

It was a little man, little and solemn, and scared as a rabbit in a field of foxes, but not so scared that his eyes with their new insight could not see something that transcended his fears. Freedom—freedom from slave labor and police government; freedom to talk openly for a government or against it, in wisdom or in folly; freedom to make a life in pattern of his own desiring, to work, to live, to worship according to that pattern, and in complete safety.

It was not an easy choice. Perhaps Ivor Gouzenko could not remember others who had challenged their home creed less definitely and less dramatically, and could ask himself: "Where are they now?" It was his life in the balance, life for himself and his wife and children, and he thought it worth while.

But Gouzenko's great vision is just the commonplace of our daily lives. We have always known those things. They have been about us since childhood, sure and orderly and safe, so sure that we have hardly stopped to think what a world could be without them. But there are many millions of people who do not know what our sort of freedom means. It was one of those who made them real to us again—Liberty Magazine.

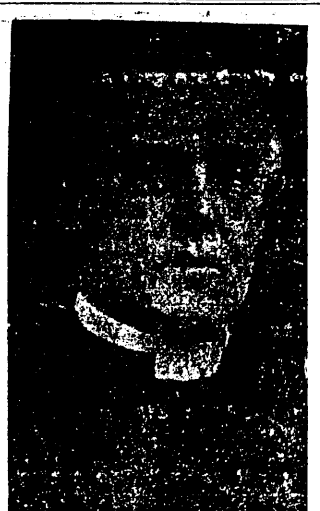

The familiar cry, "They're Off," will be heard again by followers of the thoroughbred sport when the Detroit Fair Grounds Association opens its gates on Saturday, May 25th, at the Detroit Fair Grounds.

Post time daily, except Saturdays and holidays, will be 4.30 p.m. throughout the spring and summer meeting of 49 days. On Saturdays and holidays the post time for the first event is 2.15 p.m. Everything is in readiness for the opening and with 900 horses stabled on the grounds a stellar brand of racing is in store for the fans of Detroit and its environs. Many new stables will compete for the $1,500 to $10,000 purses to be distributed during the meeting.

Racing Secretary Charles F. Henry has arranged a brilliant opening day program and the May 25th eight race card features the $10,000 Boots and Saddle Handicap and the $5,000 Man O'War Handicap. The Boots and Saddle is a six furlong sprint race and Dixiana's Amber Light, winner of the same event last year heads a list of 24 nominations. Distance stars will match their speed and stamina in the Man O'War handicap at one mile and one-sixteenth.

General Manager George Lewis announced this week that the great array of riding talent ever to compete for honours at the Motor City course will be on hand for the opening and some of the more popular saddle stars to don silks will be Sterling Young, Willie Balzaretti, Bobby Watson, Don Adams, Dave West, Terry Sullivan, Don Scurluck, Robert Hartwick, Frank Wirth and Harry Wallace.

In addition to his Diocesan duties as Archbishop of the largest Diocese in the Church of England in Canada, and as Presiding Officer for the General Synod for the Anglican Advance Appeal. Archbishop Owen has been a great unifying and inspirational force in the Canadian Church for a whole generation, and he is known and loved far beyond the boundaries of his own Diocese and his own Communion.

Soil Analysis.

In view of the many requests in recent months for information on chemical methods of soil analysis, the Division of Chemistry, Dominion Department of Agriculture, has assembled material on the subject which has now been made available in book form for those desiring such information. The publication includes two parts. Part I covers a general discussion of the subjects and points out the purpose for which each determination is made, the usual procedure followed, and the information that can be obtained from the results.

Part II includes the details of the methods of analysis as used at the present time in the soil laboratories of the Division of Chemistry. Further information may be obtained from the Division of Chemistry, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa.

Tecumseh Takes Belle River.

It was a pinch-runner, Cantor, who brought the winning run across the plate with no one out in the last of the ninth to end a pitchers' battle between Gerry Gouin and Penner, former battery-mates. Gouin gave up only three hits and was in complete control of the situation all the way, not a Belle River man getting past second base. In the third frame Gouin struck out the last batter and then proceeded to strike out the next nine batters in order. He totalled 16 for the game.

Penner hurled a splendid game, with only four hits made off him. Tecumseh got a man on third in the sixth with two out, but Penner struck the next man out. This was the only time he was in trouble until the ninth, when his mates let him down.

Lapan, first up in the last half of the ninth, drew a walk. When he tried to steal second Gouin threw the ball into center-field. Lapan continued to third, making it safely as Penner dropped the ball. Home-Runner's throw. Lapan was injured on the play and Cantor took his place. Brumetean sent a grounder to Penner at third who in attempting to tag Cantor, let the ball roll into the crowd, permitting the runner to score.

Leamington Loses to 'Burg.

Scoring three runs in the first inning, Amherstburg collected its first win of the season, defeating Leamington 7 to 2, on ten hits.

Wade led off in the top of the first with a walk, Murray attempted a sacrifice which Garton fielded and threw to first but no one was covering and the ball rolled into right field, the players advancing one base on the bout.

Perpich scored Wade on an infield single. After two men had been retired via a strike-out and a pop fly, Scarlett dumped a double in right and Murray and Perpich scored to give the 'Burg a three-run lead.

Norv Bertrand scattered eight hits while his team-mates gave him good support, to hold Leamington to two runs, one in the second and the other in the ninth.

Harrow Defeats Kingsville.

Kingsville scored two runs in the top of the first inning, but Harrow collected three in the bottom half and then went on to win the game 11 to 2.

Butler and Jack Wright singled. Benton was hit by a pitched ball and Hollingsworth then singled to score the first two men. Gord Wright, who ran for Benton, scored on a wild pitch to give the Harrow nine its first three runs after Kingsville called twice on three singles.

ONTARIO

FRIDAY, MAY 24, 1946.

Old Byrnedale.

Sure 'tis a good old Irish story
I could tell about that place.
For the pioneers that settled there Were of the good old Irish race.
Sure the map of old Erin's Isle
Was stamped on each and every face.

Sure they came from old Kilkenny,
Cork, Kilkenny and old Kildare.
Sure a finer lot of Irish men Couldn't be found anywhere.
They found that bit of heaven,
Just stopped and settled there.

Now how the place it got its name,
Sure it is a very simple tale.
A fine young man named Byrne
Went twice a year to get the mail.
They honoured him for his trouble
By calling it Byrnedale.

Murphy, Mullins and McMahon,
Dunn, Tracey, Sheehan and Cane,
Hanley, Doran, Strong and Kenney,
Each a fine old Irish name.
I almost forgot the Byrnes.
Wouldn't that have been a shame.

There were a few French families,
And an English one or two.
I must say they were fine folks,
For I just couldn't lie to you.
They had logging bees and built houses
With the logs that they would hew.

They were happy and contented
For every neighbour was a friend.
If one had sickness or in trouble
A helping hand they'd lend.
Wouldn't leave a thing undone
Until you were on the mend.

Now things have changed a lot
Since the days of the pioneer.
For those folks have gone to heaven
Of that I really have no fear.
Wouldn't they be surprised if they Could take a trip back here.

To see the horseless carriage
Doing eighty past the door,
And look up in the heavens
As planes zoomed by with a roar.
They'd go right back to heaven
And wouldn't come back no more.

And when they'd get back to heaven
They wouldn't wait to ring the bell
But would rush right to St. Peter
And to him they'd quickly tell,
Please let us stay in heaven,
Though old Byrnedale is pretty well.

—E. Byrne.

Soil Our Livelihood.

Animal nutrition and balanced rations have occupied our attention in this column all winter with emphasis on the importance of feeding home-grown crops. The purpose was to eliminate some of the expense of commercial concentrates, vitamin preparations and mineral mixtures. Now that spring is here it is time to consider the soil that bears these crops.
The soil is the basis of our livelihood. If properly cared for, we prosper.
If neglected, we fail.

Human and animal feeds depend on soil fertility. If the soil lacks something, the plants will also lack it and consequently our food is not complete and supplements in the form of drug preparations have to be sought. The seriousness of this is seen in the fact that all our foods, meat, milk, eggs, fish, etc., are simply plant substances built in new forms. Basically then, the problem of nutrition is the problem of crop production.

Grow Quality Crops.

In our discussion of proper animal foods and diets we were not concerned with bulk but studied the actual components required. We said pigs need iron, many animals require cobalt they all need vitamins and the list of minerals needed for proper metabolism was very long. These are required in such minute quantities that, all together in one spot, they would not occupy any more space than the ashes from a cigarette. Yet without them, the animal or human cannot survive.

Agricultural plants will supply these necessities if the proper mineral ingredients are in the soil. Virgin soils have these minerals but over-cropped soils do not. Heavily cropped soils, even after rotation and fertilization, may produce plants that indicate mineral deficiency. Fortunately, agricultural and soil technologists can recognize this condition and correct your rotation or fertilization program. The experimental stations or firms like Canadian Industries Limited and Canada and Dominion Sugar Company offer free soil testing services. It will pay to consult them.

People Are Asking?

Q—The usual seasonal price of butter during the war was 33 to 35 cents a pound in our town. Last November the price was raised one cent.
In January it was raised another cent.
We now pay 45 cents. Did the WPTB allow an increase of four to six cents?

A—Prior to the four cents a pound increase recently allowed for butter the maximum price at which any dealer might sell at retail was 42 cents.
The maximum retail price now is 46 cents.

Q—How much notice to vacate must
I give a boarder?

A—One week's notice to vacate is sufficient.

Q—What is the ceiling price of a peck of potatoes?

A—Ceiling prices in Western Ontario may vary. In London the ceiling on domestic old potatoes is 56 cents per peck for Canada No. 1, and 75 cents for new potatoes. The latter price is effective to July 18.

Q—I understand the ceiling price of oranges has changed during the past few weeks. Can you tell me the ceiling price now?

A—There was a revision in ceiling prices of California oranges due to change in prices in the United States. If you will let us know the size of the oranges in question we will give you the correct ceiling price.
Sizes are marked where the oranges are offered for sale.

Q—How can I find out if I am paying the right price for beef?

A—Since you are evidently a housewife you may easily determine the proper prices of various beef cuts from the chart which must be posted in your butcher shop. This chart gives the ceiling prices for various numbered cuts which can be compared with the cutting chart which must also be displayed.

Weed Control.

Here are a few suggestions which will help in the control of weeds. Practice a short rotation of crops. Plant clean seed. Cut hay early, particularly on weedy meadows. Clip weeds before they go to seed on permanent pastures. Use partial summer fallow to fight weeds in mid-summer when they can be more easily killed. Use smother crops as buckwheat, where desirable. Practice after-harvest cultivation. Suitable sprays may be used with weeds otherwise difficult to eradicate.

Desserts.

We must have desserts, if the joy of eating is to be maintained. For generations the menu has been planned to end triumphantly with the dessert course. They should add a touch of festivity and glamour to the meal.

Choose your dessert course wisely for it can mean the difference between pleasure and satisfaction. Your success and reputation as a cook depend largely upon the desserts you serve.
Since desserts are served when the appetite has been partially appeased, they must be attractive in appearance.
Colour, texture and shape all play their part in this appeal, also the dish in which they are served.

Always remember the dessert course should go hand in glove with the main course—the one complements the other.
If the main course has been heavy, then serve a dessert which is light in texture, with a fresh, tart flavour. On the other hand, if the main course has been light, then serve a dessert which is light in texture, with a fresh, tart flavour. On the other hand, if the main course has been light, it gives the home-maker ample scope to use her rich cream puddings or heavy sweet desserts.

The home economists of the Canadian Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture, suggests that you serve a simple hot and some cold as an antidote to monotony.

COFFEE SPANISH CREAM

1 tablespoon gelatin
1 cup cold coffee
2 egg yolks
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup hot milk
1 cup hot cream
1 teaspoon vanilla

Soak gelatin in the cold coffee. Beat egg yolks and salt. Add hot coffee, milk and milk. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly until thickened enough to coat a spoon. Add gelatin and stir until dissolved. Remove from heat, add vanilla and cool. When the mixture begins to thicken, fold in meringue made by adding the sugar to the stiffly beaten egg whites. Turn into a lightly greased mould or individual sherbet glasses. Chill thoroughly. Six servings.

GINGER PUDDING.

1/2 cup shortening

1/2 cup seedless raisins.

Cream shortening, add sugar gradually, then the well beaten egg. Combine molasses and milk. Mix the dry ingredients thoroughly and dredge raisins with a small portion of this mixture. Add dry ingredients to the first mixture alternately with the liquid. Lastly add the raisins. Steam in individual greased moulds for 45 minutes or in a large greased mould for 1 1/2 hours. Serve with lemon or brown sauce. Cover moulds with waxed paper or cheesecloth while steaming, to prevent the pudding from becoming soggy. Six to eight servings.

Skunk-tail Grass.

Skunk-tail grass or wild barley, is a native perennial weed occurring from Lake Superior westward, particularly in alkaline soil, but has also been found occasionally in Eastern Canada. It is a serious enemy to stockmen, being a source of injury to horses, cattle, and sheep. The berbed seeds and awns penetrate the soft tissue of the animals' mouths, causing irritation and inflamed ulcers.
The seeds also work down beside the teeth, producing inflammation and swelling. The weed does not flower the first year but later carries beautiful silky bristly heads, three to four inches long of a pale yellowish-green, often tinged with red. There is no difficulty in eradicating this grass weed from land that can be ploughed, but it gives considerable trouble in waste places where it ripens its seed which is widely scattered by wind and water.

Good Market For Hogs Until 1949 Predicted.

The recent announcement of Federal Agriculture Minister James G. Gardiner, that the British market can absorb maximum hog and bacon supplies should stabilize the hog market and assure a sound future for local producers.

Mr. Gardiner's statement that the United Kingdom is prepared to purchase maximum supplies which Canada can furnish in 1946, 1947 and 1948, was "good news."

According to the government announcement further discussions will be held later and Canadian farmers may be assured of a good market for their hogs up until 1949.

The contract price for grade A Whitshire per 100 pounds for Seaboard was raised to $25.00 effective April 1st, 1946, and will continue to December 31st, 1947. The price for the 1948 agreement will be established at a later date but will not be below the $22.50, same basis, which was effective during the 1944-45 agreement.

Following this announcement, the War-time Prices and Trade Board declared an increase of 2 1/2 cents per pound, carcass basis, for the wholesale price ceiling for pork. The relationship between the domestic and export price which has been in effect during the past two years will be maintained. The increase in prices will represent an increase of approximately 25 per cent. Hogs to be slaughtered prior to April 1st, 1946, at a price of $2.00 per cwt. for the carcass, and $2.00 per cwt. for the pork, will be reduced to $1.75 per cwt.
for the carcass and $1.75 per cwt. for the pork. This will be a reduction of 25 per cent. in the price of hogs and pork.

Farm Tires.

All tires have a maximum load limit. The loads carried by farm implement tires are proportional to the size and inflation pressure of the tire.
It is unwise to use under-sized tires or to overload them. The inflation pressure should always be high enough to prevent side-wall flexing.

THEIR WAY TO Enjoyment

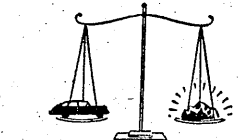

Our lakes this summer are going to attract thousands of friendly visitors from the States. We want them to enjoy themselves... it's in our own interest to see they get the very finest of everything we can give them.

WHAT CAN I DO? The answer is plenty! Here are some of the things anyone can do. These practical suggestions come from a well-known Ontario Hotelman:

1. Know the places of interest and beauty spots in your district and tell people all about them.
2. When you write your friends in the States tell them about the places they would really enjoy visiting.
3. Try to make any visitor glad he came to Canada.
4. Take the time to give any requested information fully and graciously.
5. In business dealings, remember Canada's reputation for courtesy and fairness depends on you.
6. To sum it up, follow the "Golden Rule."

IT'S EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS... it's good business!

Worth its weight in gold!
The Province of Ontario profits to almost the same extent from tourist business as it does from the gold mining industry. It's up to each of us to see that it goes on growing.

This diagram shows how everyone benefits from the Ontario tourist income.
Every dollar is shared this way... 1. Hotels; 2.
Stores; 3. Restaurants;
4. Taxes, etc.; 5. Amusements; 6. Garages.

It works both ways!
They treat us royally when we visit them
... we can't do less than return the compliment. Remember that it costs money to take a holiday... so let's see they get a good return for every penny they spend.

Let's make them want to come back!

FROM THE FAR EAST

Our first post-war shipment from Benares, India, arrived April 25th, 1946, at Montreal, on the "S. S. Algonquin Park." The cargo included some beautiful deep pile carpets in lovely soft tones of green, blue, rose, fawn, camel and pink. It is to Benares, the sacred city of India, that pilgrimages from all parts of India are made to worship and wash in the sacred waters of the Ganges River. . . .
Here, the Temples and Mosques are fabulously rich in gold, silver and tapestries. From Benares, the mystic city, and perhaps the least accessible to white people during the time of religious festivals, comes these all-wool carpets, hand-made by the natives.

In the same shipment we received from Cochín, a little known port in Southern India, on the picturesque Malabar coast, whose native population is noted for its industry and high degree of skill in craftsmanship, which includes carving in ivory, and filigree works in silver, comes excellent quality cocoa mats and cocoa matting by the yard.

"Lest We Forget."

Shut-in's Day comes around again on the first Sunday of June—this year, June 2nd. Let us earmark that day for some very special visits — call on some friend, or friends, whom you have not visited for some time. If you visit them, flowers are always in order; and a cheery letter on card helps far more than you might think.
In any case, let those shut-in friends know they are not forgotten, even if they do have to watch life from a hospital cot or a wheel-chair.

If your shut-in friends can go out a bit — with your kind help — then see if they can go for a drive; that is a rare treat for many. Or, if you can, take them to the nearest church service — most of the churches are having something special for the shut-in on the first Sunday of June.

Make Shut-in's Day a very happy day for two friends and it will be one of the happiest days in your experience. You will not wait till next June to repeat the experience, but you will help to fulfill the real purpose of Shut-in's Day — to make life happier for the sick and the disabled, both veteran and civilian, every day of the year.

Empire Day at Public School.

Essex has always been proud of its public school staff and teachers, and now it has reason to be more than a little proud of its new equipment.

Very recently the school has been equipped with fluorescent lighting in all the rooms and a new public address system, including a radio phonograph and intercommunication with every room and hall. This machine has nothing to compare with it west of London. It cost $554, part of which was paid from the Colin Meston fund, $150 by the Col. Talbot of Essex Chapter, I.O.D.E. and the rest by the pupils who sold Christmas cards.

When there is a new microphone which cost $61, and when the principal was asked who paid for that, he said, "It isn't paid for, but we'll sell more cards."

As usual, the Empire Day program was celebrated on the 23rd and for this school it was a happy occasion for two reasons: the war was over, and the pupils were to have the privilege of being the first to broadcast an Empire Day program over the new public address system.

The front hall was the studio, May Smith and Bob Maedel were the technicians, the announcer was James Andrew, the narrator was Alice Robinson
Teare, Albert Boggs, Murray Orton, Gerald Chapman, Walter Shul-1 and Bryce Barnewall. The choruses were sung by a group of grade VII pupils, with a special chorus by the grade V class.

The program consisted of a play, in seven scenes, telling in abbreviated form the story of World War II, from beginning to end, and following the Empire Day book sent to all schools by the Department of Education.

After the singing of "God Save the King," Rev. R. H. Parr spoke to the pupils, praising them for the splendid manner in which they had presented an impressive program.

Harvey Annet, educational secretary of the I.O.D.E., W. Allison, representing the school board, Rev. J. H.
Whealen and Rev. R. H. Parr were present as visitors.

Essex Youth Day.

Large crowds of earnest, happy young people from Western Ontario centres converged on Essex last Friday for two great youth meetings, in the town hall. Bandmaster "Fen" Watkin, ATCM, and Songster Leader
Eric Sharp, both of Toronto, thrilled their youthful listeners with piano, ocarina and vocal solos. Interspersed with lively singing were testimonies from representative young people. Afternoon theme: "I am happy in my Christian experience because . . ."
Guest speaker, Captain George Cox, of Toronto, suggested in the afternoon that we have had little to say in making the world what it is today, but everything to say in deciding what it will be a few short years from now.
Gideon's acceptance of the challenge of his day was made to apply at the present need for young people to take up the challenge of Christ for service.
A half hour of prayer preceded a grand march of witnesses led by the Essex Citadel band, through the main business section to the town hall. Under the guidance of the Holy Spirit the evening meeting moved to a climax in the surrender of three young people to Christ.

In joyful gratitude hearts and voices were raised in "Thank you Lord for saving my soul" — a fitting conclusion to a great day with God. Delegates turned their faces homeward convinced more than ever that "Christ is the Way for Youth Today."

I. O. O. F. and Rebekah De- coration Services.

The members of Enterprise Lodge,
I.O.O.F., and Ambassador Rebekah Lodge will hold their annual Decoration Day Services this Sunday afternoon, when they will decorate the graves of deceased brothers and sisters in Cottam and North Ridge communities. Capt. John Carter, of the local Salvation Army, will be guest speaker.

Music will be furnished by the Essex Salvation Army band.

Mrs. Ellen Hunter Passes.

The host of friends of the late Mrs.
Ellen Hunter, widow of Thomas Hunter, were grieved when they learned she had passed away suddenly, on Saturday, at her home on Medora avenue, in town. Deceased, while under the doctor's care, worked in her home as usual just prior to being seized with a heart attack.

The late Mrs. Hunter was born in Kempville, on April 6th, 1884, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs.
Thomas Kennedy, but had resided in Essex most of her life, living for great many years at the westerly end of Victoria street, where she and her late husband owned and operated a small greenhouse.

Surviving are four children, Carl, of Windsor, and Ray, well-known auctioneer, of Colchester. North: Madeline, of Colchester; and Miss Ruth, of Essex; also two brothers, Ed, and John Kennedy, of town.

Funeral services, in charge of Rev.
R. H. Parr, with Mrs. Ward Steed as soloist, were held from the S. L. Kennedy Funeral Chapel, on Tuesday afternoon, and burial was in North Ridge cemetery. The pallbearers were Fred Eldridge, Wm. Damm, Roy Ellis, Wilbur Clothier, George Ellis and Sandy Taylor.

Junior Farmers Plan Field Day

Essex County Junior farmers are making plans to attend their first annual picnic and field day, at Ridge-town Experimental Farm, on Saturday, July 6th.

This field day is to include the Junior Farmers from Middlesex, Elgin, Essex, Lambton and Kent and a large attendance is expected.

The day's program is filled with hot games and other sporting events with a big dance in the evening in the gymnasium, an orchestra from London is expected to provide the music.
The Woodside Junior Farmers, under President Charles Diemer, are taking an active interest and are supplying a boys' soft ball team to compete against the other counties.

The Cottam Junior Institute, under President Orpha Stotts, are arranging for girls to participate in their events.

Any farm young people interested in taking part or in attending this event are cordially invited. It is a good opportunity to visit the Ridgetown Experimental Farm and a good day's outing is assured so organize a carload of the young folks and join us at Ridgetown on July 6th.

Due to the shortage of food, everyone is expected to bring their own lunch.

Another "First" by Stokely- Van Camp of Canada.

Some Essex County growers will have their tomato plants in at least ten days earlier this year. Another Canadian "first" by Stokely-Van Camp of Canada Ltd., has made this possible. A huge DC 3 cargo plane took off from Georgia last week-end with 300,000 tomato plants and brought them 700 miles to Windsor Airport in 4½ hours. These plants were all distributed to tomato growers within two hours and planted before nightfall.

Georgia tomato plants are grown in the open rather than being started in greenhouses and later transplanted.
They are sturdier and more uniform because of elimination of root damaging transplanting.

The Essex tomato growers have been ready for their plants for several days, but the local northern plants will not be ready for another ten days.
The Georgia plants were put in the ground at Essex still warm from the Georgia sun. Early planted tomatoes mature more uniformly, richer in food value and natural red ripe coloring.
Southern plants are absorbing healthful sun's rays while northern plants are struggling for a bare existence.
Of equal importance, the early tomato crop insures these Essex tomato growers that a good share of their crop will be harvested before the danger of an early fall frost.

If this year's experience proves successful, plane transportation of early southern grown tomato plants will be continued on a larger commercial scale.

Mrs. Holden wore a brown dressmak-

Essex Musicales Aids Blind.

Sponsored by Col. Talbot of Essex Chapter, I.O.D.E., a most successful old fashioned musicale and fashion parade was presented in the Town Hall, on Wednesday evening of last week.

The well-balanced program featured the Lyric Male Quartette, of Windsor, in two groups of songs, and a generous list of encores; a quartette composed of Jean and Marion McIlwain and Margaret and Beatrice Bennett; Mrs. Henry Manningsham, soprano; "Old Black Joe," sung by Claire Tully and a chorus, and old-time songs conducted by E. L. Russell.
All the ladies on the program modeled old-fashioned gowns, and the ushers, in gay, old gowns, the stage, with its spinning wheel and oil lamps, and the old songs, all helped to make the evening reminiscent of the gay nineties.

Net proceeds from the concert of well over $100, are to go to the blind.

Forces for World Peace.

Following is a speech delivered by the Hon. Paul Martin, Secretary of State of Canada, to the International Association of Sales and Advertising Clubs at a dinner at the Hotel William Penn, Pittsburgh, Pa., on Friday, May 24th.

In the covenant of the League of Nations only once did the word "Security" appear and that was in the preamble which stated the League's purpose: "to promote international co-operation and to achieve international peace and security." In the Charter of the United Nations, "security" is a dominant theme and "international peace and security" is bolted into the Charter in thirty-two places.

These are not mere words. There is in the phrase "international peace and security" a profound implication. For it implies an aim, a direction and a goal. Upon the achievement of that goal by successive steps, depends the fate of millions of people. For it is the sober truth that our civilization has managed to survive two global wars in a generation and it is only by achieving another such condition that it can survive another such condition.

By "peace" we mean the whole posture of co-operation between nations, not merely the absence of war. It is a posture of co-operation between nations, not merely the absence of war. It is a posture of co-operation between nations, not merely the absence of war.

it clarifies our status as being a member of the world-wide British Commonwealth of Nations, and, at the same time, one of the North American family.

Canada as Member of Commonwealth. For we Canadians take pride in being one of the nations in the free association of the British Commonwealth. We look upon ourselves as an important link in that Commonwealth and perhaps we are in a favoured position as a meeting ground for two influences — British and American.

This does not mean that Canada has ever been, or can ever be, a sounding board for testing either British or American opinion. I would strongly condemn such an implication. But we can, because of our unique position, do more than interpret the two views.

For our purpose must be not to act exclusively but inclusively to strengthen not only the understanding between us and the United States and Britain, but between ourselves and all other nations. For if by our joint efforts we can extend the boundaries of understanding and co-operation we shall have conferred a lasting benefit upon all mankind.

Our several histories have proven conclusively that the disputes and differences which have led other nations into war, can be reconciled and arbitrated with satisfaction to both sides. You may have observed your political development in the form of a Republic. We have chosen ours as a nation with a monarch.

les of the United Nations, a General Assembly, the Security Council, the Economic and Social Council, a Trusteeship Council and an International Court of Justice.

We have created and set in motion a host of specialized agencies working in collaboration with these major organizations. Commissions on trade, food, health, employment, finance, education have been set up and are now at work. All this has been done in the space of one year.

In finance, out of the conference at Bretton Woods we have established the International Monetary Fund and the International Bank to provide machinery for consultation in these matters and to promote financial stability among nations.

Trade Authority. We have moved forward an International Trade Authority through the calling of the conference on Trade and Employment which will meet this year in the United States. It is noteworthy that the United States government initiated this conference and prepared the proposals which were brought forward during the conference.

Food. To deal with another ancient problem, that of how best to use and distribute the food resources of the world, we have established the Food and Agriculture Organization. Its work will include research, the exchange of information and distribution of food and agricultural products to nations and areas in need.

Work of UNRRA. We have created and supported UNRRA in its great humanitarian mission of attempting to achieve lasting peace and stability by relieving the suffering of the victims of war. UNRRA and the Allied Relief Agencies have done the greatest job in history toward aiding war-torn countries.

UNESCO. In the domain of international culture, we have established UNESCO, the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization. We have set up UNESCO, the education and cultural agency in an attempt to fill vacuum that successive wars have created.

When the Germans burnt the books of the University of Gottingen, the library of the International League for the Peace and Democracy was destroyed. It will be UNESCO's task to aid in restoring that international library of science, literature and culture.

The ILO. The International Labour Organization, another of the specialized agencies, is a body which the nations can collaborate in to raise standards of living, to improve working conditions and to bring about social justice. ILO is the only international body which represents both labour and management and government.

The Atomic Age. The Atomic Energy Control Commission is another important body with a task perhaps more formidable than many others. This Commission is made up from 11 states represented on the Security Council with Canada as an additional member. Much has been written and said about atomic energy and nuclear fission. We must be certain that the power is used to serve and not to enslave humanity.

We have proceeded with prudence and far-sightedness, having in mind the good of all states. We have prepared the way for devising effective and enforceable safeguards to prevent the use of atomic energy for destructive purposes.

President Truman has pointed out that the best defence against the atomic bomb lies in mastering the science of human relations. As the Canadian Prime Minister stated in our House of Commons the problems of atomic energy while political problems primarily, are part of the ancient conflict between good and evil and the solution will ultimately be found in the realm of philosophy and morals.

Principles of Co-operation. Here, then, is the machinery to keep the peace and provide an effective means of world collaboration on social, economic, political, military, trade, education, employment and other problems. There are certain principles acceptable to all nations which have brought these organizations into being.

1. That the world is one social organism each part of which is dependent upon the other members. The recognition of this interdependence is one of the great gains of the war.

2. That the most effective means of banishing war is to strike at the basic causes which are so often economic. It is here that the major task will be found.

3. That the United Nations which now have the force to back up collective decisions, cannot depend upon power alone to keep the peace. Every means must be utilized in every field of human activity.

4. That political expediency is no longer a justification for setting aside human rights.

5. That the United Nations must not become an instrument to serve individual national interests. Such a course is certain to lose the support of world opinion without which the organization cannot thrive.

Criticism can be made of many phases of the United Nations' framework. There has been a tendency to use organs like the Security Council as a medium for advantage, or as a forum for propaganda. Some jealous feelings have been slighted. Certainly the bodies have begun to work more quickly than others and certainly some bodies, such as the Security Council, have been kept in the sharp focus of public attention.

Divisions have appeared on a number of questions such as Iran, Greece, Poland and the Baltic States. The veto power in the Security Council can be a means of evading responsibilities.

On the other side of the balance sheet, a series of organizations have been established under the United Nations. This difficult task was accomplished in good spirit. Progress has been made in monetary matters, in trusteeship, in relief, in meeting of the world food shortage. The Security Council has been subjected to a series of severe strains and has stood the test. The same veto power which has occupied attention has not been used as yet although it might have been used by both Britain and Russia.

Controversies do not build confidence. On the other hand they should not be allowed to distort our judgment. Unfounded pessimism is as dangerous as false optimism. In the United Nations will be the better for constructive criticism and that is the reason our thinking should take as the organization develops.

The Outlook for Peace and Security. What is the outlook for future peace and security? I believe we should give an inch to fear an ill. I believe that compromise is better than impasse and that conciliation will obtain more than adoption of a do or die stand. But I say, too, that no nation whether great or small can endanger the organization without disastrous effect upon itself as well as the rest of the world. To the extent that every nation honours its obligations, the success of the organization will depend.

It is no mere judgement of history that will fall upon any nation or group of nations responsible for the failure of this second attempt in our lifetime to create an organization to keep the peace. The alternative to world civilization as we know it. The issue may be that of peace or total destruction.

Once the view was held that belief in an effective world organization was "utopian" or "impractical" or "Utopian." Today to hold such an attitude is to be impractical and visionary. The hard realists today are the people who see in the United Nations the only practical basis for bringing order to the world and the only means we have at hand for preserving peace.

To relinquish or disregard that organization is like throwing away a life-belt when the waves begin to wash over the ship.

There is a coherent will to peace in the world today. We have laboriously moulded the framework for safeguarding that peace upon which the safety and well being of millions living and millions yet to live depends. It is for us now to neglect nothing which will contribute to that purpose. For this posterity will judge us: May it be said of us in later generations: "This was an age when out of chaos came contentment and when first began the brotherhood of man."

Socialism by Taxation. In drawing up the new budget the Minister of Finance will have to consider that while during the war the payment of taxes was held out as a patriotic duty, taxation in peacetime becomes exclusively a social and economic problem.

The method on which taxation, and especially income tax, is levied in the future may decide whether free enterprise can continue, or whether state bureaucracy will take its place.

There has been a small reduction in income tax. Yet, receipts from that source have increased nearly twelve-fold since 1939, and while the purely wartime "normal" tax continues there does not seem to be much prospect of real relief. Nor is industry likely to get really under way while the excess profits tax tends to destroy all vital initiative.

On the administrative side, reforms have been long overdue. It is an old principle of taxation that "the tax each individual is bound to pay ought to be certain, not arbitrary." The opposite is the case in Canada.

The deputy minister of national revenue — which, in practice means his official subordinates — has such discretionary powers that taxation is sometimes a matter of whim rather than of precise law.

This is not an overstatement. The deputy minister himself, giving testimony before a Senate committee, has stated that for the fiscal year ending March 1st, 1945, assessments of income tax declared by taxpayers were increased by $38,000,000.

These increases of assessment, whether justifiable or not, were purely arbitrary. The War Income Tax Act, in computing the amount of the profits or gains to be assessed, permits no deduction except "as the minister in his discretion may allow." The minister, furthermore, "may disallow any expense which he in his discretion may determine to be in excess of what is reasonable or normal. . . ." For the purpose of determining earned income "the minister may reduce the amount of any salary, wages, fees, bonuses, gratuities or honoraria which, in his opinion, are not commensurate with the services actually rendered."

Here we have a situation that has grown up almost imperceptibly since the original Act was drawn in 1917. The amounts involved 30 years ago were comparatively negligible. Today they are crushing.

The first appeal allowed the taxpayer or is to the deputy minister, who, since he makes the orders against which appeals are usually made, is a definite party to the case and a judge in his own cause. The aggrieved taxpayer may appeal further to the Exchequer Court of Canada, but he must post a bond of $400 in order to do so.

In business there is still inequality in taxation. There is the double taxation of corporation profits and the question of the preferred position enjoyed by co-operatives and Crown corporations.

All these problems have been satisfactorily tackled in other countries. Before excessive taxation entirely destroys the incentive to work and take risks in Canada, and drives all business into the hands of the Crown, attention must be given to them here.

A socialistic state can be created, it might be observed, just as easily by taxation as it can by the ballot. — Halifax Chronicle.

The Challenge to Labour.

by Joseph Lister Rutledge.

Inevitably the earning of labor must be more closely related to the earnings of capital. This concept, that would have been heresy a decade ago, now goes without comment even from dyed-in-the-wool capitalists. Few would challenge the assertion that the self-interest of the past must become the enlightened self-interest of the present if our economic way of life is to continue. Such thinking is not merely academic. It is evident in the almost universal acceptance of wages and work schedules that are making these changed attitudes actual.

Every time that peaceful negotiations achieve results, labor's case is stronger. Every time that compulsion is interjected into negotiations through unwarranted action, damage is done. Though labor may be reluctant to admit it, the damage is primarily its own. With every strike called as something less than a last resort, it loses face with the public, because the public is quick to realize that the necessary or casual interruption of the orderly course of industry, merely because the power to interrupt exists, is the very negotiation of democracy.

Happily, Canada has been relatively free from such irresponsible action. Unhappily, it has not been completely free from its repercussions, because international character of their organizations are, in part, representative of Canadian labor. Still more is it impossible to escape the effects of such action as the coal strike that affects all industry, whether Canadian or American.

No one in this day and age would challenge the right of labor to use its most potent weapon. But everyone, and particularly organized labor, that is the chief sufferer, has a right to challenge its frivolous use. John L. Lewis in calling out his miners has shaken his first in the public's face. Offered an hourly increase of eighteen and half cents. Mr. Lewis blandly refused to discuss such basic issues until he had compelled the operators to concede side issues, notably a "health and welfare" fund that would put millions into the capacious thumb of Mr. Lewis' capacious thumb leaving him independent of dues under the check-off system. To dispassionate observers it seems that Mr. Lewis is playing fast and loose with the fortunes of his workers; that, with a reckless disregard of consequences influencing the public welfare, he is ready to create a national crisis if, and whenever, it adds to his own personal power.

It isn't entirely Mr. Lewis' fault. He is an opportunist, taking his advantages where he finds them. Mr. Lewis knows that not in years has the U. S. federal government stood for a principle in the face of a strong union. Its only approach has been conciliation so far-reaching that the promised concessions are greater than any probable result of direct negotiation. Therefore free collective bargaining has become both unworkable and unprofitable, and so a premium is set on a strike that will implement government action.

Mr. Lewis is not an altruist. Show him a way of advantage and he will follow it. But, in the long run, will anyone on this continent benefit from a perpetual labor benefit? Will the idea that labor is entitled to a better deal continue to grow, or will union demagogues press each passing advantage until they have alienated public sympathy?

That is today's challenge to all thoughtful workers. — Liberty Magazine.

We Have a Job to Do.

Suggesting that during the war years industry had no reason to be proud of its accident record, the Industrial Accident Prevention Association, in a memorandum issued this week to plant managers, review an address given by R. A. Clarke, Canadian Industries Ltd., Windsor, at a recent Associations' meeting.

Mr. Clarke pointed out that industry performed a grand job in supplying the materials of war but from the records, industry made only a fair job in its effort to prevent personal injury.

He said: "Our lost time frequently is increasing. In the face of that fact, I do not believe we have any reason to pat ourselves on the back." He emphasized the importance of accident prevention in industry. "We have a job to do and must dig in and get to work."

Infant Feeding.

Babies are not exceptions to the common-sense rule that "enough is as good as a feast." Nutrition Division, Department of National Health and Welfare, Ottawa, reminds parents that this is particularly true in the case of feeding. Over-feeding of infants may cause colic, constipation and a host of other ills. Mothers of young children should obtain guidance from their family physician on baby feeding as well as on all phases of infant care.

Robert James Scott Passes.

ROBERT J. SCOTT

Making plans for leaving hospital to return home later in the week, Robert James Scott, a former president of the United Farmers Cooperative Co., died suddenly as a result of a heart seizure in St. Michael's Hospital, Toronto, on May 21.

Mr. Scott, who was to have attended the International Farmers Conference which began in London on May 21st, had been in hospital for several weeks.

W. A. Amos, Past District president of the United Farmers Cooperative Co., helped Rev. G. A. Milne, B. A., conduct the funeral service at Mr. Scott's home in Bellevue on May 24th.

Of pioneer stock, Mr. Scott was born in Bellevue, Huron County, in April, 1880, on the family farm which he has operated for a number of years. He attended Wingham high school. Mr. Scott served the Ontario farm and cooperative movements for more than a quarter of a century since he entered farm organizational work as secretary of Bellevue 1 F. C. club in 1920.

In 1928 he was elected vice-president of the United Farmers of Ontario and he served as president of the organization from 1930 to 1935.

In 1934 he was elected to the board of the United Farmers Cooperative Co. He was elected vice-president of the company in 1936 and president in 1937. He served as president until March 1945.

With his wide knowledge of agriculture problems in the province of Ontario, Mr. Scott has served the Ontario Government on several occasions. He was appointed a member of the commission of inquiry into agricultural conditions in Ontario by Premier George Drew.

At the request of Col. T. L. Kennedy, Ontario minister of agriculture, Mr. Scott represented the interests of Ontario livestock producers at meetings of an industrial disputes inquiry commission under the chairmanship of Mr. Justice S. E. Richards, in Winnipeg, in November 1945.

At the time of his death Mr. Scott was a director of the United Farmers Cooperative Company, secretary of the Ontario Beef Cattle Producers' Association, director of both Ontario and Canadian Federations of Agriculture, a member of the Ontario Federation executive, a director and former president of the Dairy Farmers of Canada, a director of the Ontario Stockyards board and a director of the Ontario Co-operative Union, having served as the provisional president.

Mr. Scott is survived by his widow, the former Margaret Isabel Aitken, of Glenora, Bruce County, and five children, Isabel, of Toronto; John Kenneth, in charge of the family farm; Nora, on the Wingham hospital staff; and Malcolm Robert and Mary, at home.

This picture is not an exaggeration. The infants and children who have no more to wear than this little babe run into the hundreds of thousands in the war-devastated areas of Europe. They need serviceable used clothing which can be supplied to them through the National Clothing Collection for overseas relief to be held June 17-29 under the auspices of Canadian Allied Relief. This worthy campaign will be conducted on a nationwide basis.

About MILK PRICES

A Message To All Ontario Families

During the war years when it was vitally important to keep the cost of living index down, the Wartime Prices and Trade Board subsidized the price of milk in December, 1942. Through the consumer subsidy, milk was delivered by the dairies to you at two cents a quart less than you paid previous to that date. Everyone is grateful to the Prices Board for this arrangement, which over the past three and a half years, has proved so helpful in keeping available to you a plentiful supply of this most essential food.

The Wartime Prices and Trade Board has now decided, as part of its policy to relax many of the wartime controls, that it is advisable to discontinue payment of this consumer subsidy which is costing the taxpayers of Canada over $20,000,000 a year. You are now being called upon to pay the two cents instead of the Government paying it out of your taxes. This means that on June 1st your quart of milk will revert to the old price in effect before the subsidy was established.

It is noteworthy that in the face of rising prices all along the line, milk will cost no more after June 1st than it did three and one-half years ago. In contrast, according to a recent statement made by Donald Gordon, Chairman, Wartime Prices and Trade Board, the comparable price in the United States is now equal to seven cents per Canadian quart higher than the Canadian price.

—IN MEMORIAM.
 In loving memory of James Stevenson, who passed away twelve years ago, May 31st.

Though the tears in our eyes do not glisten,
 And our faces do not always look sad,
 There is never a night nor a morning
 That we do not think of you dear dad.
 He had a nature you could not help loving,
 And a heart as good as gold.
 And to those who knew and loved him
 His memory will never grow old.

—Sadly missed by his wife and family.

—IN MEMORIAM.
 In loving memory of Carlyle William Mossop, who passed away May 11th, 1939.

We do not forget him, we loved him too dearly,
 For his memory to fade from our love like a dream.
 Our lips need not speak when our hearts mourn sincerely
 For our grief often dwells when it seldom is seen.

—Sadly missed by mother, Marica and Doris.

Family Allowances.

Better health and greater happiness for children are expected to result from wise spending of the Family Allowance. It is stated by officials of the Department of National Health and Welfare, Ottawa. A family having needs include adequate food, clothing, shelter and medical supervision. Family allowance officials suggest that when all these things have been provided, parents use what is left of their income for extras calculated to add zest to living.

FRIDAY, MAY 31, 1946.

Bell of Canada Serves Over 1,750,000 Subscribers.

More than 3,000 telephone systems in Canada serve over 1,750,000 telephones and handle some three billion conversations a year, according to figures just issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

At January 1st, 1945, there were 14.6 telephones for every 100 persons in the Dominion; Ontario led among the provinces with 19.7, followed by British Columbia with 18.6. Total telephone service represented an increase of 350,000 since 1939. In the same period, telephone employees increased from 17,000 to 22,000 and payrolls were up from $26,523,000 to $37,261,000.

In 1944 Canadians held 2,955,975,000 local and 56,678,000 long distance conversations—an average of 252 telephone calls for every man.

Seven major telephone interests which jointly operate the Trans-Canada System are, from east to west, the Maritime Telegraph and Telephone Company, the New Brunswick Telephone Company, the Bell Telephone Company in Ontario and Quebec, three government-owned systems in the Prairie Provinces, and the British Columbia Telephone Company.

The Bell Telephone Company alone served 56 per cent of all Canadian telephones. The provincial systems in Manitoba Saskatchewan and Alberta accounted for 10.6 per cent. Dominion Government systems are operating in outlying sections of the country where no commercial service is available. Fifty-six per cent of the telephones in service were dial-operated.

Cheerfulness is health; its opposite melancholy is disease.—Haliburton.

There is no doubt on Parliament Hill in well informed quarters that the important discussions which have taken place in London, Washington and Ottawa on proposals to alleviate the disastrous effects of the world food shortage will lead to further intensive actions in Canada to help in this great international crisis. It can even be reported that the close collaboration between these three English-speaking capitals and the latest discussions on the part of the officials have been given hints in Ottawa on the broad lines of future policy.

"The maximum supplies of bread grains that are at present likely to be available from May through to September, 1946 have been assessed at some ten millions tons, of which Canada expects to supply 2.3 millions tons," said Arthur Prime Minister Flaherty in the House of Commons in indicating Canada's plans for increasing such supplies. "Screened requirements for this same period were expected to total 13.4 millions tons leaving a deficiency of 3.4 million tons or about 25 percent." Then he made this significant declaration. "A further intensive review and scaling down of these requirements to the barest minimum needs are likely to reduce the gap over this five-month period to something under one million tons. Inevitably severe hardships will result and great danger of famine will continue. The Canadian Government has agreed to associate itself with the United Kingdom and the United States governments in maintaining constant review of the situation, and to put forth its best efforts and make available additional supplies of grain.

Hon. James A. MacKinnon, Minister of Trade and Commerce, has stated in Ottawa that payments on the 1943 wheat participation certificates would be started in June. "So far as I know the board is hoping to be able, and feel confident they will be able, to start the issuing of cheques on the 1942 wheat participation certificates in June," he said, continuing to point out that it was only a matter of getting the cheques out. The accounting has all been done and it is merely a matter of doing the physical work of issuing the cheques, these being issued as quickly as possible.

Prisoners of war working on Canadian farms at the present time are required to be paid $50 per month plus board and lodging or $1.75 per day for broken periods of less than one month's employment plus board and lodging, payable to the Department of Labour. This has been disclosed here by the Minister of Labour, Hon. Humphrey Mitchell. Furthermore when the question was raised how much of such compensation is payable directly to the prisoner by his employer or how much of such compensation is held back for the credit of the prisoner of war to be given him at a later date, it was disclosed that the Department of Labour pays prisoners of war at the rate of 50 cents per working day and this account is credited to the prisoner's individual account which is carried by the Department of National Defence less such portion thereof as is spent by the prisoner on purchase of ration supplies.

No less than 1,639 municipalities in Canada have applied to the Crown Assets and Allocation and War Assets Corporation for materials or equipment as of April 1st, 1945 and the priorities division, head office War Assets Corporation has filled 102 of these applications in full and 150 in part. Then again, many of these municipalities have had their application met from branch offices of the corporation across this country. It is pointed out, in addition, that the branch offices are not required to notify the priorities division of the corporation of these sales. It can also be reported that information in Ottawa shows that, in regard to the sale of certain surplus properties, such as real estate, the appropriate sales division at Montreal head office of the War Assets Corporation deals directly with the municipality without notification to the priorities division.

Information has been given in Ottawa to show that, while the civil service of Canada continued to be fairly consistent throughout the war period for permanent employees with about 31,000, yet such temporary employees increased from 15,508 on Sept. 1st, 1939 to 85,759 on Sept. 1st, 1945.

A report in this capital shows that the first postwar staff college to open at this time in the British Commonwealth will be Canada's own Royal Military College at Kingston, Ontario, with most of the students attending in the course starting on June 17th being Canadian army officers with actual wartime combatant experiences and with a staff of instructors, eleven in number, being composed of six Canadian officers, three British, one American and one R.C.A.F. The students will number 56.

In answer to an inquiry, it has been disclosed in Parliament that the Foreign Exchange Control Board of Canada does not make a profit as a result of the premium on the United States dollar. The profits are derived from the spread between the rates at which the Board buys and sells foreign exchange and earnings on investments, less the cost of operation of the exchange fund account and the Board with a hint being given that in the near future the Minister of Finance would give details of the operation of the fund exchange control during the war period as well as statements of the revenue and expenditures of the exchange fund account.

"We want to explain to the minister that this order must be wiped out if it is to be made public," said A. R. Mosher, Canadian Council of Labour president in Ottawa in explanation of the Government's refusal to order the "Exacting" supply of food not sufficient to last and there was a determined effort to be made to spread out these supplies as far as possible," declared Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Reconstruction, in the House of Commons about the rationing and supply situation. "Speaking for myself and again, I have been offered as much as 100 per cent more than I am getting," said in Ottawa the president of the Canadian National Railways, R. C. Vaughan. "I would be ashamed to have my salary made public." He was against the suggestion that salaries be made public. C. N. R. officials should be made public. "I am pretty well converted to the idea that money is not real wealth, goods and services and a sound people are the real assets," emphasized in the Senate, Hon. R. B. Horner, in favour of assisting Britain and the other nations by recognizing that Canada's first duty was to her own people so that Canada should be able to look after a much larger population here.

Though cigarettes are no longer subjected to price ceilings, yet there is no hint here that substantial price increases are in the making. Immigration officials in Ottawa appear to be flooded with requests from people in Europe wishing to come to this country. The function of the Senate appears to be growing and this has led to requests for more and more clerical help for this body which at the moment has a staff of only 19 stenographers these being considered too few for the work. The son of the Indian leader, Mohandas K. Gandhi, paid a visit to this capital in order to confer with officials in an attempt to get newsprint and this distinguished looking gentleman, Devadas Gandhi, declared in Ottawa that "it would be disastrous from an international point of view if Indian newspapers were starved out of supplies at this critical time, more especially now that the war is behind us and the world is struggling to win the peace." There is an apparent decrease in the number of civilian employees engaged at the various military headquarters in this capital but the overcrowding here is still the same on account of extremely poor housing conditions prevailing under the noise of Parliament Hill. It has been revealed in Ottawa that the Administrator of Motor Vehicles, John R. Marwick who was named as such on April 1st, 1945, has had no previous experience in the automobile business, though his deputy has had twenty years of experience in the automobile business with Mr. Marwick's connection with the War-time Prices and Trade Board dating back to 1942 and previously he was chief field investigator for the Foreign Exchange Control Board. Canada's Minister of Transport, Hon. Lionel Chevrier, told in audience in this capital that this country needed more young men and women who were bilingual, considering this essential in a country with two official languages.

In an attempt to place Canadian wheat in overseas positions early enough to alleviate famine conditions in Europe and Asia, Canada, from the first of the crop year up to the end of March, has exported well over a million bushels. Exports to March 31st, 1946, since August 1st, 1945, are estimated at 258 million bushels, compared with 175 million bushels for the corresponding period of 1945. Under this strain, states the Current Review of Agricultural Conditions in Canada, visible supplies have dwindled and the Government has announced programs calculated to bring into visible supply every bushel of wheat which can be safely spared from farms. Included in those programs are measures intended to conserve wheat already visible and thus increase exportable supplies.

Mrs. Daniel Bawtenheim, Lincoln road; Mrs. Ira Williams, Harrow; Mrs. O. H. Arlin, Ottawa; Mrs. Walsh and Mrs. Ashton were appointed as the nominating committee for 1947, with Mrs. Ashton as convener.

Miss Eunice Saylor, of Ruscomb, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Gordon Saylor, soloist in the morning song "The Holy City."

An invitation to hold the semi-annual meeting at Westminster Church, Windsor, was accepted.

Communion Service.

The Rev. J. N. Seavey, minister of the church, conducted the communion service and spoke on the subject, "Did You Think to Pray?" Mrs. Seavey said: "It is evident that we today need to rediscover the pathway of prayer. Prayer is the pathway of strength, prayer is the offering of love. The first breath of the newborn soul is prayer. If we as a church in this crusade want the intoxication of power we must begin to pray."

No Subsidies to Canning Growers.

No growers' subsidies will be paid on delivery of canning crops of 1946 and the processors' ceilings on canned beans, corn, peas and tomatoes will be increased to permit payment to growers of the same gross prices, including subsidy, as they received in 1945. Because canners' subsidies paid during war years on the basis of dozens of cans of product sold are to be eliminated by a similar upward adjustment of ceilings, consumers will probably pay 1-3 cents more per can for canned beans, corn, peas, and tomatoes, says the Current Review on Agricultural Conditions in Canada.

Potato Storage.

In determining the size of storage space required to store a given quantity of potatoes, the estimate may be based on forty pounds of potatoes (tubers) per cubic foot of storage space. On this basis, a bin 10 by 10 feet square filled to a depth of six feet would hold 400 bushels.

Practical Measures.

To calculate the capacity of grain bins in bushels, multiply the volume of the bin in cubic feet by 1.28.

Measuring hay in a mow: To find the number of tons of hay in a mow, multiply the length by the width by the height, all in feet, and divide by 400 to 575, depending on the kind of hay and how long it has been in the mow.

Measuring hay in a rectangular stack: To find the number of tons of hay in a rectangular stack of average construction, multiply the overthrust by the length by the width, all in feet.
Multiply this result by 3 and divide by 400, and then divide by 400 to 575, depending on the kind of hay and how long it has been in stack. Well settled alfalfa hay is estimated to require 470 cubic feet for a ton, and well settled timothy and timothy mixed hay is estimated to need 625 cubic feet a ton.

Monday, June 3rd.
Council met in special session, at the call of the Mayor, with Mayor Linton, Reeve Irwin and Councillors Lee, Chase, Shaw, Francotte and Brushett present.

The Mayor stated the meeting had

Chase, the request was referred to Mr. Pulleyblank, commissioner for ward 3c, to have trees removed if said trees are on the alley right of way.

District Women Meet at Har- row.

"In the last few months so much dissatisfaction has arisen, with strikes and unrest that it is so easy to become pessimistic," said Mrs. J. R.
Fletcher, of St. Thomas, provincial director to the Federated Board of Women's Institutes, in addressing a convention of that group Tuesday in Harrow.

"Now is the time for the Women's Institute to render an unparalleled service," she stated.

Commenting on the proper proceed-ure of passing resolutions, Mrs. Fletcher mentioned the fact that the W. I. had passed a resolution asking the elimination of women's beverage rooms. Backed by other women's organizations and along with their delegates a group had an audience with Premier George A. Drew and while no definite action was taken,
she quoted the premier as saying:

"This step may not seem as large as you ladies may like but it is a step in the right direction."

"Two hundred and fifty thousand women were represented that day in Toronto," she said.

She urged the women present to help conquer the evils of alcoholism by firstly, educating the children against it, secondly, when the chance arises, vote out women's beverage rooms and thirdly, when a member comes up for election ask him his stand on the liquor question.

Women Institute members were asked to help with the organization of county health units and to assist in the formation of properly floodlighted baseball fields and badminton courts.
Contributed $40,000.

"Our Ontario Women's Institute contributed $40,000 to the War Centre Charities Fund, the residue of which will be given to hospitalized veterans, the Save the Children Fund, the Amputation Fund and the rest to Sun-nybrook Hospital."

This year the W. I. is celebrating its 50th anniversary and each branch is asked to hold its individual celebration in February," she continued.

"The end of June or the first of July,
a large Institute meeting will be held at Guelph and we hope to have The Queen and Lady Tweedsmuir deliver radio messages. To finance this picnic and celebration each member will be

E. D. Martin Passes.

E. Dawson Martin, popular and well-known druggist, of Essex, passed away at his home in town, about midnight Tuesday, following an illness of some months.

Deceased was born in Petrolia, February 26th, 1887, a son of the late John A. and Christine Martin. He graduated from Watford High school and then from the Ontario College of Pharmacy in 1918. After graduating he managed a branch of Cunningham Drug Stores in Detroit, until purchasing the late T. B. S. Tweedale Drug store, in town, in 1932.

Daws was a member of the Essex Rotary Club, the Essex County Golf and Country Club, Windsor, and the Ingleside Club, of Detroit; a member and past chairman of the Essex Board of Education, and a member of the Essex County Tourist Association. He was also quite prominent in musical circles of the Border Cities, having been a talented violinist.

whom he was married October 21st, 1944, and a sister, Maizie.

Since moving to Essex a sister, Carolyn, and his mother, predeceased him.

street, until 12:30 on Friday when the body will be moved to the Essex United Church, where services will be held at 2:30. Burial is to be in Victoria Memorial cemetery.

United Church W. A. Meeting

Mrs. A. M. McPherson opened her home for the June meeting of the Women's Association, when Mrs. Ward Steed, vice-president, presided. The devotional part of the program was given by Mrs. E. Richardson, who took as her theme "The Christian Home." The guest speaker, Mrs. W.
E. Wallace, of Windsor, president of Essex Presbytery W.A., was introduced by Mrs. Ed. Parker. Mrs. Wallace gave a report of the Essex Presbytery meeting at Rosemont, and urged the ladies to recommit and give more time to church work and social problems.

If Essex Presbytery has made a lasting impression it has made a lasting impression, which is the cornerstone of the church," she concluded. Two piano numbers by Maxine Piro, a reading by Mrs. Parker, and a sing-song conducted by Group 1 concluded the afternoon program. Lunch was served by the hostesses, assisted by Mrs. W. C.
Heikie and Mrs. R. T. Heaton.

David Godfrey Passes.

The many friends that David Godfrey made in Essex, the few years he lived with his daughter, Mrs. Leclair, and her family, on the old Agnes Mc-Gill farm, on the western outskirts of town, will be sorry to learn that he passed away at the family home, in Riverside, on Sunday, following a brief illness.

He was 70 years of age, born in England, but had resided in Windsor, Essex and Riverside the past 43 years.
He was a veteran of World War 1 and a member of the local Capt. Brian Branch of the Canadian Legion, and a member of St. Aidan's Anglican Church, Windsor.

Surviving is a daughter, Susan Elizabeth (Mrs. Nelson Leclair, of 228 Riverside avenue, Riverside. His wife predeceased him in 1944.

Services were held from the Morris Funeral Home, Windsor, on Tuesday, and burial will be in Windsor Grove cemetery.

Essex Legion Field Day.

day, June 29th, to be followed by the big day on Dominion Day, at the Fair

There will be a soft ball game and two hard ball games; harness horse races, drawing match, sports and races in the afternoon, with a calthumpian parade at noon. For the balance

Saturday, July 6th, they will continue the carnival each evening, at their club room grounds.

Chamber of Commerce Form- ed in Essex.

At a well-attended meeting held in St. Paul's Parish Hall, on Tuesday evening, it was unanimously decided to form a Chamber of Commerce in town.

A committee of Frank Bear, Len Phenik, J. A. Nightingale, F. V. Martin, Alger Naylor, Ed. Michael, A. J.
Ashton, Rev. J. H. Wheaten, with Art Milne as permanent secretary, were elected to draw up bylaws, fees, etc., and report at a regular meeting to be held in the parish hall, on Tuesday evening, June 18th, at which time officers and directors for the year, with the exception of secretary, will be elected.

The meeting, with Howard Felstead as chairman, was addressed by Harry Lassaline, secretary-manager, and Robert Wilson, president of the Windsor Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Lassaline, in urging the formation of a Chamber in Essex, stated that there should be two more formed in Essex County, at Essex and Belle River, more especially Essex, as it is in the centre of the county and the trading center for a very prosperous farming district. He stressed that a number of progressive farmers are invited to join the Association so that the farming problems of the district can be discussed with the Chamber. He stated that he stated that he might think alike on a certain subject, however, as individuals, your board of directors, but when you form an association then you think collectively, and it is then your thoughts become a force.

Mr. Wilson said the Chamber of Commerce is a voluntary association of people, who believe in their own community, meeting to discuss special problems of that community." He assured those present, as did Mr. Las-saline, that the experience of the WindSOR Chamber will be at call of the Essex organization.

Cut Feed Costs with Early Cut Hay.

Above is the title of a timely pamphlet by Dr. O. M. McConkey, reprinted and released by the Ontario Department of Agriculture, Essex, to milk producers in Essex County.

Dr. McConkey states that early cut hay contains 18% more digestible protein than hay cut one month later.
This is an important item when concentrates are particularly hard to get.
Any milk producer who does not receive a copy should write for one.

Ernest A. Morand Passes.

Ernest A. Morand, well-known agent of Tecumseh, passed away in Mel-ropolitan Hospital, Windsor, on Monday, at the age of 54 years.

Surviving are his widow, Elizabeth, and six children, Margaret Mary, of Midland; Mary Ellen (Mrs. Arthur De-Francis), of Detroit; Betty Anne (Mrs.
Vincent Oster), of Windsor; Anthony, Theresa and Patricia, at home; also a brother, Columbus, of Tecumseh, and two sisters, Mrs. Emmanuel Bontette, of Windsor, and Sister Liliosa, of Schenectady, N.Y.

(Thursday) morning, from the family home, to St. Anne's Church, Tecumseh, with burial in the church cemetery.

FRIDAY, JUNE 7, 1946.

Essex Town Council.

Monday, May 27th, 1946.
Council met in regular session, at 8 p.m., with Mayor Linton, Reeve Irwin and Councillors Chase, Shaw, Lee, Francotte, Brushett and Pulleyblank present.

Arthur Croteau, accompanied by Ed. McHugh, presented a petition, signed by all the lot owners on the east side of St. Paul street, asking that a silex walk be laid on that side of St. Paul street, from Brien avenue to Wellington street.

The Clerk reported the petition as properly signed.
Mr. Croteau stated they would leave it to the judgment of Council as to whether the walk should be three or four foot wide.

On motion of Messrs. Shaw and Francotte, the Clerk was ordered to place an advertisement in the Free Press asking for tenders to do the work, said work to be done under supervision of Mr. Lee, chairman of Ward 2a, he with power to act as to location of proposed walk. Tenders to be in hands of Clerk by 6 p.m. on Monday, June 10th.

A. H. Plant, solicitor for Raymond Neider, an interested property owner, addressed Council opposing the closing of alley at rear of his property, and asking same over to Wm. Braden, owner of the land on the opposite side of the alley.

Mr. J. H. Boyd for his wife, owner of the property just east of Mr. Neider, which abuts the alley, also spoke in opposition to the closing of the alley.
The Mayor stated that he didn't think that the present Council, or any Council, would pass a bylaw to close a street or alley if any of the adjoining property owners opposed the closing.

On motion of Messrs. Irwin and Brushett, the matter of passing a bylaw to close alley above referred to, as advertised, was dropped, and no action taken.

Murray Kennedy requested of Council a taxi stand on Talbot street, so he could meet all buses. He thought a spot near Dr. Benson's doorway would be most suitable.

P. B. Goddes, town solicitor, advised that town Taxi Bylaw called for taxi stand on north side of Wilson avenue, close to Talbot street. He thought a new bylaw should be based on north approval of Department of Highways.

This spot was quite accessible to Mr. Kennedy.

On motion of Messrs. Francotte and Pulleyblank, the Solicitor was requested to draw up a bylaw to proposed taxi stand, and said bylaw could be sent to the Department of Highways for the approval.

Mr. P. O'Neill, who has some time ago stated that they had purchased the property for a new separate school site, and that their intention was to sell the property to the County Board, stated that in fact the owners of the property at that time gave the Fair Board a right of way from Talbot street to a lot on the east side of Talbot street, the right of way was never used, and has been closed, and that the lot now, while on the same property at that time, is now a separate property owned by the Essex Farmers' Assn. As the Fair Board trustees consider the Fair Grounds property to be town some years ago, and the Essex Farmers' Assn. would request that the right of way should be cancelled.

Mr. Goddes stated that Mr. O'Neill had spoken to him and that he thought the cancellation of the right of way should be done by bylaw.

On motion of Messrs. Irwin and Francotte, matter was referred to Mr. Goddes.

Ray Davis, acting Chief of Police, requested that a photo be put in his home.

After much discussion, on motion of Messrs. Lee and Pulleyblank, the matter was left with the Police Commission, with power to act.

John Shaw stated he had been referred to a Mr. Quinn, in Windsor, by the Bell Telephone Company, as a person to cut down or trim trees. He had got in touch with Mr. Quinn and had been advised as to cost — $15 if no wires or obstacles to get around, however if there are Hydro or Bell wires the cost would run from $40 to $65 per tree.

After discussion Mr. Pulleyblank told Mr. Shaw he would send him a man over, whom he thought would be satisfactory.

Mr. Pulleyblank, for the Legion, asked for use of Fair Grounds, on July 1st, also for permission to string a banner across Talbot street at either end of town.

Mr. Goddes stated that Stewart Rupert had been to see him re closing of alley between lots 25, 26 and 35, 36, his home property. This alley, if opened would cut his property in two.
The necessary legal notice was read, and on motion ordered published the necessary four times in the Free Press.

Bylaw No. 1123, re closing of Malott street, from Gordon avenue to Wilson avenue, was passed and deeds for said land made out to Ernest Wilson, Harry Jeffery, James Wilson, Essex Auto Wreckers and a very small parcel to Colonial Cannery, as agreed upon by above abutting owners.

Mr. Goddes informed Council he had drawn up necessary bylaws in regard to re-opening of the town's debt, had sent same to Mr. Crotte and the Municipal Board for their ok, before reading same to Council, in order to save time, which is short, in case the bylaws as he had drawn them had to be amended.

He had received them back approved.

Bylaw No. 1124 was read a first, second and third time, and passed, while Bylaw No. 1125 was read a first and second time.

Mr. Francotte said he had hired Mr. Lambier, who was present, to keep a close watch on the town dump, for the month of May, and had agreed to pay him $1 a day.

Mr. Lambier reported that try as he would, he could not get people dumping rubbish, to dump where he requested, and that dump would soon be in as bad shape as ever.

The Clerk read report of C. R. Allison, on the McEntee drain.

Reeve Irwin stated that the Knickerbocker land in Gosfield North assessed in Essex and on motion of Messrs. Irwin and Lee, the Clerk was instructed to refer report back to Mr. Allison for correction.

Mr. Lee reported having been spoken to in regard to re-opening a Parks road in town—Laid over.

Mr. Irwin reported that the east side of Wellington street, along side of Mr. Sewell's property, was left in bad shape after the laying of a new water main, and that Mr. Sewell would like to have the road and a few loads of gravel placed on same. — Referred to Mr. Irwin.

Minutes of last regular meeting were read and adopted.

On motion of Messrs. Shaw and Francotte, the following accounts were passed: Essex public school board, $2,500; Union Gas Co., $57.00; K. E. Brett, salary, $21.00; Ray Davis, salary to date, and expenses $245.40; Receiver General of Canada, tax, $49.57; L. Lambier, salary, $20.00; Woodland Fuel & Supply Co., $25.00; W. Pro., $20.15; Harvey Rose, F. Pro., $2.60; Treasurer, postage, $15; Ben Deveau, clean-up day, $5; Bruce Smith, work, Fair Grounds, $36.50.

John Chase reported that Angus Haggis and Thos. Whitson requested street lights at their corners; Mrs. Hunter had again spoken to him about bad state of repair of bridge to her property; that town parking lot was untouched clean-up day, and that Mrs. Frank Roberts, Carl Klingby and Joseph Billing had spoken to him re sidewalk repairs.

Charles Brushett reported having been asked when town was going to install stop light at Imperial Bank corner.

Mayor Linton stated that he had looked into matter and finds that light would have to be put on the right hand side of the four corners or else one light suspended at middle of intersection. He would try and find out cost of installation.

A lengthy discussion followed as to whether town fire truck should answer calls for help outside of town.

On motion of Messrs. Francotte and Irwin the Clerk was instructed to advise Mr. Truesdale, waterworks superintendent, not to blow the fire siren if fire was out of reach of town hydrant, unless he felt help is from another neighbouring fire department.

Council adjourned.

The Danger of Frustration.
By Joseph Lister Tuttle.

Six years of war is not a small ordeal and it is not surprising that public patience is wearing thin. We are deeply involved in this war and fully aware that our part in it demanded sacrifice. Because of this, we are prepared to forego many rights and privileges and liberties that were a part of our long heritage. We were prepared to accept temporary measures that qualified our rights and restricted our liberties.

But the war has been over for a year and as yet, there has been little change in these emergency powers. Parliament still remains a fifth wheel of government. Administration is by the executive and most of our onerous wartime burdens remain.

Indications that public patience has been recognized is evidenced in small concessions already made and in voluntary changes have not been greater.

One would be less ready to argue the soundness or unsoundness of this course were it possible to point to disastrous effects resulting in the United States, while the return to peacetime ways has been much more prompt and far reaching. In the United States few restrictions on private initiative remain, taxes on profits and private incomes have been sharply revised, price ceilings have been largely eliminated, and the movements and wages of labor are unregulated—yet the heavens have not fallen. There have been increases in costs, it is true, but for all our efforts to prevent it, the undeniable fact is that prices have increased here, and black market operators are no more unknown in Canada than in the United States.

One of the more serious effects of the frustration resulting from our reluctance to return to normal ways is that Canadian eyes are again turning southward. Canadians are tired of being pushed around—pushed around by shopkeepers, by clerks, by officials, by government. The average Canadian believes whether rightly or wrongly, that these conditions are peculiar to ourselves. He believes that elsewhere he can get a job he can take it, that he can have whatever salary he can secure, and that he can keep more of what he gets. Rightly or wrongly, he also believes that a dollar earned across the line will get him more than it will get him here, a view that is seemingly supported by the disparity in exchange.

Such frustrated thinking has this result: the stream of people seeking these greener fields is increasingly alarming. In the days prior to 1939, Canada lost one in six of its population this way. For awhile depression and the war reduced this flow to a thin trickle; now it is swelling again. In the final six months of last year 8,767 Canadians left for the United States bearing permanent visas.

Figure that by the year and it comes close to 20,000. In the past this annual migration drew mostly from the laboring class. This new migration has changed all that. It now draws most largely from the people we can least afford to lose—the professional classes and the trained middle-class groups whose liberties and whose financial position have been most seriously affected in these past years.

There is but small purpose in bidding for new citizens while we are losing the cream of our own through rankling sense of frustration and injustice that is the product of arbitrary government. —Liberty Magazine.

People Are Asking?

Q:—I was not allowed to purchase two cans of fruit which called for one-half coupon per can, but was told I could have one can of fruit with one half pound of sugar. I did not need the sugar therefore could not have the fruit. Is this within the ration law?
A:—The ration law does not require anyone to sell two cans of fruit which is in short supply and your dealer was within his rights in offering you the sugar.

Q:—I used to get three dozen of clothes pins for 10 cents now my dealer is selling them at two dozen for 10 cents. Isn't this illegal?
A:—We would have to know the name of the dealer to check this matter. Clothes pins have a ceiling price based on price set for the manufacturer by the Board plus a set maximum wholesale and retail markup. The prices appear correct but a check of the actual costs would have to be made before a definite ruling could be given.

Q:—Why can grocers refuse to sell certain goods when I know they have them in stock?
A:—This question has been asked many times. The Board does not require a dealer to sell any article and sometimes grocers keep goods in short supply for their regular customers whom they had before shortages were created.

Q:—How much butter was exported from Canada last year?
A:—Canada exported 5,300,000 lbs. A previous statement quoted the figure in error at 53,000,000 pounds.

Q:—Can you tell me how much butter I can take to the United States this summer when I go there to spend a holiday?
A:—You may take butter to the value of $5. You will require an export permit to take a greater amount.

Canadian Record Price for Holstein Bull.
An 11-month-old Holstein bull sold for $15,200, the highest price ever paid for a bull at public auction in Canada, at the National Holstein Sale, held May 29th, at Oakville. The bull, Raymondale Rag Apple Yalto, was consigned by Senator D. Raymond, of Vaudeville, Que. He was purchased jointly by H. L. Culbert, Vercheres, and W. A. Hodges, St. Laurent, Que.

J. J. E. McCague, Alvington, received $14,000 from R. Ray McLaughlin, Oshawa, for Glenafon Rag Apple Aladdin, a five-month-old bull calf. This animal became sick before the sale and could not be shipped so was sold "in absentia."

Top price for female was $4,500, paid by C. J. Cawwell, Beaton, to G. R. Row, Curries, for Rowsdale Dutchland Sovereign.

72 head sold at this sale for $109,775 for an average of $1,524, the highest yet made at this annual spring sale since it was started in 1918.

Canada vs. U. S. Sugar Beet Incentive.

The Willett & Gray Sugar Trade Journal, which has an international circulation among sugar manufacturers and tradesmen, quotes and comments in its issue of May 7th on the following statement made by this writer in the issue of April 26th: "If the same incentives had been made available in Canada as in England and in the United States, Ontario (beet sugar) production would not have fallen so far below capacity of processors to handle it as has occurred. Alberta's output has been at capacity, but Ontario's situation is different, needed different treatment, and the output here has been down. Yet it was in Ontario where the chief hope of greater output lay."

The Daily Sugar Trade Journal thereupon makes its own comparison of what has been done in the United States as compared with the Canadian effort, and I think this authoritative summing up fully sustains what I have said, and much more important than that, emphasizes the need for Governmental diligence to make sure that no stone is left unturned to provide labor for this important crop.

The United States, says the Sugar Trade article, has made great efforts to encourage sugar beet production. In 1945 alone, the benefit payments to sugar-beet growers averaged $5.50 per ton, and will be $6.50 in 1946. The cost to the United States Government in 1945, was about $50,000,000, incentive payments to both growers and processors being worked out on a regional basis.

"The Canadian government's help to the industry up to this year has been only the cancellation of one cent per pound tax on sugar, or $1640,000 in the year. It is calculated that, if Canada's encouragement to growers had equalled that of the United States, the benefit would have been about $5,000,000 or three times as much help as was actually given."

"The help in 1946 is augmented by 60% cents per cwt. of refined sugar, with no increase in consumer prices. This additional help apparently is to come from the sugar stabilization fund, which was created by levies on the cane and beet industry since the Government assumed control in 1939."

"The United States increased the price of refined sugar this year by 50 cents a hundred pounds, relieving their government of some expense."

"United States sugar production has been raised to 22 per cent of domestic requirements. Canadian beet sugar factories could process 30 per cent of Canada's rationed consumption, but beet production has provided only slightly over one-half of that amount."

The hope for substantially increased Canadian production is in Southwest Ontario. Only one of the two long established factories in Ontario — largest in Canada — has operated

In the past four years. The reason has been the low acreage due partly to severe labor shortages and partly because competing crops of low labor requirements were subsidized by the Ottawa Government.

"The opinion is general that there would have been no production at all in 1944 and in 1945 if it had not been for $155 per ton subsidies from the Ontario Government. The same would apply in 1946 if the Ontario Government had not again come to the rescue with a subsidy of $112,500. Many hold the view that, as regards sugar, the Dominion Government has done less than it ought to have done."

"The general beet labor situation looks better. As sugar facts go to press there is no official word that there will be prisoners of war available in the district but refitting of the camps is in progress on the assumption there will be at least as many as a year ago. The beet sugar processors in Ontario have opened beet labor recruiting offices in various centres. Surveys have shown that a number of workers who have left the district for war factories wish to return for the beet work.

To the Municipal Council of the Township of Maldstone.

Gentlemen: In accordance with your instructions I have made examination and survey of the lands and roads liable to be benefited by the drainage work proposed by your township and now beg to submit for your consideration the following report:

I commenced my survey at the outlet of the Union Drain at No. 16 or 17, and followed up the old drain and its branches, these being shown on the maps of the Township of Maldstone, and the drainage work being as follows: The drain is partly filled in with sediment and a growth of vegetation and not in a proper condition to afford adequate drainage for lands and roads dependent on it, and will require lowering and possible repairs.

I do, therefore, recommend that the said Union Drain be repaired, deepened, widened and otherwise improved throughout its entire length in accordance with the Plans and Specifications hereto attached, and that the cost of the work, as detailed in the estimates below, be taxed against the lots and roads liable to be benefited by the accompanying "Schedule of Assessment."

My estimates of the value of necessary work on the said drain is as follows:

Excavation—Stake 0 to stake 10, 120 rods of drain, at $2.75 per rod, $330.00; stake 10 to stake 20, 120 rods of drain, at $1.80 per rod, $216.00; stake 20 to stake 30, 120 rods of drain, at $1.80 per rod, $216.00; stake 30 to stake 40, 120 rods of drain, at $1.80 per rod, $216.00; stake 40 to stake 50, 120 rods of drain, at $1.80 per rod, $216.00; stake 50 to stake 60, 120 rods of drain, at $1.80 per rod, $216.00; stake 60 to stake 70, 120 rods of drain, at $1.80 per rod, $216.00; stake 70 to stake 80, 120 rods of drain, at $1.80 per rod, $216.00; stake 80 to stake 90, 120 rods of drain, at $1.80 per rod, $216.00; stake 90 to stake 100, 120 rods of drain, at $1.80 per rod, $216.00.
